

UNIT 1: LIFESTYLE

Page 9

chat on social media /tʃæt ən 'soʊʃl 'mi:diə/ Phrase if you chat on social media, you talk to someone in a friendly and casual way through an app online

Collocation(s): chat with/to someone

I like to chat on social media with my friends | I chat on social media with people from around the world | I like to chat on social media more than I like talking on the phone

Noun: chat

Collocation(s): a chat with someone nice to see you! Do you have time for a chat? | I had a long chat with my neighbor yesterday lifestyle /'laɪfˌstɑɪl/ Noun uncountable someone's lifestyle is the way they live, the things they do for work and pleasure, the way they spend their money, etc.

Collocation(s): a healthy lifestyle | a simple lifestyle | an active lifestyle they're exercising less now because of their new lifestyle | we lived a simple lifestyle out in the country | our job is to encourage a healthy lifestyle for our customers musical instrument /'myʊzɪkl 'ɪnstrəmənt/ Noun a musical instrument is something such as a guitar, violin, or piano that can make musical sounds

I wish I could play a musical instrument | a store that sells all kinds of musical instruments | how many musical instruments can you play?

skydiving /'skaɪˌdaɪvɪŋ/ Noun uncountable skydiving is an activity where a person jumps from an airplane and free falls before opening a parachute to land safely on the ground

Collocation(s): go skydiving | indoor skydiving

I felt scared while skydiving for the first time | after skydiving, my heart was beating very fast as I was excited | some people find skydiving scary, but I think it's fun

Noun: skydive, skydiver | Verb: skydive she decided to skydive for the first time on her birthday walk /wɔ:k/ Noun

if you go for a walk, you go outside and walk somewhere for pleasure

Collocation(s): go for a walk | a long walk we went for a long walk in the country | let's go for a walk | did you have a nice walk? | the weather is perfect for a walk

Pages 10–11

asleep /ə'sli:p/ Adjective if you are asleep, you are sleeping

Collocation(s): fall asleep | fast asleep | sound asleep

she fell asleep (started being asleep) in front of the TV | he's asleep upstairs | don't wake the baby – he's asleep | he was fast asleep (completely asleep) in bed | I'm half asleep (very tired) break /breɪk/ Noun

when you are at work or doing a task, a break is a time when you stop working and relax for a short time before starting to work again

Collocation(s): a lunch/coffee break | a short/long break | take a break | be on your break

I don't have time for a break | I usually take a break at about eleven o'clock | I worked from eight to four without a break | that was a long break | I had to go to the bank during my lunch break | a 10-minute break | he's on his break right now the meeting starts at nine and we'll break for lunch at twelve check /tʃek/ Verb

Verb: break

if you check something, you look at it to see if anything has changed about it or to make sure that it is still in good condition

Collocation(s): check something for something he checked his phone for messages before the meeting started | I check my emails on the train going to work | you should check the weather forecast before you leave | check the website to make sure the plane is still on time eat out /'it aʊt/ Phrasal verb if you eat out, you go to a restaurant to have a meal instead of eating at home we eat out once or twice a week | I can't afford to eat out | eating out in restaurants is very expensive | let's eat out tonight get home /get hoʊm/ Phrase when you get home, you arrive back to where you live

I got home late last night | what time do you usually get home from school? | I want to get home before it's dark get up /get ʌp/ Phrasal verb when you get up, you get out of bed after you have finished sleeping

I usually get up at about eight | what time do you get up? | I got up late this morning | she got up at six thirty | I hate getting up in the dark in winter | we get up late on weekends | I have to get up early tomorrow once or twice /wʌns ər twaɪs/ Phrase if you do something once or twice, you do it a very small number of times, but the exact number of times is not important

I visit my grandparents once or twice a year | he came to see us once or twice last year | yes, I met her once or twice in Peru | turn the fish over once or twice while it's cooking play board games /pleɪ bɔ:rd geɪmz/ Phrase when you play board games, you move pieces around a board until someone wins. Often, you move around the board according to the numbers shown on a dice (a small object with the numbers one to six on each side).

it was raining, so we played board games all afternoon | I love playing board games with my family – my favorite is Monopoly | I played a lot of board games when I was younger public transportation /ˌpʌblɪk ˌtrænsˈpɔːrteɪʃn/ Noun uncountable

ordinary people are known as the public. Public transportation is buses, trains, etc. that anyone can use if they have a ticket most people go to work on public transportation | public transportation in London is very expensive | despite the snow, public transportation is running normally | we were encouraged to use public transportation stay up /steɪ ʌp/ Phrasal verb if you stay up, you stay awake for longer than usual and go to bed later than you usually do Collocation(s): stay up late

I sometimes stay up late to finish my homework | we stayed up until three o'clock to watch the game from Japan | I often used to stay up all night when I was in college | I had to stay up until Mai came home because he didn't have a key stressed /strest/ Adjective if you are stressed, you are very worried about something and cannot relax

I'm feeling very stressed about the new job | I got really stressed before my driving test | you look stressed – why don't you have a day off?

Noun: stress

Collocation(s): be under stress

I'm under a lot of stress at work | moving to another country can create a lot of stress two or three times /tu ɔː θri taɪmz/ Phrase if something happens two or three times, it happens perhaps twice or three times, but not more often than that, and the exact number is not really important she wakes up two or three times during the night | I tried calling you two or three times, but your phone always went to voicemail | I've only used it two or three times | I go back to Prague two or three times a year usually /ˈyʊʒuəli/ Adverb if something usually happens, it happens most times when it is possible for it to happen she's usually late for work | I usually visit my uncle on Sundays | they usually go to school by bus wake up /weɪk ʌp/ Phrasal verb if you wake up, you stop being asleep and become awake.

If you wake someone up, you make them stop sleeping and become awake Collocation(s): wake up early/late

I woke up early and went for a walk | the baby often wakes up during the night | she woke up at six in the morning | I usually wake up before the alarm clock goes off | can you wake me up at seven? | don't make a noise – I don't want the baby to wake up

Adjective: awake

are you awake yet? | I was still awake when it started getting light

Pages 12–13

active life /ˈæktɪv laɪf/ Noun an active life involves regular exercise that helps someone stay fit and healthy Collocation(s): lead an active life my parents have led very active lives | your dog should be living a more active life card /kɑːd/ Noun

a card or a playing card is a small piece of cardboard that has numbers or pictures on it, used for playing games. A deck of cards usually has 52 cards in it. If you play cards, you play a game using a deck of cards

Collocation(s): play cards | a deck/pack of cards | deal the cards do you like playing card games? | let's have a game of cards | it's your turn to deal the cards (give them out to the players at the start of the game) | shuffle the cards first (mix them up so that no one knows what order they are in) catch /kætʃ/ Verb

if you catch fish or other animals, you succeed in getting them so that you can kill them and eat them he didn't catch a single fish all afternoon | dad said he wanted to catch a rabbit for dinner explanation /ˌekspləˈneɪʃn/ Noun an explanation gives information about, and reasons for, something so that people can understand what it is or why it happened one explanation is that the family is very important here | another explanation suggested the string was too weak | see the next chapter for a full explanation | what is the explanation for your behavior? | there's a scientific explanation for this

Verb: explain

Collocation(s): explain something to someone she's good at explaining ideas | can you explain what you mean, exactly? | she tried explaining it to me gardening /ˈɡɑːdnɪŋ/ Noun gardening is taking care of plants, flowers, or vegetables in a garden by making sure they have enough sun and water

Collocation(s): gardening tools/gloves | enjoy gardening

I enjoy gardening because it helps me relax and be with nature | my grandmother taught me all about gardening, such as planting tomatoes, when I was younger

Noun: garden, gardener | Verb: garden the gardener showed us how to take care of the plants hiking /ˈhaɪkɪŋ/ Noun uncountable if you go hiking, you walk a long distance in the country for pleasure

Collocation(s): go hiking we went hiking in the mountains in Scotland | my hobbies are hiking and playing the piano | a hiking vacation

Noun: hiker | Verb: hike

we hiked from Forres to Findhorn on the weekend | she could see two hikers coming down the side of the hill karate /kə'reɪtʃ/ Noun uncountable karate is a sport in which two people fight each other using their hands and feet do you prefer judo or karate? | his brother does karate on Tuesday afternoons | she went to karate classes for several years yoga /'yɒɡə/ Noun uncountable yoga is a system of exercises that help you control your breathing and become fitter and more relaxed she teaches yoga on Thursday evenings | I used to do yoga when I was in college | I feel a lot healthier since I started doing yoga

Pages 14–15

emotions /ɪ'moʊʃnz/ Noun emotions are feelings that we have, such as feeling happy, sad, or excited

Collocation(s): manage emotions | strong emotions

it's important to show your emotions and not keep them inside | she experienced different emotions while watching the movie

Adjective: emotional

he felt quite emotional after listening to the sad song feel better /fil 'beɪtər/ Phrase if you feel better, you feel well again after you have been sick, or you start to feel happy and relaxed after you have been working hard or have been in a difficult situation

I'll feel better after a cup of tea | don't come back to work until you're feeling better | he said he felt much better after his vacation | you won't feel better unless you take the medicine feel like /fil laɪk/ Phrase if you feel like doing something, you want to do it. If you feel like something, you want to have it

Collocation(s): feel like (doing) something what do you feel like doing after a long day at work? | I feel like a sandwich (I want to eat a sandwich) | do you feel like going to the movies tonight?

forest bathing /'fɒrɛst 'beɪðɪŋ/ Noun uncountable forest bathing is spending time in nature, like in forests, to relax and feel happier Collocation(s): practice forest bathing | enjoy forest bathing | experience forest bathing forest bathing helps me feel less stressed | while forest bathing, I concentrate on my breathing and listening to the sounds of nature | forest bathing is a popular way to relax in Japan | forest bathing is believed to have many health benefits government /'ɡʌvər(n)mənt/ Noun the government of a country is the group of people who are responsible for running it Collocation(s): local government governments are responsible for making laws | the government announced new policies to address climate change mental health /'mentl helθ/ Noun uncountable mental health is the condition of a person's mind and emotions, including how they feel and handle daily life

Collocation(s): poor mental health | mental health support | mental health issues taking care of your mental health is just as important as your physical health | she practices mindfulness to improve her mental health | talking to others can help improve your mental health physical health /'fɪzɪkl helθ/ Noun uncountable your physical health is the condition that your body is in lack of exercise is having an effect on their physical health | he was over 90, but his physical health was still good | she was in poor physical health provide /prə'vaɪd/ Verb

if you provide something that someone needs, you give it to them or make it available for them solar panels provide electricity to over 30 homes in our town | we're here to provide help if you need it | my parents provided all the food for the party | they should provide more information | the university will provide accommodations in your first year | the club provides a useful service to local families

Noun: provider

an Internet service provider (a company that connects people's computers to the Internet) | the company was a big provider of jobs relaxed /rɪ'læksd/ Adjective if you feel relaxed, you are calm and not worrying about work or problems their contact with nature helped them feel more relaxed | everyone was relaxed and enjoyed the party | he looked relaxed and happy

Noun: relaxation | Verb: relax | Adjective: relaxing

I play chess for relaxation | the weekend is for relaxation | I walk in the park to relax | listening to music helps me relax | a nice relaxing bath | we had a relaxing weekend on the beach

Pages 16–17

abbreviation /əˌbrɪvi'eɪʃn/ Noun an abbreviation is a short way of writing something using just the first letter of each word, or the first few letters of a word

DOB is an abbreviation for "date of birth" | his texts are full of abbreviations that I don't understand | we use a lot of abbreviations at work, such as EOD for "end of day" backache /'bækeɪk/ Noun if you have a backache, your back hurts the bed was really uncomfortable and now I have a backache | I've had a really bad backache all day | I just wish this backache would go away contact details /'kantækt 'dɪteɪlz/ Noun plural your contact details are your address and telephone number where someone can write to you or get in touch with you can you give me your daytime contact details? (where you are during the day, for example, at work) | I'm afraid I don't have any contact details for him | we don't give our employees' contact details to journalists cough /kɒf/ Noun

if you have a cough, you cough a lot

Collocation(s): a bad cough he didn't go to school because he had a bad cough | I felt all right yesterday, but I woke up with a cough this morning | she had a bad cough all last week

Verb: cough

he was coughing all night | my chest hurts when I cough cough drop /kɒf drap/ Noun a cough drop is a small piece of food that contains a small amount of medicine that you suck (keep in your mouth for a while) to help you stop coughing a bag of cough drops | these cough drops taste horrible | lemon flavored cough drops country of origin /'kʌntri əv 'brɒdʒən/ Noun your country of origin is the country where you were born

I live in Germany, but my country of origin is Colombia | his country of origin is India, but he has a British passport | after twenty years in the US, she decided to return to her country of origin dependent /dɪ'pendənt/ Noun your dependents are people like your children or elderly parents who need you to provide their food, clothes and a home a woman with three dependents | how many dependents do you have?

Adjective: dependent they have two dependent children and a son who is now 21 earache /'ɪreɪk/ Noun

if you have an earache, you feel pain in an ear or in both ears

I always get an earache after I've been swimming | being outside in the cold wind gave him an earache | my earache kept me awake all night emergency /ɪ'mɜːdʒənsi/ Noun an emergency is a serious or dangerous situation that requires quick action Collocation(s): in case of emergency who should we contact in case of emergency? | call me on this number if there's an emergency fever /'fɪvər/ Noun

if you have a fever, your body is too hot because you are sick

Collocation(s): have a fever | a high fever

I have a fever and my whole body aches | he had a high fever, so his mother kept him home fill out a form /fɪl aʊt ə fɔːm/ Phrase if you fill out a form, you write information in spaces on a piece of paper or on a computer screen, for example, your name, address, and telephone number please fill out this form and return it to the hospital | I had to fill out a lot of forms to get my new passport gender /'dʒɛndər/ Noun gender refers to groups of people who have qualities that society thinks are like those of men, women, or another gender identity.

Collocation(s): gender identity | gender equality | gender roles my school teaches us about gender equality, which means everyone is the same | it doesn't matter what your gender is, people can wear whatever clothes they like headache /'hedeɪk/ Noun

if you have a headache, your head hurts, for example, because you are sick

Collocation(s): a splitting headache

I had a headache, so I stayed at home | I have a splitting headache (an extremely painful one) | all that loud music gave me a headache | she took an aspirin for her headache (to make it better) | I get a headache if I drink coffee jogging /'dʒɑːɡɪŋ/ Noun uncountable jogging is a type of exercise where you run slowly

Collocation(s): go jogging

I go jogging with my sister every morning | I'm going to start jogging regularly in January | jogging will help you get fit marital status /'mæərɪl 'stætəs/ Noun uncount your marital status is whether you are married or not married what is your marital status? | please inform us if there is a change in your marital status | your driver's license does not show your marital status medication /ˌmedə'keɪʃn/ Noun medication is the medicine that someone is taking because they are sick or to avoid becoming sick

Collocation(s): take medication | be on medication are you on any medication? | is he taking any medication? | the doctor recommended trying a different kind of medication next of kin /nekst əv kɪn/ Noun your next of kin is your closest relative, for example, your husband or wife if you are married, or your father or mother the police are still looking for the victim's next of kin | his mother was noted as his next of kin | the next of kin have been informed (the close relatives of someone who has just died have been told about it) operation /ˌɒpə'reɪʃn/ Noun if someone has an operation, doctors cut into their body in order to repair it or take something out he had an operation on his knee | a minor operation (not very serious) | she needed an emergency operation | a heart operation | the operation was successful

Verb: operate

Collocation(s): operate on someone they operated on my uncle to repair his broken shoulder pharmacy /'farməsi/ Noun a pharmacy is a place where you can buy medicine and get advice from a pharmacist

I went to the pharmacy to pick up my prescription | the pharmacist gave me some advice on how to take my medicine | the pharmacy sells a variety of different medicines

Noun: pharmacist

Collocation(s): local pharmacy | online pharmacy zip code /'zip koud/ Noun a zip code is a short series of numbers at the end of someone's address to help a delivery person find the exact area

I can never remember my zip code | zip codes in New York begin with the number 1 | the letter got here even though they didn't put the zip code on the envelope pill /pɪl/ Noun

a pill is a small, hard piece of medicine that you swallow when you are sick to make you better the doctor gave me some pills for my headache | the pills are quite big, so break them in half before you try to swallow them | I have to take two pills in the morning and three in the evening | these pills will make you sleepy, so you shouldn't drive qualifications /'kwələfə'keɪʃnz/ Noun plural your qualifications are the exams you have passed, the courses of study you have completed, or the degrees you got, for example, in college do you have any qualifications? | he left school with no qualifications | if you don't get any qualifications, you won't get a good job

Verb: qualify | Adjective: qualified

Collocation(s): qualify as a doctor/lawyer he qualified as a doctor last year | a qualified lawyer (one who has passed the exams and can work as a lawyer) runny nose /'rʌni noʊz/ Noun if you have a runny nose, your nose fills with liquid because you are sick do you have a tissue? I have a runny nose | she woke up with a sore throat and a runny nose | I have a runny nose and I've been coughing all day sore throat /sɔr θroʊt/ Noun if you have a sore throat, your throat (area at the back of your mouth and inside your neck) hurts

I have a bad sore throat | she had a runny nose and a sore throat | screaming for a long time will give you a sore throat spouse /spaʊs/ Noun your spouse is your husband or wife employees could bring their spouses to the company party | friends and spouses were welcome | his spouse died a year ago stomachache /'stʌmək.eɪk/ Noun if you have a stomachache, your stomach hurts you'll get a stomachache if you eat too quickly | chocolate always gives me a stomachache | he didn't go to school because he had a bad stomachache surgery /'sɜrdʒəri/ Noun surgery is a medical treatment that involves cutting into someone's body in order to repair or take out a part that is diseased or damaged you may need further surgery | she had to have emergency surgery | heart surgery | brain surgery

UNIT 2: COMPETITIONS

Page 21

athlete /'æθlit/ Noun an athlete is someone who takes part in sports such as running, jumping, and throwing. Those sports in general are called athletics the athletes came out onto the running track | we sent a team of 30 athletes to the Olympic Games | I was never a good athlete at school | Usain Bolt is probably the most famous athlete in the world

Noun: athletics

an athletics stadium (a place where people do athletics) | I prefer football to athletics championship /'tʃæmpiənʃɪp/ Noun a championship is an important sports event or competition in which the winner becomes the champion the Championship is being held in Hawaii this year | she won the school tennis championship | the first person to win both the World and American championship

Noun: champion

Collocation(s): a world champion she's a famous judo champion | Murray is the defending champion (he won the competition last time and is competing in it again) | the world racing champion competitor /kəm'petɪtər/ Noun a competitor is someone who is taking part in a sporting event such as a race or a match the race had 35 competitors taking part | four competitors did not finish the race | competitors have to wear a number on their backs

Noun: competition | Verb: compete | Adjective: competitive

Collocation(s): swimming competition | compete in/for something an international sports competition | he won the competition four years running (every year for four years) | six teams competed for the championship | next year I'll be competing in the Olympic Games cycle /'saɪkl/ Verb

if you cycle, you ride a bicycle we cycled 300 kilometers in four days | I like to cycle through the countryside | I cycle to school every day | he cycles to work, even when it's raining | I used to drive to work, but now I cycle

Noun: cyclist, cycling

a group of cyclists went past us | my dad's really into cycling spectator /'spekteɪtər/ Noun a spectator is someone who is present in the audience at a public event such as a football game hundreds of spectators left the stadium before the end of the game | the match was watched by over 30,000 spectators | spectators are not allowed to record the action on their phones | spectators clapped when Ronaldo scored a goal

Pages 22–23

allowed /ə'laʊd/ Adjective if you are allowed to do something, you have someone's permission to do it Collocation(s): be allowed to do something

it's not allowed to eat during class | are we allowed to go swimming at lunchtime? | we're not allowed outside after dark my dad doesn't allow my younger brother to be out after 9 p.m. court /kɔ:t/ Noun

Verb: allow

a court is a special area where people play games like basketball, tennis, or badminton

Collocation(s): basketball court | tennis court | badminton court we played tennis on the court in the park | the basketball court is busy with teams practicing | do I need to wear special shoes on the badminton court?

enter /'entər/ Verb

if you enter a competition, you become one of the people who are competing in it Collocation(s): enter something they entered more races in Pakistan and other countries | you have to be over eighteen to enter the contest | our club is entering the national competition

Noun: entry

please fill out the entry form (provide details so that you can enter the competition) | entries must be received by March 31st equipment /'kwɪpmənt/ Noun uncountable equipment is the tools, machines, etc. that are used for a particular activity their equipment isn't working properly | we put all the camping equipment in the car | thieves stole cash and computer equipment | photographic equipment is very expensive

field /fild/ Noun

a field is an area of land where you play games such as soccer or football Collocation(s): a football/soccer/hockey field a soccer field | at last, the teams ran onto the field | the football field was too wet to play on goal /ɡoʊl/ Noun

a goal is when a player succeeds in putting the ball into the net in a game such as soccer or hockey, or kicking the ball over the bar in American football or rugby

Collocation(s): score a goal the winning goal was scored at the end | Harry Kane scored 28 goals this season | that was a brilliant goal! | we lost by three goals | how many goals did Messi score?

goalkeeper /'gəʊlˌki:pər/ Noun in soccer and hockey, the goalkeeper is the player whose job is to stop the other team from putting the ball in the goal. In soccer, the goalkeeper is the only player on a team who can use their hands, and in hockey the goalkeeper is the only person who can use their legs and feet our goalkeeper dropped the ball and the other team scored | Shilton was a great goalkeeper | the goalkeeper had an amazing game hole /hoʊl/ Noun

a hole is a gap in the ground with an empty space underneath it. In the game of golf, a hole is a small space in the ground just bigger than a ball, into which players try to hit their golf balls a nine-hole golf course | I took three goes to reach the hole | you can see the hole from here because there is a flag in it

line /laɪn/ Noun

a line is a long, thin mark on the ground or floor that shows the limits of the playing area in a game, or an area where players or the ball must not go

Collocation(s): cross the line | behind the line | over the line the ball crossed the line, so it went to the other team | you need to stand behind the line to shoot (throw) the ball | make sure your feet don't touch the line mustache (or moustache) /'mʌstæʃ/ Noun a mustache is the hair growing above a man's upper lip he had a thin mustache, brown hair, and green eyes | he shaved off his mustache before he started his new job | in the army, you are allowed to have a mustache; but in the navy, if you have a mustache, you must have a beard as well prize /praɪz/ Noun

a prize is something that is given to someone who has been successful in a competition or sports event. The winner gets the first prize, and sometimes there is a second prize and a third prize for the people who come second and third

Collocation(s): first/second/third prize | win a prize Mukhdalai won the first prize | first prize was a check for $300 | second prize went to the team from Peru | he shared second prize in the chess tournament

puck /pʌk/ Noun

a puck is a hard, flat disk used in ice hockey Collocation(s): a hockey puck he scored a goal with a powerful shot of the puck | the hockey player skilfully moved the puck across the ice referee /ˌrefəˈri/ Noun in some sports, the referee is the person who controls the players and decides if anyone has broken the rules the referee is wearing green | the crowd shouted at the referee | the referee sent our captain off (said he/she had broken the rules badly and had to leave the game)

Verb: referee they've asked me to referee the soccer game tomorrow rule /rul/ Noun

rules are instructions that tell you what you are allowed to do and what you are not allowed to do

Collocation(s): break the rules | against the rules the rules of baseball are very complicated | a list of school rules | you just have to follow the rules and you won't get into trouble | she broke the rules (did something she was not allowed to do) | that's against the rules (not allowed by the rules) runner /'rʌnər/ Noun

a runner is someone who takes part in a running race the runners lined up at the start of the race | is Usain Bolt still the fastest runner in the world? | there were six runners in each race

Verb: run

Roger Bannister was the first man to run a mile in less than four minutes team /tim/ Noun

a team is a group of people who play a sport against another group of people in a sports event such as a soccer or hockey game who's your favorite football team? | I'm captain of the school basketball team | there are eleven players in a soccer team | my team came third in the championship

Pages 24–25

baseball /'beɪsbɔːl/ Noun baseball is a team game, played especially in the USA, Canada, and Japan, in which two teams of nine players take turns trying to score points (called runs) by hitting a ball with a round stick and then running around a field a professional baseball player | we're going to a baseball game tonight | baseball is one of the most popular sports in Canada | do you enjoy playing baseball?

box /baks/ Verb

if you box, you take part in an organized sport that involves fighting against another person while wearing soft gloves

I go to a gym to box once a week | she wanted to learn to box

Noun: boxing, boxer

a boxing match | her brother is a professional boxer chess /tʃes/ Noun uncountable chess is a game played between two players on a board with 64 squares. Each player has sixteen pieces, one of which is called the king. The aim is to move the pieces and push the player into a position where his or her king cannot move

Collocation(s): a chess player | a chess tournament she's a very good chess player | Wallis won the chess tournament (an event in which several people play chess against each other) | I learned to play chess when I was eight | you need to concentrate a lot to play chess well gymnastics /dʒɪm'næstɪks/ Noun uncountable gymnastics is a sport in which the competitors do different activities on the floor, using special equipment she did gymnastics at the Tokyo Olympics | gymnastics can be really exciting to watch | they're showing gymnastics on TV tonight racing driver /'reɪsɪŋ 'draɪvər/ Noun a racing driver is a person who competes in races, driving cars at high speeds around a track

Collocation(s): a professional racing driver the racing driver won the championship after an exciting race | my dream is to become a professional racing driver

Pages 26–27

ambition /æm'bɪʃn/ Noun your ambition is a particular thing you want to achieve, or a strong wish to become successful at what you do Collocation(s): an ambition to do something she had an ambition to become a professional cyclist | my ambition was to become a doctor | her ambitions to enter politics

Adjective: ambitious || Opposite – Adjective: unambitious

she's very ambitious and wants to make a million dollars before she's 30 | he's very smart, but not very ambitious | he led a quiet and unambitious life commentator /'kəmən'tetər/ Noun a commentator is someone who describes what is happening in a sports event to the people who are watching or listening to it while it is being played on TV or radio the commentator started shouting with excitement when Mexico scored | it's a difficult job being a commentator | a commentator has to be able to recognize every player right away

Noun: commentary | Verb: commentate

Collocation(s): commentate on something he commentated on over five hundred football games during his career | Gower commentates on cricket for Sky Sports | her commentary was very clear and easy to follow crazy /'kreɪzi/ Adjective someone who is crazy does silly or dangerous things. If you say that people go crazy, you mean that they get very excited and start behaving in a wild and uncontrolled way my colleagues all think I'm crazy | you'd be crazy to jump off the bridge in the dark | our neighbors are crazy – they're always buying new furniture | that's a crazy idea! | the crowd went crazy | everyone went crazy when the goal was scored crowd /kraʊd/ Noun

a crowd is a very large group of people in a place, for example, in a shopping mall or watching a sports event

it's a sport that attracts big crowds | there was a huge crowd waiting to get in | I had to push my way through the crowds of shoppers | a small crowd was outside the church

Adjective: crowded

the bus was very crowded entertainment /ˌentər'teɪnmənt/ Noun uncountable entertainment is things that give people pleasure, such as movies, concerts, TV shows a series of concerts and other entertainment | the airline offers in-flight entertainment (videos you can watch during a plane trip) | there was live musical entertainment at the restaurant | it's an important center for culture, entertainment, and leisure

Noun: entertainer | Verb: entertain | Adjective: entertaining

he tried to earn some money as a street entertainer (performing in the street) | he entertained the children with stories and songs | it was a very entertaining movie lie /laɪ/ Verb

if you lie on something or lie down, your body is flat and your head is on the same level as your feet

Collocation(s): lie on something as Claudina lies on the floor, Yolanda smiles and waves to the crowd | I usually watch TV lying in bed | she lay on the grass looking at the sky | Tim likes to lie on the sofa to read a book | I'm really tired – I'm going to lie down for half an hour mixture /'mɪkstʃər/ Noun a mixture a combination of two or more different things Collocation(s): a mixture of things a mixture of sports, drama, and entertainment | it's a mixture of fried rice and black beans | a strange mixture of old and modern paintings | a mixture of different musical styles popularity /ˌpɒpyə'lærəti/ Noun popularity is the state of being liked, admired, or enjoyed by many people

Collocation(s): grow in popularity | popularity contest the movie gained popularity after receiving positive reviews | the band's popularity increased after their song got to the top of the music charts

Noun: popular

the pizza restaurant is popular with students ring /rɪŋ/ Noun

in sports such as boxing and wrestling, the ring is the square area with ropes around it where the boxers or wrestlers fight each other. People sometimes use the ring to refer to the sport itself after twelve years in the ring, he decided to retire (after twelve years as a boxer) | the two men approached the ring from opposite ends of the theater | it looks small, but when you're inside it, a boxing ring can seem pretty big salary /'sæləri/ Noun your salary is the money that you receive each month for doing your job they pay us a fixed salary | he gets a good salary | a salary of $60,000 a year | people on low salaries | they're asking for an increase in their basic salary | we lived on my salary for a few months until Frederik got a job scream /skrim/ Verb

if someone screams, they shout in a very loud, high voice because they are very excited or suddenly afraid, or in pain the crowd was screaming with happiness when Bale scored for Wales | he screamed loudly | the baby started screaming in the middle of the night | I could hear screaming downstairs | the children were screaming and laughing

Noun: scream

they heard screams coming from the next room suddenly /'sʌdnli/ Adverb if something happens suddenly, it starts to happen very quickly, often when you are not expecting it suddenly, the lights went out | we thought we were lost, but suddenly we saw the hotel | the cafe suddenly filled up with people | the weather changed very suddenly | she died suddenly at the end of last week

Adjective: sudden

there was a sudden change in the weather and it started raining heavily | the car made a loud bang and came to a sudden stop | his death was sudden and unexpected wave /weɪv/ Verb

if you wave, you move your hand from side to side to say goodbye to someone or to show that you have seen them

Collocation(s): wave at someone | wave to someone

The singer smiled and waved to her fans | I waved at him, but he didn't see me | she waved at me from the other side of the street | the queen waved at the crowds from the window of the palace

Noun: wave

with a smile and a wave, he ended the concert and walked off the stage wrestling /'reslɪŋ/ Noun uncountable wrestling is a sport in which two people fight each other by holding and pulling each other, but are not allowed to hit or punch each other

I sometimes watch wrestling on TV | there were four wrestling matches on the program | our school has a good wrestling team

Noun: wrestler | Verb: wrestle

it takes years to learn to wrestle well | the wrestlers entered the ring (the area where they will wrestle) | I'm not strong enough to be a wrestler

Pages 28–29

ad /æd/ Noun

an ad, or in more formal English an advertisement, is a short piece of text in a newspaper, magazine, or on a website, often with a picture, or a short video on TV or a website that tries to make people want to buy a particular product or do a particular activity

Collocation(s): an ad for something an ad for the tennis club | I saw an ad for it on TV | there are too many ads on TV | a front page ad in a national newspaper

Noun: advertising, advertiser | Verb: advertise

she works in advertising | an advertising agency (a company that makes ads) | they're going to advertise the new car on TV and in movie theaters | we need to start advertising in the local newspaper | advertisers have to pay a lot to get their ads on the front page of a national paper enthusiasm /ɪn'θuːzi.æzəm/ Noun uncountable enthusiasm is a strong feeling of excitement and interest about something Collocation(s): enthusiasm for something

a pianist with a great enthusiasm for music | make sure you show your enthusiasm for the job at the end of the interview | enthusiasm is more important than talent in the theater group | I don't share his enthusiasm for camping trips

Adjective: enthusiastic | Adverb: enthusiastically

Collocation(s): be enthusiastic about (doing) something he was very enthusiastic about going swimming | it was hard to feel enthusiastic about the election | my son is an excited and enthusiastic student who loves going to school | the idea was enthusiastically accepted by everyone at the meeting environmental /ɪn.ʋaɪərn'mentl/ Adjective something that is environmental relates to the natural world and how human activity affects it

Collocation(s): environmental issues the company started many environmental projects to help protect their forests environment | recycling is one way to reduce your environmental impact on the planet

Collocation(s): environmental protection

Noun: environment

we're doing a beach clean up this weekend to help the local environment | we need to take action to protect the environment for the future fit /fɪt/ Adjective if you are fit, you are healthy and can exercise without becoming tired. If you are not fit, you can get fit if you start to exercise regularly and eat a healthy diet

Collocation(s): get fit | stay fit

want to get fit? then join our running club | I go to the gym to stay fit | I used to be fit | I need to get fitter | he's not very fit because he doesn't exercise | she's fit and healthy again after her illness

Noun: fitness || Opposite – Adjective: unfit fitness training (exercises you do to stay fit) | Amy is a real fitness fanatic (she exercises a lot to stay fit) | I'm too unfit to walk to work | I was so unfit I started going to a gym headline /'hedlaɪn/ Noun a headline is a short piece of text in very big letters at the top of an article in a newspaper the headline said "Britain votes to leave Europe" | her death made headlines around the world (was such big news that all the newspapers had stories about her) interested /'ɪntrəstəd/ Adjective if you are interested in something, you would like to see more of it or know more about it

Collocation(s): be interested in something

I'm very interested in music | he wanted to show us his new car, but we weren't interested | I'm interested in history | I can tell you're not interested – you nearly fell asleep!

Noun: interest | Verb: interest | Adjective: interesting ||

Opposite – Adjective: uninterested

there wasn't much interest in the author's new book | politics doesn't interest me | I watched an interesting program on TV last night | this is an interesting book | he was completely uninterested in politics join /dʒɔɪn/ Verb

if you join an organization, you become a member of it I joined the army after I graduated from college | she's applied to join the tennis club | Estonia joined NATO in 2004 | he joined a gym to try to get fit membership fee /'membər,ʃɪp fi/ Noun a membership fee is the money you pay to become a member of a club the membership fee is $15 a year | I forgot to pay my membership fee this year | membership fees are due (must be paid) on April 1st notice /'nəʊtɪs/ Noun

a notice is information about something that is put in a public place for people to see a notice on the door said the store was closed until two p.m. | we put a notice about the concert on the school website | there were notices all over the town about the election solar panel /'səʊlər 'pænl/ Noun solar panels are flat sheets made of special material and usually attached to the outside of a building, that catches the energy from the sun and makes it into electricity Collocation(s): have solar panels solar panels take sunlight and turn it into electricity | my family installed solar panels to save on energy costs sustainability /sə'steɪnə'bɪlətɪ/ Noun uncountable sustainability is using resources in a way that makes sure they will still be available for people in the future Collocation(s): environmental sustainability we need to think more about sustainability in order to protect the planet Verb: sustain | Adjective: sustainable | Adverb: sustainably Collocation(s): sustainable development | sustainable future are there any other planets that can sustain life? | this type of farming is not sustainable anymore | my family and I try to live more sustainably by growing our own food talent /'tælənt/ Noun talent is a great skill or ability to do something very well anyone with talent can make movies | don't waste your talent joining the army | she had an extraordinary talent for singing | every student has different natural skills and talents Adjective: talented he was a talented soccer player who once played for Liverpool

Pages 30–31

a long way ahead /ə lɒŋ weɪ ə'hæd/ Phrase if you are a long way ahead of other people, you are in front of them and there is a big distance between you and them Collocation(s): a long way ahead of someone or something he finished the race a long way ahead of the others | can you see Tom – he's a long way ahead up the hill | the mountain peak was still a long way ahead of us bless /bles/ Verb

if someone blesses another person or something, they are asking that the person or thing is protected and looked after a man blesses all the people at the start of the event celebration /ˌselə'breɪʃn/ Noun if you celebrate, you do something enjoyable to show that a particular day, event, or occasion is special. The activity you do is a celebration

Collocation(s): a birthday/anniversary celebration | a big/small celebration a birthday celebration | the celebrations lasted all day and all night | we all joined in the celebrations | we organized a big celebration for the opening of the new school | the news caused celebrations across the city

Verb: celebrate

we always celebrate family events with my grandparents | they went to a restaurant to celebrate his birthday display /dɪ'spleɪ/ Noun a display is an act of performing a skill or of showing something happening, in order to entertain Collocation(s): a display of something there were several displays by the local gymnastics club

Verb: display

she displayed her singing skills in front of the class flag /flæg/ Noun

a flag is a piece of cloth with a special design on it that is used to represent a country or organization in the relay race, each team member has to carry a flag and pass it to the next runner | the soccer team waved their flag after winning the championship | before the start of the competition, the judge raised the flag to show the beginning of the race keep up /kɪp ʌp/ Phrasal verb if you keep up with other people in a race, you move at the same speed as them and do not let them get ahead of you his horse could only keep up for the first mile | if I can keep up with the leaders until the last half a kilometer, I have a chance of winning the race | I didn't have the energy to keep up with them lead /lɪd/ Noun

if you are in the lead during a race, you are in front of everyone else. If you take the lead, you go past the person who is in the lead so that you are in front of everyone

Collocation(s): be in the lead | take the lead halfway through the race, he was in the lead | she took the lead in the last hundred meters and went on to win | Hamilton was in the lead from start to finish in the race

Verb: lead

he led the race from start to finish like the wind /laɪk ðə wɪnd/ Phrase if someone runs, moves, drives, etc. like the wind, they move very fast

Alice ran after him like the wind | you need to drive like the wind if you want to get there before three p.m. | she jumped on her bike and rode like the wind to the next village medal /'mɛdl/ Noun

a medal is a small round metal object that you sometimes get as a prize for winning a sports competition

Collocation(s): a gold/silver/bronze medal in the Olympic Games, the winners receive a gold medal | I won a medal at our school sports day | she was proud of her silver medal (the prize for coming second) | he was disappointed to get only a bronze medal (a prize for coming third) performer /pər'fɔrmər/ Noun if you perform, you entertain a group of people by acting, singing, dancing, etc. People who do this are performers, and an example of this is a performance

there were some very good performers at the festival | we watched the street performers for a while | at the end of the show, all the performers came back onto the stage

Verb: perform | Noun: performance the school orchestra performs two concerts each year | the play was performed in Leeds and York before coming to London | she writes and performs all her own songs | they put on performances in schools across the country | the performance will begin in five minutes pole /pəʊl/ Noun

a pole is a long, thick piece of wood the horse riders have to pick up poles as they go along | the flag hung on a wooden pole | the fence was held up by poles every ten meters proud /praʊd/ Adjective if you feel proud of something, you have a feeling of great satisfaction because you have done something well

Collocation(s): be proud of something | be proud to do something she was so proud of herself when she passed the exam | he's particularly proud of this painting | I'm proud to announce that I'm now a grandfather

Noun: pride | Adverb: proudly

she showed us her medal with great pride | Jack walked in proudly holding the fish he'd caught | she smiled proudly as her daughter collected her degree certificate rival /'raɪvl/ Noun your rivals are people who are trying to do better than you in an activity, like sports or a competition

Collocation(s): someone's main/nearest/chief/closest/fiercest rival the team finished nearly two minutes ahead of their nearest rival | Murray's main rival in the tournament was Federer | the two athletes were bitter rivals (they did not like each other) | their closest rival was injured two weeks before the race

Noun: rivalry

sibling rivalry (rivalry between brothers or sisters) | the rivalry between Coe and Ovett made their races even more interesting rodeo /'rəʊdiəʊ/ Noun

a rodeo is an event where people show their skills at riding wild horses, catching cattle with ropes, etc.

we went to a rodeo when we were in Arizona | they have a rodeo there every Friday in August | hundreds of people bought tickets for the rodeo slow down /sləʊ daʊn/ Phrasal verb if you slow down, you start to move more slowly than you have been moving you need to slow down before going around this corner | the runners slowed down after they crossed the finish line | slow down – I can't keep up!

starting point /'stɑːtɪŋ pɔɪnt/ Noun the starting point of a race is the place where all the competitors wait for the race to start the riders all left the starting point at top speed | all forty runners gathered at the starting point

Page 32

passenger /'pæsəndʒər/ Noun a passenger is someone who is traveling on a bus, train, plane, etc.

Collocation(s): airline/bus/rail/train passengers all the passengers were on the plane already | the bus can carry 60 passengers | most of the passengers got off in front of the movie theater | hundreds of train passengers were left waiting outside the station time limit /taɪm 'lɪmɪt/ Noun if an event has a time limit, it must finish by a particular time and not continue after it there's a time limit of one hour on the match | take as long as you need – there's no time limit | I had to hurry to finish within the time limit

UNIT 3: TRANSPORTATION

Page 33

energy /'ɛnədʒi/ Noun uncountableenergy is things like electricity or gas that you use to make machines work*the washing machine uses a lot of energy | a newer washing machine will help you save energy because it's more efficient | household energy costs (what you have to pay for your electricity and gas) | solar energy (energy that we can get from the sun)ferry /'fəri/ Nouna ferry is a boat or ship that carries passengers regularly from one place to another*the ferry from Dover to Calais takes about 90 minutes | we didn't take the ferry this time, instead we used the tunnel | there's a ferry to the island every hour | the ferry service runs every day except Sundayon foot /ən 'fʊt/ Phraseif you go somewhere on foot, you walk there rather than go by bike, car, or other form of transportation*it's easy to get around Paris on foot | the restaurant was very close, so we went there on foot | I go to school on foot | it will take half an hour if we go on foottruck /trʌk/ Nouna truck is a big vehicle that carries goods by road*his father is a truck driver | the truck got stuck in a narrow street | a truck crashed this morning near Zurich Airport | the truck in front of us was going very slowly*

Pages 34–35

carbon emissions /kɑrbən i'mɪʃnz/ Noun pluralcarbon emissions are the gases that get into the air when gas is burned*we need to reduce carbon emissions by at least 50% | global carbon emissions are still far too high | air travel is responsible for a lot of our carbon emissionscommute /kə'myut/ Verbto commute means to travel regularly to and from work or school

Collocation(s): commute to/from somewhere | commute between places they were commuting between Philadelphia and New York | I live in Cambridge and commute to London | aren't you fed up with commuting every day? | it's too far to commute from here to Chicago

Noun: commute, commuter

Collocation(s): a daily/morning/evening commute

*the daily commute to work | how long is your commute? | angry commuters waited for over an hour for the train | the commuter service carries over two million passengers a monthcontainer ship /kən'teɪnər ʃɪp/ Nouna container ship is a very large ship that carries goods in containers that can be easily transferred onto trucks*large container ships use a lot of fuel | the container ship had a crew (team of people who work on it) of just twelve people | there were three container ships in the port | it took two days to take everything off the container shipfuel costs /'fyuəl kɒsts/ Noun pluralfuel costs are all the money that has to be spent on fuel for a car, truck, ship, etc.*our fuel costs were very high last year | we managed to reduce fuel costs after we replaced the old truck | food prices went up when fuel costs roserush hour /rʌʃ 'aʊər/ Nounrush hour is the time of day in the morning and evening when there is a lot of traffic and a lot of people on buses and trains because everyone is going to work or school or going home after work or school*I left an hour early to avoid the rush hour | the roads were full of rush hour traffic | there's a train every ten minutes during the rush hour | rush hour starts at four in the afternoon | the morning rush hoursolution /sə'luʃn/ Nounthe solution to a problem or puzzle is the answer to it*the solution to the crossword is on page 47 | I still can't find a solution | I'll tell you the solution next week*

Verb: solve

*she solved the crossword in less than ten minutes | our brains like trying to solve problemstraffic jam /'træfɪk dʒæm/ Nounif there is a traffic jam on a road, vehicles cannot move forward because there is too much traffic or there is something on the road*there's a huge traffic jam downtown | we were stuck in a traffic jam for hours | we were half an hour late because of a traffic jam*

Pages 36–37

a bit /ə 'bɪt/ Comparative modifierif something or someone is a bit bigger, a bit colder, a bit less interesting, etc., they have a small amount more or less of that quality than something or someone else*taxis are a bit cheaper | the second exam was a bit less difficult | things got a bit more complicated | the bus is a bit slower than the train | she's a bit taller than her sistera little /ə 'lɪtl/ Quantifiera little is a very small quantity of something. You use a little with uncountable nouns*add a little sugar | it just needs a little paint around the edge | there's a little soup left if you're still hungry*

a little /ə 'lɪtl/ Comparative modifier if something or someone is a little bigger, a little colder, a little less interesting, etc., they have a small amount more of that quality than something or someone else taxis are a little faster than buses | it took a little more effort to get to the top of the hill | it will take a little longer to get to Mexico | getting to school is a little easier now that I got my bike back | I was a little less lucky in the second exam

a lot /ə lɒt/ Comparative modifier if someone or something is a lot colder, a lot taller, a lot less interesting, etc., they have a large amount more or less of that quality than someone or something else buses here are a lot less reliable | I'm feeling a lot better now | their new song is a lot slower | the weather got a lot colder in October camel /'kæml/ Noun

a camel is an animal with four legs, a long neck, and one or two humps (raised parts) on its back. Camels are found in deserts and can go for a long time without drinking water a camel can travel over 40 kilometers per day | actually, a camel's hump stores fat, not water | a camel train is a number of camels carrying goods or passengers | there are around a million wild camels in Australia today convenient /kən'vɪnyənt/ Adjective something that is convenient is easy to use or helps you do things easily. For example, if a place is convenient for the station, it is near the station, so you can get there easily. If it is convenient to do something, then you can do it without any problems because you are not busy with anything else

Collocation(s): convenient for something taxis are a very convenient way to get around New York | the apartment is very convenient for stores and the station (they are very near and easy to get to) | the hotel was in the center of the city, so it was very convenient for the museums | the wide door makes it convenient for getting furniture into the house | shopping online is so convenient

Noun: convenience || Opposite – Adjective: inconvenient

I enjoy the convenience of e-books, but I still prefer paper copies | having to remember two passwords is really inconvenient | have I called you at an inconvenient time?

degree /dɪ'ɡri/ Noun a degree is a unit for measuring temperature. At 100 degrees Centigrade, water boils, and at zero degrees Centigrade, water freezes it's three degrees below freezing outside (three degrees below zero degrees Celsius) | normal body temperature is about 37 degrees (Celsius) | the weather tomorrow will be a few degrees warmer than today distance /'dɪstəns/ Noun the distance between two places is the amount of space between them. If something is in the distance, you can see it or hear it, but it is a long way from where you are we could see a small boat in the distance | I could see some people in the distance | a bell was ringing in the distance | in the distance, I could hear the sound of children playing

Verb: distance | Adjective: distant we distanced ourselves from the noisy group of people | he heard the distant sound of the highway (the sound was coming from a long way away) freeze /frɪz/ Verb when something freezes, it becomes hard because it is so cold or its temperature falls below 0° C. When liquid freezes, it stops being liquid and becomes hard. When a machine freezes, it stops working properly because the parts cannot move easily your engine might freeze during the night | the water in the lake had started to freeze | the water pipes had frozen (water had become hard and could not pass through the pipes)

Adjective: frozen, freezing

a frozen river | frozen vegetables | it's freezing in here (very cold) | the weather was wet and freezing cold frequent /'frikwənt/ Adjective something that is frequent happens regularly and often there is a frequent train service in Boston | the buses are very frequent during the day but stop at eight in the evening | my uncle was a frequent visitor to the museum | high winds have become more frequent over the last twenty years

Adverb: frequently

he appears on TV pretty frequently | she travels frequently for business gas (gasoline) /ɡæs (ɡæsə'lin)/ Noun gas (gasoline) is a liquid used as fuel for cars and other vehicles

Collocation(s): gas station | gas prices | diesel and gas | gas engine gas prices often rise during peak travel seasons | he filled up the car with gas before starting the long drive husky /'hʌski/ Noun

a husky is a strong dog that is often used to pull sleds over snow and ice in cold regions the sled was pulled by a team of six huskies | huskies are much more useful here than cars or bikes | we could hear the huskies as they approached much /mʌtʃ/ Comparative modifier if someone or something is much colder, much taller, much less interesting, etc., they have a large amount more or less of that quality than someone or something else it's much warmer in the kitchen | yellow cabs are much faster because they know the routes | his sister was much younger than he was | her second movie was much less exciting punctual /'pʌŋktʃuəl/ Adjective someone or something that is punctual arrives on time and is not late the taxis are always very punctual | please try and be more punctual this semester | I was never very punctual for meetings | Japanese trains are extremely punctual

Adverb: punctually

these customers always pay their bills punctually reduce /rɪ'dus/ Verb to reduce something means to make it smaller in amount, quantity, or size the solar panels will reduce energy costs | the government has promised to reduce unemployment | an effort to reduce pollution

Noun: reduction | Adjective: reduced working fewer hours meant a reduction in my weekly pay | a reduction of 50% compared to last year | everything is reduced by 15% | it was $50, reduced from $99 | the hotel offered us a reduced price of $65 a night instead of $80 reliable /rɪ'laɪəbl/ Adjective if something is reliable, you can trust it and know that it will work well every time. If someone is reliable, you can trust them and know they will do what they need to do or what they promise to do the trains aren't very reliable (they're often late) | an old and not very reliable car | private taxis are less reliable than black cabs in London | she's very reliable – if she says she'll do something, then she'll do it | a friendly and reliable taxi driver | a reliable worker

Noun: reliability | Adverb: reliably || Opposite – Adjective: unreliable

these machines were known for their poor reliability | we need to increase the reliability of our delivery system | he was reliably informed that the president was sick | my phone battery is really unreliable | Tony's a lovely man, but so unreliable sled /slɛd/ Noun

a sled is an object people use to travel over snow. It has pieces of metal or wood instead of wheels so that it can slide. Some sleds are pulled by dogs called huskies huskies can pull sleds for hundreds of kilometers | the children were outside making a sled | I fell off the sled half way down the hill

Verb: sled

we sledged down the hill | they sledged eleven miles to reach the lake traditional /trə'dɪʃənəl/ Adjective something that is traditional has existed for a long time and has not changed or become more modern

I enjoy riding in traditional black cabs in London | our furniture is made by hand in the traditional way | this was the traditional method of catching fish | a group performing traditional Cuban dances | the restaurant serves traditional Chinese dishes

Noun: tradition | Adverb: traditionally

it's a tradition to have candles on a birthday cake in the US | singing is an important tradition in Wales | they are traditionally served with eggs | the dancers were traditionally dressed in red and blue

Pages 38–39

control /kən'trəʊl/ Noun controls are buttons or switches used to operate a machine

Collocation(s): remote control | control system | on-screen controls | control buttons

the video game controls were easy to learn | make sure to understand how to use the controls before starting

Verb: control

he controlled the car with his voice designer /dɪ'zaɪnər/ Noun a designer is someone who decides what something should look like and draws it so that other people can make it a fashion designer | there are three designers in our studio | I want to go to art school and become a designer | a clothes designer | she works as a designer for a clothes company

Noun: design | Verb: design

I like the design of the new Lexus | I designed the house myself | who designed the iPhone?

engineer /ˌendʒə'nɪr/ Noun an engineer is someone whose job is making or repairing machines, buildings, roads, etc.

an electrical engineer | a mechanical engineer (who works with machines) | he's an engineer at the Ford car factory

Noun: engineering | Verb: engineer

I want to study engineering at this university | to major in engineering you need to be good at math | it's a beautifully engineered car experience /ɪk'spiəriəns/ Noun an experience is something you have been through, such as an event or situation or the knowledge and skill that you have gained through doing something for a period of time

Collocation(s): gain experience | life experience | work experience | first-hand experience | valuable experience | learn from experience

I gained lots of experience from my summer job | learning from experience is often the best teacher

Verb: experience

traveling to new places gives you the opportunity to experience different cultures | she experienced life in the Japanese countryside on her trip expression /ɪk'spreʃn/ Noun your expression is the way you communicate your thoughts, feelings, or ideas, often through words or actions his expression showed surprise when he saw the birthday cake | music is a form of expression that can show many different emotions

Verb: express | Adjective: expressive

Collocation(s): express feelings

she expressed happiness by smiling and laughing | art allows us to express ourselves creatively | he had incredibly expressive eyes headphones /'hedfəʊnz/ Noun plural headphones are equipment that fit over your ears so that you can listen to music or podcasts, for example, when they are connected to a phone, computer, or other piece of equipment she was wearing a pair of blue headphones | my headphones are broken redesign /ˈrɪdɪˈzeɪn/ Verb if you redesign something, you change or improve the design of it the company redesigned its logo to give it a new look | they redesigned the website to make it more user-friendly

Adjective: redesigned

Collocation(s): redesigned car the redesigned car had a more modern look well-qualified /wəl 'kwɒləfaɪd/ Adjective someone who is well-qualified has the necessary skills, knowledge, or experience for a particular job

Collocation(s): well-qualified teacher she's well-qualified for the job, with years of experience | the candidate was well-qualified | being well-qualified increases your chances of success

Pages 40–41

aisle /aɪl/ Noun

on a train, bus, or plane, the aisle is the long, narrow area along the middle that passengers walk down to get to their seats. An aisle seat is one that is next to the aisle and not next to the window they only had aisle seats left | I'd prefer an aisle seat if there's one available book /bʊk/ Verb

if you book something, you arrange to have it or use it at a particular time in the future

I booked a flight to Thailand | I'd like to book a table for four | you can book your tickets by phone or online | the restaurant gets busy, so you need to book | it's a busy train, so I suggest you book a seat change /tʃeɪndʒ/ Noun uncountable change is the money that a server or salesperson gives back to you when you have handed over more money than you need to pay. For example, if you are buying a book that costs $18 and you give the salesperson $20, he or she will give you $2 change

I left the store and forgot to wait for the change | are you sure you've given me enough change? I gave you a ten dollar bill | she gave me seven dollar change, all in coins!

check in /'tʃek ɪn/ Phrasal verb if you check in at a hotel or airport, you give your personal details and show tickets, etc. so that you can use the hotel or travel on the flight. If you check your bags in at an airport, you leave your bags at a particular place so that they can be put into the luggage area of the plane

if you check in online, it will save time at the airport | you must check in at least an hour before you fly | how many bags are you checking in? | we'll check in at our hotel before we go to the restaurant | guests may check in between three p.m. and nine p.m.

Noun: check-in || Opposite – Verb: check out

Collocation(s): check-in desk | check out of somewhere online check-in is far more convenient | there was a huge line at the check-in desk | check-in is after noon | Mr. Leeming checked out before breakfast | Olga had already checked out of the hotel exactly /ɪg'zæktli/ Adverb you use exactly to show that a number, amount, or quantity is absolutely right, not more and not less

I started my new job exactly a week ago | the bill came to exactly $120 | the chicken weighed exactly one and a half kilos fare /fɛr/ Noun

the fare is the amount of money you have to pay for a particular journey on public transportation or in a taxi

Collocation(s): bus/train/air fare | one-way/round-trip fare | standard/second-class/first-class fare | taxi/cab fare train fares have just gone up again | the taxi fare to the hotel | the bus fares here are quite cheap | complaints about high fares | the round-trip fare to New York is $475 | the standard metro fare in Paris is €2.10 first class /fɜːst 'klæs/ Noun on a train or plane, the most expensive seats are first class

I wish I could afford to travel first class

Adjective: first-class a first-class ticket to Glasgow, please gate /geɪt/ Noun

a gate is the place in an airport where you get on a plane our plane was waiting at gate 6 | please go to the gate now as the plane is ready for boarding (for passengers to get on) | they haven't announced which gate we're leaving from yet one-way /'wʌn weɪ/ Adjective a one-way ticket is a ticket to go somewhere in one direction only. If the ticket allows you to come back, it is called a round-trip ticket a one-way ticket to Tokyo Central, please | two one-way tickets to Berlin | it's cheaper to get a round-trip ticket than two one-way tickets platform /'plætfɔːm/ Noun a platform is a long area where people wait for their train or bus to arrive, next to where the train or bus stops

Collocation(s): on the platform please wait on the platform for the next train downtown | the train will arrive at platform 5 | I will wait on the platform until the bus arrives price /praɪs/ Noun the price is how much money you need to pay to buy something

Collocation(s): the price of | included in the price | low price the price of bread has gone up a lot | food and drinks are included in the price of the hotel | that bag has a very low price purpose /'pərpəs/ Noun the purpose of something is the reason why it is made or done

Collocation(s): purpose of | purpose behind | main purpose
I'm still trying to work out my purpose in life | the purpose of the meeting is to discuss future projects

Adjective: purposeful | Adverb: purposefully doing purposeful work is important for our well-being receipt /rɪ'sit/ Noun

a receipt is a piece of paper that shows the amount of money that you have paid for something, and proves that you have paid

I asked the taxi driver for a receipt | do you have the receipt and the box? | you need to keep your receipt | can I have a receipt, please? | I forgot to get a receipt, so I can't take it back | an old-fashioned store where they write the receipts with a pen round-trip /'raʊnd trɪp/ Adjective a round-trip ticket is a ticket to go somewhere and come back again. If the ticket does not allow you to come back, it is called a one-way ticket it's cheaper to get a round-trip ticket than two one-way tickets | a round-trip ticket to Norwich, please | I bought a round-trip ticket to Paris second class /sekənd 'klæs/ Noun on a train or plane, the most expensive seats are first class, and cheaper seats are second class second class is much cheaper than first class

Adjective: second-class

a second-class round-trip ticket to Denver | the second-class ticket was cheaper stop (bus stop) /stap (bʌs stɒp)/ Noun a stop is a place along the street where buses pick up or drop off passengers. Usually, the stop is shown with a sign or seats

Collocation(s): bus stop | the next stop you need to wait at the bus stop | the next stop is the library | there's a bus stop close to our house terminal /'tɜːmɪnəl/ Noun a terminal is the building at the start or end of a journey, where people get on or off public transportation

Collocation(s): airport terminal | bus terminal | terminal building the airport terminal was busy with travelers | we arrived at the bus terminal just in time to catch our bus | the train pulled into the terminal and all the passengers got off window seat /'wɪndəʊ sit/ Noun on a train, bus, or plane, a window seat is one that is next to the window do you prefer a window or aisle seat? | I managed to get a window seat | you sit in the window, I'll sit in the middle (in a row of three seats)

Pages 42–43

advantage /əd'væntɪdʒ/ Noun an advantage is something that gives you a better chance of success

Collocation(s): have an advantage speaking many languages is an advantage when traveling abroad | having a positive attitude can be an advantage in difficult situations | one advantage of living in the city is easy access to public transportation

Adjective: advantageous | Adverb: advantageously coal /koʊl/ Noun

coal is a black or brownish-black solid fossil fuel formed from plants, often used to produce electricity

Collocation(s): burning coal coal was once a main source of energy | burning coal releases pollution into the atmosphere | coal can have bad effects on the environment disadvantage /dɪsəd'væntɪdʒ/ Noun a disadvantage is something that puts someone in a bad position or makes things harder for them

Collocation(s): disadvantage of | the disadvantage is that one disadvantage of living in the countryside is the lack of access to stores | being short is a disadvantage for a basketball player | the main disadvantage of the product is its high cost

Adjective: disadvantaged || Opposite – Noun: advantage disadvantaged children feedback /'fɪdbæk/ Noun uncountable if someone gives you feedback, they tell you how well or badly you did a piece of work, and tell you useful things about how you can improve

Collocation(s): give someone feedback | positive feedback our teachers were very encouraging and gave us lots of feedback | your positive feedback was very important for me | we received great feedback from the people who attended the conference | her feedback really helped me before the exams

Phrasal verb: feed back

I'll feed back to you after I've read your second essay gas /gæs/ Noun

gas is a substance like natural gas used for heating, cooking, or powering vehicles

Collocation(s): natural gas | gas prices | gas emissions the car runs on natural gas rather than electricity | natural gas is used for heating homes and cooking negative effect /ˈnɛɡətɪv ɪˈfɛkt/ Noun phrase a negative effect is a bad result of something. It means that something causes problems and isn't helpful or good

Collocation(s): negative effect on | negative effect of | have a negative effect lack of exercise can have negative effects on your health | the medicine may cause negative side effects such as dizziness | pollution has negative effects on air and water quality oil /ɔɪl/ Noun oil is a thick, black liquid taken from under the Earth's surface and used for making gasoline, diesel, and other products

Collocation(s): oil spill | oil production oil is used as a fuel for heating | many products, such as plastics, are made from oil | oil spills can have terrible effects on marine animals wave power /weɪv ˈpaʊər/ Noun wave power is energy made from the movement of waves in the ocean

Collocation(s): wave power technology | generate wave power wave power is energy made by ocean waves | scientists are exploring wave power technology wind power /wɪnd ˈpaʊər/ Noun wind power is the energy made from the wind, often using wind turbines to produce electricity

Collocation(s): wind power turbines | wind power plant wind power is a energy source that relies on wind turbines | the wind farm generates electricity using wind power | installing wind turbines can help reduce the amount of fossil fuels we use wind turbine /wɪnd ˈtɜrbain/ Noun a wind turbine is a tall tower with large, flat pieces of metal at the top that turn around when the wind blows on them and make electricity

there are twenty wind turbines on the hill near the town | each wind turbine costs about $30,000 to build | wind turbines provide extra money for farmers | a single wind turbine can provide power to 1,500 houses

UNIT 4: CHALLENGES

Page 45

achievement /ə'tʃivmənt/ Noun an achievement is something good that you have done, usually after a lot of time and effort

Collocation(s): a sense of achievement reaching the cave was probably my biggest achievement | congratulations, it's a fantastic achievement | winning this tournament is her greatest achievement | completing the course gave me a real sense of achievement

Verb: achieve

it's amazing what we've managed to achieve | you should work hard to achieve the best possible results | nothing great was ever achieved without hard work caver /'keɪvər/ Noun

a caver is someone who goes into caves under the ground as a sport

I always go with other cavers, never alone | his sister is an experienced caver | a team of cavers spent a week in the area | one of the cavers was stuck in an underground tunnel

Noun: caving

Collocation(s): go caving caving has become very popular recently | we're going on a caving trip next weekend challenge /'tʃæləndʒ/ Noun a challenge is something difficult that you want to try to do

Collocation(s): set (someone) a challenge | rise to the challenge every cave gives you a new challenge | we want to set our readers a challenge | climbing this mountain will be a real challenge | my job's become boring – I need a new challenge | do you enjoy a challenge? | teachers have to provide a challenge for their students | the orchestra rose to the challenge of Schubert's 9th symphony (they played a difficult piece of music very well)

Verb: challenge | Adjective: challenging the exam will really challenge you | it's a very challenging job crawl /krɔːl/ Verb

if you crawl, you move along the ground on your hands and knees

Simpson was still alive and started to crawl towards the camp | babies learn to crawl when they are about six months old | I managed to crawl to the phone | we had to crawl through the entrance to the tent dangerous /'deɪndʒərəs/ Adjective something that is dangerous might cause damage or harm to someone caving is a dangerous sport | texting while you're driving is really dangerous | riding a motorcycle can be dangerous if you're not careful | the zoo has a number of dangerous animals | working underground is both difficult and dangerous

Noun: danger | Adverb: dangerously

Collocation(s): be in danger the warning sign said "Danger of death!" | if they're still on the mountain in this storm, then they're in danger | he was in danger of falling off the bridge | she stood dangerously close to the edge of the cliff | the temperature was dangerously high risk /rɪsk/ Noun

a risk is situation that could be dangerous or have a bad result. If you take a risk, you do something that you hope will succeed, although you know it will be bad for you if it does not succeed

Collocation(s): take a risk | run a risk sometimes you have to take a risk when you go caving | I'm not taking any more risks for you | it was a risk, but it paid off (it was a success) | he refused to join in, saying the risk was too big

Verb: risk | Adjective: risky

Collocation(s): be risky to do something

I don't want to risk my life | if you get too close to the edge, you risk falling off | he has risked everything he owns | oil exploration is a risky business

Pages 46–47

abroad /ə'brɔːd/ Adverb if you go abroad, you go from your country to a different country. If you live abroad, you live in a country that is not your own she went abroad to work | we go on vacation abroad every June | I worked abroad for a few years | you'll need your passport if you're going abroad | she spent a year abroad as part of her college French program | about five million British people live abroad now adventure /əd'ventʃər/ Noun adventure is exciting and interesting activity. If you have an adventure, lots of exciting and interesting things happen to you cowboys had a life of adventure | it was such an adventure cycling across Uzbekistan | she traveled across Asia in search of adventure | let's go camping – it'll be an adventure!

Adjective: adventurous

this was the most adventurous trip he had ever taken | she had led an adventurous life architecture /'arkətektʃər/ Noun uncountable architecture is the art and study of designing buildings he studied architecture in Tehran | it takes five years to get a degree in architecture | you need to be able to draw well to major in architecture

Noun: architect

she was the architect of the Olympic swimming pool in London | my ambition is to become an architect climate change /'klaɪmət tʃeɪndʒ/ Noun phrase climate change is the changes in the Earth's climate patterns, often because of human activities such as burning fossil fuels and deforestation

Collocation(s): deal with climate change | climate change effects | global climate change climate change is causing changes in weather patterns around the world | scientists study climate change to understand its causes and effects earthquake /'ɜːθkweɪk/ Noun an earthquake is a very powerful movement of the ground that causes damage to buildings, roads, bridges, etc.

there was a terrible earthquake in Nepal that year | the hotel fell to the ground in the earthquake | the building was made to be able to survive an earthquake | 2,000 people lost their homes in the earthquake hope /hoʊp/ Verb

if you hope something will happen, you want it to happen, but you are not sure if it actually will happen

Collocation(s): hope to do something | hope (that)

I hope you pass your driving test | we're hoping to go to Spain next year | "Is Luka coming home for the holidays?" – "I hope so" | I hope we can still be friends | I hope they won't be upset when they find out what's happened

Noun: hope

there is no hope of getting there on time (it's not possible to get there on time) | it's not impossible, so there's still some hope marine biology /mə'rin baɪ'ɒlədʒi/ Noun phrase marine biology is the study of organisms that live in the ocean and other saltwater environments

Collocation(s): study marine biology she dreams of becoming a marine biologist and exploring the sea | marine biologists do research to protect marine ecosystems mountaineer /ˌmaʊntnɪ'r/ Noun a mountaineer is someone who climbs mountains as a hobby or sport

Collocation(s): experienced mountaineer the mountaineer reached the top of the mountain after a hard climb | you need different skills to become a mountaineer | the mountaineer faced bad weather during the expedition

Noun: mountain, mountaineering science /'saɪəns/ Noun science is the study of subjects such as physics, chemistry, and biology. Someone who studies science is a scientist

I really liked science subjects at school | it's very important to have a good understanding of science | I want to study sciences in college | a science teacher | science lessons | a science exam

Noun: scientist | Adjective: scientific scientists are very worried about climate change | Einstein was a brilliant scientist | a scientific experiment | is there a scientific explanation for this?

Pages 48–49

bone /boʊn/ Noun

bones are the hard parts that form the skeleton (frame) of a human or animal's body

I've broken at least four different bones in the last ten years | broken bones usually take about six weeks to heal (become better) | the dog ate a chicken bone | an adult human body has 206 bones | your longest bone is your femur (the bone between your hip and your knee) break /breɪk/ Verb

if you break something, you damage it badly so that it doesn't work anymore or so that it gets into a lot of small pieces

I dropped a plate and broke it | who broke my cup? | please don't break it | he broke the window with a football | how did you break your phone? | think I've broken my arm

Noun: break | Adjective: broken

the x-ray showed that there was no break in the bone | you can't play football with a broken leg! | the TV is broken camp /kæmp/ Noun

a camp is a place out in the countryside where you stay in tents they spent a pleasant evening around the camp fire | at nine o'clock we pitched camp (put up tents and made the camp ready) | our camp was a long way from the road

Noun: camping | Verb: camp

Collocation(s): go camping we used to go camping every weekend in the summer | I enjoy outdoor activities like fishing and camping | the farmer let us camp in his field | they camped by the side of the river close /kloʊz/ Adjective a close friend is someone who is a very good friend two of my closest friends have moved to Switzerland | I never made any close friends in college | although he lives in New York now, we're still very close cut /kʌt/ Verb

if you cut something, you use a knife or other sharp instrument to break the surface and separate it into two or more pieces

Yates decided to cut the rope | he cut some bread | cut the cake in half | I used a sharp knife to cut eight slices of meat decision /drɪ'sɪʒn/ Noun if you make a decision, you choose what you are going to do or have

Collocation(s): make a decision | a decision to do something | come to a decision she made the decision to go back to Dubai | it's a big decision (it's very important), so take your time | it's a difficult choice, but we've finally come to a decision | it was a very sensible decision to stay at school for another year | I had some difficult decisions to make | it's not too late to change your decision

Verb: decide

Collocation(s): decide to do something | decide on something

I decided to go abroad for a year before college | I can't decide on the best way to cook the carrots experienced /ɪk'spɪəriənst/ Adjective if you are experienced at something, you have done it a lot and can do it well, and you also know a lot about it

Collocation(s): highly experienced she's an experienced teacher | Simpson and Yates were very experienced climbers | the team has a highly (very) experienced doctor | our experienced staff is ready to help with any problems you might have

Noun: experience

Collocation(s): gain experience

I gained (got) a lot of experience during my year at the hospital | she had a lot of experience with computer problems | working in the hospital gave me valuable experience friendly /'frɛndli/ Adjective if someone is friendly, they talk to you and are very nice to you Collocation(s): be friendly towards someone the other students are all very friendly | our neighbors are not very friendly | a friendly taxi driver | everyone was very friendly towards me | he gave me a friendly smile | a friendly wave

Opposite – Adjective: unfriendly

some of my classmates are pretty unfriendly | why are you being so unfriendly today?

hardworking /hɑrd'wɜ:kɪŋ/ Adjective someone who is hardworking works very hard and uses a lot of effort in what they do the manager was a hardworking woman in her thirties | he's very hardworking and always stays late if necessary | she's very hardworking and always gets good exam results intelligent /ɪn'telədʒənt/ Adjective someone who is intelligent is good at thinking clearly and understanding things everyone in her family was very intelligent | his parents were intelligent people | Sofia's an intelligent student, but she doesn't always concentrate | Ibrahim is the most intelligent person in my class

Noun: intelligence

an intelligence test (a test to measure someone's intelligence) kind /kaɪnd/ Adjective someone who is kind is generous and helpful to other people Collocation(s): be kind of someone you've been very kind and helpful | she was one of the kindest people I ever met | thank you, that's very kind of you | she sent us some flowers. How kind! | it was kind of him to call on your birthday

Noun: kindness

Collocation(s): kindness to someone

I'll always remember her kindness to me after my father died | I hope I can repay your kindness one day (do something nice for you as a way of thanking you) patient /'peɪʃnt/ Adjective someone who is patient is able to stay calm and does not become angry or upset when something takes a long time

Collocation(s): be patient with someone or something no one in my family is patient | thanks for waiting, you've been very patient | the teacher was so patient and helpful | Jack is always very patient with the children | just be patient. It won't be much longer

Noun: patience | Adverb: patiently || Opposite – Adjective: impatient | Adverb: impatiently

Collocation(s): lose your patience | have/require patience sorry, but I'm beginning to lose my patience (become angry) | they waited patiently until the judge arrived | he listened patiently while I explained what had happened | as time passed, he became more and more impatient | the captain shook his head impatiently positive /'pəzətɪv/ Adjective if you are positive, you believe you can be in a good situation and that you will succeed, and you do not think about any bad possibilities

he's a very positive sort of person | he stayed positive even after he failed the first exam | everyone who works here has a really positive attitude | she was always smiling, positive, and hardworking | I feel very positive about the future

Adverb: positively || Opposite – Adjective: negative

you need to start thinking positively | don't be so negative about the job | she had a very negative attitude rope /rəʊp/ Noun

a rope is a thick length of string made by twisting together several lengths of string to make it stronger

Yates used a rope to lower Simpson down the mountain | he fastened the rope around my body | make sure the rope is attached securely | it's too dangerous to climb here without using ropes tent /tent/ Noun

a tent is a sort of building made of cloth that you can fold up and take with you when you travel somewhere. You sleep in a tent when you go camping it took nearly an hour to put up the tent | it was cold in the tent | the tent fell down during the night | we took the tent down in the morning

Pages 50–51

continent /'kɒntənənt/ Noun a continent is a very large area of land, such as Africa or Asia, that consists of several countries

Collocation(s): continents of the world | large continents | continent of Africa

Africa is the second largest continent in terms of land area | Australia is both a country and a continent | the continents were once part of a single landmass called Pangaea cube /kyub/ Noun

a cube is a hard object with six square faces all the same size – a top, a bottom, and four sides a cube of sugar | the building was a large cube with windows on three sides

Adjective: cubic

the box is one cubic meter (it is one meter deep, one meter high, and one meter wide) evidence /'evədəns/ Noun uncountable evidence is facts that support an idea or prove that something is true Collocation(s): evidence of something | evidence that | evidence against someone the police don't have enough evidence to arrest him | there was no evidence of any criminal activity | there was no evidence against him (no facts to suggest he was guilty) | there's some evidence that the situation is improving memorize /'meməraɪz/ Verb

if you memorize something, you look at it carefully for a while so that you can repeat it again without looking at it

I have to memorize a poem for homework tonight | she tried to memorize her speech so that she wouldn't have to read it out | as you get older, it gets harder to memorize things

Noun: memory

Collocation(s): a good/bad memory

I have such a bad memory – I can't even remember what movie we watched last night | doing puzzles can help improve your memory score /skɔːr/ Noun

the score is the number of points someone gets for correct answers on a test

Collocation(s): the final score what's your exam scores? | she got the highest score in her class | he worked hard to get a good score toy /tɔɪ/ Noun

a toy is an object that children play with a wooden toy | a toy cupboard (where children's toys are kept) | the children were playing with their toys | you have to learn to share your toys | a toy car | a toy store (a store that sells toys)

Pages 52–53

alive /ə'laɪv/ Adjective someone who is alive is still living and has not died yet luckily, they were still alive | she's alive and well and living in Argentina | are your parents still alive? | he was still alive when he got to the hospital | doctors worked hard to keep him alive

Opposite – Adjective: dead

my grandfather has been dead for three years | a dead body background events /'bækgraʊnd ɪ'vents/ Noun phrase background events are events that happen while the main event is taking place but may still be important to the situation

Collocation(s): background events of background events shaped the characters' lives in the novel | understanding historical background events is important for understanding books calm /kam/ Adjective if the sea or the weather is calm, there is not much wind and no rain, and it is very peaceful the sea was calm as we left Florida | the weather this morning was calm and dry, but the rain started after lunch | spring here is usually cool and fairly calm

Verb: calm

after a night of heavy rain, the weather finally calmed by morning campsite /'kæmpsaɪt/ Noun a campsite is a place where people are allowed to camp in tents can we make a fire on the campsite? | we found a wonderful campsite by the lake | the campsite opens at the end of March | there were no facilities on the campsite | it was dark when we got to the campsite dead /dɛd/ Adjective someone who is dead is no longer alive everyone thought the boys were dead | my grandparents are all dead | we don't know if he's alive or dead | he was dead by the time they got to the hospital | a dead body | the police officer told us that my uncle was dead

Opposite – Adjective: alive two of my grandparents are still alive islander /'aɪləndər/ Noun an islander is a person who lives on a particular island the islanders went out to look for the boys | the islanders earn money by fishing | most of the islanders here speak English

Noun: island

an island off the coast of Mexico lucky /'lʌki/ Adjective something lucky is something good that happens by chance

I was lucky and got a job very quickly | some people are so lucky! | you're very lucky living in such a nice house | we were lucky that it didn't rain

Noun: luck | Adverb: luckily || Opposite – Adjective: unlucky she wears the necklace because she thinks it will bring her luck | I had some good luck yesterday | luckily, we found a nice hotel down the road | he didn't play badly, he was just unlucky mechanic /mə'kæni:k/ Noun a mechanic is someone who is skilled in dealing with machines, especially engines and vehicles, and who can check and repair them when they are not working

we found a garage where a mechanic fixed the problem | he tried to get a job as a mechanic | after working for a few years as a mechanic, I decided to study engineering in college sign /saɪn/ Noun

if there is no sign of someone or something, they cannot be seen and no one knows where they are there was no sign of the boys | he went outside but couldn't see any sign of the horses | there was no sign of the boat on the lake

Pages 54–55bump /bʌmp/ Noun a bump is a part of a flat surface that is not even, but raised above the rest of it Collocation(s): bump on the road the car hit a bump in the road, causing us to go forward crater /'kreɪtər/ Noun craters are large holes in the ground, especially those formed by the impact of a meteorite or an explosion

Collocation(s): moon craters | volcanic crater the moon's surface is covered with craters | scientists study craters to learn more about the history of stars | the impact created a massive crater in the ground illusion /ɪ'lu:ʒn/ Noun an illusion is something that appears real or true but is actually false or not real Collocation(s): optical illusion | create an illusion | illusion of the magician created the illusion of a disappearing act | the optical illusion made the painting appear three-dimensional | things are not always as they seem; it could be just an illusion three-dimensional /θri dɪ'menʃənl/ Adjective three-dimensional is having length, width, and height, like solid objects

Collocation(s): three-dimensional objects the artist used clay to sculpt a three-dimensional model of the character | virtual reality technology creates three-dimensional environments two-dimensional /tu dɪ'menʃənl/ Adjective two-dimensional is having only length and width, like a flat surface or image

Collocation(s): two-dimensional shapes the cartoon characters are drawn in a two-dimensional style | she created a two-dimensional graph to represent the data | the painting lacked depth because it was two-dimensional

UNIT 5: THE ENVIRONMENT

Page 57

cardboard /'kɑːdbɔːd/ Noun uncountable cardboard is very thick, hard paper used to make boxes a cardboard box | we can recycle cardboard here but not plastic bottles | cardboard doesn't burn easily when it's wet | he used cardboard to make a model ship glass /glæs/ Noun uncountable glass is a solid material that lets light through it, and that is used to make windows, mirrors, and objects such as bottles and containers for drinking out of

put the jam in a clean glass jar | a necklace made of colored glass | the kitchen floor was covered in broken glass | a glass bowl kitchen implements /'kɪtʃən 'ɪmpləmənts/ Noun phrase kitchen implements are tools or utensils used for cooking or preparing food in the kitchen

Collocation(s): kitchen implements and tools | kitchen implements for cooking | kitchen implements for baking kitchen implements such as knives and cutting boards are essential for cooking | she organized her kitchen implements in drawers for easy access | the chef showed us how to use various kitchen implements during the cooking class metal /'metl/ Noun uncountable metal is a solid, hard material such as iron, steel, or gold the box had a metal lid | we use plastic instead of metal because it's not so expensive | the bed was made of metal plastic /'plæstɪk/ Noun uncountable plastic is a light, strong material that can be made into different shapes, and that is used to make a variety of everyday objects the camera is mostly made of plastic | a plastic bag | bottles used to be made of glass, but now most are plastic recycle /ri'saɪkl/ Verb if you recycle things that you no longer need or use, you send them away so that they can be treated in special factories and used again somehow

we've recycled as much as we can | you can recycle those plastic bottles | we've been recycling our old newspapers for years

Noun: recycling | Adjective: recyclable

we should do more to encourage recycling | recycling is an important activity | all of these bottles are recyclable scissors /'sɪzərz/ Noun plural scissors are a tool with two blades joined together, which you use to cut things like paper or fabric

Collocation(s): a pair of scissors

she was using a pair of scissors to cut her hair | these scissors aren't very sharp | the younger children were using plastic scissors wood /wʊd/ Noun uncountable wood is the material that we get from trees, and that we use to make furniture and other things the wood was beautifully polished | we burn wood in the fire, not coal | I prefer wood to plastic

Adjective: wooden

a wooden table | he makes wooden toys

Pages 58–59

aluminum foil /ə'lʊmənəm fɔɪl/ Noun uncountable aluminum foil is very thin aluminum (a light, shiny metal) in a sheet that you can tear into the size you need. People use aluminum foil in the kitchen to wrap food, for example, when it is being cooked in an oven to stop it from burning on the outside a large roll of aluminum foil | use aluminum foil to cover the chicken | don't forget to buy some aluminum foil can /kæn/ Noun

a can is a metal container, especially for drinks or food a row of empty cans | I cut myself on the can | he took several cans out of the shopping basket cereal box /'sɪriəl baks/ Noun a cereal box is a cardboard box containing breakfast cereals don't throw away your cereal boxes – you can recycle them | he accidentally put the empty cereal box back in the cupboard | a whole shelf full of cereal boxes electronics /ɪlek'trɒnɪks/ Noun plural electronics is a general word for equipment such as TVs and computers that use electronic parts – parts that involve transistors, microchips, etc.

we need to make more environmentally-friendly electronics

Adjective: electronic electronic goods are cheaper than they used to be | all our electronic equipment was damaged in the flood household /'haʊshəʊld/ Noun a household is all the people in a family or group who live together in a house

Collocation(s): household tasks | household items household tasks include cleaning, cooking, and washing clothes | my household includes my parents, my sister, and me | electricity bills are a common household expense garbage /'gɑːbɪdʒ/ Noun uncountable garbage is something that you throw away a pile of garbage | the garbage is collected every Wednesday | I wish people wouldn't leave their garbage in the park garbage truck /'gɑːbɪdʒ trʌk/ Noun a garbage truck is a large truck that collects the garbage from outside people's houses garbage trucks collect general waste from peoples' homes | the garbage truck went down the street early in the morning jar /dʒɑr/ Noun

a jar is a container for food such as jam or honey Collocation(s): a jar of something a jar of honey | a cookie jar (a type of jar typically used for cookies) | make sure the jar is clean before you put the jam in it | you can recycle your old bottles and jars milk carton /mɪlk 'kɑ:tn/ Noun a milk carton is a container for holding milk, usually made of cardboard or thin plastic an empty milk carton | a one-liter milk carton | she put the milk carton back in the refrigerator throw away /θrou ə'wei/ Phrasal verb if you throw something away, you get rid of it because you do not want it or need it anymore my brother refuses to throw these things away even though we don't want them | I threw away a pile of old clothes | the old stove was broken so we threw it away trash /træʃ/ Noun uncountable trash is things that people throw away a pile of trash | a trash can | please do not leave trash here

Pages 60–61

collect /kə'lekt/ Verb

if you collect something, you get an amount of it and keep it somewhere where it will be useful scientists try to collect the water in a big net | they collected data from four different airports | the police are collecting information about the fire

Noun: collection

Collocation(s): a collection of something a big collection of plastic bags drop /drɒp/ Noun

a drop of liquid is a very small amount of it Collocation(s): a drop of something the net catches drops of water | I could feel a few drops of rain on my head | there were drops of milk all over the kitchen floor global warming /'gləʊbl 'wɔ:rnɪŋ/ Noun global warming is the gradual rise in the earth's temperature caused by high levels of carbon dioxide and other gases in the atmosphere

Collocation(s): effects of global warming global warming is causing temperatures to rise | reducing greenhouse gas emissions is important for dealing with global warming | scientists study the effects of global warming on ecosystems and weather patterns fog /fɒg/ Noun uncountable fog is a thick cloud close to the ground a thick fog lay over the town | we're expecting fog in the morning | there's not much rain in the desert, but they do get fog | we couldn't see anything through the fog

Adjective: foggy

Collocation(s): foggy weather | a foggy day/morning/night a foggy winter morning | it was so foggy I couldn't see the other side of the road | the weather tomorrow will be foggy, with rain in the afternoon fountain /'faʊntn/ Noun a fountain is a stream of water or other liquid that is sent up into the air by a pump before coming back down again there was a fountain in the garden | a city square with a fountain in each corner melt /melt/ Verb

if something melts, it becomes liquid because of heating the ice melts in the spring and turns to water | the ice cream melted very quickly in the sun | plastic will melt if you leave it too close to a flame natural satellite /'nætʃrəl 'sætəlaɪt/ Noun phrase something in space that goes around the earth, such as the International Space Station, is a satellite. The Moon is also a satellite, and is known as a natural satellite because it was not created by people the Moon is Earth's only natural satellite | Jupiter has many natural satellites | Venus has no natural satellites net /net/ Noun

a net is a large piece of cloth with holes in it that allow air or water to pass through. Nets are often used to catch fish a fishing net | a butterfly net (used for catching butterflies) pipe /paɪp/ Noun

a pipe is a tube for carrying water, gas, oil, etc. from one place to another a gas pipe was leaking (letting gas out where it was not meant to come out) | the water pipe burst (broke) | most pipes are made of plastic nowadays

Verb: pipe

it costs a lot to pipe the water from here to the city tower /'taʊə/ Noun a tower is a very tall building. You can also use tower to refer to a very tall mass of something there's a good view from the top of the tower | the water freezes and makes an ice tower

Pages 62–63

average speed /'ævərɪdʒ spi:d/ Noun the average speed of something or someone is the total distance covered by the thing or person divided by the total time it took the thing or person to cover that distance. For example, if a car traveled 80 kilometers in 2 hours, the average speed was 4 kilometers an hour the average speed of traffic in London is about 12 miles an hour | Hamilton's average speed in the race was 138 miles an hour | they use cameras to measure drivers' average speed cause /kɔ:z/ Verb

if you cause something, you make it happen or make it start to exist plastic waste causes about 80% of the pollution in the ocean | you'll cause an accident if you drive too fast | I don't want to cause you any problems

Noun: cause

police do not know the cause of death (how someone died) crew /kru/ Noun

the crew of a ship or plane is the group of people who work on it Collocation(s): a crew member the boat has a crew of six | crew members wore a blue uniform | all 68 passengers and crew were killed in the crash | most of the crew were French environmentalist /ɪnˌvaɪərn'mentlɪst/ Noun an environmentalist is someone who cares about looking after the environment (the land, air, and natural water around us) and takes action to stop bad things from happening to it a meeting between the government and environmentalists | an environmentalist action group

Noun: environment | Adjective: environmental | Adverb: environmentally

we need to do more to protect the environment | the factory has caused a lot of damage to the environment | the company was found guilty of breaking environmental laws | plastic is expensive and environmentally damaging to make | we need more environmentally-friendly energy environmentally-friendly /ɪnˌvaɪərn'mentli 'frɛndli/ Adjective something that is environmentally-friendly does not cause damage to the environment he wanted the boat to be environmentally-friendly | please use environmentally-friendly soap and shampoo | which is the most environmentally-friendly form of energy?

giant /'dʒaɪənt/ Adjective something that is giant is extremely big there were giant waves and strong winds | a giant truck drove past | a giant statue outside the library | a giant passenger plane length /lɛŋkθ/ Noun the length of something is the distance from one end of it to the other, or the amount of time from beginning to end the length of the swimming pool is 50 meters | the total length is 15 feet | school terms are usually about twelve weeks in length

Adjective: long

the kitchen is 3 meters long | the film was very long pollution /pə'luʃn/ Noun uncountable pollution is things like chemicals and smoke from factories that damage the air that we breathe or the rivers and land

Collocation(s): air pollution | noise pollution | industrial pollution

there's a lot of pollution in the capital | air pollution is a big problem in Pakistan | the government should do more to tackle pollution (to stop the problem) | people near the airport suffer from noise pollution

Verb: pollute | Adjective: polluted

for years, the factory has polluted the river | the soil was polluted by waste from the chemical factory | he got sick after drinking polluted water survive /sər'vaɪv/ Verb

if you survive, you manage to continue living, even in difficult conditions. If a machine or object survives, it does not get badly damaged in difficult conditions and continues to work properly

you can't survive for long in the desert | it's difficult to survive on so little money | you can't survive for long in these freezing temperatures | no one survived the crash (they all died) | luckily the car survived the journey over the mountains

Noun: survival, survivor

his hopes of survival were very low | there were no survivors of last night's plane crash (all the passengers died) take /teɪk/ Verb

if you take a plane, bus, train, etc., you use that particular form of public transportation to go somewhere we took a train to Inverness | take the bus from outside the movie theater | you can take a plane from Southampton to Newquay in Cornwall | I didn't have enough money to take a taxi user-friendly /'yuzər 'frɛndli/ Adjective something that is user-friendly is easy for people to use or understand she wanted the boat to be both environmentally-friendly and user-friendly | the website is very user-friendly | it presents information in a clear, user-friendly way | the instructions weren't particularly user-friendly wave /weɪv/ Noun

a wave is a line of raised moving water on top of the ocean there were giant waves and strong winds | some of the waves were three meters high | waves crashed against the harbor wall weight /weɪt/ Noun

the weight of someone or something is how heavy they are

Collocation(s): gain/put on weight | lose weight

I need to lose some weight | what was the weight of the parcel? | the sack was about 10 kilos in weight | he put on a lot of weight on his vacation

Verb: weigh

how much do you weigh? | Tom's bag weighs a ton (is very heavy)

Pages 64–65apologize /ə'pɒlədʒaɪz/ Verb if you apologize, you say that you are sorry for something bad or wrong that has happened

Collocation(s): apologize for (doing) something | apologize to someone

Katie later deleted the post and apologized | he apologized to me once he realized what he had done

Noun: apology | Adverb: apologetically

Collocation(s): an apology for something | demand an apology | owe someone an apology | accept an apology

I think you owe me an apology | the salesperson apologetically told us that they were about to close assistance /ə'sɪstəns/ Noun uncountable assistance is help that you give someone Collocation(s): be of assistance can I be of assistance? (can I do something to help you?) | please let me know if you need any assistance | we're here to provide you with any assistance you might need | thank you for your assistance

Noun: assistant | Verb: assist her assistant asked to me to wait outside the office | the Vice President assists the President as requested available /ə'veɪləbl/ Adjective if something is available, you can use it or have it straight away and do not have to wait for it

Collocation(s): make something available

I'm afraid the model you ordered is not available | do you have any rooms available for June 15th and 16th? | the video was made available on YouTube | there are no tickets available until next month

Noun: availability

please contact us to check availability | check her availability before you plan a meeting backpack /'bækpæk/ Noun a backpack is a bag that goes over your shoulders, so that you can carry things on your back when you are walking or climbing

Collocation(s): hiking backpack | school backpack | travel backpack

I packed my backpack with snacks and water for the hiking trip | her backpack was heavy with textbooks for school | the backpack has many pockets for organizing items best regards /best rɪ'gɑːdz/ Phrase you write Best regards before your name at the end of a letter or email that is friendly but not very formal

Best regards, William cancel /'kænsəl/ Verb

if you cancel something that was planned, you decide that it will not happen would you like to cancel the order? | they had to cancel the meeting because the director was sick | the train was canceled because there was no driver | we'll have to cancel the game if it continues to rain | I'll call the restaurant to cancel our reservation complain /kəm'pleɪn/ Verb

if you complain about something, you say that there is something wrong and that you are not satisfied with it

Collocation(s): complain to someone | complain about something | complain that you should complain to the manager | I complained because my food was cold | customers complained that the prices were too high | he complained about the weather

Noun: complaint

Collocation(s): make a complaint (about something) there have been a lot of complaints about noise coming from the club | I'd like to make a complaint (to complain about something) confirm /kən'fɜːm/ Verb

if you confirm an arrangement, you tell someone that it is certain and will definitely go ahead as planned we will confirm the reservation in writing | I can confirm your booking for seven o'clock this evening | it's a week since we placed the order and they still haven't confirmed when it will be delivered

Noun: confirmation | Adjective: confirmed

did you receive a confirmation by email or text? | a confirmation of the booking | a confirmation letter | I have a confirmed reservation for this evening confusion /kən'fjuːʒn/ Noun if there is confusion about something, it is not clear what the true situation is, especially because people believe different things

Collocation(s): confusion about

she looked at me with confusion, not understanding what I meant | there was confusion about the meeting time, so we had to reschedule it | the instructions were not clear, leading to confusion among the students

Noun: confuse

the students were confused about the teacher's instructions delay /dɪ'leɪ/ Noun

if there is a delay, something is not going to happen when it is meant to but will happen at a later time

Collocation(s): a long/short/brief delay | a delay of something | without delay

there were long traffic delays because of the accident | after a brief delay, the concert continued | there will be a delay of about half an hour | you must leave the country without delay (immediately)

Verb: delay

Collocation(s): delay something until sometime | delay doing something

I often delay doing things I don't enjoy | they have decided to delay the start of the game until three o'clock | the train was delayed by two hours | a storm delayed our departure from Poland delighted /dɪ'laɪtəd/ Adjective if you are delighted, you are very happy about something. If you say you would be delighted to do something, you are politely saying that you are very willing to do it

Collocation(s): be delighted to do something | delighted with something

I would be delighted to send the item immediately | everyone was delighted when they heard the news | she was delighted with the new car | I'd be delighted to accept your invitation

Noun: delight

she gave a shout of delight | a feeling of delight came over him expect /ɪk'spekt/ Verb

if you expect something, or expect it to happen, you think that it will arrive or happen

Collocation(s): expect someone or something to do something we expect delivery in seven days | they expect to win the election | they don't always do what we expect them to do | I didn't expect you until this evening (you arrived early) | I didn't expect him to get so angry | I'm here to see Mr. Rodríguez. He's expecting me

Noun: expectation

Collocation(s): meet expectations the restaurant met all our expectations (it was as good as we hoped it would be) formal /'fɔ:ml/ Adjective language that is formal is very careful and correct and used in official situations rather than in relaxed social situations a formal letter | writing "receive" is much more formal than writing "get" | it's a good letter, but the language is not formal enough

Opposite – Adjective: informal her letter was quite informal and very funny hold /hoʊld/ Noun uncountable if you are on hold, you are connected by phone but have to wait for someone to speak to you

Collocation(s): put someone on hold | be on hold can I put you on hold for a moment? | I was put on hold for about twenty minutes | I've been on hold since before nine o'clock! | after ten minutes on hold, I gave up

Verb: hold

Collocation(s): hold the line can you hold the line while I get a manager to speak to you? | Dr. Ahmad is on another line (is already talking to someone else on the phone). Do you want to hold? (stay connected while you wait to speak to him) | Thank you, yes. I'll hold inform /ɪn'fɔ:rm/ Verb

if you inform someone of something, you tell them about it

Collocation(s): inform someone of something | inform someone that they informed us that the books will be delivered tomorrow | he informed me of his decision to accept the job | please inform me as soon as you arrive in Boston | we were never informed that we would have to pay another $100 order /'ɔ:rdə/ Noun

an order is a request to make, supply, or deliver something Collocation(s): place an order please cancel my order | they were late with my order (it was delivered later than it was meant to be) | you can place your order by phone | your order will not be ready for delivery until next week

Verb: order

I'd like to order a pizza | we don't have any in the store, but we can order one for you personalized /'pə:snəlaɪzd/ Adjective if something is personalized, it is customized or tailored to suit a particular individual's wishes or needs

Collocation(s): personalized experience | personalized gifts

I received a personalized birthday card from my friend

Verb: personalize

Collocation(s): personalize something her hobbies include personalizing clothes receive /rɪ'si:v/ Verb when you receive something, you get it from someone because they sent it or gave it to you. Receive is formal, and the more common word is get

I received another letter from the bank today | did you receive the parcel we sent last week? | if you haven't received your order by Friday, please let us know refund /'rɪfʌnd/ Noun

if you get a refund, a store gives you back the money you paid for something, for example, if it was broken or does not work properly

Collocation(s): a full refund would you like a refund or a different washing machine? | he took the watch back and they gave him a refund | I got a tax refund | we received a full refund (all the money we had paid) after we complained to the manager

Verb: refund

we will refund all the money you have paid us | we will only refund tickets if the performance has been canceled reply /rɪ'plaɪ/ Verb

if you reply to someone, you give them an answer. If you reply to a letter or email, you send a letter or email back to someone with more information

Collocation(s): reply to someone or something please reply to confirm you still require this item | she replied a week later to say she wasn't coming | did he ever reply to your question about the summer vacation? | her mother just smiled and replied, "Of course you can"

Noun: reply

after a week I still hadn't received a reply to my email | I'm not going to send a reply request /rɪ'kwest/ Verb if you request something, you politely ask someone to do something for you or to provide you with something Collocation(s): request someone to do something the pilot requested permission to land | please send me my refund as requested | passengers are requested to remain in their seats until the plane has stopped

Noun: request

Collocation(s): a request for something it wasn't an order, just a polite request | I made a request for some information about the election | he knew her request was reasonable require /rɪ'kwaɪər/ Verb if you require something, you want it and need it.

If something is required, it is necessary do you still require the furniture you ordered? | the problem requires more thought | experience of working in a store is not required but would be useful | these tasks required instant decisions | the law requires employers to provide paid vacation days to their staff

Noun: requirement

Collocation(s): meet a requirement the minimum requirement to enter the profession is a degree | you must meet all legal requirements for opening a bank account stock /stak/ Noun

the stock of a store or company is the amount of goods it has that are available and ready to be sold or sent out to customers

Collocation(s): in stock | out of stock the camera I wanted was out of stock (there were no more available to buy) | everything on the list is in stock and is immediately available | this offer is only open while stocks last (until everything has been sold)

Verb: stock

the store was not very well stocked (did not have many goods) | we stock more than 40 different kinds of cheese supplier /sə'plaɪər/ Noun a supplier is a person or company who provides goods to customers our supplier is in India | we changed suppliers last year to try to improve our service | the supplier apologized for the delay in delivery

Verb: supply

they supply engineering equipment to companies all over the world | can you supply twenty tons of steel by the end of next week?

presentation /ˌprezn'teɪʃn/ Noun if you give a presentation, you stand in front of a group of people, for example, in a meeting or in a class, and tell them information about a particular subject

Collocation(s): give a presentation

I have to give a presentation at the meeting | I nearly fell asleep during Gavin's presentation | a short presentation | we sat through a two-hour presentation on the company's plans

Verb: present

they presented the company's plans for the next five years radiation /ˌreɪdi'eɪʃn/ Noun radiation is a kind of energy. It is used in medicine to see inside the body. A lot of radiation can be dangerous and it can make someone sick or die

Collocation(s): exposure to radiation | radiation treatment | radiation levels exposure to radiation can have harmful effects on health | radiation can come from the sun rainforest /ˈreɪnfɒrɛst/ Noun a rainforest is an area with a lot of trees. It is found in very wet areas of the world

Collocation(s): tropical rainforest | rainforest ecosystem | protect the rainforest rainforests are home to a diverse range of plant and animal species | many types of frogs and snakes live in the rainforest | the Amazon Rainforest is the largest tropical rainforest in the world solution /sə'lʊʃn/ Noun a solution to a problem or difficult situation is a way of dealing with it so that the difficulty is removed Collocation(s): solution to we need to find solutions to environmental problems | brainstorming sessions can help come up with creative solutions

Pages 66–67

benefit /'benəfɪt/ Noun

if something is to your benefit or is of benefit to you, it helps you or improves your life

Collocation(s): enjoy benefits | health benefits | benefits of regular exercise has many benefits for physical and mental health | volunteering has many benefits, including meeting new people and gaining valuable skills

Verb: benefit | Adjective: beneficial regular exercise is beneficial for physical and mental health carbon dioxide /kɑrbən daɪ'aksəɪd/ Noun carbon dioxide is a gas that is produced by animals and people breathing out, and by chemical reactions

Collocation(s): carbon dioxide emissions | reduce carbon dioxide | carbon dioxide levels carbon dioxide is a greenhouse gas that contributes to global warming | trees absorb carbon dioxide | reducing carbon dioxide emissions is important for helping climate change

UNIT 6: STAGES IN LIFE

Page 69

elderly /'ɛldərli/ Adjective if you describe someone as elderly, you are saying in a polite way that they are old. The elderly are people who are old an elderly lady sat down next to me on the bus | our neighbors are an elderly couple | I met an elderly man who has lived in Peru all his life

Noun: the elderly

winter causes many problems for the elderly | you should show more respect to the elderly middle-aged /'mɪdlɛɪdʒd/ Adjective someone who is middle-aged is not young and not yet old; between the ages of about 45 and 65 a middle-aged lady stopped me and asked the time | my dad's 70 but still thinks he's middle-aged | most of our customers are middle-aged

Noun: middle age

he married in middle age and moved to Denmark | by 2010 she was approaching middle age teenager /'tiːnɛɪdʒər/ Noun a teenager is a young person who is between 13 and 19 years old (because all those numbers end in -teen) a new magazine aimed at teenagers | a group of teenagers was waiting at the bus stop | more than 200 teenagers came to the concert | it's difficult being the parents of teenagers

Adjective: teenage

we have two teenage children | her teenage daughter has just started college text /tɛkst/ Verb

if you text someone, you send them a typed message using a cell phone

I always have to text my son as he never answers the phone | text me when you get to the station | he texted me to invite me to a party | I tried to text you, but my battery was dead

Noun: text

send me a text when you get to the station

Pages 70–71

culture /'kʌltʃər/ Noun culture is the particular way a country or community does things, especially in connection with art, literature, music, etc.

they are studying French culture at school | the steel drums are an important part of their culture | he wrote a book about East European culture

Adjective: cultural | Adverb: culturally

there are many historical and cultural places to visit in Seoul | culturally, the trip was very interesting early /'ɜːrli/ Adjective if someone is between 20 and 30 years old, you can say they are in their twenties. If they are over 20 but less than 24, you can say they are in their early twenties

the twins were in their early teens (about thirteen or fourteen) | my parents were in their early thirties when my brother was born | I'd guess she's in her early forties | she looks 60, but she's actually in her early seventies earn /ɜːn/ Verb

money you earn is the money you are paid for doing your job

I need to earn some money to pay for my vacation | I don't earn very much in my job | top football players earn millions of dollars a year | she earns a fortune (a lot of money) | we all need to earn a living (have a job that pays us enough to live)

Noun: earnings

average earnings rose again last year intend /ɪn'tend/ Verb

if you intend to do something, you have a plan to do it and believe that you will do it

Collocation(s): intend to do something | intend doing something

I intend to get married before I'm 30 | I intend to drive to Miami on the weekend

Noun: intention

she had no intention of going on vacation with him | my intention was to ask him for a job late /leɪt/ Adjective

if someone is between 20 and 30 years old, you can say they are in their twenties. If they are between 27 and 29, you can say they are in their late twenties

the twins were in their late teens (about eighteen or nineteen) | my parents were in their late twenties when I was born | I'd guess she's in her late fifties | she looks as if she's in her mid-thirties, but she's actually in her late twenties marvelous /'mɑːvələs/ Adjective someone or something that is marvelous is very good

Collocation(s): marvelous view | marvelous day | marvelous experience | absolutely marvelous

the sunset over the ocean was truly marvelous | she had a marvelous time on her vacation

Noun: marvel | Verb: marvel | Adverb: marvelously

the marvels of nature | we marveled at the view from the top of the mountain | the instructions are marvelously simple mid /mɪd/ Adjective

if someone is between 20 and 30 years old, you can say they are in their twenties. If they are between 24 and 27, you can say they are in their mid-twenties

the twins were in their mid-teens (about fifteen or sixteen) | my parents were in their mid-twenties when my sister was born | I'd guess he's in his mid-fifties | she looks 30, but she's actually in her mid-twenties retire /rɪ'taɪər/ Verb

if someone retires, they stop having a job at the end of their career, usually because they are old when are you planning to retire? | my brother retired when he was 58 | I can't afford to retire for another four years

Noun: retirement | Adjective: retired

I'm looking forward to my retirement | my parents are retired | a retired teacher

Pages 72–73band /bænd/ Noun a band is a group of people who play music together, often using different instruments. Sometimes, there are singers in a band

Collocation(s): join a band | in a band my dad joined a band when he was in college | I'm in a rock band | my favorite band is playing at the music festival candle /'kændl/ Noun a candle is a stick of a substance called wax with a piece of string through the middle that you light so that it has a flame. The wax melts as the string burns, and the flame gives off light everyone in the parade was carrying a candle | we had to use candles because there was no electricity in the place | the room was lit with candles community /kə'mjunəti/ Noun a community is all the people who live and work together in a particular area we are a small community here | the new road will affect everyone in the community | community leaders held a meeting with the police | a community center (a building which local people can go to and hold events in) | the town is organized into four local communities costume /'kɑstəm/ Noun

a costume is a special set of clothes that people wear for a particular occasion or event, such as a parade or street festival

we all dressed up in costumes for the parade | a national costume (the typical costume of a particular country) decoration /dekə'reɪʃn/ Noun a decoration is something you put on or around something to make it look more attractive why don't we put up some party decorations? | there were decorations across the front of the city hall | the decorations in the room were very bright

Verb: decorate | Adjective: decorated, decorative

it took us all weekend to decorate the first floor of the house | we need to decorate the hall and the living room | a huge and beautifully decorated house | the flowers in the hall were very decorative drum /drʌm/ Noun

a drum is a musical instrument that you hit with sticks or your hands to make a sound

Collocation(s): play the drums | a drum kit

I learned to play the drums when I was younger | they got a drum kit from their grandfather | I can hear the sound of drums festival /'festəvl/ Noun a festival is a period of time during which a lot of events take place somewhere, such as concerts, theater performances, movies, etc.

Collocation(s): a music/jazz/rock/theater festival

we went to a three-day rock festival | the festival is held every year in August | Glastonbury Festival takes place on a farm in Somerset | a festival of classical music | did you get tickets for the festival? | 20,000 people came to the festival firework /'faɪərwɜrk/ Noun fireworks are things that explode and make colorful moving shapes and patterns in the sky, often making a loud noise

Collocation(s): a firework(s) display/show the fireworks started going off at seven o'clock | a spectacular fireworks display | at midnight there was a big fireworks show | the fireworks exploded and nearly destroyed the building | you should never throw fireworks into a bonfire float /floʊt/ Noun

a float is a moving platform, pulled through the streets by people, animals, or vehicles, that carries people who are performing in a parade or festival a nicely decorated float | there were twenty floats in the parade | here comes the first float mask /mæsk/ Noun

a mask is something that covers part or all of someone's face. People sometimes wear colorful masks at a party or celebration she wore a gold mask with a white nose and red lips | the children wore carnival masks and costumes | I'm making a mask for tomorrow's party parade /pə'reɪd/ Noun

a parade is a big event when a lot of people or vehicles go through the streets of a town as part of a big celebration the parade will set off from city hall | a military parade | the parade took over an hour to pass by the front of our store | there were street parades, followed by fireworks in the evening party /'pɑ:ti/ Noun

a party is an event where people enjoy themselves by doing things like drinking, eating, dancing, and talking to each other

Collocation(s): throw a party

we had a party on the weekend | an invitation to a party | we decided to throw a party (have a party) | the party went on until four in the morning | are you coming to the party on Saturday?

Verb: party

we partied until three in the morning reporter /rɪ'pɔ:tər/ Noun a reporter is a person who explores and writes news stories for newspapers, magazines, television, or radio.

Collocation(s): news reporter | newspaper reporter | television reporter | investigative reporter the reporter interviewed people at the scene of the accident | she works as a freelance reporter for a local newspaper | the reporter wrote a story about the local area

Verb: report

we reported on the strange weather for a school project

Pages 74–75

birth rate /bəθ rest/ Noun the birth rate is the number of people who are born in a year, usually measured by how many births there are for every thousand people in a country the birth rate has been going down | Japan has a very low birth rate bride /braid/ Noun

at a wedding, the bride is the woman who is getting married a photo of the bride and groom | the bride arrived at the door of the church with her father | the bride's mother looked so proud cattle /'kætl/ Noun plural cattle are cows and bulls that are kept on a farm and used for meat and milk production some of the cattle escaped and ran onto the road | my uncle spent twenty years as a cattle farmer | there are two million dairy cattle in the UK (cows that produce milk) ceremony /'serəməʊni/ Noun a ceremony is a formal event that involves a traditional set of actions a wedding ceremony (when two people get married) | the opening ceremony of the Olympic Games | over 2,000 guests attended the ceremony

Adjective: ceremonial

a ceremonial parade will take place in Ottawa on May 8th engaged /ɪn'geɪdʒd/ Adjective if two people are engaged, they have agreed to get married to each other but are not married yet

Collocation(s): get engaged | engaged to someone we got engaged last week | my sister is engaged to someone she met in college | an engaged couple

Noun: engagement

a two-year engagement | congratulations on your engagement!

financial control /fə'nænʃl kən'troʊl/ Noun uncountable if you have financial control over some money, you can spend it or keep it for yourself and you can stop anyone else using it if you want to

she has financial control over her husband's younger brother's money | I got financial control over the family money when I was 21 formal event /'fɔ:ml ɪ'vent/ Noun a formal event is a serious occasion where people have to behave according to traditional rules the wedding was a formal event | you can't wear a T-shirt to a formal event groom /grum/ Noun

at a wedding, the groom is the man who is getting married on the day, the groom is not meant to see his bride before the ceremony | the bride and groom left in a Rolls Royce | the groom looked really happy

Synonym – Noun: bridegroom they returned to the bridegroom's house for the reception honeymoon /'hʌniːmʊn/ Noun a honeymoon is a vacation or trip that people take after their wedding to celebrate their marriage they went on their honeymoon to a tropical island | the honeymoon room had an amazing view of the beach | the couple returned from their honeymoon feeling relaxed and happy law /lɔ/ Noun

the law is all the official rules that people in a country have to obey

Collocation(s): against the law | break the law the law doesn't allow you carry a gun in public | it's against the law (not allowed) to drive over the speed limit | if you break the law (do something that is not allowed), you can go to prison legal rights /'li:gl raɪts/ Noun your rights are the things that you can have or do according to a set of rules. Your legal rights are things that the law allows you to do or have being allowed to vote is one of your legal rights | women have the same legal rights as men | children don't have the same legal rights as adults

line /laɪn/ Noun

a line of things or people is a number of them next to each other or one behind the other we stood in a line waiting to get into the theater | a long line of people waited to buy tickets for the concert | a line of cars in a traffic jam religious /rɪ'lɪdʒəs/ Adjective something that is religious is connected with religion or with one particular religion

Collocation(s): religious beliefs people have different religious beliefs and practices | the cathedral is a religious building in the city | fasting is a religious tradition during the festival

Noun: religion

there are around 4,000 different types of religions in the world social traditions /'səʊʃl trə'dɪʃnz/ Noun a country's social traditions are the cultural habits that have existed for a long time young people don't always respect our social traditions | marriage is one of our oldest social traditions wedding /'wedɪŋ/ Noun

a wedding is a ceremony at which two people get married

Collocation(s): a wedding reception | a wedding guest | a wedding ceremony | a wedding anniversary

they invited me to their daughter's wedding | the wedding guests started arriving at twelve p.m. | we spent months preparing for the wedding | a wedding reception (a party for all the guests after the ceremony) | the wedding ceremony will start at three p.m. | a wedding anniversary (an exact number of years since a wedding happened)

Pages 76–77

accept /ək'sept/ Verb

if you accept an invitation, you say yes to it they've accepted our invitation to the party | I had an offer of free membership of the club, which I accepted | everyone we invited has accepted

Noun: acceptance

we had three acceptances, but Mick and Jenny say they can't come barbecue /'bɑːbɪkju/ Noun a barbecue is a meal cooked outdoors, for example, in someone's yard or on the beach, often as a social occasion we've been invited to a barbecue tomorrow night | there were over 30 guests at the barbecue | the yard has a barbecue area away from the house | I hope it doesn't rain during the barbecue colorful /'kʌləfl/ Adjective something that is colorful includes a lot of bright colors the women all wore very colorful dresses | the wall was covered in colorful paintings | those curtains are nice and colorful

Noun: color

I prefer to have very bright colors in the living room convince /kən'vɪns/ Verb

if you convince someone, you succeed in making them believe something that they did not believe at first

Collocation(s): convince someone of something | convince someone that the professor is trying to convince me that I could waste less | he managed to convince them of his honesty | the article wouldn't convince all its readers, but it was well written

Adjective: convincing, convinced

it was a very convincing article | I'm convinced he'll be back at work next week decline /dɪ'klaɪn/ Verb if you decline an invitation, you say no to it it's very kind of you, but I'm afraid we have to decline | they declined our offer of help | only two people have declined our invitation to the party delicious /dɪ'liʃəs/ Adjective food that is delicious tastes or smells very nice the meat was delicious | the soup was delicious | that was a delicious meal | thank you – that was delicious | a delicious smell of chocolate cake was coming from the kitchen disgusting /dɪs'gʌstɪŋ/ Adjective something that is disgusting is horrible and makes you feel sick the food was disgusting | what's that disgusting smell? | that fish smells disgusting | that's the most disgusting thing I've ever heard

Adjective: disgusted

I was disgusted by the state of the hotel room dull /dʌl/ Adjective something that is dull is not interesting or exciting – it's boring the ceremony began with some long and dull speeches | the movie was really dull | our geography lessons are so dull | there's never a dull moment here (there is always something interesting happening)

Noun: dullness

I soon got bored with the dullness of the countryside enormous /ɪ'nɔːrməs/ Adjective something that is enormous is extremely big the truck was carrying an enormous load | they're putting up an enormous building near the park | most of the rooms are enormous, but the kitchen is tiny | I've never seen such an enormous cat invitation /ɪnvə'teɪʃn/ Noun an invitation is when someone asks you if you would like to go to a social occasion that they are organizing Collocation(s): an invitation to something we received an invitation to Miguel's wedding | a party invitation | we sent 300 invitations | a printed invitation

Verb: invite

Collocation(s): invite someone to something let's invite Paul and Aisha to dinner | we've been invited to a party at our neighbor's house massive /'mæsɪv/ Adjective something that is massive is very big we ate from massive plates of food | they live in a massive house in Vietnam | the factory is absolutely massive nature /'neɪtʃər/ Noun uncountable nature is all the plants, animals, mountains, rivers, etc. that are not made by people but exist independently we can learn a lot from nature | I've been interested in nature since I was little (very young) tasty /'teɪsti/ Adjective food that is tasty is very nice to eat

I'm looking forward to a tasty lunch | a salad that was both tasty and healthy | the food there was really tasty

Noun: taste | Verb: taste

this soup has a strange taste | would you taste this soup and see if it needs more salt?

view /vyu/ Noun

the view is everything you can see from a particular place Collocation(s): a view over something we had a nice view of the valley from our hotel room | there were great views as we went up the mountain | the hotel has a view over the Mediterranean | I love the view from my bedroom window | a room with a ocean view (a view over the ocean) | what a lovely view wonderful /'wʌndəfl/ Adjective something that is wonderful is very good and you enjoy it very much we had a wonderful trip | the movie was just wonderful | the food was wonderful | that's wonderful news! | what a wonderful surprise | we listened to some wonderful music

Pages 78–79

admire /əd'maɪər/ Verb

if you admire someone or something, you like and respect them very much

Collocation(s): admire someone

I admire her hard work | he admires famous athletes for their achievements | she admires the beauty of nature malaria /mə'leɪə/ Noun uncountable malaria is a serious disease that is caused by some kinds of mosquitoes (flying insects that bite people) in hot countries malaria was once common in southern Europe | a rise in malaria cases can be expected organization /ɔːrgənə'zeɪʃn/ Noun an organization is a group of people, for example, a political party, a business, a charity, or a club

Collocation(s): international organization | organization of | organization for the charity is a well-run organization

Verb: organize | Adjective: organized he helped organize several events | it was a very carefully organized event opportunity /əpər'tunəti/ Noun an opportunity is a situation in which it is possible for you to do something that you want to do Collocation(s): opportunity to do something studying abroad is an exciting opportunity to experience new cultures | an opportunity to start her own business | taking risks can lead to new opportunities to grow

UNIT 7: WORK

Page 81

astronaut /'æstrənɒt/ Noun an astronaut is someone who travels into space in a spacecraft astronauts carried out experiments while they were in space | Neil Armstrong is the most famous astronaut ever | we all wanted to be astronauts when we were children | it takes years of training to become an astronaut interesting /'ɪntrəstɪŋ/ Adjective if something is interesting, you would like to see more of it or know more about it she has a very interesting job | I watched an interesting program on TV last night | the show was really interesting | we met lots of interesting people in Canada | that's an interesting idea | it sounds like an interesting vacation

Noun: interest | Verb: interest | Adjective: interested ||

Opposite – Adjective: boring, bored

Collocation(s): be interested in something

he shows little interest in his studies | he wanted to show us his new car but we weren't interested | my job is really boring | the movie was so boring we left before the end | I got bored after waiting for an hour | if you're bored, why don't you go and do your homework?

officer /'ɒfəsər/ Noun an officer is someone who has a senior position in the army, navy, or air force. All members of the police force are officers a police officer came toward us | two police officers got out of the car | one of my officers was injured during the attack programmer /'prəʊgræmə/ Noun a programmer is a person whose job involves writing programs for computers

Collocation(s): computer programmer

the programmer wrote code to create a new app | becoming a skilled programmer requires learning multiple programming languages | the company hired a team of programmers to develop the website

Verb: program | Adjective: programming receptionist /rɪ'sɛpʃənɪst/ Noun when you arrive at a hotel, the receptionist is the person who gives you your room key and tells you about the hotel he's a receptionist at the Hilton in Montpellier | the receptionist gave me a map of the city | the receptionist was very helpful | the receptionist took my credit card details when I arrived

Noun: reception

there was free Wi-Fi in the reception area | please leave the key at reception when you go out | the person at reception sent me up to the third floor | I left a message for him at the reception desk skilled /skɪld/ Adjective someone who is skilled is able to do something very well Collocation(s): skilled at (doing) something

the factory needs more skilled workers | she was a skilled piano player | a skilled computer programmer can earn a lot of money | she was very experienced and skilled at her job

Noun: skill | Opposite – Adjective: unskilled you need good computer skills | it's important to keep learning new skills | unskilled workers do not get paid very much training /'treɪnɪŋ/ Noun training is the process of learning or teaching a particular skill through practice and instruction

Collocation(s): training program | provide training

he received training to prepare for the race | on-the-job training is given to new employees | the training session covered important safety rules

Verb: train | Adjective: trained

Pages 82–83

accountant /ə'kaʊntnt/ Noun an accountant is someone whose job is to organize the financial records for a company or for a person he's an accountant for a big law firm | I need to talk to my accountant | my accountant sorts out all my finances | a qualified accountant

Noun: accounting

she helped me do my accounting | I work in the accounting department | he wants to study accounting career /kə'rɪ/ Noun someone's career is the job or series of jobs that they do over the period of their working life she had a long career in the newspaper business | Robert began his career with an engineering firm in Derby | after losing the election, his political career came to an end | the company offers excellent career prospects (the possibility to have a long and successful career) chef /ʃɛf/ Noun

a chef is someone who works in the kitchen of a restaurant or hotel and prepares the food he's the head chef in a big hotel | chefs have to work very long hours | her ambition is to become a chef economics /ɛkə'namɪks/ Noun economics is the study of the economy – all the business activity that goes on and the money that is moving around. Someone who studies this is an economist

she's studying economics at Helsinki | a thick book about economics | she writes a blog on economics

Noun: economy, economist | Adjective: economic

the economy is recovering | most economists think the government should increase taxes | a report by a group of economists | the economic situation was getting worse electrician /ɪləkˈtrɪʃn/ Noun an electrician is someone whose job is to install and repair electrical equipment she's training to be an electrician | the electrician is putting in a new light switch | can you recommend a good electrician?

employed /ɪmˈplɔɪd/ Adjective someone who is employed has a job

Collocation(s): employed by | employed in

she's employed as a graphic designer at the moment | being employed allows me to support myself financially | he was offered a job and is now employed

Noun: employment | Verb: employ the company plans to employ new staff to meet the increased demand for their products entrepreneur /ˌɒnrəprəˈnɜːr/ Noun an entrepreneur is a person who sets up businesses

Collocation(s): successful entrepreneur | young entrepreneur my uncle is an entrepreneur who started his own IT business | the entrepreneur created a successful startup company

Adjective: entrepreneurial Collocation(s): entrepreneurial spirit his entrepreneurial spirit led him to start his own business fame /feɪm/ Noun

fame is when you are very well-known by many people as a result of your achievements

Collocation(s): gain fame | fame and fortune fame comes with its own set of challenges | she achieved fame after starring in a popular movie | many people dream of achieving fame and fortune

Adjective: famous | Adverb: famously the actor became famous overnight after starring in a hit movie follower /ˈfɒləʊər/ Noun a follower is a person who follows or subscribes to someone else's social media account or online content to receive updates or notifications

Collocation(s): social media follower

he has thousands of followers on social media | influencers often measure their success by the number of followers | being a good leader means having loyal followers

Noun: following | Verb: follow she has a large following on social media platforms like Instagram and TikTok influencer /ˈɪnfluənsər/ Noun an influencer is a person with the ability to influence people's opinions, behaviors, or purchases, usually through social media or online platforms

Collocation(s): social media influencer | lifestyle influencer | fashion influencer becoming an influencer requires building a large following and pleasing your audience

Noun: influence | Verb: influence | Adjective: influential her speech had an influence on the audience, inspiring many to take action | young children are influenced by their parents | one of the most influential writers of the 21st century journalist /ˈdʒɜːnəlɪst/ Noun a journalist is someone who writes for a newspaper or magazine, or who reports on the news on television or radio journalists waited outside the building | a television journalist | she's a journalist who reports for The New York Times | my daughter wants to be a journalist | a sports journalist

Noun: journalism

good journalism tells the truth | he retired after 40 years in journalism lawyer /ˈlɔːr/ Noun

a lawyer is a person who practices or studies law; someone who provides legal advice

Collocation(s): criminal lawyer she hired a lawyer to represent her in court | becoming a lawyer requires years of education and training nurse /nɜːs/ Noun

a nurse is someone whose job is to look after people who are sick, especially in a hospital

I've always wanted to be a nurse | he's a nurse at the local hospital | the nurse gave him his medicine | the nurse came to take my temperature politics /ˈpɒlətɪks/ Noun uncountable politics is the work of getting power and running a country or a part of a country. Someone who does this is a politician

I'm not interested in politics | he entered politics because he wanted to improve people's lives | we spent the evening arguing about politics

Noun: politician | Adjective: political people don't always like politicians | Barack Obama is one of the most famous politician in the world | politicians from all parties agreed that the war should end | the country has political and social problems | our political system needs to change | she studied political sciences in college shop assistant /ʃɒp əˈsɪstənt/ Noun a shop assistant is a person who works in a shop and helps the customers he's a shop assistant in the supermarket | I had to wait five minutes before a shop assistant came to help to me | I worked for three years as a shop assistant | a helpful shop assistant | luckily, the shop assistant spoke English subscribe /səbˈskraɪb/ Verb if you subscribe to something, you pay to be able to use a service such as a TV channel, a telephone network, an online newspaper, etc.

Collocation(s): subscribe to something we subscribe to Netflix | users of the site can subscribe for a month, six months or a year at a time | I subscribe to a daily podcast | over 1,000 people have subscribed to my YouTube channel

Noun: subscriber, subscription

Collocation(s): purchase/get a subscription | renew/cancel a subscription | a monthly/annual subscription a TV network with nearly 30 million subscribers | new subscribers get the first month free | we purchased a subscription to a movie channel | it was too expensive, so I canceled the subscription | subscription is free for the first three months vet /vet/ Noun

a vet, short for veterinarian, is a person who is trained to provide medical care and treatment to animals

Collocation(s): veterinary clinic | vet clinic the vet treated the injured dog with care and compassion | my sister wants to become a vet and work with animals | taking your pet to the vet for regular check-ups is important for their health

YouTuber /'ju:tubər/ Noun a YouTuber is someone who creates and uploads videos to the YouTube platform, often to entertain, educate, or share their experiences with an audience

he's a popular YouTuber known for his gaming videos | many YouTubers earn money through advertising | starting a successful YouTube channel requires consistency and creativity

Pages 84–85

basement /'beɪsmənt/ Noun in a house or other building, the basement is a room that is below the level of the ground outside the furniture department is in the basement | we store a lot of stuff in our basement | it gets very wet in the basement | a basement apartment | we're going to move the bathroom from the first floor into the basement cafeteria /kæfə'tɪriə/ Noun in an office, factory, or school, the cafeteria is a large room like a restaurant where the people who work or study there can have a meal at lunchtime the cafeteria is on the first floor | I prefer to take my own sandwiches than eat in the cafeteria | a subsidized cafeteria (where the company pays part of the cost of the food so the employees do not have to pay the full price) elevator /'eləveɪtər/ Noun an elevator is a machine that can carry people up and down a building so that they do not have to use the stairs

Collocation(s): take the elevator | call the elevator

she pressed the button to call the elevator | let's take the elevator – it's a long way up to the fifth floor | the elevator wasn't working, so we went up the stairs | the technicians are repairing the elevator emergency exit /'ɪmərdʒənsi 'egzət/ Noun an emergency exit is a door in a building that you use to get out quickly when there is a fire or other dangerous situation there's an emergency exit at each end of the hallway | in case of fire, leave the building by the emergency exit | people were screaming as they ran for the emergency exit entrance /'entrəns/ Noun the entrance to a building is the door where you go in from the outside

Collocation(s): back/front/side entrance | main entrance

you can go in through the main entrance | after six o'clock we have to use the back entrance, not the front entrance | I'll meet you at the side entrance to the church | she parked outside the entrance to the movie theater

Verb: enter

police entered the building through the side door first floor /fɜːst flɔːr/ Noun in a building, a floor is one level. In the U.S., the first floor is the same level as the ground outside the building, and the second floor is the one above that. In the U.K., the ground floor is the same level as the ground outside and the first floor is the one above that my office is on the first floor | our apartment is on the first floor | go up the stairs to the second floor | take the elevator to the fourth floor | which floor is your office on?

hallway /'hɒlweɪ/ Noun

a hallway is a passage in a building with doors to rooms on one or both sides of it go down the hallway and my office is on the left | a hallway ran the length of the building (went from one end to the other) | go up the stairs at the end of the hallway office /'ɒfəs/ Noun

an office is a building or a room where people work, usually sitting at desks an open-plan office (where there are lots of people working in the same big room) | my office is on the second floor | a big office complex (one or more buildings full of offices) | I don't want to work in an office | would you come into my office, please?

price list /praɪs lɪst/ Noun a price list is a document on paper, on a computer, or on a website that tells you the price you have to pay for a company's products she left the price list on her desk | I only have last year's price list – this year's isn't ready yet | I checked the price list, and it's $99.99 | can you send me a copy of your price list?

stairs /steɪz/ Noun plural stairs are a series of steps that you use to go from one level in a building to another

Collocation(s): take the stairs the elevator isn't working, so we'll have to take the stairs | we walked up three flights of stairs (went up three levels in the building) | please don't run down the stairs | he fell down the stairs and broke his leg through /θru/ Preposition if you go through somewhere, you go across it from one side or end to the other go through the reception area to the fire exit | we went through France and Germany on the way to Poland | I had to go through her office to get back to the reception area vending machine /ˈvɛndɪŋ məˈʃɪn/ Noun a vending machine is a machine that sells things such as chocolate bars, tea, coffee, or bottles of water. You put money in the machine and it releases the thing you have bought the vending machine takes coins but not notes or credit cards | I put a dollar in the vending machine | there's a vending machine on the platform at the station

X-ray /ˈɛks reɪ/ Noun an X-ray is a photograph that shows the inside of something an X-ray photograph of the factory | Emil is a photographer who works with X-rays | the dentist took an X-ray to make sure there was nothing else wrong with my teeth | he went to the hospital for an X-ray of his leg

Verb: X-ray

they said they were going to X-ray my arm

Pages 86–87consider /kənˈsɪdər/ Verb if you consider something, you think about it carefully

Collocation(s): consider options | carefully consider

I need to consider all options before making a decision | he asked me to consider joining him on the trip

Noun: consideration

we need to give careful consideration to this request energy-efficient /ˈɛnərdʒi ɪˈfɪʃnt/ Adjective a device or building that is energy-efficient uses low amounts of energy to provide the power it needs

Collocation(s): energy-efficient home | energy-efficient lighting | energy-efficient technology the new building is designed to be energy-efficient | using public transportation is more energy-efficient than driving a car mistake /mɪˈsteɪk/ Noun if you make a mistake, you do something wrong or bad, although you did not intend to

Collocation(s): make a mistake | by mistake

I kicked a ball through my neighbor's window by mistake | I didn't make a single mistake in the math exam | it was a big mistake to put so much salt in the soup | the government has made a number of bad mistakes in the past year promotion /prəˈmoʊʃn/ Noun a promotion in your job is when someone gives you a more important job in the organization that you work for Collocation(s): regular promotions she received a promotion after years of hard work

Verb: promote profit /ˈprəfɪt/ Noun

a profit is an amount of money that you gain when you are paid more for something than it cost you to make, get, or do it

Collocation(s): make a profit the company reported a large increase in profits this quarter | giving a portion of profits to charity is part of their business social responsibility

Verb: profit | Adjective: profitable | Adverb: profitably researcher /rɪˈsɜːtʃər/ Noun a researcher is a person who explores a subject or topic in order to discover new facts

Collocation(s): wildlife researcher the researcher did experiments to test her theories | he's a leading researcher in the field of renewable energy | becoming a researcher requires advanced education and training

Verb: research satisfaction /sætɪsˈfækʃn/ Noun satisfaction is the pleasure that you feel when you do something or get something that you wanted or needed to do or get

Collocation(s): job satisfaction completing a challenging task gives me a sense of satisfaction | customer satisfaction is our top priority | she expressed satisfaction after getting her exam results

Verb: satisfy | Adjective: satisfied after receiving excellent service, she left the restaurant feeling satisfied workplace /ˈwɜːkpleɪs/ Noun a workplace is the location or environment where people work, often including offices, factories, or other facilities

Collocation(s): workplace environment creating a positive workplace has a positive effect on all employees | the workplace should be a safe environment | he enjoys socializing with colleagues in the workplace

Pages 88–89administration /ədˌmɪnəˈstreɪʃn/ Noun the administration of a company or institution is the group of people who organize and supervise it

Collocation(s): school administration the administration team supports the team of lawyers | the school administration oversees day-to-day operations | she works in hospital administration apply /əˈplaɪ/ Verb

if you apply for something such as a job, you fill out a form or write to say that you would like to have it

Collocation(s): apply for something you should start applying for jobs before you graduate | did you apply for that job? | 300 people applied for just one job at the studio | I applied for a grant to study physics at Oxford

Noun: application, applicant

Collocation(s): a job application | an application form send in your application by email | they sent me an application form (a set of questions you have to answer to apply for something) | she sent out 30 job applications in one week | we had 60 applicants for just two jobs client /ˈklaɪənt/ Noun

a client is a customer who is paying someone such as a lawyer or accountant for their professional service

I have to go out for dinner with a client | Anya's out visiting a client | she had an appointment with a client at three o'clock | his clients include a number of famous actors | she advises clients on business opportunities in China date of birth /dɜːt əv bərθ/ Noun your date of birth is the exact date (day of the month, month, and year) when you were born her date of birth is June 12th, 1992 | write your full name and date of birth at the top of the form | what's your date of birth?

education /ˌɛdʒəˈkeɪʃn/ Noun uncount your education is the process of learning things that you go through in school or college. When you apply for a job, you usually have to describe your education by saying what school or college you went to, what subjects you studied, and what exams you passed she had a good education at a top school in Scotland | I don't think they were impressed by my education essential /ɪˈsɛnʃl/ Adjective something that is essential is important and absolutely necessary experience is not essential | it is essential that you get home by ten o'clock tonight | it's essential to pass my exams, otherwise I won't get into college | ability to speak Portuguese and Catalan is essential for this job

Noun: essentials

I don't like to waste money, so I only buy essentials interests /ˈɪntrəsts/ Noun plural your interests are the things that you enjoy doing in your spare time (when you are not working or studying) my interests are music, sports (basketball and hockey,) and travel | do you have any interests apart from going to the movies? | I put down tennis and reading as my main interests management /ˈmænɪdʒmənt/ Noun uncountable the management is the control and organizing of a business or other organization

Collocation(s): effective management | management team | management skills effective management is important for the success of any organization | the management team meets weekly to discuss plans | she's responsible for project management

Verb: manage | Adjective: managerial she has the ability to manage multiple tasks at the same time without feeling stressed past experience /pæst ɪkˈspɪəriəns/ Noun uncountable your past experience is the types of jobs you have had and the work you did in them they'll ask you about your past experience in the interview | can you tell me something about your past experience? | my past experience includes a summer spent working on a farm polite /pəˈlaɪt/ Adjective if you are polite, you talk to someone in a nice way that shows respect most customers are OK if you are friendly and polite | the letter was short and polite | the waiter was polite and helpful | she gave me a polite smile and handed over the envelope

Adverb: politely || Opposite – Adjective: rude

he politely asked me what I was doing | she shook hands politely and then sat down again | I couldn't believe how rude he was | she was sent to bed for being rude to the neighbor position /pəˈzɪʃn/ Noun a position is a particular job within a company or organization

Collocation(s): take up a position full-time and part-time positions available | he left the firm to take up a position (start a new job) in a large engineering company | in my last position, I was responsible for a team of four designers reference /ˈrefrəns/ Noun a reference is information about your character or ability that someone who used to be your boss or teacher provides when you apply for a new job. This person is also your reference (or, less frequently, referee)

they asked me for two references | I'll write you a good reference | she has glowing references (very good references) | please ask me before you give my name as a reference résumé /ˈrezəmeɪ/ Noun your résumé is a document that describes your education and work history, and that you show to people when you apply for a job please send your résumé by email | an impressive résumé | can you help me write my résumé?

skill /skɪl/ Noun your skills are the things that you can do very well, especially things that you have been trained to do and are part of the work you do

I hope to develop my skills over the next six months | I went on a course to improve my writing skills | your salary will depend on your skills and experience

Adjective: skilled

the factory needs more skilled workers | she was a skilled piano player | a skilled computer programmer can earn a lot of money | she was very experienced and skilled at her job

staff /stæf/ Noun uncountable the staff of a company, store, etc. are the people who work there the staff is friendly and efficient | we need to employ more staff | the company has more than 200 staff | I talked to a member of staff (one of the staff) | Nabokov joined the staff of Wellesley College in 1941 work experience /wɜːk ɪkˈspɪəriəns/ Noun uncountable your work experience is the types of jobs you have had in the past and the work you did in them under work experience, I wrote "none" (on a job application form) | should I put "babysitting my sister" as work experience? | they'll ask you about your work experience

Pages 90–91

market stall /ˈmɑːkət stɔːl/ Noun a market stall is a temporary structure or stand at a market where goods are displayed and sold

Collocation(s): set up a market stall the vendor set up a market stall to sell handmade crafts | I bought fresh fruits and vegetables from the market stall | the market stall was popular with shoppers outweigh /aʊt'weɪ/ Verb

if one thing outweighs another, the first thing is of greater importance than the second thing the advantages of living in the city outweigh the higher cost of living | she believes that the pros outweigh the cons organic /ɔr'gænik/ Adjective something that is organic has been grown naturally and without any chemicals

Collocation(s): organic food | organic farming | organic products | organic vegetables organic fruits and vegetables are grown without synthetic pesticides | many people prefer organic products for their health benefits | the restaurant serves dishes made with organic ingredients

Adverb: organically

she prefers to eat organically grown fruits and vegetables for a healthier lifestyle set up /set ʌp/ Phrasal verb if you set up an arrangement or agreement, you do what is necessary for it to start it's easy to set up an online account with us | it took all morning to set up the five computers in a network | everything is set up for your new credit card. Now all we need is your signature

UNIT 8: TECHNOLOGY

Page 93

automatic /ˌɒtə'mætɪk/ Adjective something that is automatic is able to perform a task by itself or without input from a person

Collocation(s): automatic system | automatic process the doors are automatic and open as you walk toward them | the thermostat has an automatic setting to change the temperature | the car is automatic

Adverb: automatically my phone automatically updates the apps bear /bɛr/ Noun

a bear is a large animal covered in thick fur he spent a week taking photos of bears in Canada | a large black bear came towards us | in Alaska, it is legal to shoot bears data /'deɪtə/ Noun data is information, especially facts or figures, that can be collected, analyzed, and used for reference or decision-making

Collocation(s): analyze data | collect data | access data the study analyzed data from 2,000 teenagers | the teacher collected data about how many students liked different types of sports | the company analyzed the data from their sales to see which products were most popular engine /'endʒən/ Noun

the engine of a car or other vehicle is the part that produces the power that makes the vehicle move

Collocation(s): car engine | gas/diesel engine the car engine runs smoothly | he's a skilled mechanic who specializes in repairing engines feature /'fi:tʃər/ Noun a feature is a part or someone's face such as their mouth or nose or typical or interesting quality that something has the site has a lot of really good features | new features include automatic translation from other languages | we've added some more features and fixed some bugs internet /'ɪntərˌnet/ Noun the internet is a system that connects computers around the world. The internet allows people to share information, to communicate, and to find things online

Collocation(s): go on the internet | use the internet | search the internet be careful when you share personal information on the internet | I usually read my news on the internet | I don't use the internet much for work | search the internet for the restaurant reviews invent /ɪn'vent/ Verb

if you invent something, you have the idea for it before anyone else and you make the first one of its kind who invented this musical instrument? | Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone

Noun: inventor, invention

Frederick wanted to become an inventor when he left school | the Internet is the greatest invention in my lifetime (while I have been alive) recognize /'rekəɡnaɪz/ Verb if you recognize someone or something, you know who that person is or what that thing is Collocation(s): easily recognize

I didn't recognize her with her new haircut | she's a talented singer, and everyone recognizes her voice | it took me a moment to recognize the song playing on the radio

Adjective: recognizable Collocation(s): easily recognizable the building was easily recognizable software /'sɒftweər/ Noun software is a program and other operating information used by a computer Collocation(s): computer software my computer has software that helps me write essays and do math problems | we need to install new software on our phones to play the latest games | the teacher showed us how to use software to edit pictures for our school project

Pages 94–95

connect /kə'nekt/ Verb

if you connect to the Internet, you do something with your computer, phone, PlayStation, etc. that allows you to get documents, games, music, etc. from the Internet

if there's no Wi-Fi, you can't connect to the Internet | my phone is always connected to the Internet | they connected the TV to a different Internet provider

Noun: connection

we have a good Internet connection | there's no Internet connection on this subway | we were without an Internet connection for nearly a week document /'dɒkjəmənt/ Noun a document is a file on a computer. It usually has text in it, and can be changed and saved on the computer

Collocation(s): open a document | receive a document | save a document | new document you need to open the document I sent you | did you receive the document? | save the document so you don't lose your work | I opened a new document to start writing my essay download /'daʊnləʊd/ Verb if you download something, you take it from the Internet and put it on your computer, phone, tablet, etc.

it took an hour to download the movie | you can download the whole book from our site | he's been downloading music all evening | you can watch the movie on their website, but you can't download it onto your computer

Noun: download || Opposite – Verb: upload

it's available as an e-book or a PDF download | software updates are provided as free downloads | she uploaded the pictures to her Facebook page email /'iːmeɪl/ Noun an email is a way to send or receive messages or documents from one computer to another

Collocation(s): send an email | receive an email | write an email | delete an email

I sent you an email with the details of our meeting | I think you received the email I sent you yesterday | can you write me an email to send to the teacher? | why did you delete that email?

GPS /dʒi pi 'es/ Noun

GPS, short for Global Positioning System, is a system that uses signals from satellites to provide directions

Collocation(s): use GPS

we used the car GPS to find our way to the hotel | my parents rely on the GPS to navigate unknown roads when we go on family trips | the GPS showed us the quickest route to get to the beach hairdryer /'heɪdrɪər/ Noun a hairdryer is a piece of electrical equipment that blows hot air out so that you can dry your hair after you have washed it can I borrow your hairdryer? | my hairdryer is broken | I bought a new hairdryer this morning identical /aɪ'dentɪkl/ Adjective something that is identical is exactly the same or alike in every detail Collocation(s): almost identical | identical to the two paintings are identical in every detail | the test results were nearly identical for both groups industrial design /ɪn'dʌstriəl dɪ'zain/ Noun phrase industrial design involves creating and developing products that are aesthetically pleasing, work well, and are user-friendly

Collocation(s): study industrial design

I learned about industrial design in my class, where we talked about making things look nice and work well

Noun: industrial designer the company hired an industrial designer to help create a new line of stylish and practical furniture install /ɪn'stɔːl/ Verb if you install a piece of equipment, you fit it or put it somewhere so that it is ready to be used

Collocation(s): install software | install updates my dad will install the new software on our computer so we can use it for homework | we need to install a new light in the hallway because the old one doesn't work anymore | the workers will install the new playground equipment in the park next week for the children to play on log on/onto /lɒg an / 'ɒntə/ Phrasal verb

If you log on/onto to a computer, you put in your password to start using it if you can't remember your password, you won't be able to log on | she sat at her desk and logged on | make sure you log on before the meeting starts

Opposite – Phrasal verb: log out you don't need to log out – just press the off switch | it keeps a record of all activity, and says you logged out at 4:30 yesterday afternoon match /mætʃ/ Noun

a match is a thin, short stick of wood with a special substance on the end that produces a flame when you rub it against a rough surface

Collocation(s): a box of matches does anyone have any matches? | there's a box of matches in the cupboard under the stairs | the matches got wet, so we couldn't light a fire password /'pæswərd/ Noun a password is a secret word or different letters, numbers and symbols that allow you to access something

Collocation(s): change your password | a strong password | forget a password

I got an email telling me to change my password | you must choose a strong password to keep your information safe | I usually forget my passwords post /pəʊst/ Noun

a post is something you write or share on the internet, such as text, photos, or videos. You might write a post on social media or a blog

Collocation(s): like a post | comment on a post | share a post

I liked that post on Instagram about camping | they commented on my post that they had also visited the city | I shared a post on Instagram about the party satellite /'sætlaɪt/ Noun a satellite is an object that has been sent into space in order to collect information or to be part of a communications system. Satellites move continually around the Earth or around another planet

Collocation(s): communication satellite | satellite technology the weather satellite sends back pictures of clouds and storms to help forecasters predict the weather | the satellite in space helps us get internet access in remote areas where cables can't reach | scientists use satellites to monitor changes in the Earth's climate over time search /sɜːtʃ/ Verb

when you search, you try to find something or someone

I searched the Internet for a good English dictionary | search for "hotels in Boston" | if you search online, you're sure to find the answer

Noun: search

do a search for "bike shop Dublin" | the history button will show you the last searches you did | an online search | search results secure /sɪ'kyʊr/ Adjective something that is secure is safe from harm, danger, or loss; protected against others accessing or attacking it who are not allowed

Collocation(s): secure connection | secure website | secure data | keep secure

I made sure my computer was secure by using a strong password to protect my files | we installed antivirus software to keep our computer secure from viruses and hackers | the website uses a secure connection to make sure our personal information stays safe when we shop online

Noun: security | Verb: secure security problem /sɪ'kyʊrəti 'prɒbləm/ Noun phrase a security problem is when something is not safe or protected from harm. In computers, it means there's a weakness that could let criminals get into your information

Collocation(s): an internet security problem if you forget to lock your phone, that could be a security problem because someone else might see your messages | if a website doesn't have a strong password, it could have a security problem because hackers might be able to get in and steal information | sometimes, a security problem on a computer can make it run slowly or not work properly security tip /sɪ'kyʊrəti tɪp/ Noun phrase a security tip is a helpful suggestion or advice to keep something safe and protected from harm. In computers, it could be a simple action or setting to improve the security of your device or data

Collocation(s): security tip for | useful security tip | important security tip remember to always lock your phone when you're not using it. That's an important security tip! | don't share your passwords with anyone, even if they say they're from a company or a friend. That's a good security tip to remember | if you see a pop-up message on your computer that looks strange, don't click on it. That's a security tip to keep your computer safe from viruses signal /'sɪgnəl/ Noun

a signal is a series of electrical waves that carry sounds, pictures, and text to cell phones, computers, etc.

I can't hear you very well, there's a really bad signal here | I can never get a signal in the backyard | there's no signal on the island, so I'll send you a postcard!

sunscreen /'sʌnskriːn/ Noun uncountable sunscreen is a thick liquid that you put on your skin to protect yourself when the sun is very hot and to stop your skin getting burned don't forget to put on some sunscreen | make sure the children put the sunscreen on | a bottle of sunscreen towel /'taʊəl/ Noun

a towel is a piece of cloth that you use to dry your skin, for example, after you have had a bath or been swimming

I dried my hands on a towel | a bath towel (a large towel) | a hand towel (a small towel) | there's a clean towel in the bathroom | leave your towel on the floor when you've finished | the towel's wet upload /'ʌpləʊd/ Verb

if you upload something, you move it from your computer to somewhere in the cloud or on the internet

she uploaded the pictures to her social media | it's a brilliant video – you should upload it to YouTube | he's always uploading photos of his breakfast to social networking sites | it took nearly half an hour to upload all the documents

Noun: upload || Opposite – Verb: download the upload took just five minutes | it took an hour to download the movie | he's been downloading music all evening website /'websaɪt/ Noun a website is a collection of pages on the internet that has information or activities. Most companies and places have websites

I created a website for my photography business | my favorite store has a new website | you need a password to enter the website

Pages 96–97

lens /lenz/ Noun

a lens is a curved piece of glass that changes the way light passes through it and can help someone see things more clearly if their eyesight is not good. A pair of glasses has two lenses, one for each eye the lenses in his glasses were very thick | I didn't know you wore contact lenses (small lenses that you put in your eye to help you see better) | when you buy glasses, the lenses are often the most expensive part pump /pʌmp/ Noun

a pump is a tool that forces liquid or gas through a pipe so that it goes into or out of something the pump pushes the silicone oil through the pipe | the pump in our washing machine is broken | there's a pump in the basement in case we get too much water there | the garage replaced the oil pump in the car

Verb: pump

the heart pumps blood around the body | the water is pumped up to the garden from the river silicone oil /'sɪləkəʊn ɔɪl/ Noun uncountable silicone oil is a kind of oil that is often used as a lubricant – a substance that stops two surfaces from getting damaged when they rub together the pump pushes the silicone oil through the pipe water supply /'wɔːtər sə'plaɪ/ Noun uncountable the water supply to a place is the water that is available there through a public system that delivers the water through taps in people's houses the water supply in our village is very bad | they're working hard to improve the water supply | the island has no fresh water supply | the electricity and water supply had both failed wheel /wɪl/ Noun

a wheel is a small, round part of a machine that you turn in order to operate the machine you turn the wheels on each side to open the gate | the wheel was stuck so I had to get some oil | turn the wheel all the way around

Pages 98–99biography /baɪˈɑːɡrəfi/ Noun a biography is a book or piece of writing about a person's life, written by someone else. It tells the story of that person's life, including important events and achievements

Collocation(s): write a biography the library has a biography section where you can find books about famous people like Martin Luther King Jr. and Amelia Earhart | my mom is writing a biography about her grandmother, who was a nurse during World War II design /dɪˈzaɪn/ Verb

if you design something, you have the idea for it and decide what it will look like and how it should be made our logo was designed very carefully | my friend designed this ring | all our products are designed and made in the UK | the dress was designed by Zandra Rhodes

Noun: design, designer

I like the design of the new Lexus | a fashion designer | there are three designers in our studio | she works as a designer for a clothes company dirt /dɜːt/ Noun uncountable dirt is a substance such as dust or soil that is not considered to be clean his jacket was covered in dirt | don't get dirt on your new pants | he swept the dirt up from the floor | she had dirt all over her arms manufacturer /ˌmænyəˈfæktʃərər/ Noun a manufacturer is a company or person that makes goods in large quantities to sell Collocation(s): manufacturer of the manufacturer produces smartphones and laptops in their factory | we visited the manufacturer's showroom to see the latest TV models

Verb: manufacture | Adjective: manufacturing new idea /nu aɪˈdɪə/ Noun phrase if you have a new idea, you think of something that no one else has thought of before we're always interested in hearing new ideas | he has ten new ideas an hour! | he couldn't come up with (think of) any new ideas | they discussed a number of new ideas for the story run off /rʌn ɔːf/ Phrasal verb if liquid runs off a surface, it flows down and away and does not stay on the surface he noticed how water ran off the leaves | water ran off the fields onto the road, where it froze during the night safely /ˈseɪfli/ Adverb if you do something safely, or if something happens safely, no damage is caused he landed the jet safely | "drive safely!" she said as I set off | both ships arrived safely at the port | the drugs were locked safely in a cupboard

Noun: safety | Adjective: safe

the safety of our employees is very important to us | flying is much safer than traveling by car | are these drugs safe?

Pages 100–101as a result /æz ə rɪˈzʌlt/ Phrase you use as a result to say what happens or what a situation is after you have mentioned a cause or reason for it

Collocation(s): as a result of something as a result, they are cheaper over a long period of time | he got sick and, as a result, lost his job | she was very shy and, as a result, was very lonely backward /ˈbækwəd/ Adverb if something moves backward, it moves in the direction behind it, or in the direction away from you push the lever backward | the car rolled backward down the hill | I fell over trying to run backward | he fell backward on the sidewalk charge /tʃɑːdʒ/ Verb

if you charge a battery or an electrical device, you put electricity back into it so that you can use it again

I need to charge my phone | charge the batteries overnight and they'll be ready in the morning | I forgot to charge the battery in my camera

Noun: charger

can I borrow your phone charger?

contrasting /kənˈtræstɪŋ/ Adjective contrasting things, opinions, people, etc. are very different from each other we have contrasting views on the election | they gave contrasting explanations for what had happened | his shirt and jacket were in contrasting colors

Noun: contrast | Verb: contrast there is an obvious contrast between the two countries | it's useful to contrast the two ways of working firstly /ˈfɜːstli/ Adverb you use firstly to introduce the first of a number of statements you are going to make firstly, LED lighting lasts longer than normal lighting | firstly, you need to take warm clothing | firstly, let me just say how pleased we are to see you here

Noun: first

she was the first to arrive for example /fɔːr ɪg'zæmpl/ Phrase you use for example when you are about to refer to something that is typical of what you are talking about the classrooms, for example, were all very clean | he wanted to learn some foreign languages, for example, French and Arabic | the store sells all sorts of things, for example, newspapers, magazines, and candy forward /'fɔːrwəd/ Adverb if something moves forward, it moves in the direction in front of it, or in the direction toward you pull the lever forward | the car rolled forward into the river | move your chairs forward a little gadget /'gædʒət/ Noun

a gadget is a small electronic device or tool that is useful or interesting Collocation(s): latest gadgets | tech gadgets | electronic gadgets | cool gadgets
I love collecting gadgets like smartphones, tablets, and smartwatches | my brother got a new gadget for his birthday; it's a wireless charger for his phone | there are so many cool gadgets in the electronics store go up /goʊ ʌp/ Phrasal verb if something goes up, it rises to a higher place or position push the lever forward to make the drone go up | we went up six floors in the elevator | she went slowly up the stairs | you can go up the tower if you pay €5 | the office is on the third floor; you can go up now Opposite – Phrasal verb: go down go down the escalator to the first floor | she went down the stairs to her study | is the elevator going down?

however /haʊ'evər/ Adverb you use however to introduce information that is surprising or unexpected after what you have just been saying however, you don't need to change the battery very often | the following week, however, had a lot of rain | he was, however, a qualified accountant in addition /ɪn ə'dɪʃn/ Phrase you use in addition when adding extra information to what you have just said in addition, around one million birds a year are killed by plastic pollution | this will bring your temperature down and, in addition, it will help you sleep better in other words /ɪn 'ʌðə wɜːdz/ Phrase you use in other words when explaining something for a second time, often in a simpler way in other words, LED lights need less electricity to produce more light | this could be very serious indeed – in other words, he might die instructions /ɪn'strʌkʃnz/ Noun plural instructions are a detailed description of how to do something, for example, how to use a machine such as a dishwasher Collocation(s): follow instructions

I can't understand these instructions | you should read the instructions before you plug it in | the instructions are very difficult to follow | the instructions were in twelve different languages, but not English!

lever /'levər/ Noun

a lever is a long handle or bar that you pull or push in order to operate a piece of equipment move the lever forward to make the drone go higher in the air | there's a lever on the side of the machine | push the lever up to signal that you are going to turn left on the other hand /ən ði 'ʌðə hænd/ Phrase you use on the other hand to introduce a fact that is different from what you have been saying but that is just as important on the other hand, LED lights are more expensive | I'd like to visit Florence, but, on the other hand, I need to save money to buy a car | his TV was very old, but his computer, on the other hand, was very new photocopier /'fəʊtə'kɒpiər/ Noun a photocopier is a machine that makes exact copies of documents and other printed materials the photocopier in the library is out of paper; I'll have to come back later | can you please make a copy of this report using the photocopier? | I need to use the photocopier to make copies of these flyers for the event press the button /prɛs ðə 'bʌtn/ Phrase when you press the button, you push a small round part on a machine or electrical device with your finger or hand to make it start working or do something to turn on the TV, press the button on the remote control | press the button in the elevator to take you to the right floor | press the button at the lights if you want to cross the street propeller /prə'pɛlər/ Noun a propeller is a device on a plane or ship that consists of blades that go around and around and make the plane or ship move if you pull the lever back, the propellers will slow down | the propellers were still turning when he climbed off the plane pull /pʊl/ Verb

if you pull something, you make it move toward you using your hands pull the lever back to make the propellers slow down | pull the handle toward you | I pulled the suitcase out from under the bed | don't pull so hard or the handle will come off push /pʊʃ/ Verb

if you push something, you put force on it and make it move away from you using your hands push the button to start the washing machine | she pushed the gate open | stop pushing me! | he pushed his bike up the hill remote control /rɪ'məʊt kən'trəʊl/ Noun a remote control is a device that lets you control a piece of equipment by sending radio signals to it so that you do not need to touch the equipment or be next to it where's the remote control for the TV? | the remote control needs a new battery | a model plane that operates by remote control | she pressed the button on the remote control to turn the volume down result /rɪ'zʌlt/ Noun

a result is a situation, event, etc. that happens because of something else the result of the election was that we have a new government | the result of her hard work was a place at the University of São Paulo

Verb: result

Collocation(s): result in something the decision resulted in more students completing the course turn on /tɜːn ɒn/ Phrasal verb if you turn on a piece of equipment, you do something such as move a switch or press a button to make it start operating it was getting dark, so she turned on the light | quick – turn the TV on. It's about to start | how do I turn on the air conditioner? | I forgot to turn the oven on so dinner will be late

Opposite – Phrasal verb: turn off

turn your phones off before the class starts, please | should I turn the TV off? | he turned off the radio and started his homework

Pages 102–103

anger /'æŋɡər/ Noun anger is a strong feeling of displeasure toward someone or something

Collocation(s): feel anger | control anger | manage anger

she showed her anger by slamming the door when she left the room | his anger grew when he found out his project was rejected | I could sense the anger in his voice when he yelled at me

Verb: anger | Adjective: angry | Adverb: angrily

the decision clearly angered them | he slammed the door angrily after the argument emotion /ɪ'moʊʃn/ Noun an emotion is a strong feeling such as love, happiness, anger, or sadness

Collocation(s): strong emotion | express emotion | show emotion

he couldn't hide his emotion when he saw his long-lost friend at the airport | the movie evoked a range of emotions in the audience, from laughter to tears | it's important to express your emotions rather than keeping them inside

Adjective: emotional

he became emotional when he received the letter from his friend excitement /ɪk'saɪtmənt/ Noun excitement is a feeling of enthusiasm or eagerness about something

Collocation(s): feel excitement | show excitement

she felt so much excitement when she won the competition | the children's excitement grew as they approached the theme park | I could hardly contain my excitement when I found out I got the job

Verb: excite | Adjective: excited | Adverb: excitedly

she waited excitedly for the announcement of the competition winners facial expression /'feɪʃl ɪk'spreʃn/ Noun phrase a facial expression is the way your face looks that shows your feelings or thoughts

Collocation(s): use facial expressions to | with facial expressions | read facial expression | my facial expressions his facial expression changed from confusion to understanding when he solved the puzzle | she greeted me with a warm facial expression that made me feel welcome | the baby's facial expression turned into a smile when he saw his favorite toy fall in love /fɔːl ɪn lʌv/ Phrase if someone falls in love, they start being in love with someone else

Collocation(s): fall in love with someone

he fell in love with her as soon as he met her | they soon fell in love | by the end of the second week, they realized they had fallen in love | my parents fell in love when my dad was in the hospital hungry /'hʌŋɡri/ Adjective if you are hungry, you want to eat something as soon as possible

Collocation(s): get hungry

take some cookies in case you get hungry | I'm always hungry after I've been swimming | I had lunch half an hour ago, so I'm not hungry | she woke up feeling hungry and thirsty | there are two hungry children waiting for breakfast here

Noun: hunger | Adverb: hungrily

people were dying of hunger (they did not have enough food to stay alive) | his family was suffering from cold and hunger | hungrily, I ate both sandwiches interactive /ɪntər'æktɪv/ Adjective something that is interactive involves communication or action between people or things

Collocation(s): interactive experience | interactive learning | interactive game the online course includes interactive quizzes to test your understanding | we played an interactive game where we had to work together to solve puzzles

Verb: interact

she interacts really well with the other children psychology /saɪ'kɒlədʒi/ Noun uncountable psychology is the scientific study of the human mind and behavior

Collocation(s): study psychology | psychology research

she decided to study psychology because she wants to understand people better | the field of psychology covers a wide range of topics, from memory to personality

Adjective: psychological | Adverb: psychologically

Collocation(s): psychological effects sadness /'sædnəs/ Noun uncountable sadness is a feeling of unhappiness Collocation(s): feel sadness she couldn't hide her sadness when her dog died | the news of the accident brought sadness to the community | I felt a deep sense of sadness when I heard the song that reminded me of my childhood

Adjective: sad

he felt sad when he realized he couldn't attend the event situation /ˌsɪtʃu'eɪʃn/ Noun a situation is the set of circumstances or conditions in which someone finds themselves

Collocation(s): difficult situation

we need to assess the situation before making any decisions | in a dangerous situation, it's essential to stay calm and think clearly | the situation at work improved after the new manager took charge understand /ˌʌndər'stænd/ Verb if you understand something, you know what it means or how it works

I can't understand these instructions | can you understand Italian? | I don't understand this word | I still don't understand how cell phones work | once I explained it to him, he understood

Noun: understanding | Adjective: understandable

he showed no understanding of the depth of the problem | her anger is understandable universal /ˌjuːnə'vɜːsl/ Adjective something that is universal is common to all cases or situations

Collocation(s): universal language the desire for happiness is universal among all cultures | basic human rights should be universal and apply to everyone widespread /ˌwaɪd'spreɪd/ Adjective something that is widespread happens or exists over a large area or among many people Collocation(s): widespread use there was widespread support for the new environmental law

UNIT 9: PRODUCTS

Page 105

documentary /ˈdɒkɪməntəri/ Noun a documentary is a movie or TV show that presents facts and information about a real-life subject

Collocation(s): wildlife documentary | watch a documentary we watched a documentary about wildlife in Africa | the documentary explored the history of space exploration | she learned a lot about ancient civilizations from watching documentaries local /'ləʊkl/ Adjective something that is local happens or exists inside a small area close to where you are, or close to where you are talking about, rather than all over the country the system uses local recycled materials | I work for a local newspaper | our local football team is doing very well | did you try the local food when you were in Rome? | both our kids go to the local school

Noun: locals | Adverb: locally

it's a nice town, and the locals (people who live there) are very friendly | the tomatoes are locally grown

Valentine's Day /'vælənˌteɪnz deɪ/ Noun phrase

Valentine's Day is a holiday celebrated on February 14th when people show their love for each other, often by giving cards, flowers, or gifts

Collocation(s): celebrate Valentine's Day | Valentine's Day gift | Valentine's Day card | Valentine's Day date on Valentine's Day, couples often go out for romantic dinners | he surprised his girlfriend with a bouquet of roses on Valentine's Day | children exchange Valentine's Day cards with their classmates at school

Pages 106–107

category /'kætəɡɔːri/ Noun a category is a group or class of things that share similar characteristics or properties

Collocation(s): choose a category | select a category | category of the library organizes books into different categories, such as fiction and non-fiction | the store offers a wide selection of products in various categories, including electronics and clothing | the scientist classified the newly discovered species into its own category based on its unique features

Verb: categorize

logo /'ləʊɡəʊ/ Noun

a logo is a symbol or design used by a company or organization to represent its brand or identity

Collocation(s): company logo | design a logo the company's logo is a stylized letter M in blue and green | she designed a new logo for her business that shows its values | the logo on the product packaging helps customers recognize the brand produce /prəˈdʊs/ Verb to produce something means to make it. The things that are produced are products. Something that is productive is very good and efficient at producing things. Production is the process and activity of making things in a factory, and production is also the amount of things that have been made. A producer of something is a company or country that makes that thing the factory produces washing machines | they can produce ten cars an hour | all their products are good quality | I was happier and more productive before the new boss arrived | they're moving production of the new cars to Mexico | the company has significantly increased production over the last two years | Brazil is a major producer of coffee

Pages 108–109

basic /'beɪsɪk/ Adjective something that is basic is very simple and not very developed a list of basic words | basic skills, such as reading and writing | I just need a basic phone, not anything expensive cassette /kəˈset/ Noun a cassette is a small plastic object containing a length of tape that plays music or other sounds when placed into a cassette player. Cassettes were used especially in the 1980s and 1990s music cassettes used to cost about £1 | a collection of over 300 cassettes | I'm sure you can find a cassette player (a machine to play cassettes) on eBay classic /'klæsɪk/ Adjective classic styles are very simple but beautiful and do not go out of fashion she always wears classic designs | a pair of classic jeans | this suit is of a classic style curve /kɜːv/ Noun

a curve is a round line or shape that bends without sharp angles

the road followed a gentle curve as it wound through the mountains | she drew a perfect curve on the graph to show the data trend | the artist painted a curve in the river that flowed through the landscape

Verb: curve | Adjective: curved fashion /'fæʃn/ Noun fashion is the style of something that is popular for a time. If something is in fashion, it is popular and done, used or worn by a lot of people for a time. If it is out of fashion, people no longer want to do it, use it or wear it

Collocation(s) in fashion | out of fashion a fashion designer | the fashion industry (making clothes that are the latest fashion) | I want to work in fashion | these shirts are back in fashion | the Beatles' music will never go out of fashion

Adjective: fashionable | Adverb: fashionably

Chelsea is a fashionable district of London | fashionable clothes | she was always fashionably dressed fashionable /'fæʃənəbl/ Adjective something that is fashionable is popular or stylish at the moment

Collocation(s): fashionable clothes

she always wears fashionable clothes | that new restaurant downtown is very fashionable among young people | the trendy cafe serves fashionable drinks and snacks.

Noun: fashion | Adverb: fashionably the latest fashion trends | he is always really fashionably dressed old-fashioned /'əʊld 'fæʃnd/ Adjective something that is old-fashioned is not very modern or fashionable his clothes are so old-fashioned | the inside of the shop was very old-fashioned | an old-fashioned dining table stood in the middle of the room | I really like these old-fashioned cakes podcast /'pɒdkæst/ Noun a podcast is a digital audio program that is available for download or streaming online, usually in episodes, covering various topics

Collocation(s): listen to a podcast | create a podcast | podcast episode

I listen to podcasts on my way to work every morning | the podcast has interviews with interesting guests from around the world | she started her own podcast to share stories and advice with her audience up-to-date /ʌp tə deɪt/ Adjective something that is up-to-date is the most recent one of its kind, so is very modern a more up-to-date phone will go on sale next week | is your computer software up-to-date? | this report is based on the most up-to-date information | the hospital needs more up-to-date equipment

Opposite – Adjective: out-of-date this map is really out-of-date – it doesn't show King's Boulevard | the factory was getting rid of some of its out-of-date equipment used to /'yustu/ Verb

if you used to do something, you did it regularly in the past but do not do it now

Collocation(s): used to do something

I used to go to school with your sister | we used to go for walks by the river before they built the factory there | did you use to take the bus to work? | we made a lot of noise but our mother didn't use to mind vinyl record /'vaɪnl 'rekərd/ Noun a vinyl record is a flat disc made of vinyl plastic that contains recorded sound, typically music, which is played on a turntable using a stylus

Collocation(s): vinyl record player | classic vinyl record | vinyl record collection

he collects vintage vinyl records from the 1960s and 1970s | we listened to our favorite album on a vinyl record for the first time | vinyl records are popular among music enthusiasts

Pages 110–111

digital device /'dɪdʒətl dɪ'vaɪs/ Noun a digital device is any type of equipment such as a cell phone, laptop, computer, etc. that stores information in the form of digits (the numbers 0 and 1) the airline allows you to use digital devices during the flight | please turn all your digital devices off before the show starts | his bedroom is full of old digital devices that he's trying to repair minimalist /'mɪnəməlɪst/ Adjective a minimalist is characterized as having a simple lifestyle and using only essential elements

Collocation(s): minimalist lifestyle he is a minimalist and has few possessions

Noun: minimalism, minimalist | Adverb: minimally possessions /pə'zeɪnz/ Noun possessions are things that someone owns or has in their possession Collocation(s): valuable possessions

she packed her most valuable possessions in a suitcase before moving | his prized possessions include his vintage car collection and some rare books | the fire destroyed all of their possessions, leaving them with nothing

Adjective: possessive stuff /stʌf/ Noun uncountable in informal English, you can use stuff as a general word to mean any kind of thing or collection of things without saying exactly what they are they get worried because of exams and stuff | we played soccer and boxed and stuff like that | we did a lot of fun stuff at summer camp | you can buy all sorts of stuff there | I want you to take all your stuff off the kitchen table

Pages 112–113

about us /ə'baʊt ʌs/ Phrase on a website, the page called about us is a page that has information about the company or organization whose website it is

click on "About us" for more details | the "About us" page has disappeared comment /'kæmənt/ Verb

if you comment on something, you say or write your opinion about it Collocation(s): comment on something you can comment on other people's photos | over 50 people have already commented on my latest blog post | you have to be registered before you can comment on this site

Noun: comment, commenter her most popular blog post had over 1,000 comments | we had to delete several of the comments because they were offensive | most commenters agreed with her suggestions contact /'kəntækt/ Noun on a website, the contact page is the page that tells you how to contact the person or organization whose website it is, giving email addresses and phone numbers or providing a form for you to fill out and send directly from that page

I can't find a contact page | click on "Contact" in the top right corner of the screen | I went to the contact page and found the phone number

Verb: contact

please contact us by email and we will send you further details content /'kəntənt/ Noun the content on a website is the material it presents, such as text, music, videos, or photos make sure you put up new content every day, otherwise people won't come back to the site regularly | visitors want up-to-date content | it's a beautifully designed site, but there isn't much content home page /hoʊm peɪdʒ/ Noun on a website, the home page is the main page that people first get to, which has links to all the other pages on the site we need a better logo on the home page | the home page has no content, just links to the main areas of the site | click this link to return to the home page link /lɪŋk/ Noun

on a website, a link is a button or short piece of text that sends you to another page when you click on it

Collocation(s): click a link | follow a link | a broken link

there's a link to our other site here | there are links to all kinds of interesting sites | I found a broken link (when you click it, it doesn't take you to the right page) | a list of links to other football teams' sites

Pages 114–115

construction /kən'strʌkʃn/ Noun construction is the process of building or assembling something, especially a structure or infrastructure

Collocation(s): building construction | construction site the construction of the new bridge will begin next month | the construction workers are laying the foundation for the skyscraper | the city announced plans for the construction of a new park downtown

Verb: construct fossil fuels /'fɒsl 'fyuəl/ Noun fossil fuels are natural fuels such as coal, oil, and natural gas that are formed from the remains of ancient plants and animals and are used for energy production

Collocation(s): burn fossil fuels | use fossil fuels burning fossil fuels releases greenhouse gases into the atmosphere, contributing to climate change | many countries rely heavily on fossil fuels for electricity generation and transportation

UNIT 10: VACATIONS

Page 117

accommodation /əˌkʌməˈdeɪʃn/ Noun accommodation is a place such as a house, apartment, or hotel where you can live or stay for a while how were the accommodations on your vacation? | the tourist office can help you find accommodation | the university can't provide accommodations | I've had some problems with my accommodation

Verb: accommodate a vacation house that can accommodate six people sightseeing /ˈsaɪtˌsiːɪŋ/ Noun uncountable if you go sightseeing, you go around a town or city looking at the interesting buildings and places that tourists like to see

Collocation(s): go sightseeing | a sightseeing tour

we went on a sightseeing tour down the river | on Saturday you can choose between going sightseeing or going shopping | we went sightseeing every day in Lisbon | they spent the day sightseeing

Noun: sightseer | Verb: sightsee

Trafalgar Square was full of sightseers | I was sightseeing in New York last week

Pages 118–119

hire /ˈhaɪər/ Verb

if you hire someone, you pay them to work for you we had to hire a driver to take us around the town | we hired a tour guide when we went on vacation luggage /ˈlʌɡɪdʒ/ Noun uncountable your luggage is the bags and suitcases you take with you when you are traveling. Be careful: luggage is always singular. You cannot talk about luggages

I made sure I left plenty of space in my luggage | may I carry your luggage for you? | on the return flight, the airline lost our luggage | heavy luggage | you're only allowed one piece of hand luggage (a bag that you take with you on a plane) | a luggage rack | I can get a lot of luggage in the trunk of my car rent /rent/ Verb

if you rent a boat, a bicycle, or a car, you pay money to be able to use it for a period of time. If you rent a house or apartment, you pay money to the owner so that you can live in it we rented a boat on the lake | she rented a car for a week | they rented a house near the beach | we rented for several years but finally bought our own house last month | let's rent some bikes for the afternoon

Noun: rent

how much rent do you pay for your apartment? | we pay $800 a month in rent sing a song /sɪŋ ə sɔŋ/ Phrase if you sing a song, you make musical sounds with your voice Collocation(s): sing a song we all sat around the fire to sing a song | can you sing us a song? | let me sing you my favorite song

Noun: singer, singing

a well-known pop singer | she wants to be a professional singer | do you enjoy singing? | she used to have singing lessons stay /steɪ/ Verb

if you stay somewhere, you do not go anywhere else for a while. If you stay at a hotel, a campsite, etc., you live there for a while we stayed in a hotel in Vietnam for a week | I'm staying with my brother for a few days | where did you stay in Mexico? | you stay here while I go the stores | she stayed out all night again (did not come home until the morning)

Noun: stay

I hope you enjoy your stay | how was your stay in Geneva?

unfortunately /ˈfɔrtʃənətli/ Adverb you use unfortunately to describe something that happens because of bad luck unfortunately, the train left as soon as we got to the station | unfortunately, my passport was in my other bag | my uncle, unfortunately, lost all his money when the factory closed

Opposites – Adjective: fortunate

they had a fortunate escape from the fire | it was very fortunate that we found you in time

Pages 120–121

amazed/amazing /əˈmeɪzd/ /əˈmeɪzɪŋ/ Adjective if you are amazed by something, you are surprised and impressed by it. If something is amazing, you think it is surprising and impressive his doctor is amazed he's still alive | I was amazed to hear that they were getting married | she was amazed at his patience | the technology involved is amazing | we had an amazing view from the hotel window

Noun: amazement | Verb: amaze

Collocation(s): to someone's amazement to my amazement, she said yes | he shook his head in complete amazement | I'm sure the movie will amaze you annoyed/annoying /ə'noɪd/ /ə'noɪɪŋ/ Adjective if you are annoyed, you are a little angry. Something that is annoying makes you a little angry

Diego was trying hard not to sound annoyed | she had an annoyed expression on her face | he had an annoying habit of starting every sentence with the word "so" | the website has lots of annoying ads on it | her little brother was a very annoying child

Verb: annoy

the music from next door annoyed me all afternoon | he often annoyed me with his silly questions fascinated/fascinating /'fæsə'neɪtəd/ /'fæsə'neɪtɪŋ/ Adjective something that is fascinating is extremely interesting. If you are fascinated by something, you think it is extremely interesting as a child, Fumiko was fascinated by dinosaurs | he was fascinated with modern technology and engineering | Patagonia is a fascinating place | I found her story absolutely fascinating | he gave a fascinating talk about the history of Egypt | it'll be fascinating to see who wins

Noun: fascination | Verb: fascinate

Collocation(s): with/in fascination | fascination with/in something they watched with fascination as the dancers performed | his fascination with guns worried his mother | science is a subject that has always fascinated me frightened/frightening /'fraɪtnd/ /'fraɪtɪŋ/ Adjective something that is frightening makes you feel afraid. If you are frightened, you are afraid

I was frightened of the dark when I was a child | don't be frightened, it was only a mouse | the downtown area was a frightening place late at night | it was very frightening when the lights suddenly went out

Verb: frighten

I didn't mean to frighten you | if you make too much noise, you'll frighten the horses worried/worrying /'wərɪd/ /'wərɪɪŋ/ Adjective if you are worried, you are thinking about problems or about something bad that might happen. If something is worrying, it makes you think that something bad might happen

Collocation(s): worried about something

I'm worried about my exams | the guide was great, so I wasn't worried | it was very worrying when I saw the police officers coming to the door | we spent some worrying hours waiting for news

Noun: worry | Verb: worry

I was out of my mind with worry (extremely worried) | you shouldn't worry about your exams, you'll be fine

Pages 122–123

destination /dɛstə'neɪʃn/ Noun a destination is the place to which someone or something is going or being sent or a place you want to visit

Collocation(s): travel destination | popular destination | tourist destination our next vacation destination is a tropical island in the Caribbean | The Gardens by the Bay is a popular tourist destination | the train's final destination is the city central station generation /dʒɛnə'reɪʃn/ Noun generation refers to all the people born and living at about the same time

Collocation(s): older/younger generation | future generations | past generations | generations to come | generations of

there is often a generation gap between parents and their children | each generation faces unique challenges and opportunities | my grandparents belong to the older generation, while I am part of the younger generation neighborhood /'neɪbə'hʊd/ Noun a neighborhood is a district or community within a town or city, typically characterized by its residents and local amenities

Collocation(s): friendly neighborhood | quiet neighborhood | residential neighborhood | neighborhood watch program our neighborhood has a park where families gather for picnics and play | the neighborhood watch program helps keep our streets safe | Lee moved to a new neighborhood with good schools and friendly neighbors suggest /səg'dʒɛst/ Verb if you suggest something, you describe a plan or possibility for someone to consider

I suggest we give up and go home | he suggested meeting outside the theater at seven p.m. | what do you suggest we do now? | can anyone suggest an answer to our problem?

Noun: suggestion

Collocation(s): make a suggestion can I make a suggestion? | I agree with Malcolm's suggestion that we should go to the museum take place /teɪk pleɪs/ Phrase if something takes place, it happens somewhere the wedding took place in Vietnam | the meeting will take place at our Boston offices | the festival took place between August 21st and 30th last year tourism /'tʊrɪzəm/ Noun uncountable tourism is the activity of traveling to and visiting places for pleasure, recreation, or cultural experiences

Collocation(s): tourism industry tourism provides job opportunities and supports local businesses | we went sightseeing and visited many famous places during our tourism trip

Adjective: tourist the city attracts millions of tourists each year traveler /'trævələr/ Noun a traveler is a person who is traveling or on a journey

Collocation(s): international traveler the airport was bustling with travelers heading to various destinations | we met other travelers from different countries during our trip | experienced travelers know the importance of packing light and being flexible

Verb: travel

she enjoys traveling to different destinations and experiencing different cultures

Pages 124–125in advance /ɪn əd'væns/ Phrase if you do something in advance of something else, you do it before the other thing happens we began planning the concert a year in advance | it's essential to book your tickets in advance | start packing well in advance of moving to another house | thank you in advance for your help inquiry /ɪn'kwɪəri/ Noun an inquiry is a request for information about something or a question about something Collocation(s): make an inquiry

she made an inquiry about the availability of rental apartments in the area | the customer emailed an inquiry regarding the delivery of their order

Verb: inquire

I'm writing to inquire about my order.

last admissions /læst əd'mɪʃnz/ Noun phrase last admissions refer to the final opportunity for entry especially in a place or event Collocation(s): last admissions for the last admissions to the museum are thirty minutes before closing time | we arrived just before last admissions and managed to get tickets to the show | please note that last admissions for the concert are strictly at eight p.m.

look forward to /lʊk 'fɔrwəd tu/ Phrasal verb if you look forward to something, you think you will enjoy it or be pleased when it happens

Collocation(s): look forward to doing something

I look forward to reading your reply | I'm looking forward to going to Argentina for a vacation | we're all looking forward to seeing you next week | she was looking forward to her birthday | are you looking forward to the end of semester?

recommend /ˌrɛkə'mend/ Verb if someone recommends a person or thing to you, they suggest that you would find that person or thing good or useful

Collocation(s): highly recommend | recommend to | recommend for | recommend visiting

I highly recommend this hotel – it's in a beautiful area of the city | he recommended the restaurant to his friends because of its delicious food.

Noun: recommendation would you have any recommendations for a good but inexpensive restaurant in Oxford?

senior /'sɪniər/ Noun a senior in the US and some other countries, a senior is someone who is over 65 years old entrance costs $10 or $7 for seniors | the restaurant provides cheap meals for seniors on Wednesdays | the front seats on the bus are reserved for seniors

Adjective: senior

senior discount | you can get cheaper train tickets with a senior railcard

Pages 126–127abandoned /ə'bændənd/ Adjective if something is abandoned, it is left behind without care or attention

Collocation(s): abandoned building | abandoned house

there's an abandoned house at the end of the street | we found an abandoned cabin while hiking in the woods | the project was abandoned due to lack of support

Verb: abandon they had to abandon their camping trip due to bad weather coastline /'kəʊstlaɪn/ Noun a coastline is the outline or shape of the land where it meets the ocean

Collocation(s): beautiful coastline the coastline of this island is known for its beautiful beaches and cliffs | we enjoyed a drive along the coastline, stopping at seaside villages along the way

Adjective: coastal

Collocation(s): coastal cities/towns courageous /kə'reɪdʒəs/ Adjective if someone is courageous, they are brave and willing to face danger or difficulty

Collocation(s): courageous decision | courageous person it takes a courageous person to stand up for what they believe in, even when facing conflict | she made a courageous decision to follow her dreams despite the challenges

Noun: courage | Adverb: courageously

Collocation(s): show courage

she showed great courage in standing up for what she believed in | the firefighters worked courageously to rescue everyone from the burning building distribute /dɪ'strɪbjuːt/ Verb something that is distributed is spread out over an area or among a group of people

Collocation(s): evenly distributed | distributed evenly the charity distributed food and supplies to families affected by the disaster | the company's products are distributed to stores across the country infographic /ˌɪnfəʊ'græfɪk/ Noun an infographic is a visual representation of information or data, often used to communicate complex ideas quickly and clearly

Collocation(s): create an infographic | design an infographic

she created an infographic to illustrate the steps of the recipe | the infographic helped students visualize the key ideas of the lesson microadventure /ˌmaɪkroʊəd'ventʃər/ Noun a microadventure is a short, low-cost outdoor adventure or trip that is achievable without lots of planning or specialized equipment

Collocation(s): plan a microadventure | enjoy a microadventure | a microadventure idea we went on a microadventure to explore a nearby forest and camp under the stars | his microadventure included hiking to a hidden waterfall and having a picnic by the stream | microadventures are a great way to experience the outdoors tunnel /'tʌnl/ Noun

a tunnel is a long passage under the ground that carries trains, cars, etc. underneath hills, rivers, etc.

the tunnel is 20 meters long | the train broke down (stopped working) halfway through the tunnel | the tunnel was dark and wet | the tunnel under the English Channel yawn /jɔːn/ Verb

if you yawn, you open your mouth wide and take a long, deep breath, often as a result of being tired or bored

Collocation(s): yawned loudly after staying up late studying for her exams, she yawned during class the next day | the child yawned and rubbed her eyes, showing signs of being sleepy | as the meeting dragged on, several people yawned, struggling to stay focused

UNIT 11: HISTORY

Page 129

coin /kɔɪn/ Noun

a coin is a round, flat piece of metal money a shiny one-dollar coin | several coins fell out of his pocket | some of these old coins are worth a lot of money | I collect old French coins connection /kə'nekʃn/ Noun a connection is a relationship between people or things Collocation(s): a connection to/with/between someone or something the hut in Antarctica has an important connection to Scott | I had no connection with him at all | is there any connection between the two crimes? | I'd never met him before, but we discovered we had a family connection copy /'kɒpi/ Noun

a copy of a book, magazine, newspaper, etc. is one of many that were printed at the same time and that are all the same

Collocation(s): a copy of something do you have a copy of today's paper? | I've lost my copy of Jane Eyre | the bookstore had several copies of his books in the window | he was reading a week-old copy of the newspaper diary /'daɪəri/ Noun a diary is a book which has a space for every day of the year. You use it to write down the interesting things that happen to you every day

Collocation(s): keep a diary | write a diary during her year in France, she kept a diary (wrote down what happened every day) | I don't want you to read my diary – it's personal expedition /'ɛkspə'dɪʃn/ Noun an expedition is a journey that a group of people make, especially because they want to go somewhere where no one has gone before or do something that has not been done before this hut was the starting point for Scott's expedition | the expedition will start in June and will take seven weeks | on December 14th, Amundsen's expedition reached the South Pole | Sir John Hunt led an expedition on Mount Everest in 1953 | two expedition members left the ship in Buenos Aires historian /hɪ'stɔːriən/ Noun a historian is a person who specializes in the study of history, and who writes books and articles about it

Collocation(s): famous historian | historian of the historian specializes in ancient Egypt | she's writing a biography of a famous historian

Noun: history | Adjective: historical

she studied history at school | Luciana took an interest in European history | stories based on historical fact | they read about historical events

Pages 132–133

fridge /frɪdʒ/ Noun

a fridge, or refrigerator, is a large piece of kitchen equipment that keeps food at a low temperature so that it will stay fresh for longer put the butter back in the fridge | I never keep eggs in the fridge | there's a full bottle of milk in the fridge | we have a fridge in the kitchen and another in the garage

Instagram™ post /'ɪnstəgræm poʊst/ Noun phrase an Instagram post is a photo or video posted on the social media platform Instagram

Collocation(s): write an Instagram post he struggled to come up with the perfect Instagram post | the Instagram post should be funny and engaging | she received many likes on her photo thanks to the clever Instagram post phone conversation /fəʊn kən'veɪʃn/ Noun a phone conversation is a period of time during which you talk to someone on the phone we had a long phone conversation yesterday evening | we don't need to meet, a phone conversation will be OK | the president had a one-hour phone conversation with the prime minister sticky note /'stɪki noʊt/ Noun a sticky note is a small piece of paper that you use to write something on. It has glue along one edge so you can stick it somewhere, and the glue is specially made so that you can easily remove the note later the fridge was covered in sticky notes | I left a sticky note on her desk to say that Laura had called | a pad of sticky notes text message /tɛkst 'mɛsɪdʒ/ Noun a text message is a written message that you can send from your cell phone to someone else's cell phone

I'll send you a text message when we get to the airport | how much does it cost to send a text message? | I never got your text message because there was no signal on the beach | we've been exchanging text messages all week virtual message /'vɜːtʃuəl 'mɛsɪdʒ/ Noun phrase a virtual message is a message or communication sent electronically, often through email, text messaging, or social media, rather than through physical means

Collocation(s): send a virtual message | receive a virtual message

he sent a virtual message to his friend through the messaging app | virtual messages make it easy to stay connected with friends and family | she received a virtual message from her favorite celebrity

WhatsApp™ message /'wʌtsæp 'mɛsɪdʒ/ Noun a WhatsApp message is a written message, which might include pictures, video, or sound, that you send from your cell phone using the messaging service WhatsApp

I got a really funny WhatsApp message from Min | I don't think she's read my WhatsApp message

Pages 134–135

archeologist /ˈɑrkiˈælədʒɪst/ Noun an archeologist is someone who studies very old objects in order to learn about how people lived hundreds or thousands of years ago archeologists found pots and cooking tools that were 1,500 years old | the village was discovered by archeologists several years ago | according to archeologists, the wagon had three wheels

Noun: archeology | Adjective: archeological

she's studying archeology in college | a famous archeological site (place where things are being dug up) collector /kəˈlektər/ Noun a collector is someone who buys and collects lots of a certain type of object, such as stamps, paintings, coins, etc.

the stamp was sold to a collector for over $500 | these old bottles are very popular with collectors | she's a well-known art collector | several book collectors offered to buy it from me

Noun: collection | Verb: collect a large collection of nineteenth-century glasses | I collect stamps and coins desperately /ˈdesprətli/ Adverb if you are desperately trying to do something, you want to succeed in what you are doing very much, although you might not, and you think that if you do not succeed, the result will be very bad for you

she was desperately trying not to laugh | the team is desperately trying to save the ancient objects | he was fighting desperately to get out of the water

Adjective: desperate

we were getting desperate | he's desperate to get a job | a desperate attempt to reach an agreement painting /ˈpeɪntɪŋ/ Noun if you paint something, you use paint and a brush to make a picture of it. The activity is painting, and the picture that you make is also called a painting

Collocation(s): a painting of someone or something

it's a lovely painting, but it isn't worth much | an exhibition of paintings by Picasso | she did a lot of paintings of the river | I'm going to hang this painting in the bedroom | his works include a number of oil paintings (using paint that is made from oil) | a fine collection of watercolor paintings (using paint that is mixed with water)

Noun: paint, painter | Verb: paint her uncle was a well-known painter | he spilled some paint on the floor | I'm trying to paint a picture of my house | Picasso painted this in 1927 | I enjoy painting when I have the time | she wants to learn how to paint pot /pat/ Noun

a pot is a container that is used for cooking, storing food, or growing plants in people there often cook in clay pots | a large cooking pot with two handles | a red plant pot | a flower pot robber /ˈrəbər/ Noun

a robber is someone who steals things from other people the robbers escaped in a van | robbers often go there to steal things | robbers took the most valuable painting | the bank robbers were caught the next day

Noun: robbery | Verb: rob the robbery was well-organized and very quick | they were planning a bank robbery | he was in prison for trying to rob a bank sand /sænd/ Noun uncountable sand is the fine powder, which is made up of very tiny pieces of white or yellow rock, that covers most beaches and deserts extreme heat can turn sand into glass | we came back from the beach with sand in our hair | he shook the wet sand from his clothes

Adjective: sandy

a lovely, sandy beach soldier /ˈsouldʒər/ Noun a soldier is a member of an army, who has to fight when there is a war six soldiers were killed in the attack | German soldiers entered Poland in 1939 | a soldier in uniform statue /ˈstætʃu/ Noun a statue is a large copy of a person or animal made of wood, metal, or stone there are statues of lions in Trafalgar Square | an equestrian statue (a statue of someone on a horse) | the Statue of Liberty is 46 meters high steal /stil/ Verb to steal something that does not belong to you means to take it without permission and not give it back Collocation(s): steal something from somewhere or someone he stole some jeans from the store | someone tried to steal my bike | thieves stole hundreds of dollars | my car was stolen last night

Adjective: stolen

he was driving a stolen car | the house was full of stolen goods (things that had been stolen from somewhere) stone /stoʊn/ Noun uncountable stone is the very hard substance that makes up a large part of the surface of the earth and that is used as a building material the stone tunnel was very narrow | bricks are cheaper than using natural stone | the garden had a stone wall around three sides of it tomb /tʊm/ Noun

a tomb is a place where a dead person is buried the church contains the tomb of the last emperor | the queen's tomb | there are five people buried in the tomb | six pots were found inside the tomb

Pages 136–137

nevertheless /ˌnevərðə'les/ Adverb you use nevertheless when saying something that contrasts with what has just been said. It is similar in meaning to however, despite that, even so, and in spite of that it was raining; nevertheless, we decided to go for a walk | I didn't win the race, but I finished nevertheless | she was tired; nevertheless, she continued working oxygen /'aksɪdʒən/ Noun uncountable oxygen is one of the main gases in the air that we breathe there's not much oxygen in the air at the top of a mountain | all living things need oxygen to survive pause /pɔːz/ Noun

a pause is a temporary stop or rest, especially in speech there was a long pause before she answered

Verb: pause

he paused for a moment and then said "I must go" quotation mark /kwəʊ'teɪʃn mark/ Noun phrase quotation marks are punctuation marks that are used in writing to show where speech or a quotation begins and ends. They are usually written or printed as '...' or "..."

Collocation(s): use quotation marks use quotation marks to show direct speech or a quotation from a text | she put the word in quotation marks to show its meaning | the author used quotation marks to give sources in the bibliography technique /tek'nik/ Noun a technique is a particular method of doing an activity, usually a method that involves practical skills

Collocation(s): effective techniques | learn techniques the chef showed different cooking techniques during the class | mastering painting techniques takes time and practice | she's learning new techniques to improve her photography skills

Adjective: technical village /'vɪlɪdʒ/ Noun

a village is a place with buildings where people live. A village is smaller than a town and much smaller than a city they live in a village near Bristol | a pretty village in the country | the village was very quiet | please drive slowly through the village | it was difficult moving from a village to a city

Pages 138–139

cave art /keɪv art/ Noun phrase cave art are paintings, drawings, or other artworks created on cave walls or ceilings, typically by prehistoric humans

Collocation(s): prehistoric cave art | ancient cave art ancient cave art provides insights into prehistoric cultures | cave art often shows animals and hunting scenes | she studied cave art during her course function /'fʌŋkʃn/ Noun the function of something is its main purpose or the job that it is meant to do the main function of the department is to find new employees | his function as mayor ended after he became a senator interstellar space /ˌɪntər'stelər speɪs/ Noun uncount interstellar space is the area of space between our solar system and other stars interstellar space is not completely empty | Voyager 1 is the first man-made object to go into interstellar space | there are small amounts of hydrogen in interstellar space jazz /dʒæz/ Noun uncountable jazz is a kind of music with a strong beat and rhythm, which is often composed during a performance instead of being written in advance

Collocation(s): a jazz band

she plays the trumpet in a jazz band | do you like jazz? | we met at a jazz festival launch /lɒntʃ/ Verb

if someone launches a rocket or spacecraft, they send it up into the air or into space

Voyager 1 was launched in 1977 | Brazil successfully launched a rocket into space | the two-man Gemini spacecraft was launched from Cape Canaveral

Noun: launch

the launch of Apollo 11 was a huge success life form /laɪf fɔrm/ Noun a life form is any kind of living thing

Voyager 1 is carrying a message for other life forms in the universe | no life forms have been found on the Moon | early life forms on Earth lived in water mission /'mɪʃn/ Noun

a mission is a special journey made in order to carry out important research or exploration

Voyager 1 has completed its first mission successfully | six Apollo missions successfully landed men on the Moon | the mission was controlled from Houston moon /mun/ Noun

a moon is an object that goes around a planet. Earth has one moon, that we call the Moon, but some planets have several moons

Jupiter has at least sixteen moons | Mercury and Venus have no moons | the two moons of Mars are called Deimos and Phobos planet /'plænət/ Noun

a planet is an object in space, like the Earth, that goes around the sun or another star

Venus is the closest planet to Earth | do you think there is life on other planets? | scientists say they have discovered a new planet | how many planets can you name?

solar system /'səʊləɹ 'sɪstəm/ Noun the solar system is the area of space that contains the sun and the planets, including Earth what is the largest planet in the solar system? | Voyager 1 is the first spacecraft to leave the solar system | is there life outside our solar system? | there are eight planets in the solar system spacecraft /'speɪskræft/ Noun a spacecraft is a vehicle that travels into space the spacecraft spent three weeks in space | we lost contact with the spacecraft when it went behind the Moon | I was surprised at how small the spacecraft was symbol /'sɪmbəl/ Noun

a symbol is an object, picture, or sign that means something else. For example, a heart as a symbol for love, or a plus sign as a symbol for positive

Collocation(s): a symbol of something the rickshaw is a famous symbol of Kolkata | the heart is often used as a symbol of love and affection | a uniform with the national symbol on the sleeve | the dove (a kind of bird) is a symbol of peace

Verb: symbolize | Adjective: symbolic

a dove is often used to symbolize peace | the flowers are symbolic of life (they represent it) | the symbolic meaning of the tree was obvious universe /'juːnəvɜːs/ Noun the universe is absolutely everything that exists, on Earth, in the solar system, and beyond there must be other life forms somewhere in the universe | the universe is about fourteen billion years old | we can only see a tiny part of the universe | the universe is still expanding (growing bigger) volcano /vəl'keɪnoʊ/ Noun a volcano is a mountain with a large opening at the top from which hot melted rock, gas, steam, and ash from inside the Earth come out with a lot of force

Collocation(s): active volcano | dormant volcano the volcano exploded, sending large clouds of ash into the sky | scientists monitor the volcano for signs of activity | the island was formed by an ancient volcano

Adjective: volcanic

a volcanic explosion | it was a volcanic island with black sand

UNIT 12: NATURE

Page 141

bright /braɪt/ Adjective bright colors are light and strong, not dark. If it is bright outside, or if the weather is bright, the sun is shining and there are no clouds tomorrow will start bright and dry, but rain will arrive by lunchtime | it was a lovely bright morning | I hope the weather stays bright for the picnic this afternoon

Adverb: brightly

the sun shone brightly all day | the room was brightly lit | she had brightly-colored hair cloud /klaʊd/ Noun clouds are the white or gray things up in the sky that can drop rain onto the ground there wasn't a cloud in the sky | we could just see the moon through the clouds | there were thick clouds in the distance | black clouds | rain clouds | pretty white clouds floated across the sky

Adjective: cloudy

a cloudy fall afternoon | it's going to be cold and cloudy tomorrow dark /dɑːk/ Adjective if somewhere is dark, there is no light there or only very little light we have long, dark winters in Norway | it's really dark in the garden now | you won't be able to see the stars until it gets dark outside | the inside of the movie theater was dark

Noun: dark, darkness

Collocation(s): be in darkness

I'm afraid of the dark | she couldn't see anything in the dark | the room was in total darkness | darkness fell (it became dark)

fall /fɔːl/ Verb

if something falls, it drops down through the air from somewhere high up we watched the rain falling on the soccer field | a lot of snow fell last night | five centimeters of rain fell in just three hours shine /ʃaɪn/ Verb

if something is shining, there is a lot of light coming off it the sun was shining brightly when I woke up | we could see a light shining in an upstairs window | he cleaned his shoes until they shone storm /stɔːrm/ Noun

a storm is very bad weather with very strong winds and heavy rain or snow

Collocation(s): a heavy storm heavy storms hit the south of England | the school was damaged by a storm | we're in for a storm (a storm will arrive soon) | the storm started an hour before we got home

Adjective: stormy

Collocation(s): stormy weather

a stormy night | the weather was stormy so we stayed indoors storm chaser /stɔːrm 'tʃeɪsər/ Noun a storm chaser is someone who goes to places where there are heavy storms and follows the path of the storms as they are happening in order to take photographs

Jim's been a storm chaser for twenty years | a website aimed at storm chasers | Elijah has a website where he shares photos with other storm chasers

Noun: storm chasing

I watched a TV program about storm chasing | a website about storm chasing tornado /tɔːr'neɪdɔː/ Noun a tornado is a very powerful storm that moves along with strong winds that spin around and around very fast and that can damage buildings, trees, cars, etc.

this is the time of year for tornadoes | the last tornado caused about $7 million of damage | the tornado came very close to the town | the house was lucky to survive the tornado without being damaged unpredictable /ʌnpɪrɪ'dɪktəbl/ Adjective something that is unpredictable cannot be predicted

Collocation(s): highly unpredictable | unpredictable behavior | the weather can be unpredictable at this time of year | her moods are unpredictable | life is unpredictable; you never know what might happen next

Noun: unpredictability | Adverb: unpredictably ||

Opposite – Adjective: predictable the unpredictability of the British weather

Pages 142–143

drought /draʊt/ Noun

a drought is a long time without any rain, which results in low levels of water

Collocation(s): severe drought | ongoing drought | drought conditions the country experienced a severe (very bad) drought, leading to water shortages | farmers struggled to grow crops during the drought electrical energy /ɪ'lektrɪkl 'enədʒi/ Noun uncountable electrical energy is another way of referring to electricity, a kind of energy that can travel down wires, and that is used to heat houses, give light, etc.

a battery stores electrical energy | a generator turns mechanical energy into electrical energy flooding /flʌd/ Noun

a flooding is a large amount of water that comes into an area or building where it is not meant to be the church was damaged by flooding in 1873 | flooding destroyed the bridge | there have been a lot of flooding as a result of all this rain

Verb: flood

our house was flooded and our furniture was damaged | the river often floods in the winter | the river flooded the town twice last year glacier /'gleɪʃər/ Noun a glacier is a large amount of ice that moves slowly over land, formed from snow over many years

Collocation(s): melting glacier | vast glacier glaciers are melting at a terrible rate due to climate change | we hiked to the base of the glacier to take photos hail /heɪl/ Noun uncountable hail is rain that falls as drops of ice is that hail outside? | hail lay on the ground for a few minutes before it turned to water | I could hear the hail as it landed on the ground

Verb: hail

I think it's starting to hail outward /'aʊtwərd/ Adverb if something moves outward, it goes in the direction away from the center of somewhere the door opens outward into the hallway | she was facing outward from the window

Adjective: outward

the outward journey took twelve hours snowstorm /'snəʊstɔːrm/ Noun a snowstorm is an occasion when a lot of snow falls very quickly, often with a lot of wind we had to stay at home because of the snowstorm | we're expecting a snowstorm in the next two or three hours | heavy snowstorms continued through the night spread /sprɛd/ Verb

if something spreads, it slowly begins to cover a larger and larger area the smell can spread all across the hotel | unfortunately, the cancer continued to spread | the fire spread quickly through the farm buildings

Noun: spread

closing the hospital won't stop the spread of the disease | shut the doors to delay the spread of the fire submarine /'sʌbmərɪn/ Noun a submarine is a kind of ship that can travel underneath the surface of the ocean what would happen if lightning struck you in a submarine? | he served on submarines during the war | a submarine can stay underwater for weeks at a time surface /'sɜːfəs/ Noun a surface is the top of something. A flat surface is level, with no bumps or dips in it

Collocation(s): a flat surface put the paper down on a flat surface | make sure there is a flat surface before you put the carpet down | the earth's surface temperature is rising | the washing machine needs to be on a flat surface thunder and lightning /'θʌndər ən 'laɪtnɪŋ/ Phrase thunder and lightning is a weather event that happens during a storm. Thunder is the loud noise you hear in the sky and lightning is a very bright line of light that appears and disappears suddenly in the sky during a storm

Collocation(s): a clap of thunder

the thunder and lightning woke me up | there was loud thunder and lots of lightning | there's thunder and lightning - a storm's coming!

thunderstorm /'θʌndərstɔːrm/ Noun a thunderstorm is a heavy storm with lots of rain and with the noise of thunder we were in a boat on the lake when the thunderstorm started | did you hear the thunderstorm last night? | you should stay indoors during a thunderstorm | our dog barks the whole time when there's a thunderstorm unlikely /ʌn'laɪkli/ Adjective if something is unlikely, it probably won't happen or didn't happen

Collocation(s): highly unlikely

it's highly unlikely that he will win the election | he formed an unlikely friendship with his 80-year old neighbor | it's unlikely that she'll call now - it's after eleven o'clock | he made an unlikely recovery from a serious illness

Opposite - Adjective: likely

Collocation(s): be likely to do something

it's likely to be a week before we get an answer | it's likely that she will go to college next year wildfire /'waɪldfaɪər/ Noun a wildfire is a large, uncontrolled fire that spreads quickly across land or forests, often because of dry conditions, wind, and flammable materials

Collocation(s): forest wildfire

a wildfire spread rapidly through the forest, fueled by strong winds | firefighters worked tirelessly to contain the wildfire | climate change increases the risk of wildfires in dry areas windshield /'wɪndʃɪld/ Noun a windshield is a sheet of glass at the front or back of a car that the driver can see through

Collocation(s): a front/rear windshield the hail was so hard it nearly broke the windshield | the windshield is cracked | wash the windshield | the front windshield | a heated rear windshield | you'll have to replace the windshield

Pages 144–145

coral /'kɔːrəl/ Noun uncountable coral is a mass of hard, usually pink, substance in the ocean that is made up of the bones of tiny sea creatures

Collocation(s): coral reef

a coral reef (a long line of coral in the ocean) | warmer sea temperatures will kill the coral | we found pieces of dead coral on the beach cubic foot /'kyubɪk fʊt/ Noun a cubic foot is a measurement of how much space there is inside an object that measures one foot high, one foot wide, and one foot deep

David's metal frame measures one cubic foot | a good size for your bin is three cubic feet desert /'dɛzərt/ Noun a desert is a large area of land where there is not much rain and not many plants can grow. Many deserts are covered by sand he's on an army base out in the middle of the desert | the Sahara Desert | we didn't have enough gas to get across the desert | the desert sand felt hot on my feet

field /fild/ Noun

a field is an open area of land

I enjoy walking in the fields near my house | from the train window, we saw fields with cows on them | a field of potatoes forest /'fɒrɛst/ Noun

a forest is a large area of land that is covered with trees we went for a walk in the forest | they are clearing some of the forest in order to build a road | a forest fire (when the trees catch fire in very hot weather) | a dense forest (where the trees are all very close together) | our journey went through forests and over mountains frame /'meɪl freɪm/ Noun a frame is a structure that surrounds or supports something David's metal frame measures one cubic foot (the area of a shape that is one foot wide, one foot high, and one foot deep) mountain /'maʊntn/ Noun a mountain is a very high hill the hotel had a great view of the mountains | he liked climbing mountains | we have a vacation house in the mountains | the top of the mountain | we got a long way up the mountain multi-colored /'mʌltɪ kɒlərd/ Adjective something that is multi-colored has several different colors a multi-colored dress | we bought multi-colored balloons for the party | the walls were multi-colored, but the ceiling was plain white ocean /'oʊʃn/ Noun

an ocean is a large area of water the Atlantic Ocean | who was the first person to cross the ocean between Europe and America? | we sailed out into the open ocean species /'spɪʃɪz/ Noun a species is a type of animal or plant. The plural is also species they identified the species of spider | a rare species of butterfly | nobody knows how many species of insects there are on the earth | tigers are now an endangered species (in danger of dying until none are left)

Pages 146–147

blurred /'bləri/ Adjective something that is blurred is not clear

Collocation(s): slightly blurred | blurred image | blurred vision | blurred background the photo came out blurred because the camera was shaking

Noun: blur | Verb: blur

everything is a blur when I take my glasses off | if your vision blurs, you can't see things clearly conservation /kənsə'veɪʃn/ Noun uncountable conservation is the activity involved in protecting plants, animals, rivers, etc. from the negative effects of human activity and climate change an expert in animal conservation | they do a lot of conservation work at the zoo | our efforts at conservation seem to be succeeding at the moment millisecond /'mɪləsekənd/ Noun a millisecond is a unit of time equal to one thousandth of a second, often used in scientific measurements or computing the camera captured the moment in a fraction of a millisecond | she finished the race just a few milliseconds ahead of her competitors | the computer processed the data in milliseconds realistic /rɪə'lɪstɪk/ Adjective something that is realistic represents people or things as they are in real life

Collocation(s): highly realistic the movie special effects made the dinosaurs look incredibly realistic | she painted a realistic portrait of her dog too perfect /tu 'pɜːfɪkt/ Adjective phrase something that is too perfect doesn't have anything wrong to the point of being unrealistic

Collocation(s): almost too perfect | seems too perfect the painting looked too perfect, lacking the artist's personal touch | his smile seemed too perfect to be real

Pages 148–149

biome /'baɪoʊm/ Noun

biomes are large ecological areas characterized by specific climate, plants, and animal life, such as forests, grasslands, deserts, or tundras rainforests and deserts are examples of different biomes | each biome has its own unique ecosystem | protecting biomes is essential for preserving biodiversity climate /'klaɪmət/ Noun the climate of an area is the type of weather it typically has over a year

Collocation(s): a hot/warm/cold/cool climate | a wet/dry climate | climate change what's the climate like in Peru? | the climate in this part of Italy is lovely | a place on the coast with a warm climate | a climate of very cold winters and warm summers | the island has a mild climate (fairly warm) | climate change will have an effect on everyone in the next 50 years

Mediterranean /ˌmedə'teɪniən/ Adjective something that is Mediterranean is characteristic of, or belongs to, the people or region around the Mediterranean Sea

Collocation(s): Mediterranean Sea | Mediterranean climate | Mediterranean cuisine | Mediterranean lifestyle

the Mediterranean Sea is bordered by Europe, Africa, and Asia | Mediterranean cuisine is known for its fresh and healthy ingredients | many people dream of taking a vacation on a Mediterranean island

Noun: the Mediterranean

we had amazing views over the Mediterranean overtourism /ˌoʊvər'tʊrɪzəm/ Noun overtourism is the situation of too many tourists visiting a particular destination

Collocation(s): effects of overtourism overtourism can have negative impacts on local communities and the environment | popular tourist destinations often have trouble with issues of overtourism protect /prə'tekt/ Verb

if you protect someone or something, you keep them safe and prevent them from being hurt or damaged

Collocation(s): protect someone or something from/against something parents need to protect their children more because there are more risks | we should do more to protect animals like whales | this should protect you from catching the disease | how can we help protect the environment?

Noun: protection

Collocation(s): protection against/from something a healthy diet could offer protection against cancer | you need to wear a seat belt for your own protection tourist attraction /'tʊrɪst ə'trækʃn/ Noun a tourist attraction is a famous place that many tourists visit the Eden Project is not just a tourist attraction | the Eiffel Tower is the biggest tourist attraction in Paris | a two-hour coach tour around the tourist attractions of Vienna

Pages 150–151

agriculture /'ægrəkʌltʃər/ Noun agriculture is farming and the methods that are used to grow crops and raise animals. Crops are plants that farmers grow for food or to make things, e.g. cotton for clothes agriculture has changed over time with new technology | some schools offer courses in agriculture where you can learn how to farm | many people work in agriculture, growing food and raising animals

Verb: practice agriculture | Adjective: agricultural canal /kə'næl/ Noun

a canal is a long, narrow stretch of water that has been made for boats to travel along or to bring water to a particular area

Collocation(s): man-made canal | narrow canal the Panama Canal connects the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans | cities with canal systems often use them for events | we took a boat tour of the historic canal coastal development /'kəʊstl dɪ'veləpmənt/ Noun phrase coastal development is when people build things like houses, hotels, and stores near the beach or ocean. It is about making areas by the water nice places to live, work, or visit

Collocation(s): coastal development project the new coastal development near the beach includes new apartments and a shopping mall | the government is planning coastal development to improve the area | our geography project is about the effects of coastal development on sea life conservation biologist /ˌkɒnsər'veɪʃn baɪ'ɒlədʒɪst/

Noun phrase

a conservation biologist is a scientist who studies how to protect animals, plants, and natural places. They work on protecting the environment and making sure we don't lose important living things the conservation biologist gave a talk about how animals are losing their homes | I would like to study to become a conservation biologist | the conservation biologist gave an interview about how we can help protect the environment

Noun: biologist, biologists | Adjective: biological fisherman /'fɪʃərmən/ Noun a fisherman is a person who catches fish as a job or for sport

Collocation(s): experienced fisherman | local fisherman the fisherman put his line into the water, hoping to catch a big fish | sustainable fishing is important for the jobs of fishermen and the health of marine ecosystems | he comes from a long line of fishermen lungs /lʌŋz/ Noun your lungs are the two organs inside your chest that fill with air when you breathe in

Collocation(s): healthy lungs | human lungs the lungs are important organs responsible for breathing | healthy lungs helped her sing | she took deep breaths to fill her lungs with fresh air overfishing /ˌoʊvərˈfɪʃɪŋ/ Noun overfishing is the act of fishing excessively, thus reducing fish species, etc

Collocation(s): effects of overfishing | overfishing problem overfishing has lowered fish populations in many parts of the world | sustainable fishing practices aim to prevent overfishing and preserve marine biodiversity

Adjective: overfished reservoir /ˈrezərˌvɔɪr/ Noun a reservoir is a lake that is used for storing water before it is supplied to people

Collocation(s): water reservoir | natural reservoir | man-made reservoir the reservoir provides drinking water for the surrounding communities | the dam created a large reservoir behind it shipping /ˈʃɪpɪŋ ˌtrænsˈpɔːtɪŋ/ Noun shipping is the movement of goods or passengers by ships or vessels across bodies of water, such as oceans, seas, rivers, or canals

Collocation(s): global shipping | shipping industry shipping is essential for global trade