01 Basic — Preposition + Gerund

THE RULE

verb / adjective + preposition + gerund → afraid of losing • committed to being

Certain verbs and adjectives always take a fixed preposition. The preposition is followed by a gerund (verb + -ing), not an infinitive. It belongs to the word, not the sentence.

THE RULE

03 Negatives — preposition + not + gerund

THE RULE

preposition + not + gerund → afraid of not finding

To negate the gerund, place not directly before it — not before the preposition. The not belongs to the action, not to the feeling.

CHANGES THE MEANING ENTIRELY

She isn't worried about finding the answer.
(she does not worry at all)

WHAT YOU ACTUALLY MEAN

She is worried about not finding the answer.
(she worries — about failing to find)

Subject + not + gerund: proud of her not giving up — she is the one not giving up.

04 Perfect Gerund — having + past participle

Use having + past participle when the gerund action happened before the main verb. To negate: not having + past participle. With a subject: her having found, him not having spoken.

SIMPLE GERUND

She is proud of finding her place.
general — no time reference

PERFECT GERUND

She is proud of having found her place.
the finding already happened — before the pride
