How Healthy Are Young People?

A medical research company did a survey among children and teenagers to find out how young people stay healthy and active.

The first part of the survey focused on how healthy children are now. Most children said that they (1) was / were / would be healthy and well, but some have had accidents in the past. About 20% of children have broken a bone and gotten a cast, while 25% have twisted their ankle.

The second part of the survey looked at how children stay healthy. Almost 80% of children said that they (2) eat / ate / eaten a varied diet. But 60% said that they (3) haven't / don't / didn't take the stairs every day, and only 30% said that they (4) limit / limited / are limiting their screen time.

Looking ahead, nearly 70% of the children surveyed said that they (5) would / will / do take up a new sport next year. Meanwhile, 20% said they lived close to school, so they (6) could / can / do walk to school instead of going by car.
