

What probably happened?

Mesmas estruturas da aula: must be, might be, could be, can't be no presente, e suas versoes com have no passado. Frases novas, mesmo raciocinio.

TEXTO ADAPTADO NIVEL B1+

ganbare - you've got this

01 The Locked Door

Leitura - By Yuki Tanaka

The key wouldn't turn. I checked the door number twice. It must be the right room. The number matched¹ my paper exactly. But the lock² didn't move at all.

An older guest³ walked by and looked at me. "That lock can't be working," she said. "It happened to me too, two nights ago." I felt a little better. Not my fault, then. Maybe.

Later, the owner explained. New keys were cut⁴ that week, and a few of them must have come out wrong. One side was shaved a fraction too thin⁵. Mine could have been one of those keys. He said he couldn't have known which keys had the problem until guests started to complain⁶.

I thought about how much of travel works this way. You rarely get the full story right away. You get a locked door, a tired shrug, a guess that sounds like certainty⁷. And somehow, by morning, it's usually close enough⁸ to the truth.

NOTAS DE LEITURA - GLOSSARIO

1. to match: was exactly the same as something else (corresponder, ser igual a; 一致する)
2. lock: the metal part of a door that keeps it closed (fechadura; 錠)
3. guest: a person staying in a hotel or guesthouse (hospede; 宿泊客)
4. to cut (keys): made with a key-cutting machine (cortar, fazer (chaves); (鍵を) 作る)
5. shaved a fraction too thin: one side of the key was cut a little too thin, so it didn't fit properly (cortada um pouco fina demais; 少し薄く削られすぎた)
6. to complain: to say you are not happy about something (reclamar; 文句を言う)
7. certainty: the state of being sure about something (certeza; 確信)
8. close enough: almost exactly right, even if not perfect (bem proximo, quase exato; ほぼ近い)

02 Deduction - Present

Quick reference

~95%

must be

Evidencia forte, conclusao quase certa.

"He must be tired."

~50%

might/could be

Possibilidade real, sem certeza.

"That could be him."

~50%

may be

Igual a might be, mais formal.

"It may be closed."

~95%

can't be

Impossivel dado o contexto.

*"That can't be right."Regra de ouro: nunca "mustn't be" para deducao negativa. Impossibilidade no presente e sempre can't be.

02.1 Practice - Present Deduction

02.01

The tour bus is completely full and the driver just closed the door and started the engine.

We _____ about to leave.

- A) might be B) can't be C) must be 02.02

The restaurant's sign says "Open," but every chair is stacked on tables and the lights are off.

That sign _____ accurate. This place is clearly closed.

- A) must be B) might be C) can't be 02.03

You hear a bell ringing somewhere in the temple grounds, but can't tell if it's a visitor or a daily ritual.

It _____ the evening ceremony starting.

- A) can't be B) might be C) must be 02.04

Everyone at the gate holds identical boarding passes with the same flight number as yours.

This _____ the right gate.

- A) might be B) must be C) can't be 02.05

Your friend didn't reply to your last two messages, but she's mentioned bad signal in the mountains before.

She _____ somewhere without signal right now.

- A) can't be B) could be C) must be 02.06

The man at the counter wears the same uniform, badge, and name tag as every other staff member you've seen today.

He _____ one of the hotel staff.

- A) must be B) might be C) can't be

02.07

A small queue has formed outside a tiny shop with no sign at all. Locals seem to know something visitors don't.

This _____ one of those hidden local favourites.

- A) can't be B) might be C) must be 02.08

You're not sure if the couple across the train aisle are locals or tourists. Nothing makes it obvious.

They _____ tourists, or they might just live nearby.

- A) must be B) might be C) can't be

~95%

must have been

Conclusao quase certa sobre o passado.

"She must have left."

~50%

might/could have been

Explicacao possivel para algo ja ocorrido.

"He could have missed it."

~50%

may have been

Igual a might have, mais formal.

"It may have been cancelled."

~95%

can't have been

Impossivel dado o que voce sabe.

*"That can't have been him."DICAFormacao: modal + have + participio passado. O verbo depois de "have" nunca muda por pessoa.REAL TALK*must be = agora. must have been = ja aconteceu. So adicionar have + participio muda para o passado.

03.1 Practice - Past Deduction

03.01

You come back to your bicycle and find the tire completely flat, though it was fine an hour ago.

It _____ flat while it was parked here.

- A) might have gone B) must have gone C) can't have gone

03.02

The hotel says breakfast ended at 9:30, but you have a photo, timed at 10:15, of the same buffet fully set up.

Breakfast _____ at 9:30. The photo says otherwise.

- A) must have ended B) can't have ended C) might have ended

03.03

Your suitcase has a small scuff mark that wasn't there before your flight, but there's no way to know exactly when.

It _____ during loading, or maybe at the connection.

- A) can't have happened B) might have happened C) must have happened

03.04

You find a coat in your closet that fits you perfectly, but you have no memory of buying or packing it.

Someone _____ it here. It's definitely not mine.

- A) might have left B) must have left C) can't have left

03.05

Your friend insists she called at 3pm, but your phone shows zero missed calls and full signal all afternoon.

She _____. There's no record of it anywhere on my phone.

- A) could have called B) must have called C) can't have called 03.06

You can't find your umbrella after the museum, but also can't remember if you brought it that day.

I _____ it at home this morning. I honestly can't remember.

- A) must have left B) might have left C) can't have left

03.07

The waiter brought exactly the dish you were about to order, before you even said a word.

Someone _____ for me already. This is exactly what I wanted.

- A) might have ordered B) can't have ordered C) must have ordered

03.08

The receptionist swears the key was returned yesterday, but it's sitting untouched in a drawer marked "not yet returned."

That _____ returned yesterday. It's clearly still in the wrong drawer.

- A) might have been B) must have been C) can't have been 04.01

Right now, the shutters of the shop are down and there's a small handwritten sign taped to the glass.

It _____ closed for the holiday today.

- A) must have been B) can't have been C) must be 04.02

Looking back at the receipt from last night, the total was oddly high for what you remember ordering.

There _____ an extra item added by mistake.

- A) must be B) can't be C) must have been 04.03

Right now, you can smell fresh paint the moment you open the door to the room.

They _____ the room recently. The smell is still strong.

- A) must be painting B) can't be painting C) must have painted

04.04

You're looking at the timetable right now, and the next train to your destination isn't listed anywhere on it.

This _____ the full timetable. There has to be another one somewhere.

- A) can't have been B) must be C) can't be

Yes/No	"Could this be a mistake?" Modal no início da frase.
Yes/No past	"Might they have missed the train?" Modal + subject + have + participio.
Wh-question	"What could be causing the delay?" Wh-word antes do modal.
Wh past	"Why might the flight have been cancelled?" Wh-word + modal + subject + have + participio.
Short answer	"It could be, yes." / "Probably not, it can't be." / "It must have been, I think." Resposta curta, sem repetir a frase toda.

EXEMPLO RESOLVIDO

You get home and find the kitchen light on, though you're sure you turned everything off before leaving.

Q: "Could I have left the light on by accident?"

A: "You could have. It happens more than you'd think."

Por que funciona: a pergunta usa "could have" porque voce esta apenas considerando uma possibilidade sobre o passado. A resposta usa "could have" de volta, confirmando que e plausivel, sem afirmar certeza total.

Situacao 1: You come home and the front door is unlocked, though you're sure you locked it this morning.

Write a yes/no question using "could have" (past):

Write a short answer using "must have":

Situacao 2: A cafe you love is completely empty at lunchtime, which never happens.

Write a wh-question using "must be" (present):

Write a short answer using "might be":

Situacao 3: Your neighbour's lights have been off for three days straight.

Write a yes/no question using "might have" (past):

Write a short answer using "could have":

Situacao 4: You find a second set of chopsticks on your table, though you're eating alone.

Write a wh-question using "could have" (past):

Write a short answer using "must have":

06 Speaking Corner

DISCUSSION

- Think of one confusing or unexplained moment from a real trip you took. Be ready to explain it out loud using at least two deduction structures: one present, one past.
- Pick two objects near you right now. Make one present deduction and one impossible-past deduction about each.

Answer Key - Gabarito

Present Deduction

- 02.01: must be
- 02.02: can't be
- 02.03: might be
- 02.04: must be
- 02.05: could be
- 02.06: must be
- 02.07: must be
- 02.08: might be

Past Deduction

- 03.01: must have gone
- 03.02: can't have ended
- 03.03: might have happened
- 03.04: must have left
- 03.05: can't have called
- 03.06: might have left
- 03.07: must have ordered
- 03.08: can't have been

Mixed Practice

- 04.01: must be
- 04.02: must have been
- 04.03: must have painted
- 04.04: can't be

Asking & Answering · exemplos sugeridos

Situacao 1

Q: Could I have forgotten to lock it?

A: You must have. No one else has a key.

Situacao 2

Q: Why must it be so quiet today?

A: It might be a public holiday. That would explain the empty tables.

Situacao 3

Q: Might they have gone away for a few days?

A: They could have. Their car hasn't been there either.

Situacao 4

Q: Who could have left these here?

A: The staff must have set the table for two by mistake.

Producao aberta. Estas sao sugestoes, nao as unicas respostas corretas. O professor confere junto com o aluno em aula.