One short text. Every question on this sheet comes from it.

Os números e a ordem são os mesmos da aula online, para a professora e a aluna trabalharem o mesmo material. O que o computador corrige sozinho lá, aqui você escreve à mão. Nenhuma resposta está impressa nesta folha.

THE TEXT

One house, two days

Uma casa, dois dias

Read it twice. The second time, look only at the clock times.

Leia uma vez para entender e uma segunda vez procurando as horas. Todos os exercícios desta folha dependem delas.

Mia and Tom are sister and brother. They live in a small house behind their parents' bakery. Their grandmother lives next door.

Mia gets up at six o'clock. She has breakfast with her mother and she catches the bus at ten to seven. Her first class starts at a quarter after seven. Her last class finishes at ten after three. She walks home and she arrives at half past three. She studies English on Tuesday and Thursday. She does her homework at eight o'clock and she washes the dishes after dinner.

Tom works at night, so he sleeps in the morning. He gets up at half past eleven. Their grandmother has lunch with him at noon. He leaves the house at four o'clock and he finishes work at midnight. He never has dinner at home. He plays the guitar on the weekend.

Their parents open the bakery at five in the morning. They close it at two in the afternoon. They make bread and cakes. On Sunday they don't work. They watch old movies and they go to bed early.

Mia and Tom talk for half an hour before he goes to work. On Saturday Mia, Tom and their parents have lunch together.

THE QUESTION

What time...?

Duas palavras na frente, e o resto você já sabe

What time goes in front. Then do or does, and the verb goes back to its base form.

Em português a pergunta sai com o verbo conjugado. Em inglês entra o auxiliar antes, e aí o verbo perde o -s. A resposta de hora começa com At.

One person or one thing

Uma pessoa ou uma coisa

he · she · it

does

More than one, or I and you

Mais de um, ou eu e você

I · you · we · they

do

STATEMENT · frase

Pedro takes the train at seven.

QUESTION · pergunta

What time does Pedro take the train?

ANSWER · a hora

At seven o'clock.

O auxiliar leva o -s embora, então o verbo volta para a base.

STATEMENT · frase

My cousins have dinner at nine.

QUESTION · pergunta

What time do my cousins have dinner?

ANSWER · a hora

At nine o'clock.

Com mais de um, entra do. Aqui o verbo já estava na base.

THE SAME CLOCK · as duas leituras

FROM THE HOUR · COM AFTER OU TO

twenty to eleven

STRAIGHT THROUGH · HORA E MINUTO

ten forty

Antes da metade da hora o inglês conta o que já passou, com after. Depois da metade ele conta o que falta, com to e a hora seguinte. A exceção é o meio: aí é half past, nunca "half after". E a leitura corrida, hora e minuto, vale sempre. Americano diz after, britânico diz past: reconheça os dois, escreva o primeiro.

EXERCISE A

Ask the text

Você escreve a pergunta e a hora

Build the question from the prompt. Then answer from the text.

Procure a hora no texto antes de responder. Quando o texto não der a hora, escreva It doesn't say.

EXAMPLE · exemplo resolvido

O prompt do item

Mia / wash the dishes

1. What time na frente, depois does, e o verbo na base: washes vira wash.
2. O texto diz after dinner. Isso é quando, não é que horas.
3. Sem hora no texto, a resposta certa não é inventar: é It doesn't say.

What time does Mia wash the dishes? · It doesn't say.

1. Mia / get up

QUESTION · pergunta

ANSWER · a hora

2. their parents / go to bed

QUESTION · pergunta

ANSWER · a hora

7. Mia and Tom / have lunch on Saturday

8. Mia / arrive home

EXERCISE B

Put the time on the clock

A resposta não se escreve: se desenha

Find the time in the text. Then draw the two hands.

O ponteiro da hora é curto e grosso, o do minuto é comprido e fino.

EXAMPLE · exemplo resolvido

A pergunta já vem pronta. O que a aluna faz é achar a hora no texto e pôr os ponteiros no lugar.

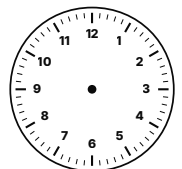

What time does their grandmother have lunch with Tom?

1. O texto dá a hora com uma palavra só: noon, meio-dia.
2. Meio-dia: os dois ponteiros em cima do 12.

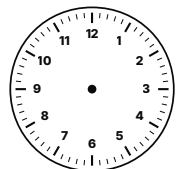

noon

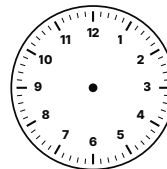

1. What time does Mia catch the bus?

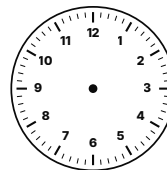

2. What time does Tom get up?

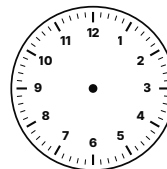

3. What time does Mia's first class start?

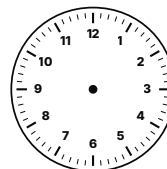

4. What time do their parents close the bakery?

5. What time does Mia do her homework?

6. What time does Tom leave the house?

EXERCISE C

Say it the other way

O mesmo relógio, duas leituras

Every clock can be read two ways. Write the one you are not given.

Nenhuma destas horas está no texto: aqui o treino é só de relógio. Cada item diz qual das duas leituras ele quer.

EXAMPLE · exemplo resolvido

You hear seven forty. Say it from the hour.

1. Passou da metade da hora, então conta o que falta: vinte minutos.
2. O que falta vai com to, e a hora é a de depois: eight.

twenty to eight

nine forty-five

1. FROM THE HOUR · COM AFTER OU TO

twenty after ten

2. STRAIGHT THROUGH · HORA E MINUTO

one oh five

3. FROM THE HOUR · COM AFTER OU TO

eight forty

4. FROM THE HOUR · COM AFTER OU TO

twenty-five after two

5. STRAIGHT THROUGH · HORA E MINUTO

five thirty-five

6. FROM THE HOUR · COM AFTER OU TO

four fifteen

7. FROM THE HOUR · COM AFTER OU TO

ten to twelve

8. STRAIGHT THROUGH · HORA E MINUTO

As mesmas cinco frases dos Outcomes da aula online.

☐ I can ask What time...? with do and does.

Ponho What time na frente, escolho do ou does, e deixo o verbo na forma base.

☐ I can answer a time question with At...

Começo a resposta com At e digo a hora.

☐ I can find a time inside a text.

Acho a hora no texto em vez de adivinhar.

☐ I can say It doesn't say when the text gives no time.

Quando o texto não dá a hora, eu digo It doesn't say.

☐ I can say the same clock two ways.

Ten after nine e nine ten são o mesmo relógio.

What time...?

One question gets every clock time out of a text.

Monte a pergunta, leia o relógio, responda com At. E se o texto não der a hora, diga It doesn't say.

1 · THE QUESTION

What time + do / does + subject + base verb?

O auxiliar leva o tempo e o -s. Por isso o verbo volta para a forma de dicionário: gets vira get.

does

One person or one thing

Uma pessoa ou uma coisa

he · she · it

do

More than one, or I and you

Mais de um, ou eu e você

I · you · we · they

STATEMENT · frase

The bus leaves at ten.

QUESTION · pergunta

What time does the bus leave?

ANSWER · a hora

At ten o'clock.

Uma coisa só: does, e o verbo perde o -s.

STATEMENT · frase

My brothers have lunch at one.

QUESTION · pergunta

What time do my brothers have lunch?

ANSWER · a hora

At one o'clock.

Mais de um: do. O verbo já estava na base.

2 · THE CLOCK

after

Até a metade, conte o que já passou da hora: ten after four. No meio exato, half past.

three o'clock

3:00

to

Passou da metade, conte o que falta para a hora seguinte: ten to five.

a quarter after one

one fifteen · 1:15

twenty-five after twelve

twelve twenty-five · 12:25

half past six

six thirty · 6:30

twenty to three

two forty · 2:40

a quarter to four

three forty-five · 3:45

The verb loses the -s.

O auxiliar já carrega o -s. What time does she gets-up? → What time does she get up?

The answer starts with At.

Com número e também com noon e midnight. Só a frase inteira dispensa o At: The bus leaves at ten.

American says after. British says past.

Mesma hora. Treine after; past é só para reconhecer. O meio da hora foge: half past, nunca half after.

No time in the text? Say so.

Early, after dinner e at night dizem quando, não dizem que horas. Aí a resposta é It doesn't say.
