

The Wrong Room — 20 More Questions

HOMEWORK • SÓ WHO / WHAT / WHERE — DEPENDENT PREPOSITIONS DE VERDADE

A dependent preposition always connects a verb or adjective to a person, a thing, or a place — never to a time or a reason. That's why every question here uses who, what, or where. Read the underlined part, decide what kind of thing it is, then keep the same preposition at the end of your question.

EXAMPLE

The receptionist eventually apologized to the hotel manager for the mix-up.

Think: "the hotel manager" is a person, so the question starts with Who. And "apologize" is always followed by "to" — a genuine dependent preposition — so "to" stays at the end.

→ Who did the receptionist eventually apologize to?

1. Rio apologized to the hotel manager for the confusion.

2. The bus finally arrived at the wrong terminal.

3. She's always been serious about learning new languages.

4. Toshie always relies on her travel agent for last-minute bookings.

5. They checked out of the guesthouse two days early.

6. Everyone laughed at the tour guide's terrible joke.

7. She finally agreed with the receptionist about the refund.

8. She's always dreamed of running her own small inn.

9. She graduated from a small university in Kyoto.

10. The manager needed to speak to the head of housekeeping.

11. The guests kept complaining about the broken air conditioning.

12. He finally escaped from the noisy hotel lobby to find some quiet.

13. He always listens carefully to his older sister's advice.

14. He's finally accustomed to the strange breakfast hours here.

15. This particular custom comes from a much older tradition.

16. Sena eventually complained to the hotel's owner.

17. He's surprisingly bad at reading train timetables.

18. He eventually returned from a long trip, completely exhausted.

19. The whole group depends on their tour guide in unfamiliar cities.

20. The hotel suffers from a serious lack of staff in high season.

Answer Key · Gabarito do Professor

1. Who did Rio apologize to?
2. Where did the bus finally arrive at?
3. What has she always been serious about?
4. Who does Toshie always rely on?
5. Where did they check out of?
6. What did everyone laugh at?
7. Who did she finally agree with?
8. What has she always dreamed of?
9. Where did she graduate from?
10. Who did the manager need to speak to?
11. What did the guests keep complaining about?
12. Where did he finally escape from?
13. Who does he always listen carefully to?
14. What is he finally accustomed to?
15. Where does this particular custom come from?
16. Who did Sena eventually complain to?
17. What is he surprisingly bad at?
18. Where did he eventually return from?
19. Who does the whole group depend on?
20. What does the hotel suffer from?