1 Text 1 · A Weekend at Jake's

Um fim de semana na casa do Jake

Sophie, Jake, Tom & Mia

Circule a opção certa em cada lacuna. Cada texto mistura adjetivos possessivos, possessive 's e have/has — exatamente como vai aparecer numa conversa real.

Every year, Sophie packs a bag to visit (her / his) [1] cousin, Jake, for a weekend. Jake (has / have) [2] a small apartment near the airport, and this weekend (Jake's / Jakes') [3] sister visits too. "Do you (have / has) [4] a spare key?" Sophie asks. "(Does / Do) [5] Jake have a spare key for the guests?" Tom wonders. Jake (doesn't have / don't have) [6] a spare key, but he has a code for the front door. Tom and Mia are Jake's neighbors, and they (have / has) [7] two cats. This weekend, the cats' owners are away, so Jake feeds (their / his) [8] cats too. It's always a busy weekend at Jake's building!

spare key = chave reserva · front door = porta da frente · neighbors = vizinhos

2 Text 2 · Daniel's New Desk

A mesa nova do Daniel

Daniel & Lena

Daniel starts his new job on Monday. This is (his / her) [1] desk, right next to Lena's desk. Lena (has / have) [2] a lot of photos on her desk — they're pictures of (her / their) [3] nieces. Daniel doesn't have any decorations yet. "(Do / Does) [4] you have a spare stapler?" Daniel asks Lena. "Does the office have extra supplies?" he wonders. The office (doesn't have / don't have) [5] a supply closet, but it has a shared drawer. Lena and Sophie (have / has) [6] the desks near the window, and (their / her) [7] view is beautiful. Daniel (doesn't have / don't have) [8] any complaints — he's excited about his first week!

stapler = grampeador · supply closet = armário de suprimentos · drawer = gaveta
