

UNIT 1: RELATIONSHIPS

Page 9

brother-in-law /'brʌðərɪnlɔː/ Noun your brother-in-law is the brother of your husband or wife.

All the relatives of your husband or wife are your in-laws my brother-in-law lives in California | I have three sisters and one brother-in-law fiancée /fi'ɒnsei/ Noun someone's fiancée is a woman who they are going to marry.

Someone's fiancé is a man they are going to marry he met his fiancée when they were at college | let me introduce you to my fiancée, Jennifer | we're looking forward to meeting your fiancé landlord /'lændlɔːd/ Noun a landlord is a person who owns and rents out a property to others the landlord raised the rent for the apartment building | our landlord fixed the tap quickly | the landlord requires a deposit before people move in mountaineer /ˌmaʊntiːniə(r)/ Noun a mountaineer is a person who climbs mountains as a hobby or a job the mountaineer reached the summit just before sunset | experienced mountaineers always carry essential safety gear | many mountaineers train for years before attempting to climb Mount Everest odd /ɒd/ Adjective something that is odd is strange or unusual it seemed odd that nobody had noticed anything was wrong | they might look like an odd couple, but they've been together for over thirty years occasionally /ə'keɪzənəli/ Adverb something that happens occasionally, happens from time to time, not regularly she only visits occasionally, usually during holidays | occasionally, I enjoy taking long walks in the park | we meet up for dinner occasionally, but not often Adjective: occasional Joanne used to visit him for the occasional weekends

Pages 10–11

aggressive /ə'ɡresɪv/ Adjective an aggressive person or animal has a quality of anger and determination that makes them ready to attack other people Collocate: aggressive behavior the aggressive dog barked loudly at strangers | his aggressive driving scared the other drivers on the road | the team's aggressive behavior led to them being banned from the game Noun: aggression | Adverb: aggressively research suggests that some computer games may cause aggression | the two groups acted aggressively to each other clique /kli:k/ Noun

a clique is a small exclusive group of people she felt left out because she wasn't part of their clique | the clique of students always sat together in the café | in school, cliques often form based on shared interests or backgrounds cooperate /kəʊ'ɒpəreɪt/ Verb if you cooperate, you work together toward a common goal Collocate: cooperate with the two schools decided to cooperate on the new project | it's important for team members to cooperate and communicate effectively | despite their differences, they managed to cooperate on the charity event Noun: cooperation

we need cooperation from both teams to complete this project considerate /kən'sɪdərət/ Adjective someone who is considerate thinks carefully about how they behave toward other people and always strives to make sure their actions do not have a bad effect on other people's feelings or needs they're great fun, and what's striking is how considerate they are | Louis was a kind and considerate young man | Anthea is polite, considerate, and well-mannered | please be considerate of our neighbors and leave the restaurant quietly Adverb: considerately || Opposite – Adjective: inconsiderate cyclists are asked to use the path carefully and considerately | it was very inconsiderate of him to play his music so loudly | inconsiderate motorists | a problem with inconsiderate neighbors definite /'defɪnɪt/ Adjective something that is definite is certain or sure to be true can you give me a definite answer to this question? | I don't have any definite plans for tonight | there's no definite right or wrong here—you have to use your judgment Adverb: definitely

it's definitely going to rain | I'm definitely coming to the party | War and Peace is definitely my favorite book | that's definitely not a movie I want to see dependable /dɪˈpendəbəl/ Adjective if someone is dependable, you can trust them and know that they will do the right thing every time

Kate is a really dependable friend | George is entirely trustworthy and dependable | I need an assistant who will be completely reliable and dependable

Verb: depend

Collocate: depend on someone or something

I have twenty employees who depend on me to keep the business going energetic /ˌɛnəˈdʒetɪk/ Adjective something or someone that is energetic does things in a very lively and enthusiastic way the band was loud and energetic on stage | the dogs were very active and energetic | he had been much more energetic when he was younger

Adverb: energetically the children were playing energetically in the garden get along with /ɡet ɒn wɛl wɪð/ Phrasal verb if you get along with someone, you like them and have a friendly relationship with them do you get along with the people you work with? | I never got along with my boss | we don't get along with our neighbors | I get along well with the people in the office | I had a feeling they wouldn't get along | they get along together very well go over to /ɡəʊ raʊnd tuː/ Phrasal verb if you go over to someone's house or apartment, you visit them there socially

I've been over to his house several times | she asked us to go over to her place after work | four of us are going over to Terry's on Saturday | are you going over to your sister's later?

hang out with /hæŋ aʊt wɪð/ Phrasal verb if you hang out with someone, you spend a lot of your free time with them

Collocates: hang out with someone | hang out together she's started hanging out with her friends more | we used to hang out together all the time intrigue /ɪnˈtriːɡ/ Verb

if something, especially something strange, intrigues you, it interests you and you want to know more about it

Collocates: intrigued with | air of intrigue

the mystery novel's plot intrigued readers from the beginning | she was intrigued by the idea of traveling to different places

Noun: intrigue | Adjective: intrigued/intriguing

the letter held an air of intrigue | we were intrigued by her story | it all sounds very intriguing keep up with /kiːp ʌp wɪð/ Phrasal verb if you keep up with someone, you are in contact with them regularly and share information about your lives with each other we keep up with each other on social media | I kept up with her for years after we left college | it's a shame you didn't keep up with Geoff laid-back /leɪd-bæk/ Adjective if someone is laid-back, they are always very calm and relaxed and never seem to worry about anything he's very laid-back and nothing seems to trouble him | they have a rather laid-back approach to parenting | she was very laid-back about her exams | I enjoyed the laid-back atmosphere at my last school outgoing /aʊtˈɡəʊɪŋ/ Adjective someone who is outgoing is friendly and lively, and likes meeting new people

Sandra remembers him as a very outgoing person | he's very funny and outgoing | we're both quite enthusiastic and outgoing | she has a very outgoing personality personality /ˌpɜːsənæləti/ Noun your personality is your whole character and nature his outgoing personality made him popular at parties | she has a strong personality | the job requires someone with a friendly personality who can work well with others profile /ˈprəʊfaɪl/ Noun a profile is an account of that person's or that animal's life and character

Collocate: personality profile

he made a personality profile of a flamingo | the local paper printed a short profile of the new mayor unreliable /ˌʌnrɪˈlaɪəbəl/ Adjective if someone is unreliable, they often do not do what they need to do and you can never be sure that they will do what they say they will do. If something is unreliable, it does not always work properly or in the way that it is meant to

Tony's a lovely man but he's so unreliable | the buses here are a bit unreliable | the newspaper report was based on an unreliable source | the ferry was slow and unreliable

Opposite – Adjective: reliable

she's very reliable—if she says she'll do something, then she'll do it | a friendly and reliable taxi driver | a reliable worker | the trains aren't very reliable (they're often late) stand by /stænd baɪ/ Phrasal verb if you stand by someone, you help and support them when they have problems or difficulties

Kate has always stood by me when I've needed help | he was the only one to stand by the president during the trial | don't worry, I'll stand by you survival /səˈvaɪvəl/ Noun if you refer to the survival of something or someone, you mean that they manage to continue or exist in spite of difficult circumstances

Collocates: survival mode | survival skills survival skills are essential for hikers and campers in the wild | the refugee family's story is an amazing story of survival

Verb: survive

they fought to survive in icy seas for over two hours

Pages 12–13

agriculture /'ægrɪkʌltʃə/ Noun agriculture is farming and the methods that are used to raise and look after crops and animals his family has been involved in agriculture for generations ambitious /æm'bɪʃəs/ Adjective someone who is ambitious wants to be very successful and works hard to make sure that they succeed. A project that is ambitious is one that is difficult, but that people work hard to achieve their business plan was very ambitious | the project was too ambitious and eventually they ran out of money | he's very bright, but not very ambitious | I was very ambitious at the start of my career

Noun: ambition | Adverb: ambitiously

he finally realized his ambition when he became CEO of the company | my ambition is to be a designer | he ambitiously attempted to be promoted within three months | the budget set an ambitiously high target for growth aptitude /'æptɪtju:d/ Noun an aptitude is a natural ability to do something

Collocate: aptitude test

she showed an early aptitude for music and started playing the piano at age five | his mathematical aptitude led him to follow a career in engineering | the test is designed to measure students' aptitudes in various subjects attention span /ə'tenʃən spæn/ Noun an attention span is the length of time a person can concentrate on a task without becoming distracted young children often have short attention spans | the lecture was engaging, but some attendees had short attention spans | improving your attention span can increase creativity conservative /kən'sɜ:vətɪv/ Adjective someone who is conservative or has conservative ideas is unwilling to accept changes and new ideas

Collocate: conservative behavior

he has conservative views on social issues such as marriage | the company has a conservative approach to management | they were extremely conservative in their opinions

Adverb: conservatively

he dressed conservatively for the school dance, choosing a modest suit that his parents approved of counseling /'kaʊnsəlɪŋ/ Noun counseling is advice that a therapist or other expert gives to someone about a particular problem she will need medical help and counseling to overcome the tragedy decisive /dɪ'saɪsɪv/ Adjective something that is, or someone who is, decisive can settle an issue to produce a definite result

Collocate: decisive action his decisive leadership led the team to victory | we need to take decisive action before the situation gets worse digital natives /'dɪdʒɪtəl 'neɪtɪvz/ Noun digital natives are people who have grown up using digital technology from a young age digital natives often find it easier to adapt to new technologies | unlike older generations, digital natives are comfortable using smartphones and computers for various tasks diverse /daɪ'vɜ:s/ Adjective something that is diverse shows a great deal of variety; very different Collocates: diverse group of people | diverse backgrounds the city's population is diverse, with people from many different cultures and backgrounds empathy /'empəθi/ Noun empathy is the ability to understand and share the feelings of another Collocate: empathy for showing empathy toward others can improve relationships and help with cooperation | her empathy toward homeless people inspired her to volunteer at a shelter enthusiasm /ɪn'θju:ziæzəm/ Noun enthusiasm is eager enjoyment, interest, or approval

Collocate: enthusiasm for his enthusiasm for the project was contagious, motivating the team to work harder | the students' enthusiasm for learning made teaching a rewarding experience

Adjective: enthusiastic the enthusiastic crowd cheered as their team scored the winning goal in the final seconds of the match equation /ɪ'kweɪʒən/ Noun an equation is a mathematical statement saying that two amounts or values are the same, for example $5 \times 3 = 15$ solving equations is a vital skill in algebra financial insecurity /faɪ'nænʃəl ɪnsɪ'kjʊərəti/ Noun financial insecurity is the state of not having enough financial resources to meet one's needs many families face financial insecurity due to job loss or medical expenses | millennials often experience financial insecurity due to student loan debt and high housing costs instinctive /ɪn'stɪŋktɪv/ Adjective an instinctive feeling, idea or action is one that you have or do without thinking

Collocates: instinctive behavior | instinctive reaction her instinctive reaction was to jump back when she saw the snake | instinctive behaviors are often inherited and help animals survive in the wild

Noun: instinct | Adverb: instinctively his first instinct was to run away | instinctively, she reached out to catch the falling vase before it smashed on the floor thankful /'θæŋkfəl/ Adjective someone who is thankful shows feelings of or expresses gratitude she was thankful for the support of her friends during a difficult time | he felt thankful for the opportunity to travel and experience different cultures

Adverb: thankfully

thankfully, the storm passed without causing any damage to our home upbringing /'ʌpbrɪŋɪŋ/ Noun your upbringing is the way in which you have been raised or brought up, especially in relation to the cultural and social environment

Collocates: good upbringing | bad upbringing her upbringing instilled in her a strong work ethic and sense of responsibility | cultural differences can influence parenting styles and children's upbringing vulnerable /'vʌlnərəbəl/ Adjective someone who is vulnerable is weak and without protection, with the result that they are easily hurt, physically or emotionally

Collocate: vulnerable person children are vulnerable to illness | elderly people are more vulnerable to heat-related illnesses during heatwaves

Noun: vulnerability

sharing your feelings with others requires a certain level of vulnerability, but it can lead to deeper connections and understanding

Pages 14–15

ancestor /'ænsɪstə(r)/ an ancestor is a person, typically one more remote than a grandparent, from whom one is descended

Collocate: ancient ancestors

she researched her family tree and traced her ancestors back to the 17th century | the indigenous people honors their ancestors through traditional ceremonies ancestral roots /æn'sestrəl ru:ts/ Noun plural your ancestral roots are your family and the places they lived a long time ago in the past landing in Jamaica felt like returning to my ancestral roots | his mother had ancestral roots in Massachusetts | the McNeil family had ancestral roots in both Ireland and Scotland approval /ə'pru:vəl/ Noun uncount someone's approval of something is their saying that they think it is good or right and they think it should continue

Collocate: give your approval you need your parents' approval if you want to leave school before you're 17 | he couldn't get the prime minister's approval so the project never got started | will you give your approval to the proposal? | the agreement is awaiting approval from the president

Verb: approve || Opposite – Noun: disapproval |

Verb: disapprove

Collocate: approve of someone or something my dad didn't approve of my career choice | I can't stop you leaving college, but I don't approve | he doesn't approve of my friends | she expressed her disapproval (said that she disapproved) | they both disapproved of his girlfriend characteristic /kærəktə'rɪstɪk/ Noun a characteristic is a particular quality or feature that is typical of someone or of a group of people the men in the village shared a number of physical characteristics | our personality characteristics influence the decisions we make | it's a family characteristic conscious /'kɒnʃəs/ Adjective if you are conscious of something, you are aware of it and know it is happening or present

Collocates: conscious of something | conscious that

I was conscious of what was happening, but I couldn't feel anything | she was very conscious that she hadn't done her best in the interview | he wasn't conscious of being tired even though he'd been up for 20 hours | Tom was suddenly conscious of the fact that he was lost

Adverb: consciously

we might not consciously experience this as fear curious /'kjʊəriəs/ Adjective if you are curious about something, you want to know more about it Collocates: curious about something | very curious | be curious (to know/hear/learn) about something all children are curious about the world around them | the museum has a lot to offer the curious visitor | I'm very curious to know what's inside the suitcase | she wasn't in the least curious about where he had been

Noun: curiosity | Adverb: curiously

Collocates: curiosity about something | satisfy your curiosity | out of curiosity descendant /dɪ'sendənt/ Noun someone's descendants are the people in later generations who are related to them

Collocate: descendants of the historian studied the descendants of the Mayflower passengers | it's important to preserve our natural habitats for future generations of descendants emigrate /'emɪgreɪt/ Verb if you emigrate, you leave your own country to live in another country Collocate: emigrate to many Europeans emigrated to America in the 19th century in search of better opportunities | the political turmoil prompted thousands of people to emigrate from the country | he decided to emigrate to Canada for a fresh start ethnic /'ɛθnɪk/ Adjective ethnic means connected with or relating to different racial or cultural groups of people

Collocates: ethnic background | ethnic minority the city celebrates its ethnic diversity with an annual cultural festival | ethnic tensions have escalated in the region due to political problems | she proudly embraces her ethnic heritage and traditions free spirit /fri: 'spɪrɪt/ Noun a free spirit is someone who does exactly what they want to do in life, and does not care if they do not do what is expected of them we were young, in love, and free spirits | Beverly was a free spirit and always said exactly what she thought | Nick has always been a free spirit by nature immigrant /'ɪmɪgrənt/ Noun an immigrant is a person who has come to live in a country from some other country Collocate: immigrants from many immigrants arrived in the new country seeking better economic opportunities | the city has a diverse population, with immigrants from all over the world inherit /ɪn'hɛrɪt/ Verb

if you inherit characteristics from your parents, you have those characteristics because of the genes you share with them she has dark brown hair, probably inherited from her Mexican grandmother | she suffers from a condition inherited from both her parents | he had inherited his father's sense of humor make sense /meɪk sɛns/ Phrase if something makes sense, it seems sensible and right to you

Collocates: make sense to someone | make sense to do something we all agreed that it made sense to wait till it had stopped raining | it doesn't make any sense to emigrate if you're happy here | her suggestion made perfect sense to me melting pot /'mɛltɪŋ pɒt/ Noun a melting pot is a place where there are lots of different sorts of people or things all existing together

New York has always been a big melting pot | London is a melting pot of different cultures | Boston is just as big a melting pot as New York City sense of belonging /sɛns ɒv bɪ'lɒŋɪŋ/ Phrase if you have a sense of belonging, you feel comfortable somewhere and think that it is the right place for you to live

we all have a strong sense of belonging here | I never had any sense of belonging when I was living in Berlin | children really need a sense of belonging stepmother /'stɛpmʌðə/ Noun someone's stepmother is the woman who has married their father after their biological mother has died or divorced

Tomas gets along well with his new stepmother | her stepmother was very good to her | it's not easy being a stepmother trace /treɪs/ Verb

if you trace the beginning and development of something, you find out how it started and what happened as it developed through time the project aims to trace the route taken by our ancestors from Africa | I've traced my family tree back to the start of the 15th century | the article traces the history of cricket from its origins to the present day turn to /tɜːn tuː/ Phrasal verb if you turn to someone when you have problems, you go to them for help, advice, and support

I had no one else to turn to | you know you can turn to me if you have any problems | she's the first person I would turn to ask about /ɑːsk 'ɑːftə/ Phrasal verb if you ask about someone, you ask someone else about them because the other person has seen them more recently and can tell you if they are well and what they are doing now he was asking after you, actually | she always asks after him when I see her | did he ask after me? | Mr. Barrell asked after my wife faithful /'feɪθfəl/ Adjective someone who is faithful is very loyal to someone else and always supports them her most faithful companion was her dog | a talented and faithful servant to the emperor | he remained faithful to her for the next 44 years

Pages 16–17

Noun: faithfulness | Adverb: faithfully

they had doubts about his faithfulness | he faithfully did everything that was asked of him | her faithfulness was recognized by the king mutual /'mjuːtʃuəl/ Adjective something that is mutual is shared by two or more people. For example, if you do not like someone and they do not like you, you can say that the feeling is mutual

Collocates: mutual feelings | a mutual friend the two shared a mutual respect for following rules | they met through a mutual friend (someone that they both knew) | without mutual understanding, there can be no friendship | the divorce was by mutual agreement

Adverb: mutually

we developed a mutually beneficial friendship rush /rʌʃ/ Verb

if you rush, or rush somewhere, you try to go there as quickly as possible Collocate: rush to do something no need to rush, the train's not due for another ten minutes | he rushed to the hospital as soon as he heard the news | people rushed to lift the car off him | he rushed in ten minutes late for the lesson | we all rushed out when the fire alarm went off

Noun: rush

Collocates: (be) in a rush | a great rush | a sudden rush | a rush to do something we were in a rush to get to the station | a sudden rush for the exit (people suddenly trying to get out of a building quickly) | I can't stop to talk, I'm in an awful rush! | a mad rush to buy the latest iPhone

Pages 18–19awareness /ə'weənəs/ Noun uncount awareness is knowledge of a situation or fact Collocates: awareness of | awareness for raising awareness about climate change is crucial for environmental conservation | the campaign aims to promote awareness of mental health issues collaborate /kə'læbəreɪt/ Verb if you collaborate, you work with others on an activity, especially to produce or create something Collocate: collaborate with scientists from different countries collaborate on research projects to tackle global challenges | the artists collaborated to create a mural in the city centre comprehensive /kəmprɪ'hensɪv/ Adjective something that is comprehensive includes all or nearly all elements or aspects of something

Collocate: comprehensive guide the textbook provides a comprehensive overview of world history

Adverb: comprehensively the textbook covers the topic comprehensively, providing detailed explanations and examples for each concept conceive /kən'si:v/ Verb if you conceive something as a particular thing, you consider it to be that thing

Collocate: conceive a idea the architect conceived a bold design for the new museum | the idea for the novel was conceived during a trip to Italy correspondence /kɒrɪ'spɒndəns/ Noun uncount someone's correspondence is the letters that they receive or send their correspondence spanned several years and provided insight into their relationship | the historian studied the correspondence between political leaders during the war data /'dɜ:tə/ Noun data is facts or information that can be analyzed and used for making calculations or decisions

Collocate: data analysis in infographics, people combine data and images to communicate information | none of the personal data collected is ever shared | the data is then analyzed and recorded | data analysis | the study was based on data from 1,000 adults aged between 20 and 35 definitive /dɪ'fɪnɪtɪv/ Adjective something that is definitive provides a firm conclusion that cannot be questioned

Collocates: definitive answer | definitive test

There was a definitive plan for the research | the expert's opinion on the matter is considered definitive

Adverb: definitively the DNA test results definitively proved the suspect's innocence, clearing his name of any wrongdoing emotionally charged /ɪ'məʃənəli tʃɑ:dʒd/ Adjective emotionally charged is full of strong emotions the debate became emotionally charged as both sides defended their positions passionately external /ɪk'stɜ:nəl/ Adjective something that is external is relating to or located on the outside she wore external leg-support to help her injured knee Adverb: externally

the company faced challenges both internally and externally frustrating /frʌs'treɪtɪŋ/ Adjective something that is frustrating is very annoying because it stops you from doing what you want to do having to wait so long is incredibly frustrating | this has been an extremely frustrating experience | we spent a frustrating three hours at the embassy waiting to see someone | it's incredibly frustrating having to stay indoors and revise when the weather is so good outside

Noun: frustration | Verb: frustrate

I understand your frustration at this situation | his unpleasant remark made her explode with frustration | his constant questions frustrated me hand-drawn /hæn(d)'drɔ:n/ Adjective something that is hand-drawn has been drawn by hand and not computer generated her note had a hand-drawn map showing me how to get to her house impersonal /ɪm'pɜ:sənəl/ Adjective if you describe a place, organization, or activity as impersonal, you mean that it is not very friendly and makes you feel unimportant because it involves or is used by a large number of people the email response was automated and felt impersonal | some people find large, impersonal cities overwhelming indication /ˌɪndɪˈkeɪʃən/ Noun an indication is a sign that suggests, for example, what people are thinking or feeling Collocate: indication of the doctor saw no indication of illness in the test results | she took his silence as an indication of agreement internal /ɪnˈtɜːnəl/ Adjective internal is used to describe things that exist or happen inside a particular person, object, or place she struggled with internal doubts about her ability to succeed

Adverb: internally

she felt conflicted internally about whether to follow her passion for art or to follow a more practical career path labor intensive /ˈleɪbər ɪnˈtensɪv/ Adjective something that is labor intensive requires a large amount of work traditional farming methods can be very labor intensive laborious /ləˈbɔːriəs/ Adjective if you describe a task or job as laborious, you mean that it takes a lot of time and effort the project involved a laborious process of data analysis metrics /ˈmetrɪks/ Noun plural metrics are standards of measurement the company tracks various metrics to assess its performance | the success of the project was measured using specific metrics output /ˈaʊtpʊt/ Noun uncount output is used to refer to the amount of something that a person or thing produces Collocate: output of the artist's creative output varied depending on inspiration and mood process /ˈprəʊses/ Noun when you process something, you take a series of actions or steps to achieve a particular result or goal the process of applying for a visa is long and complex | the hiring process at the company involves multiple interviews and assessments | learning a new language is a gradual process that requires patience and practice

Verb: process

it takes three weeks to process a passport application revelation /ˌrevɪˈleɪʃən/ Noun a revelation is a surprising and previously unknown fact that is passed on to others the investigation led to shocking revelations about dishonesty within the company | her memoirs contained personal revelations about her struggles in life surroundings /səˈraʊndɪŋz/ Noun plural when you are describing the place where you are at the moment, or the place where you live, you can refer to it as your surroundings

Collocate: different surroundings

she enjoyed the peaceful surroundings of the countryside | the urban park provided a welcome escape from the busy surroundings of the city visualization /ˌvɪʒʊəlaɪˈzeɪʃən/ Noun a visualization is the representation of an object or situation in a visual form the architect used 3D visualizations to present the building design to clients support network /səˈpɔːt ˈnetwɜːk/ Noun a support network is a group of people who can provide help, advice, and support to people who have problems or difficulties on their life

Page 20

we've lost a valuable support network now that we're all in nuclear families | having a good support network is essential | an online support network | you should consider joining a support network

UNIT 2: STORYTELLING

Page 21

conflict /'kɒnflikt/ Noun a conflict is serious disagreement or argument about something important. If two people or groups are in conflict, they have had a serious disagreement or argument and have not yet reached agreement

Collocates: in conflict with | conflict between they were in conflict with each other | misunderstanding often leads to conflict between characters in stories

Adjective: conflicted

reports conflicted about how much of the aid was reaching the victims | I honestly don't know what I think about the situation. I'm conflicted element /'ɛlɪmənt/ Noun an element is a necessary part of something; or one of several parts of something Collocates: an autobiographical element | a romantic element setting is a crucial element in establishing the mood of a story | the magical element in the fairytale captured the imagination of the children | the element of surprise in the plot kept readers engaged until the end.

greed /gri:d/ Noun uncount greed is a strong desire of always wanting more of something than you need, especially food or money in an ideal world, there would be no greed or violence | financial crime is motivated by pure greed | there will always be human greed | personal greed is just another aspect of human nature

Adjective: greedy | Adverb: greedily

she's quite greedy when it comes to chocolate | he was in the kitchen, greedily finishing the last of the stew imaginative /ɪ'mædʒɪnətɪv/ Adjective something that is imaginative is characterized by creativity, originality, and the ability to generate clear mental images or ideas.

Collocate: imaginative use of the imaginative use of pictures in the book brought the story to life | children have highly imaginative minds, often inventing elaborate fantasies | the author's imaginative storytelling transported readers to fantastical worlds.

Noun: imagination | Verb: imagine | Adverb: imaginatively the story was written imaginatively mineral /'mɪnərəl/ Noun a mineral is a substance such as tin, salt, or sulphur that is formed naturally in rocks and in the earth. Minerals are also found in small quantities in food and drink

Collocate: a valuable mineral

minerals such as quartz and feldspar are commonly found in rocks | gold and silver are valuable minerals used in jewellery and currency | geologists study the properties of minerals in the Earth's crust.

narrative /'nærətɪv/ Noun a narrative is a spoken or written account of connected events, real or imaginary, forming a storyline

Collocate: the narrative of a story the detective unraveled the mystery through careful analysis of the narrative | personal narratives offer insights into individual experiences and perspectives.

Noun: narrator | Verb: narrate the narrator's voice guided listeners through the audiobook, bringing the story to life stunning /'stʌnɪŋ/ Adjective something that is stunning is extremely impressive and beautiful

Collocates: absolutely stunning | stunning scenery | a stunning view the film is visually stunning | a stunning building | the room looked stunning and was decorated beautifully | a stunning view from the hotel window | the cottage is set in stunning scenery | the stunning countryside of the Netherlands

Adverb: stunningly

a stunningly beautiful landscape theme /θi:mz/ Noun

a theme is a main idea or message that repeats throughout a piece of literature, art, or storytelling, often conveying deeper meanings

Collocates: theme of a story | theme of the book the theme of love and sacrifice resonates throughout the novel | the film explores the theme of identity and belonging | fairy tales often convey moral lessons through thematic elements

Pages 22–23

baking hot /'beɪkɪŋ hɒt/ Adjective if it is baking hot, the air around you is very hot indeed it was baking hot on the beach | last summer was baking hot | a baking hot day in August hood /'hʊd/ Noun

the hood of a vehicle such as a car or van is the front part that covers the engine she opened the hood to check the oil | the hood was a different color from the rest of the car | he leaned against the hood of the car and waited bounce back /baʊns bæk/ Phrasal verb if something bounces back, it moves quickly in the direction it came from after hitting something solid the car bounced back and burst into flames | the ball hit the tree next door and bounced back into the garden bumpy /'bʌmpi/ Adjective a bumpy surface is very uneven and has a lot of raised parts on it. A bumpy ride is uncomfortable because the car or plane you are in is bouncing up and down a lot

Collocates: a bumpy road/track | a bumpy ride/drive/journey the path was bumpy in places | after a very bumpy ride, they arrived at the farmhouse | the plane made a bumpy landing | a bumpy flight through a thunderstorm

Noun: bump

he braked too late and hit the bump at speed | the car rattled loudly as it went over the bumps in the road | a speed bump (a deliberately raised strip across a road that is meant to make drivers slow down) burst into flames /bɜːst 'ɪntuː fleɪmz/ Phrase if something bursts into flames, it suddenly starts to burn with a lot of uncontrollable flames the car burst into flames | the plane hit the ground and burst into flames | two men died after their helicopter burst into flames collapse /kə'ləps/ Verb

if a building or something solid collapses, it becomes destroyed because it breaks and falls to the ground part of the mine collapsed, blocking their exit | the bridge collapsed during the floods | I put up some shelves on Sunday, but they collapsed on Monday! | a boy was injured when the chair in his classroom collapsed yesterday afternoon

Noun: collapse

the bridge collapse happened at seven o'clock this morning | measures were taken to protect the building from collapse context /'kɒntekst/ Noun the context in which something happens is the particular set of circumstances around it that might influence it or help to explain it the novel reflects two very different cultural contexts | with no sensible context the movie was just a series of violent scenes copper miner /'kɒpə 'maɪnə/ Noun a copper miner is a worker who works in a copper mine, getting copper out of the ground

33 copper miners were trapped for over two months | her father was a copper miner | copper miners went on strike demanding better pay

Noun: copper mine

Chilean copper mine workers are among the highest-paid miners in South America | the copper mine closed ten years ago and is now a tourist attraction dramatic /drə'mætɪk/ Adjective if something is dramatic, it is quite exciting and impressive a dramatic painting of the Battle of Trafalgar | the Grand Canyon is famous for its dramatic scenery | the story ended in a highly dramatic fashion | the whole experience was quite dramatic

Noun: drama | Adverb: dramatically

we had quite a drama finding the hotel | he kicked open the door and entered the room dramatically.

emerge /'ɪmɜːdʒ/ Verb

if someone or something emerges, they appear from somewhere where they have been hidden or out of sight after 69 days, 33 copper miners emerged into the sunlight | the road ran through a short tunnel before emerging again at the other end | the moon emerged from behind a cloud extreme /ɪk'striːm/ Adjective extreme means very great in degree or very severe in effect he suffered extreme burns | how would you define extreme poverty? | extreme cold kills twice as many people as extreme heat | Arkansas is known for extreme weather and many storms | such extreme temperatures can be a threat to health (very hot or very cold temperatures) | crop damage was extreme

Adverb: extremely

an extremely difficult task | in November, the situation became extremely dangerous faint /feɪnt/ Verb

if you faint, you become unconscious, for example, because you are not well or because you are too hot or because you have had a strong emotional shock his wife fainted when she saw his face | I think I'm going to faint | she almost fainted when she heard the news | he had never fainted in his life | she wasn't someone who wouldn't scream and faint in a crisis

Adjective: faint

Collocate: feel faint

I feel a bit faint (as if I am going to faint) go ahead /gəʊ ə'hed/ Phrasal verb if something goes ahead, it takes place as it was planned to do and is not canceled the project is still going ahead despite the budget cuts | the game will go ahead as planned unless the weather gets a lot worse intense /ɪn'tens/ Adjective something that is intense is very extreme in strength, degree, or amount he was trapped in the intense heat for over a minute | a week of intense cold weather | an emotionally intense conversation | he was under intense pressure to resign

Noun: intensity | Verb: intensify | Adverb: intensely her paintings have a rich intensity of color | the storm intensified during the night | an intensely bright light pits /ɪts/ Noun plural in motor racing, the pits are the places at the edge of the track where the drivers bring their cars when they need to get petrol or change tyres during a race he came into the pits three times during the race | the mechanics waited in the pits with the new tires | there was nearly a crash as they both left the pits at the same time key /ki:/ Adjective

a key event, thing, or person is one that is very important in a particular situation two key events had an important influence on the region | a key figure in the French Revolution | a key part of the course is the two weeks' work experience on a farm | write down the three key points from chapter one marshal /'mɑːʃəl/ Noun

a marshal is one of the people whose job is to supervise everything that happens at a public event, including controlling the crowds who are there two safety marshals pulled him out of the car | all the marshals were wearing yellow jackets | marshals asked the crowd to stand back while the ambulance came through plunge /plʌndʒ/ Verb

if someone or something plunges, they fall a long way downwards and very quickly it plunged 70 meters to the road below | she plunged into the water | the car plunged over the edge of the bridge the plane started a steep plunge when the engine caught fire put to sleep /pʊt tuː sliːp/ Phrase to put an injured animal to sleep is to kill it without pain because it is too ill to survive and would suffer a lot otherwise the cow had to be put to sleep | as a vet, I often have to put an animal to sleep | we were worried that our dog would have to be put to sleep

Noun: plunge

set off /set ɒf/ Phrasal verb if someone sets off, they begin a journey the runners set off at twelve | we're setting off at 6 a.m. tomorrow | they set off early the next day | do you want something to eat before we set off?

trapped /træpt/ Adjective if someone is trapped somewhere, they cannot move, for example, because they are held there by something heavy or because something is blocking their way out he was trapped inside the burning car | twenty people were trapped when the building collapsed | we were trapped for over two hours | a tree fell across the doorway leaving us trapped | seven miners were trapped underground

Verb: trap

the rising water trapped us upstairs turning point /'tɜːnɪŋ pɔɪnt/ Noun a turning point is a moment during a process of events when things start to change and develop in a different way and therefore change the result the turning point in the story came when the narrator's wife left him | the election marked a turning point in the country's history | a turning point in the strike came a week later

Pages 24–25

alumni /ə'λʌmnaɪ/ Noun

the alumni of a school, college, or university are the people who used to be students there

Collocate: alumni of the school successful alumni often give back to their alma mater (the school, college, or university that someone went to) through donations | the college recognized its distinguished alumni during the annual ceremony bring to life /brɪŋ tuː laɪf/ Phrase when you bring something to life, you make it seem more real or exciting, like it's alive.

Collocates: bring a story to life | bring an idea to life the actor's performance really brought the character to life | it was great to see the story from the book brought to life on stage | she really brought the team's idea to life change people's views /tʃeɪndʒ 'piːpəlz vjuːz/ Phrase when you change people's views, the opinions or perspectives of individuals are not the same as they were originally the documentary changed people's views on climate change and inspired them to take action | learning about history can change people's views on past events democracy /dɪ'mɒkrəsi/ Noun democracy is a system of government in which people choose their rulers by voting for them in elections democracy allows citizens to participate in decision-making through voting | the country transitioned to democracy after years of authoritarian rule | freedom of speech is a cornerstone of democracy, allowing for open discourse and debate draw attention to /drɔː ə'tenʃən tuː/ Phrase draw attention to means to attract notice or focus toward something or someone he enjoys drawing attention to himself through his colorful clothes | the large text on the poster drew attention to the upcoming charity event | the purpose of the campaign is to draw attention to the importance of recycling dynamic /daɪ'næmɪk/ Adjective if you describe something as dynamic, you approve of it because it is very active and energetic she seemed a dynamic and energetic leader embrace /ɪm'breɪs/ Verb

if you embrace someone, you put your arms around them and hold them tightly, usually in order to show your love or affection for them. To embrace an idea, proposal, set of beliefs, etc. is to accept it or them, often with enthusiasm

Mateo came forward and embraced his sister | it's unlikely she'll embrace this new approach with any enthusiasm engage /ɪn'geɪdʒ/ Verb

if you engage someone or engage their attention, you make them interested in what you are saying or doing so that they pay close attention to it

Collocates: engage the reader/viewer | engage the audience a good photo engages the viewer immediately | she really engaged the audience from the very beginning of the show | the party never engaged the public properly and they lost the election | a well-written novel that engages the reader from the very first age

Noun: engagement | Adjective: engaged it was hard work trying to ensure student engagement | the website has built a large and engaged audience express /ɪk'spres/ Verb

if you express something, especially an emotion, you communicate it to someone using words, pictures, music, etc.

the frequent use of images to express ideas | I just want to express my thanks for your help last week | she expressed a desire to visit her nephew in Vietnam | everyone has the right to express their opinion on this topic | he'd always found it hard to express his feelings

Noun: expression | Adjective: expressive | Adverb: expressively

Collocate: an expression of something an expression of sympathy | the look on his face was very expressive | her eyes grew larger and more expressive | he smiled at them expressively get across /get ə'krɒs/ Phrasal verb when you get something across to someone else, you communicate an idea or message effectively Collocate: get something across to someone despite the language barrier, she managed to get her enthusiasm for the project across to the client | using simple language can help get your message across to a wider audience | It's important to find the right words to get your feelings across to him indigenous /ɪn'dɪdʒɪnəs/ Adjective the indigenous people of a place are the people who belong there and already lived there before other people came the indigenous people of northern Alaska | the island has no indigenous inhabitants | the sport is very popular among the indigenous community intent /ɪn'tent/ Noun an intent is a purpose or objective that guides one's actions or decisions, often with a specific goal in mind

Collocates: intent to | intent was her intent was to follow a career in medicine and help others | the suspect's intent was unclear, raising questions about the motive | the artist created the sculpture with the intent to evoke emotions in viewers.

mentor /'mentɔː/ Noun

a person's mentor is someone who gives them help and advice over a period of time, especially help and advice related to their job the mentor offered valuable advice to help the student succeed | she found a mentor to help navigate her career path | the coach served as a mentor, motivating the team to achieve their goals photojournalist /'fəʊtəʊ 'dʒɜːnəlɪst/ Noun a photojournalist is a journalist who uses photography to tell stories and report news events on social issues photojournalists capture images that tell powerful stories | the photojournalists covered the protest to provide accurate news coverage regional /'riːdʒənəl/ Adjective regional is used to describe things that relate to a particular area of a country or of the world regional cuisine reflects the unique flavors and ingredients of an area | the festival celebrates regional traditions and customs tell a story /tɛl ə 'stɔːri/ Phrase to tell a story means to narrate or say a sequence of events or experiences that are real or invented when he tells a story, people of all ages enjoy it | Grandma always tells the best stories about her adventures from when she was young | some children love their parents to tell them a story before bed transformation /trænsfə'meɪʃən/ Noun a transformation is a complete change

Collocates: the transformation of something (into something) | a complete/total transformation | undergo a transformation the transformation phase of the process | he had an amazing transformation | the building's transformation from a school to a community centre

Verb: transform

the whole house has been transformed | they transformed the old station into a hotel under-resourced /ˈʌndə rɪˈzɔːst/ Adjective something that is under-resourced is lacking the necessary funds, materials, or support needed to effectively complete a task or achieve a goal the school was under-resourced, lacking basic supplies and equipment | under-resourced communities face challenges accessing healthcare services | the nonprofit organization provides assistance to under-resourced families in the community workshop /ˈwɜːkʃɒp/ Noun a workshop is a meeting or educational session where there is hands-on learning, skill development, or collaborative activities

Collocate: workshop on a topic the artist conducted a workshop on painting techniques | students attended a workshop to improve their study skills | the conference featured workshops on finances

Pages 26–27

bad temper /bæd ˈtɛmpə/ Noun uncount if someone has a bad temper, they become angry very quickly and easily, even if there is not really a good reason my father had a really bad temper | a young boy with a very bad temper | he arrived in a bad temper because he had had to walk from the station

Adjective: bad-tempered

there's no need to be so bad-tempered about it | it was only after they married that she noticed how bad-tempered he was | I was questioned for ten minutes by a bad-tempered police officer

claim /kleɪm/ Verb

if you claim something is true, you say it is true even though other people do not believe it the brothers claimed they were just keeping records of tales | he also claimed that his laptop had been stolen | police said 1,000 people were on the march, but organizers claimed the figure was closer to 10,000 | he claimed that he never met the president

Noun: claim

her claim is entirely false | the police promised to investigate the claims devoted /dɪˈvəʊtɪd/ Adjective if something is devoted to a particular topic or activity, everything about it is related to that topic or activity

Collocate: devoted to something a theme park devoted to the stories of the Brothers Grimm | the evening was devoted to music by Chopin | his whole life is devoted to soccer—playing it, watching it, and reading about it | a museum devoted to photography

Verb: devote

he devoted his whole life to working for the church edition /ɪˈdɪʃən/ Noun an edition is a particular version of a book that is printed and put on sale at one time a first edition is worth about $50,000 | later editions corrected some of the mistakes | I bought a new edition of my chemistry textbook enchanting /ɪnˈtʃɑːntɪŋ/ Adjective something that is enchanting is extremely attractive and pleasant a library of old books with tales more enchanting than they had ever heard before | the view from the hotel window was enchanting | Venice is the most enchanting city in Italy | the most enchanting place to send a holiday

Noun: enchantment | Verb: enchant | Adjective: enchanted | Adverb: enchantingly

I was in a state of complete enchantment with the music | the lake enchanted me from the moment I first arrived | we were enchanted by the atmosphere of the old town | he was so enchanted with the village that he took photographs of every house | an enchantingly beautiful garden lay behind the house ensure /ɪnˈʃʊː/ Verb to ensure that something happens means to do something that makes certain that it will happen

Collocate: ensure that something happens please ensure your child returns the signed letter to us | you must ensure that all the doors are locked when you leave the house | use a tape measure to ensure you know the exact size you need evil /ˈiːvəl/ Adjective someone who is evil is very cruel and enjoys hurting other people the evil stepmother in the story of Snow White | the judge described the three men as evil and sentenced them to life in prison | I don't believe that people are born evil | she was unpleasant, but I wouldn't call her evil

Noun: evil

Collocate: pure evil

he believed he was fighting evil | I looked in his eyes and all I could see was pure evil fairy tale /ˈfeəri teɪl/ Noun a fairy tale is a story for children involving magic and imaginary beings a book of fairy tales | fairy tales help children to understand how the world works | as a child, I never liked fairy tales | most fairy tales have happy endings, but not all faraway /ˈfɑːrəweɪ/ Adjective a faraway place is a long way from where you are Collocate: a faraway land/place stories that would fascinate people in faraway lands | a series of films about faraway places | they spent two weeks on a faraway beach where the sun shone every day fascinate /'fæsɪneɪt/ Verb if something fascinates you, you are very attracted to it and think it is extremely interesting science is a subject that has always fascinated me | a book that will fascinate all its readers | her beauty and charm fascinated him | Shakespeare's plays have fascinated audiences for over 400 years

Adjective: fascinating, fascinated | Adverb: fascinatingly

I found her story absolutely fascinating | Switzerland is one of the most fascinating places I've ever visited | he was fascinated with modern technology and engineering | I'd be fascinated to know what she said to him fatten /'fætən/ Verb to fatten an animal is to provide it with plenty of food before killing it so that it will provide a lot of meat for people to eat sheep were being fattened ready to go to market | the barley is useful for fattening the pigs

Adjective: fattened

a fattened calf folk tale /fəʊk teɪl/ Noun a folk tale is an old story that has existed for hundreds of years by people telling it to each other rather than writing it down the brothers listened carefully to the folk tales that people told them | according to folk tales, the town fell into the sea | an old Danish folk tale | he spent years studying Ukrainian folk tales humble /'hʌmbəl/ Adjective if someone is humble, they do not show off or shout about themselves or their achievements. They are not arrogant, and show a low view of their own importance

Collocate: stay humble

despite a lot of success, the actor stays humble and approachable | the writer's humble attitude makes her popular | the manager is very humble and doesn't shout about successes illustration /ˌɪlə'streɪʃən/ Noun an illustration is a picture in a book that shows a scene from the story or provides information about something there are sixteen color illustrations in the middle of the book | a book with beautiful illustrations | the illustrations are simple and very colourful

Noun: illustrator | Verb: illustrate | Adjective: illustrated

I need an illustrator for my book about bread making | she illustrates children's books as well as medical textbooks | an illustrated guidebook to Istanbul inspired /ɪn'spaɪəd/ Adjective if someone is inspired, something has given them a lot of enthusiasm that makes them want to do or get involved in something inspired, the brothers began collecting their own stories | feeling inspired, she began writing a novel | I'm sorry you were bored—I honestly thought you'd be inspired

Noun: inspiration | Verb: inspire | Adjective: inspiring

|| Opposites – Adjective: uninspired, uninspiring

he got his inspiration from a trip he made to Tunisia | his writing inspired thousands of people all over the world | an inspiring teacher | the whole event felt uninspired and I was glad when it ended | a rather uninspiring painting of the palace of Westminster keep a diary /ki:p ə 'daɪəri/ Phrase if you keep a diary, you regularly write something in it about yourself. A diary is a book that has a space for every day of the year, and you use it to write down the interesting things that happen to you every day

I've been keeping a diary since I was fourteen | many people find it helpful to keep a diary of their activities | I kept a diary for three years until I left university keep an eye on /ki:p ən aɪ ɒn/ Phrase if you keep an eye on a situation, you make sure you know what is happening so that you can take action at the right moment or if something goes wrong or needs attention

I need to keep an eye on the time as I've got a train at six | they have to keep an eye on the weather because a frost can destroy the crop | keep an eye on the pan and turn the heat down when the water boils | keep an eye on the fuel gauge—we might not have enough to get home keep records /ki:p 'rekɔ:dz/ Phrase if you keep a record of something or keep records, you write down things that have happened so that you can check the information at a later date

Collocate: keep a record of something we keep records of all our students' exam results | the brothers were just keeping records of tales | you should keep detailed records of every meeting | records are kept for ten years and then destroyed

Noun: record-keeping

effective record-keeping is very important in a hospital | set up a record-keeping system to keep track of your spending keep track of /ki:p træk ɒv/ Phrase if you keep track of something, you follow what is happening so that you are always aware of how it is developing it's difficult to keep track of all the changes | make sure you keep track of your progress | he started a diary to keep track of how much he was eating keep you /ki:p ju:/ Phrase if you say to someone "I don't want to keep you," you mean that you need their attention for a short time, but that you do not want to make them spend more time than is absolutely necessary with you because you know they have other things they want or need to do

I don't want to keep you—I've just got a quick question | don't let me keep you if you've got a train to catch keep your chin up /ki:p ʃɪn ʌp/ Phrase if you say to someone "keep your chin up," you are encouraging them to stay positive and cheerful even though they are in a difficult situation try to keep your chin up—things can't get any worse | keep your chin up, and good luck with the exam | keep your chin up, and it will all be over by tomorrow knowledgeable /'nɒlɪdʒəbəl/ Adjective someone who is knowledgeable knows quite a lot about something, or quite a lot about a number of different things

Collocate: knowledgeable about something our guide spoke good English and was very knowledgeable | she became quite knowledgeable about Egyptian history | he was a knowledgeable and thoughtful politician | a highly knowledgeable expert

Noun: knowledge | Verb: know

she has a detailed knowledge of modern literature | I used my local knowledge to work out how to get back to the hotel | a general knowledge quiz (a competition with questions on a range of different subjects) | do you know much about cricket? | he knows all there is to know about Ferrari cars (he is very knowledgeable about them)

manual /'mænjuəl/ Noun

a manual is a book that gives instructions about how to do certain things or how to behave in certain situations

Collocate: an instruction manual

I've lost the instruction manual for the dishwasher | the owner's manual for the car | he said he couldn't get the TV to work so I told him to read the manual | the manual is available online monstrous /'mɒnstrəs/ Adjective something that is monstrous is large, unpleasant, and ugly she sees past the monstrous looks of the Beast | a group of seven monstrous creatures obey /əʊ'beɪ/ Verb

if you obey someone or obey an order or set of rules, you do what you have been told to do or what you are expected to do if you don't obey, you will be punished | their orders must be obeyed without question

Noun: obedience | Adjective: obedient | Adverb: obediently || Opposites – Noun: disobedience | Verb: disobey | Adjective: disobedient those who appeared to disobey were quickly arrested | don't you dare disobey me!

Collocates: complete/blind/unquestioning obedience | civil disobedience she demanded complete obedience from her staff | he is very obedient and never gets into trouble | she had never been an obedient child | Obediently, I took a few steps forward | as a child, he was naughty and disobedient | an act of disobedience oral /'ɔːrəl/ Adjective something that is oral involves speech and not writing the exam involved a written test and an oral presentation | I had an oral agreement with him, so there are no documents we can refer to | I failed my Spanish oral exam (a test to see how well I could speak Spanish)

Adverb: orally

these stories are passed down orally through the generations | I was informed of the decision orally on Monday, and in writing on Wednesday rags to riches /rægz tuː 'rɪtʃɪz/ Phrase you use rags to riches when talking about people who began life very poor, but who later become successful and rich

Cinderella is a classic "rags to riches" story | his life was one of rags to riches, but then sadly back to rags | her journey from rags to riches is an inspiration to us all | a classic tale of rags to riches reshape /'riːʃeɪp/ Verb

if you reshape something, you make changes to the way it is organized

Wilhelm continued to reshape and improve the stories | the new boss arrived determined to reshape the department | they want to reshape Irish society | it will take years to reshape the economy struggle /'strʌgl/ Verb to struggle is to try very hard to do something that is very difficult

Collocates: struggle with something | struggle to do something

Chris knew that Rowan was struggling | Anna has always struggled with math | we're struggling to cope with all this work | this is a subject where I'm really struggling

Noun: struggle

Collocate: a struggle to do something it was a struggle to understand her when she spoke so fast | she found the course a bit of a struggle theme park /θiːm pɑːk/ Noun a theme park is a large area outside with a lot of activities for people to enjoy. You have to pay to go into a theme park, and the activities are usually based on the same topic my friend used to spend her whole vacation at a theme park | the number of theme parks in China is growing | they visited the Disneyland theme park in Paris | we went on some great rides at the theme park untouched /ʌn'tʌtʃt/ Adjective something that is left untouched is not changed, edited, or affected by anyone or anything else

Collocates: leave something untouched | remain untouched unpleasant details of the stories were left untouched | the beauty of the Lake District remains untouched wise /waɪz/ Adjective someone who is wise knows and understands a lot of things and can make sensible decisions. If someone's actions or choices are wise, they have used their knowledge and understanding very well my English teacher was a very wise man | it was a wise decision to go to college | my grandad was the wisest man I ever met | mixing orange juice with milk was not a wise choice

Noun: wisdom | Adverb: wisely || Opposites – Adjective: unwise | Adverb: unwisely wisdom comes with experience—you cannot learn it | he wisely decided not to try and swim across the river | that's a lot of money, make sure you spend it wisely | it was unwise of her to tell him he was stupid | rather unwisely, he started arguing with his boss

Pages 28–29

animal trap /'æniməl træp/ Noun an animal trap is a device that someone puts down on the ground in order to catch a wild animal

Rowan's foot was caught in a metal animal trap | animal traps are cruel | when I was a boy I used to put animal traps out to catch rabbits awkward /'ɔ:kwəd/ Adjective an awkward situation is one in which people feel embarrassed because it is difficult for them all to do what they want to do, and they do not want to make things difficult for the others

it's a bit awkward with three people trying to use the kitchen at once | it was quite awkward having his ex-wife at the wedding | she thought it would be too awkward if all her friends were there too

Noun: awkwardness | Adverb: awkwardly after some initial awkwardness, they agreed to work together on the project | we shook hands a little awkwardly, then I left

catch /kætʃ/ Verb

if you catch what someone is saying, you manage to hear it and understand it. If you don't catch what they are saying, you don't hear it properly and do not understand what they mean he mumbled something about it being unfair, but I couldn't catch his exact words | they spoke so fast I didn't catch anything at all | can you say that again? I didn't quite catch it | I waited by the door trying to catch what they were saying | sorry, I never caught your name cautiously /'kɔ:ʃəsli/ Adverb if you do something cautiously, you do it very carefully, making sure not to take any risks we moved cautiously along the narrow path | the proposals were cautiously welcomed by teachers | she held out her hand cautiously

Noun: caution | Adjective: cautious

the animals should be approached with great caution | caution is advised when driving in snow | he's very cautious | a cautious driver | the police decided to adopt a cautious approach clamp /klæm/ Verb

if you clamp things together or if something clamps itself, two things are helped together very firmly so that neither of them can move

Collocates: clamp something to something | clamp things together be careful not to clamp them together too firmly or they might break | then another frame is clamped tightly to the first frame

Noun: clamp

hold the two pieces together with a clamp until the glue dries | I used a clamp to hold the wood while I was cutting it cover /'kʌvə/ Verb

if you cover a certain distance, that is how far you manage to walk, cycle, drive, etc. at one time they had only covered a kilometer in the last half an hour | we managed to cover twenty miles before stopping for lunch | they'd covered only half the distance by the time it got dark encouragingly /ɪn'kʌrɪdʒɪŋli/ Adverb if you do something encouragingly, you do it in a way that you hope will help someone, for example, by saying positive things to them in order to make them do something good

"it's not much further now," he said encouragingly | the teacher smiled encouragingly

Noun: encouragement | Verb: encourage | Adjective: encouraging

Collocates: encourage someone to do something | give/offer encouragement my friends offered some encouragement | young children need quite a lot of encouragement | we try to encourage each other when things are difficult | my parents encouraged me to play a musical instrument | our teachers were very encouraging | the doctor gave me an encouraging smile get caught on /get kɔ:t ɒn/ Phrase if something gets caught on something else, it becomes hooked or trapped on the other thing and cannot move freely my pants got caught on the door handle | the fishing line got caught on a branch | her scarf got caught in the wheel of the car get stuck /get stʌk/ Phrase if someone or something gets stuck somewhere, they cannot move easily or get away even though they want to the elevator got stuck between two floors | we got stuck behind a tractor on a narrow road | my wedding ring got stuck on my finger and I haven't taken it off for twelve years | the key got stuck in the lock leap to one's feet /li:p tu: wʌnz fi:t/ Phrase if you leap to your feet, you suddenly get up very quickly from where you have been sitting or lying he leapt to his feet and ran to the door | she leapt to her feet when the doorbell rang moan /məʊn/ Verb

if you moan about someone or something, you complain about them in a very unhappy way Collocate: moan about something or someone will you stop moaning! | she's always moaning about the buses | there's no point moaning; it won't change anything

Noun: moan, moaner

I don't want to listen to your moans! | he had a moan about the referee after the match | don't be such a moaner | he's one of the biggest moaners I know mumble /'mʌmbəl/ Verb

if you mumble, you say something in a way that is difficult for people to hear clearly he mumbled something about it being unfair | stop mumbling! | he doesn't say much to other people, but he's often mumbling to himself | she didn't answer directly, just mumbled something we couldn't understand

Noun: mumble

there was a low mumble of voices mutter /'mʌtə/ Verb

if you mutter, you say something very quietly in a way that is difficult for people to hear clearly

Sofia kept muttering something under her breath | he walked out of the room muttering to himself | she muttered an apology | he heard several voices muttering angrily | still muttering, he got out of the car and opened the gate

Noun: mutter, muttering

we could hear the mutter of his voice in the next room | there were angry mutterings from the boys, but they calmed down when they saw the food arriving panic /'pænik/ Verb

if you panic, you suddenly start behaving in a slightly erratic way because you are very frightened or worried about something

Collocate: panic about something

two people completely panicked when the lift got stuck | whatever you do, don't panic | there's no need to panic | just stop panicking about it and calm down | I panicked and ran into the garden | everyone was panicking and trying to find a way out

Noun: panic | Adjective: panicky

Collocates: widespread panic | blind panic | panic breaks out/sets in | in a panic

the news caused widespread panic across the continent | he went into a blind panic when he thought he'd lost the baby | a panic attack (a sudden feeling of panic) | panic broke out when smoke was seen coming out of the kitchen | in a panic, he jumped out of the second floor window | he felt panicky as soon as he stepped inside the plane regain /rɪ'geɪn/ Verb

if you regain something you once had but have now lost, such as an ability or quality, you get it back again

Collocates: regain control | regain your health | regain consciousness

she almost fell but managed to regain her balance | the important thing is to rest and regain your health | he collapsed and never regained consciousness (he died) | Radcliffe regained the lead 500 meters from the finish and went on to win | government forces regained control of the city after a night of heavy fighting relief /rɪ'li:f/ Noun singular if something is a relief, it manages to stop you worrying about a bad or difficult situation. If something provides relief from pain, it stops the pain for a while it must have been a relief to get your money back | it was such a relief to know I'd passed the exam | effective methods of pain relief

Verb: relieve

a good way to relieve stress | this should help relieve the pain | ways to relieve the pressure at work sigh /saɪ/ Noun

a sigh is a deep breath that someone lets out, for example, when they are disappointed, very tired, or suddenly relieved

Collocates: heave a sigh | a sigh of relief

"let's try your way," she said with a sigh | he gave a sigh of relief, then turned and smiled at me | Antonio heaved a disappointed sigh (breathed out very heavily because of disappointment) | there was an audible sigh of relief (a sigh that could be heard) from the audience

Verb: sigh

she sighed heavily and stepped back | he sighed and shook his head stranded /'strændɪd/ Adjective if someone is stranded somewhere, they are in a place where they do not want to be any more and are not able to get away from it the last train had just left so I was stranded in Berlin for the night | she drove off and left me stranded in Ipswich | some stranded motorists had to sleep in their car sympathize /'sɪmpəθaɪz/ Verb if you sympathize with someone or with their problems, you feel sorry for them because they are sad or in a bad situation

Collocate: sympathize with someone or something the neighbors came round to sympathize when they heard the news | I didn't expect him to understand or sympathize | believe me, I can sympathize with your problem

Noun: sympathy | Adjective: sympathetic | Adverb: sympathetically

Collocates: feel/have/show/express sympathy (for/towards someone) | deepest/heartfelt sympathy

she got no sympathy from her sister, who was secretly delighted | do you have any sympathy for her? | Laila had been very sympathetic, but she could do nothing to make the situation better | she listened sympathetically as he poured out his grief | "poor old you," he said sympathetically thorn bush /θɔ:n bʊʃ/ Noun a thorn bush is any sort of bush that has thorns (thin sharply pointed parts) sticking out of the branches

I scratched myself on a thorn bush | the ball was stuck deep in a thorn bush so I left it there | she tore her skirt on a thorn bush under one's breath /'ʌndə wʌnz brɛθ/ Phrase if you say something under your breath, you say it very quietly so that even people near you cannot hear what you are saying

Hai kept muttering something under her breath | he swore under his breath | she laughed softly under her breath walk back /wɔ:k bæk/ Phrasal verb if someone walks back somewhere, they return in the direction they came from by walking

Ahmed walked back slowly to see what the problem was | I had to walk back home after the car broke down | we walked back along the footpath looking for my scarf

Pages 30–31

bummer /ˈbʌmə/ Noun in very informal English, a bummer is a bad or unpleasant situation it was such a bummer to discover we'd climbed the wrong mountain | Monday's a real bummer this term—math in the morning and again in the afternoon | your dad won't let you come to the party? What a bummer! | it will be a real bummer if we miss the last train home off-route /ɒf-ru:t/ Adjective if you are off-route or go off-route, you are following a path or course that is not the one that you had originally planned to use or wanted to use

maybe we're a bit off-route | we went a few hundred meters off-route to visit the church in a field | when we saw the bridge, we realized we were seriously off-route peak /pi:k/ Noun

a peak is the top of a mountain we reached the peak just as the sun was coming up | Mont Blanc is the highest peak in Europe | the mountain peak was still a long way ahead of us | snow-covered peaks peel off /pi:l ɒf/ Phrasal verb if something peels off, or if you peel it off, it comes away from the surface it was attached to in a thin layer the rock was peeling off like sheets of paper | I fell asleep on the beach and now my skin is peeling off | paint was peeling off the doors and window frames | can you peel the skin off this garlic for me?

pick one's way /pɪk wʌnz weɪ/ Phrase if you pick your way somewhere, you walk or climb there very carefully, picking (choosing) where to put your feet with great care we picked our way up the side of the mountain | she picked her way through the puddles (pools of rainwater) outside the bus station | I picked my way down the rough track ridge /rɪdʒ/ Noun

a ridge is a long thin area where the land drops away on either side, usually high up on a mountain we started to make our way across the ridge | there's a narrow ridge leading up to the main peak | a ridge extends northward with narrow valleys on either side | he pointed to a small ridge of land ahead of them | the city was surrounded by various mountains and ridges summit /ˈsʌmɪt/ Noun the summit of a mountain is its highest point we needed to reach the summit before dark | he's the youngest person to have climbed the seven summits (the highest mountain on each of the seven continents) tough /tʌf/ Adjective something that is tough is very difficult to do successfully.

A tough situation is one that is difficult to deal with the race was tough, but I managed to get through it and finish | I ran a marathon last year; it was tough, but I really enjoyed it | it's a very tough exam | it was a tough decision to leave | she had a tough time at school (had many problems) tragedy /ˈtrædʒədi/ Noun a tragedy is a dramatic work or narrative characterized by serious and somber themes, often involving the suffering of the main character

Collocate: ends in tragedy the play is a classic tragedy, exploring themes of fate and hubris | the novel ends in tragedy, with the death of the main character

Adjective: tragic | Adverb: tragically Collocate: died tragically the tragic hero's flaws lead to his downfall in the story | the character died tragically in a plane crash vertical /ˈvɜ:tɪkəl/ Adjective something that is vertical rises or goes straight up

Collocate: vertical face below us was a vertical drop of 100 meters to the road | on this chart, the rows go across horizontally and the columns are vertical | a jacket with vertical stripes | the wall was not quite vertical | we started up a steep slope that quickly became a vertical face | the vertical face of the cliff rose 100 meters above the beach

Adverb: vertically

it looked as if the plane was climbing vertically

UNIT 3: ART FOR THE PEOPLE

Page 33

busker /'bʌskə/ Noun

a busker is someone who plays music in the street and gets money from some of the people who walk past I stopped to listen to the busker outside the tube station | I usually give buskers money if I like their music | a good busker can earn over $30 an hour

Noun: busking | Verb: busk

have you ever thought about busking to earn some extra money? | they busked in Times Square last week | he started busking when he was just 15 comedian /kə'mi:diən/ Noun a comedian is a person who entertains others through humor, often by performing stand-up comedy the comedian had the audience in fits of laughter during his comedy show | as a comedian, she often draws inspiration from everyday experiences for her jokes | the comedian's witty remarks helped lift the mood at the otherwise serious event gig /gɪg/ Noun

a gig is a performance in public, usually by a musician or band of musicians

Collocate: play a gig

we played 25 gigs in 28 days on tour | the gig was canceled after she fell ill in Mexico | their first live gig was a huge success | I helped my cousin organize the gig venue /'venju:/ Noun a venue is the place where an event is happening or is going to happen it's an amazing venue for a party | a perfect venue for weddings | a popular concert venue | the World Cup is held at various venues across the country | the venue we'd chosen for the gig was just outside the city

Pages 34–35

artistic /ɑ:'tɪstɪk/ Adjective if someone is artistic, they are very good at making creative and attractive things such as paintings, sculptures, or music her artistic skills allowed her to express her emotions through painting | his drawings are so realistic, showing his true artistic talent | the art gallery displays various artistic styles

Noun: art, artist

he loved studying art | her mum worked as an artist artwork /ɑ:twɜ:k/ Noun artwork is a piece of art, typically in visual form the museum exhibits a large collection of artwork from different periods of history | his latest artwork is about the environment | the children proudly displayed their artwork on the classroom walls for everyone to look at

Noun: art, artist

he loved studying art | her mom worked as an artist authority /ɔ:'θɒrəti/ Noun authority is the right to command and control other people local police are as figures of authority and reassurance in their areas commit /kə'mɪt/ Verb

if someone commits a crime or other illegal act, they do it he hadn't committed any crime | he admitted that he committed fraud | since leaving prison he has not committed any further offences consideration /kən'sɪdə'reɪʃən/ Noun consideration for something is careful thought about it so that you can make a sensible decision about it

Collocates: give consideration to something | be under consideration they never gave any consideration to the cost | they gave serious consideration to the idea of opening a new shop in Dubai | after long consideration, the judge decided not to send him to prison | two new laws are under consideration

Verb: consider

you should consider your decision carefully, then ring me to let me know creations /kri'eɪʃənz/ Noun creations are things that have been made or brought into existence. Typically, these are things like pieces of art, fashions, meals, or stories

Collocate: artistic creation the chef's creations were not only delicious but also visually stunning | the artist's creations were celebrated for their unique blend of traditional and modern influences | inventors often find inspiration for their creations in everyday experiences

Verb: create

she created a beautiful story creativity /kri:etɪvəti/ Noun creativity is the ability to generate new ideas, concepts, or solutions in an imaginative way the workshop aimed to help students develop creativity and imagination | encouraging creativity in children helps them develop problem-solving skills and imagination | creativity can be expressed in many different ways

Verb: create

she created a beautiful story

dilemma /dɪ'lemə/ Noun

a dilemma is a situation requiring a choice between two options, typically with no easy solution she faced a dilemma when asked to choose between attending two important events on the same day | They found a way of fixing their dilemma effort /'ɛfət/ Noun effort is the work involved in trying to do something. If you make an effort to do something, you try very hard to do it Collocates: make an effort (to do something) | take effort | put effort into something they think cheating will bring success without effort | it took a lot of effort to get the piano up the stairs | he put a lot of effort into his language studies | if you don't make an effort, you'll never pass the exam mural /'mjʊərəl/ Noun

a mural is a picture that is painted directly onto a wall there are two important murals in the church | the first mural was painted here in 1473 | the mural took fourteen weeks to complete | the two artists created the mural in 2021 possess /pə'zɛs/ Verb

if you possess something, you have it or own it she possesses a remarkable talent for playing the piano | the company possesses the employee's work | the ancient artifact is believed to possess mystical powers

Noun: possession

my most prized possession is my grandmother's necklace | the painting was stolen, but the police recovered it and returned it to its rightful owner provocative /prə'vɒkətɪv/ Adjective if you describe something as provocative, you mean that it is intended to make people react angrily or argue against it the artist's provocative paintings challenge societal norms and expectations | the author's provocative essay started a debate among readers | the politician's provocative remarks incited protests and demonstrations spray-paint /spreɪ-peɪnt/ Verb if you spray-paint something, you paint on it using a can that forces the paint out under pressure rather than with a brush he spray-painted the car blue | take the cover off, then spray-paint the inside | the wall was spray-painted with stars

Noun: spray-paint a tin of spray-paint statement /'steɪtmənt/ Noun a statement is something that you say or write that gives information in a formal or definite way the politician made misleading statements during the press conference | the artist's statements about her work shed light on her creative process | the company issued a statement apologizing for the product recall street art /stri:t ɑ:t/ Noun Phrase street art is artwork created or displayed in public spaces, typically on buildings, walls, or sidewalks Collocate: graffiti street art the city has become known for its street art scene, attracting tourists from all over the world | the graffiti artist's street art adds character to the city | exploring the streets of the neighborhood, you can find amazing street art in unexpected places technical /'tɛknɪkəl/ Adjective technical means involving the sorts of machines, processes, and materials that are used in industry, transportation, and communications the technical manual provides detailed instructions for building the furniture | the engineer explained the technical aspects of the new bridge design the arts /ði ɑ:ts/ Noun plural you use the arts to refer to all the activities such as painting, writing poetry, dance, etc. that involve creative imagination government funding for the arts | her personal interests include foreign travel and the arts | we're very grateful that many local businesses support the arts ultimately /'ʌltɪmətli/ Adverb you use ultimately to emphasize that you are referring to the most important consideration in a situation making a profit is ultimately what matters to me | all movie reviews are ultimately based on the characters and the story unsatisfactory /ʌn'sætɪs'fæktəri/ Adjective if you describe something as unsatisfactory, you mean that it is not as good as it should be, and cannot be considered acceptable

the customer complained about the unsatisfactory quality of the product | the company issued refunds to customers who received unsatisfactory service

Opposite – Adjective: satisfactory work of art /wɜ:k ɒv ɑ:t/ Noun Phrase a work of art is a piece of art that is considered to have significant value, either because of its beauty, age, or how artistic it is

what's your favorite work of art in the gallery? | the painting hanging in the museum is considered a timeless work of art

Pages 36–37

assemble /ə'sembəl/ Verb

if you assemble something, you collect it together or fit the different parts of it together the students will assemble in the gymnasium for the assembly | she carefully assembled the model airplane according to the instructions | volunteers will assemble care packages for families in need combine /kəm'baɪn/ Verb

if you combine a number of different things, you mix them or join them together to make a single thing

Collocate: combine something with something the show combines music and drama | a vacation that combined culture and sunbathing | a busy city that successfully combines the ancient and the modern | different methods may be combined together to get the best results | video games combine physical actions with expression

Noun: combination | Adjective: combined the show was a combination of music and dance | there's a combination of reasons for the decision | the doctor recommended a combination of medicines for her illness | a combined business trip and weekend break consumer /kən'sju:mə/ Noun a consumer is a person who buys things or uses services the company conducted surveys to better understand consumer preferences | online reviews influence consumer decisions when shopping for electronics initiative /ɪ'nɪʃətɪv/ Noun an initiative is an important act or statement that is intended to solve a problem the government launched an initiative to promote renewable energy sources | the charity organizes fundraising initiatives to support local communities | students proposed initiatives to reduce food waste on campus majority /mə'dʒɔrəti/ Noun the majority of people or things in a group is more than half of them the majority of the class chose option A for the group project | the company requires a majority vote to pass new policies during meetings necessity /nə'sesəti/ Noun the necessity of something is the fact that it must happen or exist clean water is a necessity for human survival | the invention of the wheel was a necessity for transportation | education is often regarded as a necessity for socioeconomic advancement participate /pɑ:'tɪsɪpeɪt/ Verb if you participate in an activity, you take part in it. A less formal equivalent is take part we try to encourage more people to participate in the arts | twelve students participated in the research program | our school team participated in the national tournament Noun: participant

the conference is limited to 50 participants | participants must be aged eighteen or over popularize /'pɒpjələraɪz/ Verb to popularize something means to make a lot of people interested in it and able to enjoy it the author's book played a significant role in popularizing the concept of mindfulness | social media platforms have been instrumental in popularizing viral trends | the musician's catchy tunes helped to popularize folk music in urban areas quarantine /'kwɒrənti:n/ Noun if a person or animal is in quarantine, they are being kept separate from other people or animals for a set period of time, usually because they have or may have a disease travelers must undergo quarantine upon arrival in some countries | the ship was placed under quarantine after passengers fell ill with a virus | individuals exposed to the disease were placed in quarantine to prevent further spread Verb: quarantine

quilt /kwɪlt/ Noun

a quilt is a thin cover filled with feathers or some other warm, soft material, which you put over your blankets when you are in bed my grandmother made a quilt for each of her grandchildren | the quilt was passed down through generations as a family heirloom | the quilt was made with intricate designs and vibrant colours recreate /ri:kri'eɪt/ Verb if you recreate something, you succeed in making it exist or seem to exist in a different time or place from its original time or place the artist sought to recreate the beauty of nature in her paintings | she recreated her grandmother's famous recipe for apple pie

Pages 38–39

autobiographical /ɔ:tə'baɪə'græfɪkəl/ Adjective an autobiographical piece of writing relates to events in the life of the person who has written it the author's novel is an autobiographical account of her childhood | the documentary filmmaker created an autobiographical bond /bɒnd/ Noun

if there is a bond between people, they have developed an ability to work or live together based on trust, respect, and friendship Collocates: a close/strong/deep bond | create/develop/form a bond | strengthen a bond there's a deep bond between us | an emotional bond between the two survivors | the ability of mother and daughter to form a bond with each other | we spent long hours in the labs, but this only strengthened the bonds between fellow classmates Verb: bond
 Collocate: bond with someone the team has bonded together well | she found it easy to bond with her fellow students | I met her when I went to college and we bonded immediately fortune /'fɔ:tʃu:n/ Noun a fortune is a large amount of money Collocates: cost/send/pay a fortune | earn/make a fortune | be worth a fortune he spent an absolute fortune on his cars | the house must be worth a small fortune now (a surprisingly large amount of money) | he made a fortune on the stock market function /'fʌŋkʃən/ Noun the function of something or someone is the useful thing that they do or are intended to do the function of the heart is to pump blood throughout the body | the main function of a computer processor is to execute instructions | the function of an introduction in an essay is to provide background information on the topic goosebumps /'guːsbʌmps/ Noun plural if something gives you goosebumps or if you get goosebumps, you feel a sudden thrill of excitement or shock hearing 70,000 Welshmen sing gave me goosebumps | I get goosebumps just thinking about it | we both got goosebumps watching the video heighten /'hʌɪtn/ Verb

if something heightens a feeling or if the feeling heightens, the feeling increases in degree or intensity the artist used bold colors to heighten the emotional impact of the painting | stress can heighten feelings of anxiety and tension injustice /ɪn'dʒʌstɪs/ Noun injustice is unfair treatment of people she had a strong feeling of injustice | the fight against racism and injustice | she sang about the pain of social injustice mechanism /'mekənɪzəm/ Noun a mechanism is a method or a system for achieving something Collocates: bonding mechanisms | survival mechanisms she developed a survival mechanism to cope with the stress | the mechanism of photosynthesis enables plants to convert sunlight into energy | the body's natural defense mechanism fights off infections and illnesses psychological /saɪkəl'ɒdʒɪkəl/ Adjective psychological means connected with a person's mind and thoughts teachers help the psychological development of children | the awful event had a significant psychological impact on them | psychological factors can influence decision-making and behavior regulate /'regjələt/ Verb if you regulate something, you control the intensity of it so that it does not become too strong or powerful sad music can help us regulate negative feelings | a device that regulates the temperature in the building retain /rɪ'teɪn/ Verb

if you retain something, you continue to have that thing the company strives to retain its top employees through competitive benefits | the contract allows the artist to retain ownership of her artwork | memory techniques can help students retain information more effectively shelter /'ʃeltə/ Noun a shelter is somewhere that gives you protection, for example, from rain, cold, danger Collocate: take shelter a bus shelter (where people keep dry when they are waiting for a bus) | they took shelter in the supermarket | the lizard was looking for shelter under a rock | the sun was very strong and there was no shelter in the middle of the field Verb: shelter | Adjective: sheltered four of us sheltered under the branches of an oak tree | a nice sheltered spot for a picnic soothe /suːð/ Verb

if something soothes you, it makes you feel calm and less stressed just being by the water soothes many people | Xuan was trying to soothe the baby | music can soothe the soul Adjective: soothing the music was soothing and relaxing underpin /'ʌndə pɪn/ Verb if you underpin something, you support, strengthen, or provide a foundation for something, often figuratively research findings underpin the argument presented in the academic paper | trust and communication underpin a healthy relationship | principles of fairness and justice underpin the legal system verbal /'vɜːbəl/ Adjective if something is verbal, it is expressed in speech rather than in writing or action verbal communication is an important skill in the workplace | the student received praise for her verbal presentation in class

Pages 40–41

exception /ɪk'sepʃən/ Noun an exception is a particular thing, person, or situation that is not included in a general statement, judgment or rule most students performed well on the test, but there were a few exceptions | the store offers a money-back guarantee with no exceptions nerve /nɜːv/ Noun nerves are the groups of fibers that send signals between the brain and other parts of the body—the body's network of sensory and motor pathways. Nerves (plural) is the feeling of worry or stress. If something gets on your nerves, it annoys you the surgeon carefully avoided damaging any nerves during the operation | stage fright can cause sweaty palms and nerves before a performance | his constant moaning was starting to get on my nerves spellbound /'spɛlbaʊnd/ Adjective if you are spellbound, you are so interested in something that is happening that you cannot look at or think about anything else Collocates: keep someone spellbound | hold someone spellbound the movie kept the children spellbound for an hour and a half | everyone in the audience was spellbound | she sat in front of the TV, spellbound | the last few pages of the book had me spellbound Adjective: spellbinding

the exhibition was absolutely spellbinding | a collection of spellbinding adventure stories

Pages 42–43

affordable /ə'fɔːdəbəl/ Adjective if something is affordable, it has a reasonable price that is not too expensive, so most people would be able to buy it

Collocates: affordable technology | affordable housing cell phones are an example of affordable technology | they're looking for an affordable apartment | there isn't enough affordable housing in the city | good quality products at affordable prices | health insurance simply isn't affordable for people on low wages

Verb: afford

we can't afford a holiday abroad on my salary

CO₂ emissions /siː əʊ tuː ɪ'mɪʃənz/ Noun

CO₂ emissions is the release of carbon dioxide gas into the atmosphere, often as a result of human activities such as burning fossil fuels

CO₂ emissions from vehicles contribute to air pollution and climate change | the government implemented policies to reduce CO₂ emissions from industrial sources criticism /'krɪtɪsɪzəm/ Noun criticism is the action of expressing disapproval of something or someone. A criticism is a statement that expresses disapproval criticism can help students improve their work | the artist faced criticism for his controversial painting | the movie received mixed reviews from critics, with both praise and criticism

Verb: criticize

it's important to be able to criticize constructively in order to improve | instead of criticizing others, try to offer helpful suggestions for improvement disability /dɪsə'bɪləti/ Noun a disability is a physical or mental condition that limits a person's movements, senses, or activities; a disadvantage or impairment the organization fights for the rights of people with disabilities | workplace accommodations are provided for employees with disabilities | the athlete overcame his disability to compete in the Paralympic Games displaced /dɪ'spleɪst/ Adjective someone who is displaced has been forced to leave their home or usual place of residence, often due to conflict, natural disaster, or economic problems the refugee camp provided aid and support to displaced individuals | the displaced workers struggled to find employment in the new city encircle /ɪn'sɜːkəl/ Verb if you encircle something, you form a circle around it the fortress was encircled by enemy troops | the necklace was decorated with jewels that encircle the pendant environmentally friendly /ɪnvaɪrən'mentəli-'frɛndli/

Adjective

something that is environmentally friendly is not harmful to the environment; designed or produced in a way that minimizes damage to the natural world hybrid cars are considered environmentally friendly because they produce less emissions | the company switched to environmentally friendly packaging to reduce waste | solar panels are an environmentally friendly alternative to traditional energy sources harmful /'hɑːmfəl/ Adjective something that is harmful is able to cause damage, injury, or negative effects harmful chemicals can lead to environmental pollution | gossiping can be harmful to relationships, causing mistrust and anger

Noun: harm

she made sure her actions never caused harm to others housing /'haʊzɪŋ/ Noun uncount housing is shelter or accommodation affordable housing is a pressing issue in many urban areas | the government implemented housing programs | the housing market experienced a downturn during the economic recession pollinate /'pɒlɪneɪt/ Verb to pollinate a plant or tree means to fertilize it with pollen. This is often done by insects bees play a crucial role in pollinating crops and flowering plants | wind and insects help to pollinate flowers in the garden | farmers use honeybee hives to pollinate orchards

Noun: pollination

bees play a crucial role in the pollination of flowers | wind pollination is common in grasses and some trees | the decline in bee populations is concerning because it could disrupt the process of pollination suburb /'sʌlbɜːb/ Noun

a suburb of a city or large town is a smaller area that is part of the city or large town but is outside its center

Collocate: suburb of many families choose to live in the suburbs for a quieter lifestyle and better schools | the suburbs are connected to the city center by commuter trains and highways

Adjective: suburban

the suburban streets were lined with neatly trimmed lawns and cozy homes sustainable /sə'steɪnəbəl/ Adjective something that is sustainable uses a minimal amount of natural resources, and this use is kept at a steady level that is not likely to damage the environment

Collocates: sustainable levels | sustainable source sustainable farming practices promote soil health and biodiversity | the company used sustainable manufacturing methods to reduce waste | renewable energy sources offer a sustainable alternative to fossil fuels

Noun: sustainability

the community worked to keep things going in a way that's good for the environment, like recycling and using renewable energy symmetry /ˈsɪmətri/ Noun something that has symmetry is symmetrical in shape, design or structure the butterfly's wings displayed perfect symmetry | the artist emphasized symmetry in the painting token /ˈtəʊkən/ Noun

a token is an object or symbol representing something else; a sign or gesture with symbolic meaning he gave her a bouquet of flowers as a token of his affection | the charity provided tokens of appreciation to its supporters | the handshake served as a token of goodwill and trust urban /ˈɜːbən/ Adjective something that is urban belongs to, or relates to, a town or city urban areas are centers of culture and commerce | the urban environment presents challenges such as traffic and pollution

Noun: urbanization

urbanization has led to increased demand for housing and infrastructure vibrancy /ˈvaɪbrənsi/ Noun vibrancy is the quality of being full of energy and enthusiasm; brightness or vividness of color or sound the city's cultural scene adds vibrancy to its nightlife | the vibrant colors of the market stalls attracted tourists | the music festival was known for its energy and vibrancy

Adjective: vibrant

the vibrant colors of the marketplace filled the air with energy and excitement wealthy /ˈwelθi/ Adjective someone who is wealthy has a lot of money or owns a lot of property. A place that is wealthy has a lot of wealthy people living in it he had married a wealthy businesswoman | you'll need to work hard if you want to become wealthy | she was born in a wealthy suburb of Paris | his wife was from a wealthy family

Noun: the wealthy, wealth || Opposite – Adjective: poor these changes won't affect the wealthy, only the poor | his wealth is estimated at $2m | 80% of the wealth belongs to only 20% of the people | he came from a poor family

Page 44

launch /lɔːntʃ/ Verb to launch a major activity, a career, an investigation, etc. means to start it going in a successful way the festival has launched the careers of several famous comedians | they launched an enquiry into the causes of the accident | his latest book was launched at a party last Thursday | this was the movie that launched her on a lifelong career as a Hollywood star

Noun: launch

a book launch (a party to help promote a new book)

UNIT 4: TECHNOLOGY

Page 45

avatar /ævə'tɑː/ Noun

an avatar is an image that represents you on the screen in an online game or chatroom his online avatar looked like his real-life appearance, down to the smallest details | the avatar in the game copied his movements with precision | she created a new avatar for her social media profile, choosing a cartoon character as her virtual identity erupt /ɪ'rʌpt/ Verb

if a volcano erupts, it throws out a lot of hot, melted rock called lava, as well as ash and steam. If something erupts, it starts happening, suddenly and violently the volcano erupted, spewing ash and lava into the sky | tempers erupted during the heated debate, leading to a shouting match between the participants | cheers erupted from the crowd as the team scored the winning goal

Noun: eruption

the eruption at Mount Vesuvius in AD 79 buried the city of Pompeii under volcanic ash imitate /'ɪmɪteɪt/ Verb to imitate is to copy something or someone the teacher provides a model for the children to imitate | he tried to imitate his brother's sense of dress | she was hopeless at imitating my Scottish accent optimistic /ɒptɪ'mɪstɪk/ Adjective someone who is optimistic is hopeful about the future or the success of something in particular

Collocate: optimistic person

despite facing setbacks, she remained optimistic about her chances of success | the optimistic weather forecast predicted sunny skies for the weekend | he approached the new project with an optimistic attitude, believing it would lead to great opportunities

Adverb: optimistically

despite facing challenges, she dealt with her issues optimistically and improved her chances of success pessimistic /ˌpesɪ'mɪstɪk/ Adjective someone who is pessimistic thinks that bad things are going to happen

Collocate: pessimistic person the pessimistic view on the economy dampened investor confidence | she was pessimistic about the chances of reconciliation after their argument | his pessimistic attitude often led him to expect the worst in every situation

Adverb: pessimistically

he thought pessimistically about the economy due to the recent downturn in the stock market revolutionary /ˌrevə'lʊːʃənəri/ Adjective if something is revolutionary, it involves a great or complete change

Collocate: revolutionary idea the invention of the smartphone was revolutionary, transforming the way we communicate and access information | the company introduced a revolutionary new product that revolutionized the industry | the technological advancements of the past century have led to revolutionary changes in various fields

Noun: revolution

the invention of the internet brought about a revolution in communication and information sharing technological growth /ˌtekno'lɒdʒɪkəl grəʊθ/ Noun technological growth is the expansion or development of technology over time technological growth has led to significant improvements in healthcare and communication | the country invested heavily in research and development to foster technological growth | technological growth is essential for driving economic progress and improving living standards virtual reality /'vɜːtʃuəl ri'æləti/ Noun uncount virtual reality is a simulated experience that can be similar to or completely different from the real world he immersed himself in the virtual reality game, exploring fantastical worlds and fighting virtual monsters | virtual reality technology allows users to experience environments that would otherwise be inaccessible | the virtual reality headset provided an immersive experience, transporting users to a digital world volcano /vɒl'keɪnəʊ/ Noun a volcano is a mountain or vent in the Earth's crust through which lava, ash, and gases erupt

Collocate: dormant volcano

the volcano erupted, sending plumes of smoke and ash into the sky | the consequence of the volcano's eruption was widespread destruction | the region became industrialized due to the volcanic soil's fertility

Pages 46–47

aging population /'eɪdʒɪŋ ˌpɒpjə'leɪʃən/ Noun Phrase an aging population is a when there is a growing proportion of elderly people in a country

Collocates: have an aging population | challenges of an aging population many countries are experiencing an aging population, leading to increased demand for elderly care services | our country has an aging population | the government suggests that there are challenges to having an aging population consequence /'kɒnsɪkwəns/ Noun the consequences of something are the results or effects of it Collocates: serious consequences | consequences of her actions his lawyer said she understood the consequences of her actions and was prepared to go to jail environmental pollution /ɪnˈvaɪrənˈmentəl pəˈluːʃən/ Noun Phrase environmental pollution is when the natural environment is harmed by substances or waste. This leads to negative effects on ecosystems and human health efforts to reduce environmental pollution require collaboration between governments, industries, and communities | factories that release smoke into the air can cause environmental pollution | cleaning up beaches and parks can help reduce environmental pollution flu epidemic /fluː ɛpɪˈdɛmɪk/ Noun Phrase a flu epidemic is a large outbreak of influenza that affects a large number of people in a population or region. Influenza is also known as flu, which has symptoms such as a high temperature, headaches, tiredness, and a cough

Collocates: global flu epidemic | severe flu epidemic | prevent flu epidemic public health authorities are closely monitoring the situation to prevent the spread of the flu epidemic | during a severe flu epidemic, lots of people get sick with the flu at the same time | Doctors and nurses are working extra hard to ensure it doesn't become a global flu epidemic go hungry /gəʊ ˈhʌŋɡri/ Phrase if people go hungry, they suffer because they do not have enough food to live a healthy life my mother often went hungry to make sure her children had enough to eat | close to a billion people go hungry in the world every day | if children go hungry, their bones won't develop properly

Noun: hunger

one of the main problems in the village is hunger industrialized /ɪnˈdʌstriəlaɪzd/ Adjective a place that has lots of industry is described as industrialized at the end of the 19th century, Britain was one of the most industrialized countries in the world inequality /ɪnɪˈkwɒləti/ Noun inequality is the state of being unequal, especially in terms of access to resources, opportunities, or treatment inequality in access to education perpetuates social disparities | efforts to address income inequality are essential for achieving economic justice

Adjective: unequal | Adverb: unequally || Opposite – Noun: equality | Adjective: equal the distribution of wealth in the country is highly unequal | the education system often perpetuates unequal opportunities for students from different socioeconomic backgrounds laser /ˈleɪzə/ Noun

a laser is a device that emits a narrow beam of intense light, often used in various scientific, medical, and industrial applications the surgeon used a laser to perform precise incisions during the procedure | laser energy is used to cut through metal with high precision | the company invested in laser technology to improve manufacturing processes laser energy /ˈleɪzər ˈɛnədʒi/ Noun laser energy is the energy produced by a laser, typically used for cutting, welding, and various other applications laser energy is employed in the manufacturing of microelectronics and semiconductors | advancements in laser energy technology have led to more efficient and precise machining processes migrate /maɪˈɡreɪt/ Verb

if an animal or person migrates, they move from one place to another, often seasonally or in search of better living conditions birds migrate south for the winter to escape the cold | many people from rural areas migrate to cities in search of employment opportunities | the wildebeest migrate across the Serengeti in search of fresh grazing grounds

Noun: migration

human migration has been a driving force in shaping cultures and societies throughout history | the monarch butterfly's annual migration spans thousands of miles nuclear fusion /ˈnjuːklɪə ˈfjuːʒən/ Noun nuclear fusion is a reaction in which two atomic nuclei combine to form a heavier nucleus, releasing a large amount of energy nuclear fusion is the process that powers the sun and other stars | scientists are researching nuclear fusion as a potential source of clean and sustainable energy | achieving nuclear fusion on Earth remains a significant technological challenge poverty /ˈpɒvəti/ Noun poverty is the state of being extremely poor, lacking the means to meet basic needs such as food, shelter, and clothing

Collocates: food poverty | live in poverty poverty is a major social issue that affects millions of people around the world | the government implemented policies to reduce poverty and inequality | the community struggled with poverty due to high unemployment rates

Adjective: poor

the school's poor performance on standardized tests raised concerns among parents and educators | poor decision-making can have long-term consequences on one's financial stability shortage /ʃɔːtɪdʒ/ Noun when there is a shortage of something, there isn't enough of something that is needed or wanted

Collocate: food shortage

there is a shortage of skilled workers in the manufacturing sector | construction projects may face shortages of building materials due to supply chain disruptions | the manufacturer experienced a shortage of raw materials, delaying production

Pages 48–49

aluminum /ə'lumənəm/ Noun aluminum is a lightweight, silver metal that can be used for many different purposes, such as in construction, packaging, and transportation

Collocate: aluminum foil the aerospace industry relies on aluminum for its strength in building aircraft | some drinks cans are made of aluminum because it's easy to recycle | the shiny aluminum foil helps keep food warm and prevents it from drying out in the oven brick /brɪk/ Noun bricks are solid blocks that are laid on the ground, then put together one on top of another in order to make walls and build houses

Collocate: lay bricks

a brick building | he had a job laying bricks (putting them in place) | the houses were built of red bricks | a pile of bricks | a brick wall cardboard /'kɑ:dbɔ:d/ Noun uncount cardboard is very thick, stiff paper used to make boxes a cardboard box | we can recycle cardboard here but not plastic bottles | cardboard doesn't burn easily when it's wet | he used cardboard to make a model ship ceramic /sɪ'ræmɪk/ Noun ceramic is an inorganic, non-metallic solid made by heating materials such as clay or sand to high temperatures, typically used for pottery, tiles, and other decorative or functional items

Collocate: ceramic plate ceramics have been used for centuries in pottery and art | construction projects may use ceramic tiles for their durability and aesthetic appeal | the manufacturer specializes in producing ceramic parts for industrial applications charger /'tʃɑ:dʒə/ Noun a charger is a device that puts electricity back into batteries so that you can use them again. Batteries that let you do this are called rechargeable batteries can I borrow your phone charger? | I bought a battery charger for my camera | unplug the charger when it's not in use

Verb: charge

I need to charge my phone concrete /'kɒŋkri:t/ Noun uncount concrete is a solid substance used for building, made from water, sand, small stones, and cement the kitchen floor is made of concrete | a concrete road surface | the tunnel had concrete walls construction /kən'strʌkʃən/ Noun uncount construction is the process or business of building structures, infrastructure, or facilities

Collocate: construction company the construction of the new highway is expected to improve transportation efficiency | the construction industry plays a vital role in economic development and job creation | the manufacturer specializes in construction equipment

Verb: construct

they are constructing new office buildings and they are expected to be completed by next year hook /hʊk/ Noun

a hook is a curved piece of metal, wood, or plastic that is attached to a vertical surface such as a wall or door, where you can hang a coat, jacket, hat, etc.

a coat hook | leave your jacket on the hook there | you can use the hook behind the door | is there a hook where I can put my hat?

manufacturer /,mænjə'fæktʃərə/ Noun a manufacturer is a person or company that makes goods for sale

Collocate: computer manufacturer the manufacturer produces high-quality electronic devices for global distribution | nylon is a synthetic polymer commonly used by manufacturers for its durability and versatility | the manufacturer's warranty guarantees product quality and reliability

Verb: manufacture

the company plans to manufacture its new line of smartphones in China | the factory manufactures thousands of cars every month | it takes precision and skill to manufacture intricate electronic components nylon /'naɪlɒn/ Noun uncount nylon is a synthetic polymer made from petrochemicals, used in various applications such as textiles, plastics, and engineering materials nylon is commonly used in the production of clothing, including stockings and sportswear | the manufacturer specializes in producing nylon fibers for industrial applications | advancements in polymer chemistry have led to the development of new types of nylon polymer /'pɒlɪmə/ Noun polymer is a substance composed of large molecules made up of repeating structural units, typically linked by covalent chemical bonds polymers are widely used in everyday products such as plastics, rubber, and adhesives | the polytechnic institute offers courses in polymer science and engineering reinforced /riːɪnˈfɔːst/ Adjective if something is reinforced, it is strengthened or supported with additional material or structures

Collocate: reinforced material the reinforced concrete structure can withstand heavy loads and extreme weather conditions | reinforced packaging helps protect items during shipping

Noun: reinforcement | Verb: reinforce the reinforcements added to the bridge strengthened its structure and made it more resilient to heavy traffic | positive feedback can reinforce good behavior in children | regular practice helps reinforce learning and improve skills statistic /stəˈtɪstɪk/ Noun a statistic is a numerical fact or datum, especially one calculated from a set of data statistics show a decrease in crime rates over the past decade | the statistic reveals a correlation between income levels and educational attainment | the study collected statistics on population demographics and socioeconomic status steel /stiːl/ Noun steel is a strong metal made from iron, often used in construction and manufacturing. Iron is the most common metal on Earth

Collocates: steel industry | stainless steel they constructed the bridge using steel to ensure its strength | the factory specializes in making different components in the steel industry | my frying pan is made from stainless steel synthetic /sɪnˈθetɪk/ Adjective something that is synthetic is made by chemical synthesis, especially to imitate a natural product

Collocate: synthetic material synthetic fibers such as polyester and nylon are often used in clothing and textiles | synthetic rubber is used in the production of tires, belts, and hoses for automotive applications | traditionally, natural materials were preferred over synthetic alternatives traditionally /trəˈdɪʃənəli/ Adverb traditionally describes a way that is based on long-established customs or practices the dish is traditionally served on special occasions such as weddings and holidays | the practice of bartering goods was traditionally common in rural communities

Noun: tradition | Adjective: traditional traditional values and customs are an important part of cultural identity | the restaurant serves traditional Italian cuisine using family recipes passed down through generations | many people prefer traditional medicine over modern treatments for certain ailments

Pages 50–51

appropriate /əˈprəʊpriət/ Adjective something that is appropriate is suitable for a particular purpose or situation shouting at your teacher is not an appropriate way to show you disagree | the only appropriate response is to say you're sorry | is this an appropriate use of the money? | we need to decide whether further action is appropriate

Adverb: appropriately || Opposite – Adjective: inappropriate you should dress appropriately for the occasion | this method works well when used appropriately | inappropriate behavior can lead to a student being sent home early | several comments on the blog post were considered to be inappropriate and were removed diagnosis /daɪəgˈnəʊsɪs/ Noun a diagnosis is the identification of a medical condition or disease by analyzing symptoms and test results

Collocate: positive/negative diagnosis the doctor made a diagnosis of pneumonia based on the patient's chest x-ray and lab tests | the diagnostic process involves gathering patient history, conducting physical examinations, and ordering diagnostic tests

Verb: diagnose

the doctor will perform tests to diagnose the cause of your symptoms | it's important to diagnose a problem accurately before attempting to fix it | the mechanic diagnosed the issue with the car's engine and recommended repairs economical /iːkəˈnɒmɪkəl/ Adjective something that is economical does not need a lot of money or energy to work efficiently it's a very economical car—it costs about 7 cents a mile to run | advertising on the web is more economical than advertising on TV | an economical method of making plastic

Adverb: economically

we need to manufacture our goods more economically empower /ɪmˈpaʊə/ Verb

if something empowers someone, it helps them become independent and no longer reliant on other people or organizations he wanted to empower the poorer villagers of the region | we empower our employees to take decisions for themselves | my grandfather was determined to empower himself by studying in the evenings

Noun: empowerment | Adjective: empowering, empowered local involvement and empowerment is essential | the school offers an empowering environment for all students | our nation cannot be strong unless its women are fully empowered established /ɪ'stæblɪʃt/ Adjective if something is established, it has been in existence for a long time; recognized and widely accepted

Collocate: established something the established theory of evolution is supported by extensive scientific evidence | the manufacturer has established itself as a leader in the industry

Noun: establishment | Verb: establish the company aims to establish itself as a leader in sustainable technology | they established a scholarship fund to help students from low-income families attend college facility /fə'sɪləti/ Noun a facility is a building, place, or equipment used for a particular purpose or activity

Collocate: computer facility the sports facility includes a gymnasium, swimming pool, and tennis courts | the manufacturing facility produces electronic components for the automotive industry | the research facility is equipped with state-of-the-art laboratories and equipment guarantee /gærən'ti/ Noun a guarantee is a formal assurance or promise, especially in writing, that certain conditions will be fulfilled the product comes with a money-back guarantee if the customer is not satisfied | the warranty provides a guarantee of quality and reliability for the purchased item | the guarantee ensures that the product will be replaced if it fails within the specified period handy /'hændi/ Adjective something that is handy is useful, efficient, and easy to use a handy little tool | a handy kitchen gadget | a handy app that shows you the weather forecast for the next week | it's very handy and fits into a jacket pocket easily highlight /'haɪlaɪt/ Verb

if you highlight something, you talk or write about it in a way that draws special attention to it because you think it is important

Collocate: highlight issues/concerns/areas psychologists highlight several stages that nearly everyone goes through | the report highlights four key trends in youth crime | the minister was right to highlight the issue | she also highlighted concerns about late-night traffic noise infants /'ɪnfənts/ Noun infants are young children, especially those who are still in the early stages of development the daycare center provides care and education for infants and toddlers | infants require frequent feeding and diaper changes to meet their basic needs | newborn infants are vulnerable to infections and require special care and attention infrastructure /'ɪnfəstrʌktʃə/ Noun uncount infrastructure is all the basic facilities and services that are required for a city or town to operate successfully, such as roads, water supply, electricity supply, etc.

they built 200 new houses, but there's no infrastructure in place yet | the transport infrastructure has been improved over the last five years lacking /'lækɪŋ/ Adjective if something is lacking, it is deficient or insufficient in quality or quantity the candidate's application was rejected due to lacking qualifications and experience | the report was criticized for lacking sufficient evidence to support its conclusions | the team's performance was lacking in key areas, resulting in a disappointing outcome

Noun: lack

many rural areas lack access to basic services such as healthcare and education | the project failed due to a lack of funding and support | if you lack confidence in yourself, it can hold you back from reaching your full potential neat /ni:t/ Adjective something that is neat is simple and effective this was a neat solution to the problem | that's a neat way of looking at the issue | this is a really neat website | that's a neat idea

Adverb: neatly

his final paragraph neatly summarized the problem | the material is neatly divided into four separate subject areas practical /'præktɪkəl/ Adjective if a person is practical, they make sensible decisions and deal effectively with problems

Collocate: practical skills practical experience is essential for mastering complex tasks and problem-solving | the new software offers practical solutions for streamlining business operations predominantly /prɪ'dɒmɪnəntli/ Adverb you use predominantly to indicate which feature or quality is most noticeable in a situation the region is predominantly rural, with agriculture being the main economic activity | the workforce in the technology industry is predominantly male | the study found that the disease predominantly affects older adults

Adjective: predominant

English is the predominant language spoken in the U.K. | in this industry, male workers are predominant, but efforts are being made to promote diversity | the predominant color scheme in the room is blue and white sensitivity /sensɪ'tɪvəti/ Noun a sensitivity is the quality or condition of being sensitive, responsive, or easily affected the sensitivity of the microphone allows it to pick up even faint sounds | the issue requires sensitivity when dealing with affected individuals

Adjective: sensitive

some people are more sensitive to criticism than others | the issue of climate change is sensitive and requires careful consideration | the sensitive equipment must be handled with care to avoid damage shell /ʃel/ Verb

if you shell corn, you separate the kernels (small yellow pieces) from the cob (the main part of the plant) a device for shelling corn sophisticated /sə'fɪstɪkətɪd/ Adjective something that is sophisticated is very complicated, advanced, and efficient a sophisticated solution to the problem of dirty drinking water | a sophisticated car alarm system | sophisticated electronic equipment | they use sophisticated software to identify new customers

Noun: sophistication

despite the sophistication of the app, I found it very easy to use telecommunications /telɪkəmjuːnɪ'keɪʃənz/ Noun plural telecommunications is the technology of sending signals and messages over long distances using electronic equipment, for example, by radio and telephone advancements in telecommunications have revolutionized global communication and connectivity | the telecommunications industry encompasses a wide range of technologies and services | telecommunications networks enable people to communicate instantaneously across vast distances transportation /ˌtrænsˈpɔː'teɪʃən/ Noun uncount transportation refers to any type of vehicle that you can travel in or carry goods in advancements in transportation technology have led to faster and more efficient modes of travel | transportation infrastructure includes roads, railways, airports, and ports water purifier /'wɔːtə 'pjʊərɪfaɪə/ Noun a water purifier is a device that removes harmful or dirty substances from water to make it safe to drink if you don't have a water purifier, you should boil the water before drinking it | I drink water from the tap, but only after it's been through the water purifier workforce /'wɜːkˌfɔːs/ Noun the workforce is the total number of people in a country or region who are physically able to do a job and are available for work

Collocate: large workforce technological advancements have led to changes in the workforce, requiring new skills and training | the workforce is experiencing a shift toward remote and flexible work arrangements

Pages 52–53

adjust /ə'dʒʌst/ Verb to adjust something means to change it slightly in order to make it better or more effective the machine adjusts the temperature automatically | you'll probably need to adjust the seatbelt | add the cream and adjust the seasoning

Noun: adjustment | Adjective: adjustable

Collocates: make an adjustment | an adjustable seatbelt/strap we'll try it out and see whether we need to make some adjustments | these seats are adjustable | is the temperature of the room adjustable? | these pants have an adjustable waist code /kəʊd/ Noun

a code is a sequence of letters and or numbers that are used to let you unlock something, operate an alarm, etc.

enter the code, then press the button at the side | I've forgotten the code for the burglar alarm | you need to remember the code, and don't give it to anyone else filter /'fɪltə/ Noun

a filter is an effect that allows you to decorate or change an image before publishing it. Filters are available on many social media apps

Collocate: photo filter everything looks amazing through the right Instagram filter flashing /'flæʃɪŋ/ Adjective flashing lights, pictures, screens, etc. shine very brightly for a short time, then go dark, then shine brightly again, and so on flashing red lights mean you are meant to stop | there are flashing yellow lights at the street crossing outside the school | a police car with blue flashing lights

Noun: flash | Verb: flash

did you see that flash of light over there? | motorists often flash their lights to say thank you jammed /dʒæmd/ Adjective if something is jammed, it is blocked or obstructed due to overcrowding or congestion the subway train was jammed with commuters during rush hour | the concert venue was jammed with excited fans eager to see their favorite band perform | the printer got jammed with paper, causing it to malfunction

Verb: jam

please don't jam too many clothes into the suitcase, or it won't close properly | the traffic jam on the highway caused delays for hours | if you force the paper into the printer, it might jam and cause a malfunction mechanical failure /mə'kæɪnɪkl'feɪljə/ Phrase a mechanical failure is a breakdown or malfunction of a mechanical device or system the airplane was forced to land due to a mechanical failure in one of the engines | a mechanical failure in the elevator trapped passengers between two floors | regular maintenance can help prevent mechanical failures punch /'pʌntʃ/ Verb to punch is press buttons or keys on a computer, phone, etc. in order to operate it she punched the numbers into the calculator to calculate the total cost purchase /'pɜ:tʃəs/ Noun a purchase is something that you have bought an impulse purchase (something you buy suddenly without planning to buy it) | they put pressure on us to make a purchase | the receipt shows the date of purchase | local restaurants offer delicious food for purchase

Noun: purchaser | Verb: purchase

we are negotiating with a number of potential purchasers | the original property was purchased in 1933 | do you recommend purchasing tickets in advance?

replacement /rɪ'pleɪsmənt/ Noun a replacement is something that takes the place of another thing that you no longer have or can use Collocate: a replacement for something they gave him a replacement for his watch | a hip replacement (an artificial hip used to replace someone's real hip) | replacement car parts | several of the sales team are leaving, so we'll have to find replacements for them

Verb: replace

we need to replace the batteries | the V8 engine was replaced by a new unit | a brick wall replaced the old wooden fence resolved /rɪ'zɒlvd/ Adjective if you are resolved to do something, you are determined to do it Collocate: resolved issue

she was resolved to overcome her fear of public speaking and enrolled in a speaking course | the team remained resolved to achieve their goals despite facing obstacles along the way | he felt resolved in his decision to have a career in medicine

Verb: resolve

the two parties finally resolved their dispute through mediation | she made a New Year's resolution to exercise more and eat more healthily | it's important to resolve conflicts peacefully and without resorting to violence signal /'sɪgnəl/ Noun

a signal is electrical waves that carry sound and pictures to mobile phones, computers, etc.

I can't hear you very well, there's a really bad signal here | I can never get a signal in the back garden | there's no signal on the island, so I'll send you a postcard! | the wi-fi signal is very weak on the fourth floor swallow /'swɒləʊ/ Verb to swallow something is to consume (take something in) or completely cover it be careful not to swallow the water while swimming | it's difficult to swallow pills without water | he felt as if he were being swallowed by the darkness of despair undo /ʌn'du:/ Verb

if you undo something that is tied or fastened together, you loosen it or release it so that it can open he undid the strap round the suitcase | he undid the top button on his shirt | the knot was so tight I couldn't undo it

Pages 54–55

bionic /baɪ'ɒnɪk/ Adjective in science fiction books or movies, a bionic person is someone who has special powers, such as being exceptionally strong or having exceptionally good sight, because parts of their body have been replaced by electronic machinery

Collocate: bionic arm

the bionic prosthetic limb allowed the amputee to regain mobility and dexterity | the bionic eye is a remarkable advancement in medical technology component /kəm'pəʊnənt/ Noun the components of something are the parts that it is made of Collocate: important component the computer consists of various components, including the processor, memory, and storage devices | each component of the car engine plays a vital role in its operation | the circuit board contains electronic components soldered onto its surface construct /kən'strʌkt/ Verb if you construct something, you build or create it, typically a structure or system they plan to construct a new office building | the team worked together to construct a prototype of the new product | the architect carefully constructed the design for the new library

Noun: construction

the construction of the new bridge is expected to be completed by the end of next year | the construction industry provides jobs for thousands of workers | the building's construction was delayed due to adverse weather conditions crude /kru:d/ Adjective if something is crude, it is in a natural or raw state; not yet processed or refined

Collocate: crude oil

crude oil is extracted from the ground and refined into various petroleum products | the artist used crude materials such as mud and clay to create sculptures | the design was still in a crude form and required further refinement dexterity /dek'stɛrəti/ Noun dexterity is skill in using your hands, or sometimes your mind the surgeon's dexterity allowed her to work quickly | musicians develop dexterity in playing musical instruments through practice and training | the art of calligraphy requires dexterity and control of the writing instrument fend for /fɛnd fɔː/ Phrasal verb if you have to fend for yourself, you have to look after yourself without relying on help from anyone else

Collocate: fend for yourself the man and his young son had been made homeless and had to fend for themselves flex /flɛks/ Verb

if you flex a muscle or a part of your body, you move or bend it slightly, often as a part of doing exercise

if I flex my muscles, the artificial hand opens and closes the fingers | lie on your back and flex your feet | he held up his hands and flexed his fingers motor skills /'məʊtə skɪlz/ Noun motor skills are the ability to perform movements and tasks that involve the use of muscles and coordination of body parts children develop motor skills through activities such as crawling, walking, and grasping objects | fine motor skills involve precise movements of the hands and fingers, such as writing and drawing | gross motor skills involve larger muscle groups and movements, such as running and jumping on a par with /ɒn əpɑː wɪð/ Phrase on a par with is equal to or comparable with someone or something the quality of their products is on a par with those of leading competitors | her performance in the competition was on a par with that of seasoned professionals | the new smartphone features technology that is on a par with the latest models on the market prosthetic /prɒs'thetɪk/ Adjective if something is prosthetic, it is used as an artificial body part, typically a limb or organ he regained mobility with the help of a prosthetic leg after the accident | the prosthetic hand allowed the patient to perform everyday tasks with ease | advances in prosthetic technology have improved the functionality and comfort of artificial limbs remarkable /rɪ'mɑːkəbəl/ Adjective if something is remarkable, it is worthy of attention or worthy of being noticed, especially for being unusual or outstanding the student's remarkable intelligence was evident from a young age | the team made remarkable progress in a short amount of time | the discovery of a new species in the rainforest is truly remarkable

Adverb: remarkably

she performed remarkably well on her exams, considering how little time she spent studying | the team's performance improved remarkably after the coach implemented a new training regime robotic /rəʊ'bɒtɪk/ Adjective if something is robotic, it relates to or is characteristic of robots or automated systems the factory uses robotic arms to build products with precision and efficiency | robotic technology is used in various industries, including manufacturing, healthcare, and agriculture | the robotic vacuum cleaner navigates around obstacles and cleans floors automatically

Noun: robot

robotics is a field of engineering that focuses on designing and building robots | the company invested in state-of-the-art robots to automate their manufacturing processes under-served /ʌndə'sɜːvd/ Adjective if a group of people are under-served, they do not have access to as much help or assistance as most other people children are still under-served by the prosthetics industry | they live in an underserved area, with no hospital within 40 miles | we are trying to improve things for underserved groups global warming /'gləʊbəl 'wɔːmɪŋ/ Noun uncount global warming is the dangerous increase in the temperature of the Earth, caused by things such as the burning of coal, petrol, etc.

Page 56

global warming is the biggest problem we face at the moment | just because it's snowing doesn't mean that global warming isn't happening | scientists are agreed that we need to act to stop global warming

UNIT 5: TRAVEL EXPERIENCES

Page 57

layer /'leɪə/ Noun

a layer is a flat amount of something that covers something else, or that is between two other things

Collocate: a layer of something the 3D printer builds them up layer by layer | if you peel the tape away, some layers of ink come off | the roof was a single layer of steel sheets | put a layer of potatoes in the bottom of the dish, then a layer of onions self-service /self 'sɜ:rvis/ Adjective self-service stores, restaurants, etc. are places where customers take what they need and pay for the products without help from staff self-service automat

Pages 58–59

anything goes /'eniθɪŋ ɡəʊz/ Phrase you say anything goes to refer to a situation where there are no strict rules and where people can do whatever they want to do it's a school where anything goes | they're very casual and relaxed there—anything goes | I asked about what I should wear and they said anything goes buying souvenirs /baɪɪŋ su:və'nɪəz/ Phrase buying souvenirs means you are purchasing items, typically gifts, to remind you of a place you have visited we spent the afternoon buying souvenirs from local stores to bring back home | she enjoys buying souvenirs wherever she travels to add to her collection | they are buying souvenirs from the souvenir store near the beach energetic /ɛnə'dʒetɪk/ Adjective something or someone who is energetic has a lot of enthusiasm and determination the energetic tour guide led the group on an exciting exploration of the city | she felt more energetic after a swim in the ocean

Noun: energy | Adverb: energetically renewable energy sources such as solar and wind power are becoming increasingly popular | everybody was having fun and dancing energetically exploring neighborhoods /ɪk'splɔ:ɪŋ 'neɪbəhʊdz/ Phrase if someone is exploring neighborhoods, they are investigating or discovering different areas within a local community or area we spent the weekend exploring neighborhoods in the city | exploring neighborhoods on foot allows you to get a real sense of the local culture and atmosphere | they enjoy exploring neighborhoods together, finding cafes and interesting street art itinerary /aɪ'tɪnərəri/ Noun an itinerary is a list of all the places that you will go to and activities you will do on a journey a busy itinerary | have you seen the itinerary for tomorrow? | you can see the itinerary on their web page | I'm afraid the museum is not on the itinerary rafting /'rɑ:ftɪŋ/ Noun uncount rafting is the activity of sailing down a river on a raft (a platform that floats, made from pieces of wood or other material that are tied together)

I love rafting on the Zambezi | I was too scared to try white-water rafting (rafting down a very fast flowing river) | we spent the afternoon river rafting

Noun: raft

we had a raft race across the river rewarding /rɪ'wɔ:dɪŋ/ Adjective an activity that is rewarding is good because you get pleasure or some benefit from it

Collocates: hugely/richly rewarding | a rewarding hobby/pastime | a rewarding experience the journey was a hugely rewarding experience | it's a very rewarding job | it's financially rewarding | emotionally rewarding

Noun: reward | Verb: reward

Collocate: enjoy/obtain/get a reward (for/from something) he got the rewards for all his hard work | she was rewarded with promotion to sergeant snorkeling /'snɔ:kəlɪŋ/ Noun uncount snorkeling is the activity of swimming just below the surface of the water, using a pipe that sticks out above the water so that you can breathe in air

it's a popular spot for snorkeling | we tried rafting, windsurfing, and snorkeling | guests can enjoy snorkeling in the clear, warm water

Noun: snorkel | Verb: snorkel

I left my snorkel behind | we snorkeled in the warm water stimulate /'stɪmjəleɪt/ Verb if you stimulate someone, you make them think a lot in an enjoyable or useful way music can stimulate us | toys help stimulate the child's creativity | getting a new teacher really stimulated his interest in the subject

Noun: stimulation | Adjective: stimulating children need lots of stimulation otherwise they get bored | the concert was entertaining and quite stimulating survey /'sɜːveɪ/ Noun

if you carry out a survey, you try to find out detailed information about a lot of different people or things, usually by asking people a series of questions

Collocates: customer survey | survey showed | recent survey the survey revealed that most people prefer to travel by train | students conducted a survey to gather data for their research project | the annual survey measures customer satisfaction with the company's services

Verb: survey

the architect surveyed the land before designing the new building | we need to survey the market to understand consumer preferences taking a guided tour /teɪkɪŋ ə 'gaɪdɪd tʊə/ Phrase if someone is taking a guided tour, they are participating in a trip where there is a guide who gives you information and takes you around a place

Collocates: taking a guided tour of | taking a guided tour around

we learned a lot about the city's history by taking a guided tour of its famous landmarks | the guided tour around the area gave us a lot of information about the local culture | taking a guided tour of the museum allowed us to appreciate the artwork with a deeper understanding visiting museums /vɪzɪtɪŋ mjuː'ziːəmz/ Phrase when someone is visiting museums, they are going to institutions that look after and display objects of artistic, cultural, historical, or scientific significance

we spent the day visiting museums and galleries | visiting museums is a great way to learn about different cultures and civilisations | the children liked visiting museums where there were dinosaurs visiting a theme park /vɪzɪtɪŋ ə θiːm pɑːk/ Phrase when people are visiting a theme park, they are at a place with with themed attractions, rides, and entertainment. Sometimes, parts of the theme park is dedicated to a movie, characters, or animation studios we're planning on visiting a theme park next weekend to celebrate my birthday | visiting a theme park is always a fun experience | the children were excited about visiting the theme park volunteer /ˌvɒləntɪə/ Noun a volunteer is someone who does work without being paid for it, because they want to do it

Collocates: work as a volunteer | volunteer in my free time many volunteers help clean up beaches to protect marine life | she decided to become a volunteer at the local animal shelter | volunteers assisted in distributing food to families in need during the holidays

Verb: volunteer | Adjective: voluntary | Adverb: voluntarily she volunteers at the local animal shelter every weekend | many students do voluntary work in their free time | he decided to leave voluntarily before they fired him

Pages 60–61

baggage restrictions /bəˈɡɪdʒ rɪ'strɪkʃənz/ Noun Phrase baggage restrictions are rules or limitations on the size, weight, or contents of luggage allowed on transport, e.g., planes

Collocate: carry-on baggage restrictions due to baggage restrictions, passengers are advised to check the airline's guidelines before packing | make sure to review the baggage restrictions to avoid any surprises at the airport | what's the carry-on baggage restrictions?

insurance /ɪn'ʃʊərəns/ Noun insurance is an arrangement in which you pay money to a company, and they pay money to you if something unpleasant happens to you

Collocate: insurance company travel insurance provides coverage for unexpected emergencies while abroad | it's important to have health insurance to cover medical expenses | car insurance protects against damages and accidents

Verb: insure | Adjective: insured make sure you are insured before you travel abroad | the insured value of the car was higher than its market price neglected /nɪ'ɡlektɪd/ Adjective if something is neglected, it is suffering from a lack of care the neglected garden was overrun with weeds and overgrown plants | the neglected puppy was rescued and nursed back to health by animal welfare volunteers

Noun: neglect | Verb: neglect the historic building fell into disrepair after years of neglect | it's important not to neglect your mental health | the landlord neglected to repair the leaky roof, causing water damage to the building | the teacher noticed that the student was neglecting her homework operator /'ɒpəreɪtə/ Noun an operator is a person or company that runs a particular business Collocate: tour/bus/train operator the tour operator arranged transportation and accommodations for the group | the telephone operator assisted customers with their inquiries | the computer operator monitors the performance of the network system

Verb: operate the company operates a chain of stores across the country phone charger /fəʊn 'tʃɑːdʒə/ Noun Phrase a phone charger is a device used to recharge the battery of a cell phone or electronic device

Collocates: use a phone charger | borrow a phone charger | have a phone charger can I use your phone charger? | I need to borrow a phone charger—my battery's low | she always has a phone charger in case her battery runs out pressure /'preʃə/ Noun pressure on a person, involves someone else trying to persuade or force them to do something Collocate: pressure on students often experience pressure to perform well on exams | the pressure of deadlines helps some people to work more efficiently

Verb: pressure | Adjective: pressured don't pressure him into making a decision before he's ready | the athletes felt pressure to perform well in the championship match | the government is under pressure to address the issue of climate change restriction /rɪ'strɪkʃən/ Noun a restriction is an official rule that limits what you can do or the amount or size of something there are restrictions on the number of guests allowed in the hotel pool | dietary restrictions prohibit certain foods for individuals with allergies | the airline introduced new baggage restrictions to reduce costs

Verb: restrict | Adjective: restricted the new regulations restrict access to the protected wildlife sanctuary | the doctor advised him to restrict his intake of sugary foods to improve his health | there is restricted access to certain websites during work hours sunscreen /sʌn kri:m/ Noun Phrase sunscreen is a lotion or cream applied to the skin to protect against sunburn and skin damage from ultraviolet (UV) rays

Collocates: use sun cream | wear sun cream

It's important to apply sunscreen before going outside to protect your skin | have you put on your sunscreen? | you need to wear sunscreen—it's really warm outside vaccination /væksɪ'neɪʃən/ Noun a vaccination is a medical injection of a substance into your body that is intended to prevent you catching a particular disease

I had to have several vaccinations before I went to Malawi | some parents are still refusing vaccination for their children | doctors recommend that people receive annual influenza vaccinations

Noun: vaccine | Verb: vaccinate

Collocates: vaccine for something | vaccinate someone against something a safe and effective vaccine | the vaccine was administered to approximately 10,000 children | is there a vaccine for malaria? | all children should be vaccinated against measles | more than 90% of Brazil's infant population was vaccinated valid /'vælɪd/ Adjective an official document that is valid is still acceptable because it has not yet reached the date when it expires (stops being acceptable)

my passport is valid for another three years | if your passport is no longer valid, you'll have to get a new one before you go to Colombia | is your driving licence still valid?

Pages 62–63

authentic /ɔ:'θentɪk/ Adjective if something is authentic, it is real and what it is claimed to be and not a copy the restaurant serves authentic Italian cuisine made from traditional recipes | she purchased an authentic antique rug from a local artisan | the museum houses authentic artifacts dating back to ancient civilizations

Noun: authenticity || Opposite – Adjective: inauthentic

the authenticity of the painting was confirmed by experts | consumers value the authenticity of handmade products over mass-produced ones | the restaurant prides itself on the authenticity of its traditional cuisine badly-behaved /'bædli-bɪ'heɪvd/ Adjective if someone is badly-behaved, they are rude or do annoying things my niece is an incredibly badly-behaved child | badly-behaved pupils will be reported to the headteacher mind goes blank /maɪnd ɡəʊz blæŋk/ Phrase if your mind goes blank, you suddenly cannot think properly and cannot remember something that is actually quite obvious she asked me how to say "I love you" in Spanish and my mind just went blank | she looked up confidently, then suddenly her mind went blank | for a moment my mind went blank, then it all came back to me change your mind /tʃeɪndʒ jɔ: maɪnd/ Phrase if you change your mind, you make a different decision from one that you have already made

I was going to go out this evening, but then I changed my mind | if you change your mind, ring me and I'll come and pick you up | it's too late to change your mind now, you've already accepted the invitation corridor /'kɒrɪdɔ:/ Noun a corridor is a passage in a building with doors to rooms on one or both sides of it go down the corridor and you'll find my office on the left | a corridor ran the length of the building (went from one end to the other) | go up the stairs at the end of the corridor damp /dæmp/ Adjective something that is damp is slightly wet in an unpleasant way the room was cold, damp, and dark | my shirt is still damp | it was very damp in the cellar | the carpet feels damp

Noun: dampness dampness can cause damage to a building gold rush /ɡəʊld rʌʃ/ Noun a gold rush is a situation in which a lot of people go to a particular area because they think they will be able to find gold in the ground and become rich. The first famous gold rush was in California in 1848 the town was built during the first great gold rush | the Australian gold rush started in 1851 | he made a lot of money in the gold rush have a lot on your mind /hæv ə lɒt ɒn jɔː maɪnd/ Phrase if you have a lot on your mind, you have a lot of problems that you think about all the time

I've had a lot on my mind recently, which is why I haven't been in touch | don't disturb your brother this evening, he's got a lot on his mind heritage /'herɪtɪdʒ/ Noun uncount a country's heritage is its cultural traditions that have developed over a long time, its important and historical buildings, and its history

Collocates: a rich heritage | a national/cultural heritage people should appreciate their own heritage | buildings that are part of our heritage | the country's rich cultural heritage interaction /ˌɪntə'ræktʃən/ Noun interaction is the act or process of communicating or engaging with others, often involving mutual exchange or influence

Collocate: interaction with face-to-face interaction is essential for building strong relationships | social media platforms allow for online interaction with friends and followers | the teacher encouraged student interaction during group activities

Verb: interact | Adjective: interactive | Adverb: interactively children learn to interact with others through play | the software allows users to interact with each other in real-time | an interactive online map | users can interactively view the content on our website of two minds /ɪn tuː maɪndz/ Phrase if you are of two minds, you are having difficulty making a decision about something

Collocate: be of two minds about something I'm of two minds about taking the job | I was of two minds until the last minute | she was of two minds about what to do makeover /'meɪkəʊvə/ Noun if you give something a makeover, you clean it or repair it or change it in some way to make it more attractive

Collocate: give something a makeover we've given the kitchen a complete makeover | the house is in need of a makeover | the hotel has had a $1 million makeover mattress /'mætrəs/ Noun a mattress is the soft part of a bed that you lie on to sleep a really comfortable mattress | this mattress is too soft for me | we need a new mattress for the spare bed | you should replace your mattress every eight years mind you /maɪnd juː/ Phrase you say "mind you" when you are about to say something that explains or emphasizes what you have just said

It's not a nice room. Mind you, for $12 a night, what do you expect? | yes, that's me. Mind you, the photo is twelve years old porch /pɔːtʃ/ Noun

a porch is a small roof over the entrance to a house or church we took shelter from the rain under the porch | the church porch dates back to the 15th century | the front porch was damaged in the storm prospector /prəs'pektə/ Noun a prospector is someone who goes to an area and tries to find something valuable in the ground such as gold or diamonds

the bar was full of prospectors | prospectors found several oil fields in the state | most of the prospectors left without finding anything

Verb: prospect

Collocate: prospect for something the company is prospecting for gold in the north of the country put your mind to something /pʊt jɔː maɪnd tuː 'sʌmθɪŋ/ Phrase if you put your mind to something, you make a determined effort to do it you'll succeed if you put your mind to it | if Elias had really put his mind to it, he'd have finished by now | this shows what people can achieve if they only put their mind to it renovation /ˌrenə'veɪʃən/ Noun uncount renovation is the activity of repairing and improving a building the building needs some renovation, but it's basically in good condition | renovation of the station cost over $2m | the renovation took over three years to complete | the last major renovation was in 1984

Verb: renovate the cinema was renovated two years ago restore /rɪ'stɔː/ Verb

if you restore something that was very old, broken, or not working properly, you repair it so that it is as good as it was when it was new they've been restoring the old palace for years | they restored the old mosque to its original condition | the church has been beautifully restored | he spends his weekends restoring old cars

Noun: restoration

restoration of the cathedral took over seven years shutters /'ʃʌtəz/ Noun plural shutters are solid pieces of wood or metal that swing across to cover a window there were wooden shutters in the upstairs windows | I've never lived in a house with shutters | he got up and opened the shutters to let in the morning light vaulted /'vɔːltɪd/ Adjective if something such as a ceiling is vaulted, it is not flat but curves upward toward the middle then back down again the room has white walls and a high vaulted ceiling | a vaulted stone arch | a vaulted cellar

Pages 64–65boutique /buː'tiːk/ Noun a boutique is a small shop that sells fashionable clothes, shoes, or jewelry

Collocates: boutique hotel | boutique shop she found a beautiful dress at a local boutique | the boutique offers handmade jewelry and accessories | the boutique hotel provides personalized service and upscale amenities couch /kaʊtʃ/ Noun

a couch is a long, soft chair that two or more people can sit on at the same time there's a big couch in the living room | they sat down on the couch | we need to buy a new couch | she lay on the couch for a few minutes | a comfortable couch | we sat on the couch watching TV hospitality /hɒspɪ'tæləti/ Noun uncount hospitality is friendly and welcoming behavior toward visitors we pride ourselves on our hospitality | thanks for your warm and generous hospitality | we accepted their hospitality for the night (we stayed at their house overnight)

Adjective: hospitable | Adverb: hospitably || Opposite – Adjective: inhospitable our hosts were very hospitable and friendly | they offered us a warm and hospitable welcome | Zora went to California, where she was hospitably entertained | the front door stood hospitably open | my aunt was a most inhospitable woman—I never even saw inside her house host /həʊst/ Noun your host is the person whose home you are staying in, or the person who has invited you to an event such as a party we need to take a present for our host | our host welcomed us at the door | I spent six months living with a host family in Rome

Verb: host

we hosted a dinner for several of our neighbors opt /ɒpt/ Verb

if you opt to do something, you decide to do that thing rather than something else. If you opt for something, you choose it from among several possibilities

Collocates: opt to do something | opt for something we opted to dine in the hotel restaurant | several states have opted to increase taxes | I opted for drama school rather than college | she opted for leather jacket and jeans

Noun: option | Adjective: optional of course, an electric car would be another option (another thing you could choose) | there are plenty of additional options available | the digital radio is an optional extra (you can choose to have it but at an extra cost) saddle /'sædəl/ Noun

a saddle is a leather seat that you put on the back of an animal so that you can ride the animal, or the seat on a bicycle or motorcycle

she adjusted the saddle on her horse before going for a ride | the cyclist's saddle was padded for comfort during long rides stick to /stɪk tu:/ Phrasal verb if you stick to something, you continue to do it or use it rather than changing to something different let's stick to the original plan | I always find it hard to stick to a diet | she stuck to her word (she did what she had promised to do) unfamiliar /ʌnfə'mɪliə/ Adjective if something is unfamiliar to you, you know nothing or very little about it, because you have not seen or experienced it before

Collocate: unfamiliar places

she felt uneasy in the unfamiliar surroundings of the new city | the unfamiliar language made it difficult to communicate with the locals

Opposite – Adjective: familiar

she was relieved to see some familiar faces in the room | are you familiar with the software they use?

Pages 66–67

catch /kætʃ/ Verb

if you catch someone, you succeed in seeing them to talk to before they have left and gone somewhere else

I wanted to catch you before you left for the airport | you'll have to hurry if you want to catch him | I managed to catch her just as she was going out the door figure out /'fɪgər aʊt/ Phrasal verb

if you figure out a problem or a situation, you think about it until you have an answer to it or an understanding of it

I'm trying to figure out where you are | it didn't take long to figure out that he had stolen all my money | she wouldn't tell me where she'd put it, so I had to figure it out for myself shot /ʃɒt/ Noun

a shot is a picture taken by a camera or a sequence of pictures in a film

Collocate: a close-up shot

he managed to get an exclusive shot of Madonna as she left the hotel | he took several shots of the inside of the restaurant | a close-up shot of her earrings | the movie opened with a shot of Obama entering the White House

Verb: shoot

we're going to Ireland to shoot the final scenes of the movie weird /wiəd/ Adjective something that is weird is very strange it was a great exhibition, but the paintings were a bit weird | weird behavior | we listened to some weird music | it felt weird having lunch outside with snow on the ground | I know it sounds weird, but that's how it was

Adverb: weirdly

the town was weirdly familiar

Page 68

bear /beə/ Verb

if you can't bear something, you dislike it very much and do not want it to continue any more

I'm thinking of leaving. I just can't bear it here | he couldn't bear the pain of losing his only son | I couldn't bear the thought of waking up in prison | they couldn't bear the idea of being separated

UNIT 6: DEVELOPMENT

Page 69

boost /bu:st/ Verb to boost something means to improve it or increase it.

this could help to boost profits | an attempt to boost tourism in the area | this win has boosted the team's confidence | the hot weather dramatically boosted demand for cold drinks

Noun: boost

Collocate: give something a boost this should provide a boost for the economy | a boost for her confidence | some tips on how to give your LinkedIn profile a much-needed boost eco-friendly /'i:kəʊ-'frɛndli/ Adjective something that is eco-friendly does not cause damage to the environment an eco-friendly electric car hire scheme | an eco-friendly tourist agency offering cycle tours | an eco-friendly alternative to air travel enhance /ɪn'hɑ:ns/ Verb to enhance something means to improve it or make it look more attractive moving to the country enhanced our quality of life | this skill will greatly enhance your musical creativity | in what ways can technology enhance traditional methods? | hearing, rather than reading, poetry enhances our understanding of it

Noun: enhancement

Collocat: an enhancement to something the company is planning further enhancements to the product renewable energy /rɪ'nju:əbəl 'enədʒi/ Noun renewable energy and materials do not use up the Earth's supply of things like coal, oil, or gas, but instead use the power of the sun or the power of wind or waves that will not run out the boat is powered by renewable energy

Adjective: renewable

the water used for renewable power generation | we should get this material from renewable sources | forests are renewable natural resources reputation /ˌrɛp.jə'teɪʃən/ Noun a reputation is the beliefs or opinions that are generally held about someone or something; the state of being widely known or recognized for a particular feature or achievement

Collocate: good/bad reputation his reputation as a reliable employee earned him a promotion | the company's reputation for quality products attracted many customers | a good reputation is key in the business world | the hotel's reputation for excellent service is well-deserved

Adjective: reputable

it's important to choose a well known company when seeking legal advice | the organization has a long history of providing reputable services to the community thrive /θraɪv/ Verb someone or something that is thriving is very successful and developing or living in a very healthy way

Collocate: thrive on something

she's at college now, and thriving | the arts thrive in a multicultural environment like this one | as an actor, he thrives on all this attention | very few insects thrive in the winter | other department stores thrive in the city center

Adjective: thriving

Lancaster has a thriving art community | a thriving cotton industry

Pages 70–71

block /blɒk/ Noun

a block is a larg building in a town or city, for example one containing a lot of offices (an office block) or a lot of apartments (an apartment block)

they knocked down the old movie theater and built a new apartment block | I work in an office block in the city center | a twelve-storey tower block bus station /bʌs 'steɪʃən/ Noun Phrase a bus station is a place where buses arrive and depart. It is usually the central place where buses start and finish their journeys can you tell me where the bus station is? | passengers should arrive early at the bus station to ensure they don't miss their bus | the new bus station has electronic ticket gates

Celsius /'sentɪɡreɪd/ Noun a scale of temperature on which water freezes at 0 degrees and boils at 100 degrees under standard atmospheric pressure

Collocate: 10 degrees Celsius water freezes at 0 degrees Celsius and boils at 100 degrees Celsius | the weather forecast predicted temperatures in the mid-20s Celsius for the weekend | the Celsius scale is commonly used in scientific and meteorological contexts exceed /ɪk'si:d/ Verb

if something exceeds something else, it is greater in number, amount, extent, or degree than that thing

Collocate: exceed expectations the number of applicant's exceeded employers | the noise level exceeded the legal limit, prompting complaints from neighbors | sales this quarter exceeded last year's figures by 20% | his ambition exceeded his abilities, leading to disappointment | the party exceeded all expectations, with over 500 guests attending

Noun: excess | Adjective: excessive | Adverb: exceedingly the store manager ordered an excess of inventory to meet the high demand during the holiday season | the athlete was penalized for excessive celebration after scoring a goal | the team played exceedingly well green space /grɪːn speɪs/ Noun Phrase green space is areas of land covered with grass, trees, plants, or other vegetation. It can be used for a number of reasons, e.g., leisure, farming cities need more green space to provide residents with areas for outdoor activities | the park is a popular green space where people can enjoy picnics and walks | the city doesn't have much green space high-rise /'haɪraɪz/ Adjective a high-rise building is one that is very tall and has lots of floors she lives on the twelfth floor of a high-rise apartment block | high-rise development has been banned here | high-rise residential buildings

Noun: high-rise

there are plans to build four more high-rises along the river influx /'ɪnflʌks/ Noun an influx is the arrival or entry of a large number of people or things Collocate: influx of people the city experienced an influx of tourists during the summer months | an influx of donations helped the charity expand its services | the hospital is preparing for an influx of patients during flu season | the company's new advert resulted in an influx of customers inhabit /ɪn'hæbɪt/ Verb to inhabit is to live or occupy a place as a permanent or temporary resident the island is inhabited by various species of birds and marine life | humans have inhabited the Earth for thousands of years | the ancient ruins are believed to have been inhabited by a civilization that predates recorded history

Noun: inhabitant || Opposite – Adjective: uninhabited

the city has a diverse population of inhabitants from various cultural backgrounds | the biologist studied the behavior of the inhabitants of the rainforest | the house has been uninhabited for years, overrun by nature's reclaiming tendrils intersection /ɪntə'sekʃən/ Noun an intersection is a place where two large roads come together and cross each other most motorcycle accidents occur at intersections | a large highway intersection | at the next intersection, leave the highway and get onto the A38 | a busy intersection

Verb: intersect

three major roads intersect at this point knock down /nɒk daʊn/ Phrasal verb to knock down a building means to destroy it completely, for example, because it is old and no longer safe or because you are going to put a new building there. Knock down is used in informal and spoken English; a more formal word is demolish

my old school is going to be knocked down | they're knocking down some of the old high-rise blocks | I think it's time they knocked it down luxury apartment /lʌkʃəri ə'pɑːtmənt/ Noun Phrase a luxury apartment is a nice and fancy place a person lives, with special features and amenities. It is of high quality and is often expensive

Collocates: live in a luxury apartment | build luxury apartments | own a luxury apartment

they live in a luxury apartment with a beautiful view of the city and a swimming pool on the rooftop | they are building luxury apartments next to the station | would you like to own a luxury apartment like that?

market square /mɑːkɪt skweə/ Noun Phrase a market square is a public area where markets, fairs, or other events are held. It is often surrounded by shops and buildings every weekend, the market square transforms into a lively marketplace with delicious food | the historic market square is surrounded by cafes and shops | we have a huge market square downtown metropolis /mɪ'trɒpəlɪs/ Noun a metropolis is a very large city with a lot of exciting and interesting activity going on in it there are numerous museums throughout the metropolis | Tokyo is a lively metropolis | after ten years in the metropolis, village life felt very slow and dull modernize /'mɒdənaɪz/ Verb if something is modernized, it changes because methods, equipment, ideas, etc. are replaced by new ones they've got plans to modernize the old factory | the existing buildings were modernized and extended | the money was aimed at modernizing learning spaces | this profession is changing rapidly as the insurance industry modernizes

Noun: modernization

a modernization plan was started in early 1940 | an intensive modernization program will attempt to lower production costs | the railways are in urgent need of modernization | the station complex is undergoing modernization mushroom /'mʌʃrʊm/ Verb

if something mushrooms, it grows, develops, or expands rapidly or suddenly Collocate: mushroom into the small startup mushroomed into a multinational corporation within a few years | online shopping has mushroomed in recent years | the city's population has mushroomed due to migration from rural areas | the protest started with just a few people but soon mushroomed into a massive demonstration | interest in sustainable living has mushroomed as environmental concerns have grown office block /ɒfɪs blɒk/ Noun Phrase an office block is a large building or complex that contains multiple offices or workplaces for businesses or organizations

Collocates: work in an office block | modern office block the company's headquarters are located in a modern office block in the city center | I work in that office block there | renting office space in the new office block offers businesses access to premium amenities public area /pʌblɪk 'eəriə/ Noun Phrase a public area is an area or space that is accessible to the general public. People use it for many purposes, e.g., social or communal purposes, and leisure the library has free internet in public areas | the park is a public area for people to gather | this is the public area, and through that door is the private area redevelop /ˌriːdɪ'veləp/ Verb to redevelop an area of land means to knock down the buildings that were there and replace them with new buildings, streets, etc.

there are plans to redevelop the site of the old car factory | the site was redeveloped into a luxury hotel | the city has redeveloped the area along the canal | the center was redeveloped after the war

Noun: redevelopment

the latest redevelopment includes a new shopping mall | the campus is undergoing a program of redevelopment residential /ˌrɛzɪ'dɛnʃəl/ Adjective a residential area is one where most of the buildings are houses and apartments where people live, rather than stores or offices

Collocate: a residential area/neighborhood/suburb

a popular residential area to the south of the city | the campus is largely surrounded by residential neighborhoods | the suburb is primarily residential | a mix of commercial, residential, and industrial areas

Noun: resident, residence

local residents were told to stay inside | the city center has few residents left | the fire destroyed several residences nearby | his residence stood in the center of the little town scale /skeɪl/ Noun

the scale of something is its size or extent

Collocates: the (sheer) scale of something | on a big/small etc scale

it's difficult for us to understand the sheer scale of the devastation | they had never seen flooding on such a scale before | the scale of the problem was frightening | a large scale research project town hall /taʊn hɔ:l/ Noun Phrase a town hall is a building used for local government offices and meetings. Often, a town hall is where all the administration for the town or city happens

Collocates: town hall meeting | historic town hall the mayor spoke to citizens at a town hall meeting | the historic town hall is the center of the city | residents can obtain permits at the town hall

Pages 72–73

abandoned /ə'bændənd/ Adjective if something is abandoned, it has been left without care or attention; deserted or forsaken Collocate: an abandoned house the abandoned house was overrun by weeds and decay | the project was abandoned due to lack of funding | many animals were left abandoned after the natural disaster | the plans for the park were abandoned in favor of building a shopping mall

Verb: abandon

the explorers had to abandon their mission due to adverse weather conditions | the puppy was abandoned by its previous owner and left on the side of the road | he decided to abandon his old habits and adopt a healthier lifestyle decline /dɪ'klaɪn/ Verb

if something declines, it become smaller, fewer, or less; to decrease in strength, importance, or quality.

the company's profits have been declining steadily over the past few years | sales declined sharply after the product recall | the population of certain species is declining due to habitat loss | the decline in manufacturing jobs has led to economic difficulty in the region | her health has been in decline since the accident

Noun: decline | Adjective: declining

the decline in the population of bees is a cause for concern due to its impact on pollination | the declining quality of the product led to a decrease in sales | the company faced declining profits in the third quarter economic /i:kə'nɒmɪk/ Adjective economic means concerned with the organization of the money, industry, and trade of a country, region, or society

Collocate: economic growth economic growth is essential for improving living standards | the government introduced new economic policies to stimulate job creation | economic indicators suggest a downturn in the global economy | the economic impact of the pandemic has been significant

Noun: economy

the country's economy relies heavily on exports of natural resources | the global economy was affected by the financial crisis existence /ɪg'zɪstəns/ Noun the existence of something is the fact that it is present in the world as a real thing

Collocate: existence of the existence of life on other planets has long been a subject of scientific inquiry | the existence of the ancient civilization was discovered through archaeological excavation | she questioned the existence of true love

Verb: exist

many people believe that extraterrestrial life exists somewhere in the universe | poverty continues to exist in many parts of the world from scratch /frɒm skrætʃ/ Phrase if you do something from scratch, you do it without using anything that had been used or prepared before they had to build the whole thing from scratch | you'll just have to start again from scratch | the station was rebuilt from scratch in 1968 | I've never made a cake from scratch before ghost town /gəʊst taʊn/ Noun a ghost town is a town where no one lives any more, because there are no jobs and everyone has left to go and work somewhere else within four months, it became a ghost town | there used to be 3,000 people living here, but now it's a ghost town | without any tourists, this place would become a ghost town lick /lɪk/ Verb

if people or animals lick something, they move their tongue across its surface he folded up his letter, licking the envelope flap | the dog jumped up and licked the woman's hand excitedly manufacturing /ˌmænjəˈfæktʃərɪŋ/ Noun manufacturing is the process of producing goods in large quantities, especially in a factory setting

Collocate: manufacturing process the company specializes in the manufacturing of electronic devices | automation has revolutionized manufacturing processes, increasing efficiency and reducing costs | the decline in manufacturing jobs has led to economic challenges in many regions

Verb: manufacture

the company manufactures electronics products in its factory overseas | the local dairy manufactures several flavors of ice cream | the textile industry manufactures clothing and fabrics for consumers mining /ˈmaɪnɪŋ/ Noun mining is the process or industry of extracting ores, coal, minerals, or precious stones from the earth mining operations have a significant impact on the environment | the discovery of gold led to a mining boom in the region | the coal mining industry has faced challenges due to environmental concerns | the company operates several mining sites around the world | the mining town thrived during the heyday of the industry

Verb: mine

the workers use heavy machinery to mine coal from underground mines | the company mines for gold in remote areas of the country perfected /pəˈfektɪd/ Verb if you have perfected something, you have reached a state of complete excellence or proficiency; flawlessly executed or accomplished the chef's signature dish is a perfected blend of flavors | after years of practice, she finally perfected her piano technique | the team's strategy is perfected through trial and error preserved /prɪˈzɜːvd/ Adjective if you have preserved something, you have kept it intact or in its original state; protected from harm, decay, or spoilage the ancient ruins are remarkably well-preserved | the documents were carefully preserved in a climate-controlled archive | traditional methods are used to preserve the flavor and quality of the food | the artifact was preserved in a layer of protective coating

Verb: preserve

it's important to preserve natural habitats to protect biodiversity | canning is a popular method used to preserve fruits and vegetables | the museum's mission is to preserve historical artifacts for future generations resign /rɪˈzaɪn/ Verb

if you resign, you voluntarily leave a job, position, or duty; to give up or relinquish he decided to resign from his position as CEO | after much deliberation, she chose to resign from the committee | the politician's decision to resign came as a surprise to many

Noun: resignation

she submitted her resignation to the company after accepting a job offer elsewhere | his resignation from the board of directors came as a surprise to many | the politician announced his resignation from office due to health reasons synthetically /sɪnˈθetɪkəli/ Adverb synthetically is a manner produced by chemical synthesis or artificial means; not naturally occurring

Collocate: synthetically made the material was synthetically produced in a laboratory | synthetically produced vitamins are often added to fortify foods | certain flavors in processed foods are synthetically created to improve taste | the drug is synthetically manufactured to ensure purity and consistency

Adjective: synthetic synthetic fibers such as polyester are used in the textile industry | the scientist developed a synthetic version of the compound for research purposes | synthetic drugs can have harmful side effects if not used properly

Pages 74–75

adaptable /əˈdæptəbəl/ Adjective someone or something that is adaptable can change when necessary in order to succeed at something these plants are highly adaptable to most environments | the recipe is very adaptable; for example, you could use carrot instead of celery | you need to hire someone who is more adaptable

Noun: adaptation | Verb: adapt plants have evolved many adaptations to cope with fire | we need to adapt to living with climate change | the novel was adapted for television in 1998 adolescence /ˌædəʊˈlesns/ Noun uncount adolescence is the period of time in your life when you start to change physically, and when you start to change from being a child into an adult she had a very ordinary childhood and adolescence | adolescence can be a very confusing time of life | once he reached adolescence, his parents could no longer control him

Noun: adolescent

today's adolescents have all grown up with social media commercial /kə'mɜːʃəl/ Adjective commercial means involving or relating to the buying and selling of goods

Collocate: commercial company commercial flights resumed after the airport reopened | the street was lined with commercial buildings and shops | the commercial success of the product exceeded expectations | the artist created a series of commercial illustrations for advertising use distinct /dɪ'stɪŋkt/ Adjective something that is distinct is different or separate something else of the same type

Collocate: distinct features the twins may look alike, but they have distinct personalities | there are distinct differences between the two species of birds | the artist has a distinct style that sets her apart from others | each neighborhood in the city has its own distinct character | the distinct aroma of freshly baked bread filled the air

Noun: distinction

there's a clear distinction between the two paintings in terms of style and composition excluded /ɪk'skluːdɪd/ Adjective something that is excluded is not included or considered; deliberately left out or overlooked Collocate: excluded from

she felt excluded from the group because of her different interests | the list of finalists was announced, with some candidates excluded | the excluded items were marked with a red X on the inventory list | the invitation explicitly stated that guests should not feel excluded from the event

Verb: exclude

the club has a policy to exclude anyone who doesn't follow the rules | the survey results were incomplete because they excluded a significant portion of the population experimentation /ɪkˌspɛrɪmən'teɪʃən/ Noun experimentation is the act, process, or practice of doing scientific experiments trial and error is a common approach in scientific experimentation | the success of the project relied on extensive experimentation | artistic experimentation often leads to unexpected discoveries | the chef's culinary experimentation resulted in a unique and flavourful dish

Noun: experiment | Verb: experiment

the teacher encouraged students to design their own experiments to learn about scientific principles | she decided to experiment with different ingredients to create a new recipe fall apart /fɔːl ə'pɑːt/ Phrasal verb if something falls apart, it breaks into pieces because it is old or not well made my shoes are falling apart | an old book that was falling apart | the shed fell apart as soon as we tried to move it fall behind /fɔːl bɪ'hɑɪnd/ Phrasal verb if you fall behind, you do not make as much progress as you should in a particular job or activity

Collocate: fall behind with something after a week off school, I fell behind with my math | if you don't make more effort, you'll fall behind the others | don't fall behind with your project work | several students fell behind during the winter and never caught up fall for /fɔːl fɔː/ Phrasal verb if you fall for someone, you fall in love with them she fell for him straight away | we had already fallen for each other before we left school | I couldn't fall for someone who watches soccer all the time fall out /fɔːl aʊt/ Phrasal verb if you fall out with someone, you have an argument with them and you both stop being friends or talking to each other

Collocates: fall out with someone | fall out over something we fell out over a girl | I don't want to fall out with you about this | have those two fallen out or something?

Noun: falling out

Collocate: have a falling out we had a big falling-out a few years ago | the incident caused a major falling-out between the two men fall through /fɔːl θruː/ Phrasal verb if an arrangement, plan, or agreement falls through, it doesn't happen because something goes wrong or because someone decides they do not want to be involved

I couldn't find my tent, so the camping trip fell through | the house sale fell through because our buyer couldn't raise the money | the plan fell through because of objections by local residents | the proposal fell through after a couple of weeks imbalance /ɪm'bæləns/ Noun a situation in which two or more things are not the same size or are not treated the same there is an imbalance of power in this relationship | we need to redress the imbalance of effort made by certain members on the team infancy /'ɪnfənsi/ Noun uncount your infancy is the period of time in your life when you were an infant, a baby or very young child during his infancy, they lived in Saudi Arabia | throughout infancy and childhood, a personality develops | she showed an interest in music, even in early infancy

Noun: infant

infants under two years of age travel free peer /piə/ Noun

your peers are people who are the same as you in terms of education, age, and status

Collocate: peer pressure engineers in the U.K. are not as well paid as their peers in France | by the age of thirteen, she was noticeably taller than most of her peers perspective /pə'spektɪv/ Noun a perspective is a particular way of thinking about something, especially one that is influenced by your beliefs or experiences

Collocate: perspective on life she says the experience working with refugees has given her a new perspective on life phase /feɪz/ Noun

a phase is a particular stage in a process or in the gradual development of something

Collocate: phase of the project they are in the planning phase of the project | the project is progressing to the next phase | the first phase of the experiment gave promising results | the construction project is entering its final phase risky /'rɪski/ Adjective if an activity or action is risky, it is dangerous or likely to fail Collocate: risky decision investing in stocks can be risky but potentially rewarding | skydiving is considered to be a risky activity | driving in heavy rain is risky due to reduced visibility | starting a business is inherently risky

Noun: risk

investing in the stock market carries a certain level of risk | driving without a seatbelt increases the risk of injury in an accident seek /si:k/ Verb

if you seek something, you try very hard to find it or get it if you still feel ill after a week, then seek medical advice | police are still seeking a third suspect | you should seek another opinion before agreeing to have the operation

Noun: seeker

job seekers

sum it up /sʌm ɪt ʌp/ Phrase to sum something up is to express something in a brief or concise manner; to give a summary or conclusion to sum it up, the project was a success | let me sum it up for you | in conclusion, to sum it up, the main points are... | to sum it up, we need to focus on improving efficiency | summing it up, the key takeaway is...

toddler /'tɒdlə/ Noun a toddler is a young child who has only recently learned to walk. To toddle is to walk, taking short unsteady steps when Luciana was a toddler, I did the childcare most days | I sat down on the bus opposite a young man and his toddler son | I go to a mother and toddler group on Tuesday mornings | these toys have been designed by parents for toddlers and young kids

Verb: toddle

the child toddled across the field toward her grandmother | she's only fourteen months old and she's already started toddling uncertainty /ʌn'sɜ:ntɪ/ Noun uncertainty is the state of being uncertain Collocate: dealing with uncertainties dealing with uncertainties is a natural part of life | the pandemic has created economic uncertainties for businesses | uncertainties in the market make investing more challenging | despite uncertainties, they remained optimistic about the future

Adjective: uncertain

she felt uncertain about her career path after graduating from college | the weather forecast for the weekend remains uncertain, with a chance of rain willingness /'wɪlɪŋnəs/ Noun uncount willingness the quality of being ready and prepared to do something without complaining or objecting to it

Collocate: willingness to do something his willingness to help was appreciated | willingness to learn is very important | a good language learner demonstrates a willingness to practise

Adjective: willing | Adverb: willingly || Opposites: Noun: unwillingness | Adjective: unwilling | Adverb: unwillingly

Collocates: be willing to do something | perfectly/quite willing | be unwilling to do something are you willing to take the risk? | I am perfectly willing to wait | I would willingly pay extra for a seat in the front row | I could understand his unwillingness to send so much money

Pages 76–77

alternatively /ɒl'tɜ:nətɪvli/ Adverb you use alternatively when making a new or different suggestion you could take a taxi, or alternatively use the bus | the document is available as a PDF, or alternatively in Microsoft Word

Noun: alternative

another alternative would be to take the train as a result /æz ə rɪ'zʌlt/ Phrase you use as a result to say what happens or what a situation is after you have mentioned a cause or reason for it

Collocate: as a result of something he fell ill and, as a result, lost his job | she was very shy, and as a result, often felt very lonely | one person was injured as a result of flying glass contagious /kən'teɪdʒəs/ Adjective if something is contagious, it is capable of spreading from one person to another, typically through contact or exposure

Collocate: contagious disease the flu virus is highly contagious | laughter is contagious and can spread quickly in a group | the rumor proved to be contagious, spreading rapidly throughout the school | positivity can be contagious, uplifting those around you | her enthusiasm for the project was contagious, inspiring the team emergence /ɪ'mɜːdʒəns/ Noun uncount the emergence of something is when it first comes into existence Collocate: the emergence of something the emergence of digital learning has transformed higher education | the sudden emergence of new technologies in the music industry | we have seen the emergence of what are called megacities

Verb: emerge | Adjective: emerging new political parties emerged after the country gained independence | the gallery shows work by young and emerging artists (artists who are just beginning to be recognized) furthermore /fɜːðə'mɔː/ Adverb furthermore means in addition; moreover; besides; also he has excellent leadership skills; furthermore, he is a great team player | the company offers competitive salaries; furthermore, employees receive generous benefits | the project is on schedule; furthermore, it is within budget illustrate /ɪ'ləstreɪt/ Verb if you illustrate something, you explain or make something clear by using examples, charts, pictures, etc.; to provide an example or instance of something

Collocate: illustrate something let me illustrate how the process works with an example | the teacher used diagrams to illustrate the concept | the graph illustrates the relationship between time and temperature | the data presented in the report illustrates a concerning trend

Noun: illustration

the artist's illustrations brought the story to life for readers | the presentation included visual illustrations to support the speaker's points impact /ɪmpækt/ Noun

the impact of something is the strong effect it has on a situation

Collocates: a major/enormous/significant impact | a negative/serious impact | have an impact | an impact on something it seemed important, but it had a relatively small impact | cleaning the water supply will have a significant impact on public health | unemployment is known to have a negative impact on health

Verb: impact

Collocate: impact on something the strike severely impacted the company's profits | several countries were impacted by the crisis | the cuts will certainly impact on service delivery in addition /ɪn ə'dɪʃən/ Phrase you use in addition when adding extra information to what you have just said Collocate: in addition to something in addition, around one million birds a year are killed by plastic pollution | this will bring your temperature down and in addition it will help you sleep better | in addition, they can provide jobs and a more interesting life | this payment will be made in addition to your normal salary minimal /'mɪnɪmə/ Adjective something that is minimal is very small in quantity, value, or degree Collocate: minimum resources the project required only minimal resources to complete | the environmental impact of the new development is minimal | the risk of side effects from the medication is minimal

Noun: minimum | Adverb: minimally

the minimum age requirement for the job is eighteen years old | the company set a minimum order quantity for purchases | he received the minimum wage for his part-time job at the restaurant on the other hand /ɒn ði 'lðə hænd/ Phrase you use on the other hand to introduce a fact that is different from what you have been saying, but that is just as important on the other hand, LED lights are more expensive | I'd like to visit Florence, but on the other hand I need to save money to buy a car | his TV was very old, but his computer, on the other hand, was very new outweigh /aʊt'weɪ/ Verb

if one consideration outweighs another, it is considered to be more important or useful than the other thing

Collocates: far outweigh something | outweigh the benefits/advantages/disadvantages

I think the negatives far outweigh the positives | it seems these fears are outweighed by real concern about rising food costs | the needs of the group outweigh the needs of the individual plant /plɑːnt/ Noun

a plant is a large industrial site such as a factory or power station the plant has helped Laos to become energy independent | the biggest car plant in Europe | they have eight manufacturing plants across the country | his first job was at an aircraft assembly plant significantly /sɪg'nɪfɪkəntli/ Adverb significantly means in a way that is large or important enough to be noticed or to have an effect on something his contributions to the project were significantly valued | technological advancements have significantly improved communication | the company's profits increased significantly last quarter | the study's findings were significantly different from previous research

Adjective: significant

the discovery of a new species in the rainforest is a significant scientific breakthrough | the company reported a significant increase in profits this quarter | she made a significant contribution to the team's success

Pages 78–79

appliances /ə'plaɪənsɪz/ Noun appliances are devices or pieces of equipment designed to perform specific tasks. They are often used in the home, e.g., oven, microwave

Collocates: kitchen appliances | electrical appliances the apartment comes with all the latest kitchen appliances | energy-efficient appliances can help save on electricity bills | does the property come with the electrical appliances?

consumption /kən'sʌmpʃən/ Noun the consumption of fuel or natural resources is the amount of them that is used or the act of using them

Collocates: energy consumption | minimal consumption reducing energy consumption is essential for environmental sustainability | too much sugar consumption can lead to health problems | the country's consumption of fossil fuels has increased steadily | the new regulations aim to reduce plastic consumption

Verb: consume

it's important to consume a balanced diet to maintain good health | the factory consumes a large amount of electricity to operate its machinery | he was too busy to consume the entire meal, so he saved the leftovers for later decreases /dɪ'kriːsɪz/ Verb decreases means something has become smaller or less in size, amount, or degree as the night progresses, the temperature decreases | there have been decreases in sales distribute /dɪ'strɪbjʊt/ Verb if you distribute things, you hand them or deliver them to a number of people volunteers distributed food to the homeless in the community | the government plans to distribute vaccines to priority groups | the charity organization distributes aid to regions affected by natural disasters | the school distributes textbooks to students at the beginning of the academic year

Noun: distribution

the distribution of wealth in the country is uneven, with a large gap between the rich and the poor | the company's distribution network ensures that products reach customers in a timely manner | the distribution of pamphlets and flyers helped raise awareness about the event emission /ɪ'mɪʃən/ Noun an emission of something such as gas or radiation is the release of it into the atmosphere

Collocate: carbon emissions efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions are crucial for combating climate change | factories are required to monitor and report their emissions levels | the company invested in technology to reduce its carbon emissions

Verb: emit

cars emit harmful gases into the atmosphere, contributing to air pollution | the sun emits light and heat, providing energy to keep life on Earth encouraging /ɪn'kʌrɪdʒɪŋ/ Adjective when you are encouraging of someone or something, you are supportive, and give confidence the manager had some encouraging words for the team | the latest test results were very encouraging | we are seeing some encouraging signs in the economy

Verb: encourage my teacher was encouraged me to work hard heavy burden /'hevi 'bɜː.dən/ Phrase a heavy burden is a serious or difficult responsibility or duty that a person finds hard to take

Collocates: feel a heavy burden | carry a heavy burden he carried the heavy burden of leadership during difficult times | the debt was a heavy burden on the family | sharing your problems can help lift the heavy burden innovation /ɪnə'veɪʃən/ Noun an innovation is a new thing or a new method of doing something the company prides itself on a culture of innovation | technological innovation has transformed many industries | the innovation in smartphone technology has revolutionized communication | the competition encourages students to showcase their innovation

Verb: innovate | Adjective: innovative companies must innovate constantly to stay ahead of competitors in the fast-paced tech industry | the chef's innovative cooking techniques impressed diners and critics alike overall /əʊvə'rɔːl/ Adjective overall means including and considering every aspect of something, not just individual parts of it

25% of the overall mark is from coursework | the overall area of the flat is 60 square meters | his overall score was 74% | the overall winner is the rider that finishes first in the final round

Adverb: overall

she finished second overall | overall, it was a disappointing match particle /'pɑːtɪkəl/ Noun a particle of something is a very small piece or amount of it Collocate: a dust particle dust particles floated in the air after we swept the attic | smoke detectors can detect harmful particles in the air | the artist used fine particles of sand to create texture in the painting | scientists study the behavior of particles at the atomic level persuasive /pə'sweɪsɪv/ Adjective someone or something that is persuasive convinces you that something is true or that you should do something his analysis is highly persuasive | there was persuasive evidence of his guilt | he was so persuasive I eventually agreed to the proposal | there were persuasive reasons for staying in Prague

Noun: persuasiveness, persuasion | Verb: persuade |

Adverb: persuasively

buyers make purchases based on the persuasiveness of the salesperson | he didn't need much persuasion to come to the cinema | how do I persuade my colleagues to help? | she spoke clearly and persuasively proportion /prə'pɔːʃən/ Noun a proportion of a group or an amount is a part of it the proportion of elderly people in the population is increasing | a healthy diet includes the right proportion of carbohydrates, proteins, and fats | the growth of the city led to a change in the proportion of residential to commercial areas

Adjective: proportional | Adverb: proportionally the amount of time spent studying should be proportional to the difficulty of the exam | the teacher adjusted the test scores to be proportional to the overall performance of the class randomly /'rændəmli/ Adverb if something is done randomly, it is done in a manner lacking any definite plan, purpose, or pattern; without method or conscious decision the students were seated randomly in the classroom | the winner was chosen randomly from all entries | the results seemed to occur randomly, without any clear cause

Adjective: random

he took a random sample of the population to conduct his survey | the arrangement of furniture in the room seemed random and disorganized.

rural /'rʊərəl/ Adjective rural means relating to the countryside rather than a town

Collocate: rural area

they live in a rural area surrounded by farms | the government is focusing on rural development to improve living standards | rural communities often face different challenges than urban areas see a shift /siː ə ʃɪft/ Phrase if you see a shift, you notice or observe a change or movement in a particular direction we see a shift toward more employees working from home | there's been a significant shift in public opinion sector /'sektə/ Noun

a particular sector of a country's economy is the part connected with that specific type of industry

Collocates: building sector | technology sector

the agricultural sector plays a vital role in providing food for the population | the technology sector is known for its rapid innovation and growth | the manufacturing sector experienced a decline in production last quarter take for granted /teɪk fɔː 'grɑːntɪd/ Phrase when you take something for granted, you do not show that you are grateful for someone or something, and forget that you are lucky to have them many people take clean water for granted | she felt taken for granted by her company | don't take your health for granted

Page 80

resettle /ˌriː'setəl/ Verb when people are resettled, they are provided with a new home after they have been forced to leave the place where they used to live because of war, natural disaster, etc.

thousands of people had to be resettled after the war | 52,000 families had been resettled by the end of last year | we need to do more to help resettle these people | Sweden accepted 18,000 and Australia resettled a further 6,000

UNIT 7: CUSTOMS AND BEHAVIOUR

Page 81

attentive /ə'tentɪv/ Adjective if you are attentive, you are paying attention to what is happening and to what people are saying to you

Collocate: attentive to something they're less attentive than I'd like them to be | she was very attentive to what they were saying to her | he was considered an attentive student

Noun: attentiveness | Adverb: attentively

he listened attentively to the tour guide | attentiveness to detail is very important in this job | Bryce watched him with increasing attentiveness | the class sat attentively throughout the lesson chew /tʃu:/ Verb

when you chew food, you use your teeth to squash the food in your mouth so that you can then swallow it he carried on chewing the crust without speaking | it's polite to chew with your mouth closed | I chewed the sweet and found it tasted of lemon | don't chew gum during the lecture disturb /dɪ'stɜ:b/ Verb

if you disturb someone, you interrupt or intrude upon them, causing a disruption or disturbance

Collocates: disturb me | disturb my focus/sleep

please do not disturb me while I'm studying | the loud noise from the construction site disturbed my sleep | his sudden outburst disturbed the peace and quiet of the library

Noun: disturbance | Adjective: disturbing | Adverb: disturbingly

Collocate: cause a disturbance the noise caused a disturbance in the shopping centre respectful /rɪ'spektfəl/ Adjective if you are respectful, you behave in a way that shows you believe someone is important and should be treated politely Collocate: be respectful of/toward someone or something he was always very respectful toward my parents | she appreciated his respectful manner | it's not very respectful to keep your hat on indoors

Noun: respect | Verb: respect | Adjective: respected | Adverb: respectfully the audience listened respectfully to all the speeches | he answered my questions honestly and respectfully | she never had any respect for her father | you should show more respect to your teachers | we were taught to respect our parents | he was a highly respected journalist stare /steə/ Verb

if you stare at something or someone, you look at them for a long time and with a lot of concentration

Collocate: stare at someone or something don't just stare at your phone the whole time | they have to stare at a computer all day | it's rude to stare at people | she was staring into space | I couldn't stop staring at her | he stared intently at the floor whisper /'wɪspə(r)/ Verb to whisper is to speak in a soft, hushed voice, typically to avoid being overheard the students were caught whispering during the exam | she leaned over to whisper a secret in her friend's ear | the students were told to work quietly, but they couldn't help whispering to each other

Noun: whisper

they spoke in whispers

Pages 82–83

consistently /kən'sɪstəntli/ Adverb if something happens consistently, it usually or regularly happens

Norway is consistently listed as one of the five happiest countries in the world | the government consistently refuses to change the law | the trains consistently fail to run on time educate /'edʒukeɪt/ Verb when someone, especially a child, is educated, he or she is taught at a school or college parents play a crucial role in educating their children | schools aim to educate students in various subjects | the documentary seeks to educate the public about environmental issues

Noun: education, educator | Adjective: educated education is the key to unlocking opportunities and improving one's quality of life | she pursued higher education to advance her career in the field of medicine | the government invested in education to ensure that all children have access to quality schooling emphasize /'emfəsaɪz/ Verb if you emphasize something, you indicate that it is particularly important or true, or you draw special attention to it

Collocates: emphasized the importance of | emphasized the need to the teacher emphasized the importance of studying for the upcoming exam | the speaker emphasized the need for action to address climate change | the manager emphasized the company's commitment to customer satisfaction factor /'fæktə/ Noun

a factor is one of several things that have to be considered when discussing a particular problem or situation what factors are important for a good quality of life? | this is only one of many factors involved | the environment and pollution can be factors favorable /'feɪvərəbəl/ Adjective if your opinion or your reaction is favorable to something, you agree with it and approve of it the weather forecast is favorable for our outdoor picnic | the candidate received favorable reviews for her performance

Adverb: favorably

the proposal was received favorably by the board of directors | the new restaurant has been reviewed favorably by food critics | the company's stock performed favorably in the market despite economic challenges soda drink /'fɪzi drɪŋk/ Noun a soda drink is a sweet drink with lots of bubbles in it soda drinks will damage your teeth | my parents never let us have soda drinks when we were young | you can have water, or there are some soda drinks if you prefer grain /greɪn/ Noun grains are the seeds of cereals such as wheat or corn, used as food vegetables, grains, meat, and fish | the main crops were fruit and grain | we feed our chickens grain | grain supplies were at a very low level | a sack of grain heart condition /hɑ:t kən'dɪʃən/ Noun a heart condition is a serious problem with someone's heart that might make them seriously ill if it is not treated or controlled his doctor wouldn't let him fly because of his heart condition | she was born with a heart condition | if you've got a heart condition, you should stop now | his father and grandfather both died of a heart condition intrigued /ɪn'tri:gd/ Adjective if you are intrigued by something, it interests you and makes you want to find out more about it

Collocates: intrigued by something | intrigued to do something

I was intrigued to read that they only eat fish during the winter | he sounded intrigued when I told him I'd just come back from Finland | her colleagues were intrigued by her ideas

Verb: intrigue

the movie intrigued me from the very beginning nag /næg/ Verb

if you nag someone, you keep telling them to do something in a very annoying way Collocates: nag someone to do something | nag someone about something my mom's always nagging me to clean my room | I don't mean to nag, but when are you going to pay back the $10 you borrowed?

praise /preɪz/ Noun praise is an expressions of admiration, approval, or commendation for someone's achievements or qualities she received praise from her boss for completing the project ahead of schedule | the athlete's performance earned him praise from the coach | the teacher's praise motivated the students to work harder

Verb: praise

the teacher praised the students for their hard work | he received praise from his colleagues for his innovative approach to problem-solving | the coach praised the team for their excellent performance in the game priority /praɪ'brəti/ Noun a priority is something that is considered more important or deserving of attention, resources, or action than other things

Collocates: top priority | a priority for | highest priority safety is our top priority in the workplace | addressing climate change should be a priority for governments worldwide | meeting the deadline is our highest priority right now processed food /'prəʊsɛst fu:d/ Noun processed food is food that has been prepared in a factory and has had substances added to it to make it keep longer, taste sweeter, improve its color, etc.

eating too much processed food is not good for you | eat fresh rather than processed food | the western diet is made up of too many processed foods sugary /'ʃʊɡəri/ Adjective something that is sugary contains a lot of sugar sugary foods | sugary drinks are not good for you | the dessert looked nice but was too sugary

Noun: sugar

he put two spoons of sugar in his coffee supportive /sə'pɔ:tɪv/ Adjective if people are supportive, they understand your situation and help you her parents want to be supportive | my colleagues are very supportive | luckily, I've got a supportive boss | thank you for being so supportive while I've been in hospital

Noun: support | Verb: support

Collocate: offer someone support

we'll support you whatever you decide to do | his parents offered him financial support tell off /tɛl ɒf/ Phrasal verb if you tell someone off, you speak to them angrily and in a strongly critical way after they have done something wrong

she told me off for getting my shirt dirty | they were told off for making too much noise on the bus | he's always telling me off and I've never done anything wrong!

Noun: telling-off

Collocate: give someone a telling-off his dad gave him a telling-off for being late unreasonable /ʌn'ri:zənəbəl/ Adjective if you say that someone is being unreasonable, you mean that they are behaving in a way that is not fair or sensible it's unreasonable to expect employees to work overtime without pay | the customer's unreasonable demands caused frustration for the staff | the landlord raised the rent by an unreasonable amount

Opposite – Adjective: reasonable any reasonable person would have done what you did

Pages 84–85blubber /'blʌbə/ Noun blubber is the fat of whales and other sea animals whale blubber formed an important part of their diet dairy /'deəri/ Adjective dairy foods are things such as milk, butter, and cheese that come from cow's milk the dairy section of the supermarket | I can't eat dairy products | dairy farmers | they sell a wide range of dairy foods ketchup /'kɛtʃəp/ Noun uncount ketchup is a cold, sometimes spicy, tomato sauce that you eat with a main meal a bottle of tomato ketchup | does anyone want some ketchup? | is there any ketchup left | I got some ketchup on my shirt napkin /'næpkɪn/ Noun a napkin is a piece of cloth or paper that you use when you are eating food to stop the food going onto your clothes accidentally a clean napkin | a paper napkin | put the napkins on the table | a box of six napkins native /'neɪtɪv/ Adjective someone's native country, town, city, etc. is the country, town, or city where they were born and grew up

Jackson returned to his native New Zealand | I live in Manchester, but my native town is Plymouth nutrient /'nju:triənt/ Noun nutrients are the substances in food that people, animals, and plants need in order to grow and stay healthy essential nutrients | a range of nutrients are present in green leaf vegetables | eat healthy meals full of nutrients and vitamins nutrition /nju:'triʃən/ Noun nutrition is the process of taking food into the body and absorbing the nutrients in those foods

Collocate: good nutrition eating a balanced diet is important for good nutrition | the nutrition label on the food package provides information about its ingredients | athletes pay careful attention to their nutrition to optimize performance

Adjective: nutritional

I checked the nutritional content of the cereal on the back of the box obesity /əʊ'bi:səti/ Noun obesity is the condition of being excessively overweight or having an abnormal accumulation of body fat, often resulting in health problems obesity is a major public health concern in many countries | poor diet and lack of exercise contribute to the prevalence of obesity | the doctor warned her about the risks associated with obesity, such as diabetes and heart disease protein /'prəʊti:n/ Noun protein is an important substance in some foods such as eggs, meat, milk, etc. that you need to eat in order to have a healthy body

it's important to have enough protein in your diet | you'll get ill if you don't eat enough protein | egg white is 87% water and 10% protein | the meat has about 28 grams of protein per portion vitamin /'vɪtəmi:n/ Noun vitamins are substances in food that are necessary to keep your body healthy. Each vitamin is given a name using a letter of the alphabet fresh fruit is full of vitamins | green vegetables are a great source of essential vitamins | vitamin C tablets | vitamin pills | nuts contain vitamin E | vitamin B12

Pages 86–87abrupt /ə'brʌpt/ Adjective an abrupt change or action is very sudden, often in a way which is unpleasant she gave an abrupt answer to his question, leaving him surprised | his abrupt departure without saying goodbye puzzled his friends

Adverb: abruptly

the meeting ended abruptly when the fire alarm went off assert /ə'sɜ:t/ Verb

if someone asserts a fact or belief, they state it firmly she asserted her innocence in the face of accusations | the politician asserted his commitment to the environment | the teacher asserted that all students would pass the exam with proper preparation dialect /'daɪələkt/ Noun a dialect is a form of a language that is slightly different from the form that most people use, and is spoken by people in a particular region or from a particular social group

Collocate: regional/local dialect she spent a year learning the local dialect | dozens of dialects are spoken in Japan | "twitten" is a Sussex dialect word for a narrow path in a town or village | when we first moved to that part of the country, we couldn't really understand the dialect evolve /ɪˈvɒlv/ Verb

if something evolves or you evolve it, it gradually develops over a period of time into something different and usually more advanced languages evolve over time as new words and expressions are introduced | the business model evolved in response to changing market trends | the relationship between the two countries has evolved into a strategic partnership | our understanding of climate change is evolving as new research emerges | the company's business model is evolving to adapt to market changes jargon /ˈdʒɑːɡən/ Noun jargon is specialized or technical language used by a particular group or profession, often difficult for others to understand doctors often use medical jargon that patients may find confusing | gamers have their own jargon that outsiders may not understand | the lawyer's legal jargon made the contract difficult to comprehend make no difference /meɪk nəʊ ˈdɪfərəns/ Phrase if you say that something makes no difference, you mean that you do not mind how something happens because you will feel the same about it whatever happens

Collocate: make no difference to someone it makes no difference to me where we eat—the Ivy will be fine if you want to go there | well, if it makes no difference to you, let's watch another episode slang /slæŋ/ Noun uncount slang is language that is considered to be very informal or even wrong, used by particular groups of people such as young people or criminals prison slang | she taught her mother the latest slang | a dictionary of slang | my dad hates it when I use slang

Pages 88–89climax /ˈklaɪmæks/ Noun the climax of an event is the end of it, especially when this is the most exciting part of it a huge fireworks display was the climax of the festival | the music gradually built up to an emotional climax | Saturday night sees the climax of the celebrations

Verb: climax

the ceremony climaxed with the lighting of the Olympic flame engagement /ɪnˈɡeɪdʒmənt/ Noun uncount the engagement of two people is their decision to get married Collocate: announce an engagement they announced their engagement at a party for family and friends | they got married after a ten-month engagement | she broke off the engagement

Adjective: engaged

Collocate: be/get engaged to someone

I'm engaged to Simon, didn't you know? | we got engaged the day after we left college impression /ɪmˈpreʃən/ Noun if you get an impression about something, you get a feeling about it or form an opinion about it

Collocates: get an impression (about something) | give someone an impression | leave someone with an impression | a first/initial impression | a strong impression | a good/bad impression | a vivid impression

I got the distinct impression (the very strong impression) that we weren't welcome | I don't want to give you the wrong impression | it left me with the impression that she's not very happy | what was your first impression of her? | the painting gives a vivid impression of London in the 1800s parade /pəˈreɪd/ Noun

a parade is a big public event when a lot of people or vehicles go through the streets of a town as part of a big celebration the parade took over an hour to pass by the front of our shop | a military parade | there were street parades and then fireworks in the evening | the parade marched along 5th Avenue in Manhattan prosperity /prɒsˈperəti/ Noun uncount prosperity is the state of being relatively rich the 1960s was a time of prosperity for his grandfather | the country enjoyed greater prosperity after the war | economic prosperity was short-lived (did not last long) | trade led to increased prosperity | our future prosperity depends on the result of this election

Verb: prosper | Adjective: prosperous the city has always been quite prosperous | her father was a prosperous banker | the company prospered for the next thirty years symbolize /ˈsɪmbəlaɪz/ Verb if an object, picture, shape, or event symbolizes a particular idea, feeling, or occasion, it represents that idea, feeling, or occasion it symbolizes the end of life as a single person | the cat symbolizes jealousy | a dove is often used to symbolize peace | the event symbolizes the country's struggle for democracy

Noun: symbol, symbolism | Adjective: symbolic

the dog in the painting is a symbol of loyalty | the dove is traditionally the symbol of peace | trying to analyze the symbolism in the painting | the picture is heavy with symbolic meaning | animals were highly symbolic figures in Egyptian art unique /juːˈniːk/ Adjective if something is unique, there is only one of it, and there is nothing else that is exactly the same the country's unique culture developed over the next 200 years | this is a unique opportunity | the band had a unique style of music | I met a lot of interesting and unique people

Adverb: uniquely her language ability makes her uniquely qualified for the job (no one else has the same skills as her) veil /veɪl/ Noun

a veil is a thin, mostly transparent piece of material that is worn over the face by a woman as part of her wedding dress she pulled back her veil before they walked out of the church | a white net veil | her veil was blowing about in the wind

Pages 90–91burst /'bɜːst/ Verb to be bursting with something is to be very full of something, almost to the point of breaking open the market was bursting with fresh fruits and vegetables, all vibrant colors and enticing aromas | her paintings were bursting with creativity, each canvas a riot of colors and textures | the room was bursting with laughter and joy as friends and family celebrated together cuisine /kwɪ'ziːn/ Noun the cuisine of a country or district is the style of cooking that is characteristic of that place the restaurant specializes in Italian cuisine, serving authentic pasta dishes and wood-fired pizzas | Thai cuisine is known for its bold flavors and aromatic spices, such as lemongrass and chili | she experimented with fusion cuisine, combining elements of Japanese and Mexican cooking delicate /'delɪkət/ Adjective something that is delicate is easily broken, damaged, or harmed; fragile or sensitive; requiring careful handling or treatment be careful with the delicate china teacups; they can easily break | the delicate ecosystem of the coral reef is threatened by pollution and climate change | she handled the delicate flower petals with care to avoid crushing them

Adverb: delicately

she handled the fragile vase delicately to avoid breaking it | the chef seasoned the dish delicately to enhance its flavor without overpowering it ecosystem /'iːkəʊsɪstəm/ Noun an ecosystem is all the plants and animals that live in a particular area together with the complex relationship that exists between them and their environment the rainforest is a complex ecosystem with a diverse range of plant and animal species | human activities such as deforestation can disrupt ecosystems and lead to a loss of biodiversity | it's important to preserve and protect our planet's ecosystems to maintain ecological balance injury claim /'ɪndʒəri kleɪm/ Noun an injury claim is a formal request or demand for compensation or damages as a result of physical harm or injury sustained by an individual the insurance company processed his injury claim after he was injured in a car accident | she filed an injury claim against her employer after slipping and falling at work | the lawyer helped him prepare his injury claim for the court case

Michelin Star /'mɪtʃəlɪn staː/ Noun a Michelin Star is an award or rating given by the Michelin Guide to restaurants that demonstrate exceptional culinary excellence the restaurant earned its first Michelin star for its innovative cuisine | chefs strive to attain the prestigious honor of a Michelin star | receiving a Michelin star can significantly boost a restaurant's reputation and business munch /mʌntʃ/ Verb

if you munch something, you eat it noisily and enthusiastically Collocate: munch on something kids aren't the only people munching on bugs | he munched at the bread hungrily | they sat munching their way through breakfast | take this to munch on in case you get hungry pioneering /ˌpaɪə'nɪərɪŋ/ Adjective pioneering work or a pioneering individual does something that has not been done before, for example, by developing or using new methods or techniques the scientist made pioneering discoveries in the field of genetics | the company's pioneering approach to sustainability has inspired others in the industry | she was recognized for her pioneering work in women's rights

Verb: pioneer

she helped pioneer new techniques in genetic research that revolutionized the field | the company is known for pioneering innovative technologies in the automotive industry | the organization aims to pioneer sustainable farming practices in rural communities scale /'skeɪl/ Verb to scale something is to climb to the very top of something that is very high and steep the mountain climbers scaled the peak despite treacherous weather conditions | the business needs to scale its production to meet increasing demand tender /'tendə/ Adjective a food item that is tender is easy to bite through and cut boil the carrots until they are tender | the slices of roast chicken were incredibly tender

Noun: tenderness

the chef cooked the meat to perfection, achieving just the right level of tenderness venture /'ventʃə(r)/ Verb if you venture somewhere, you dare to do something or go somewhere despite the risk or uncertainty involved; to embark on a journey or undertaking with courage or audacity

despite the stormy weather, they ventured out to explore the rugged coastline | the young entrepreneur ventured into the competitive world of tech startups | he ventured a guess at the answer to the riddle, unsure if he was correct

Noun: venture

starting a business is a risky venture that requires careful planning and execution | the entrepreneur embarked on a new venture in the tech industry | the joint venture between the two companies proved to be highly profitable voyage /'vɔɪdʒ/ Noun

a voyage is a long journey, especially by sea or in space; an expedition or adventure involving travel the sailors set sail on a perilous voyage across the ocean | space agencies plan voyages to explore distant planets | the family embarked on a memorable voyage around the world

Verb: voyage

they voyaged to unexplored territories | She voyaged around the world

UNIT 8: HOPES AND WISHES

Page 93

chalk /tʃɔ:k/ Noun

chalk is a type of soft white stone that is made into short sticks that you can write with a stick of chalk | teachers used to write on boards with chalk | colored chalks expectation /ˌɛkspek'teɪʃən/ Noun an expectation is a situation that you think will or should happen

Collocates: exceed/surpass expectations | fulfill/meet expectations the movie exceeded all our expectations | the meal surpassed my expectations (was much better than I thought it would be) | unfortunately, the hotel did not meet our expectations | if you keep your expectations reasonable, you won't be disappointed

Verb: expect

I didn't expect to get such a high mark | she was expecting a new episode of her favorite TV program fulfill /fʊl'fɪl/ Verb to fulfil a duty, requirement, or obligation means to succeed in doing or providing what is necessary music fulfills a deep psychological need for calm and order | on top of his research, he had to fulfill his normal teaching duties | the school made sure it fulfilled its legal obligations

Noun: fulfillment

this was the fulfillment of the promise made two years ago live up to /lɪv ʌp tu:/ Phrasal verb if you live up to what people expect you to be or do, you succeed in being as good as they hoped you would be

Collocate: live up to expectations the hotel was called "Sea View" and it certainly lived up to its name | the movie didn't live up to expectations | she certainly lived up to her reputation

Pages 94–95

bound /baʊnd/ Adjective if you are bound for somewhere, you are on a journey going to that place

Collocate: bound for | homeward bound | southbound a spacecraft bound for the moon | the bus set off, bound for the south of France | we got on a ship bound for Cairo | most of us in my class were bound for college calculation /ˌkælkjə'leɪʃən/a calculation is the process of using numbers to find out an amount she did a rough calculation in her head before confirming the exact amount using a calculator flexible /'fleksəbəl/ Adjective something that is flexible can be easily changed. A person who is flexible can make changes to the way they work or do things very easily flexible working hours (where you work the same number of hours each week but different numbers of hours each day) | the arrangements are quite flexible, so you could come on Friday if you refer | a flexible management style that treated everyone as individuals

Adverb: flexibly

you need to be able to respond flexibly to new challenges imaginary /ɪ'mædʒɪnəri/ Adjective something that is imaginary is not real and exists only in someone's mind

Tolkien created a very original imaginary world | as a child, I had an imaginary friend called Daisy | doctors encounter a number of imaginary diseases policy /'pɒləsi/ Noun

a policy is a set of rules that a person or organization decides to follow my policy is always to tell the truth | it's company policy to employ equal numbers of men and women | he made it his policy never to talk about his experiences in the war | they've changed the policy on school uniform again recognition /ˌrɛkəg'nɪʃən/ Noun uncount if you get recognition for something, people see and understand what you have done and show their approval she hopes they will now get the recognition they deserve | after years of effort, he finally got recognition for his achievements | it's a shame she didn't get that public recognition during her lifetime

Verb: recognize the award recognized her achievements over the last ten years target /'tɑ:ɡɪt/ Noun

a target is something you are trying to achieve in your life or an objective you have as part of your job

Collocates: reach a target | miss a target | set a target over 70% of students fail to reach their earnings target | our target is to reduce inflation to less than 5% | a meeting to set our targets for next year | our initial target was to raise $3m | he missed his sales target for March

Pages 96–97

air miles /eə(r) maɪlz/ Noun plural air miles are points that passengers can get when they pay for flights on some airlines. These points can then be used instead of money to pay for another flight he had enough air miles to fly to Brazil | she's been saving air miles for a trip to Australia | you get more air miles if you buy a business-class ticket

Pages 98–99

beyond my wildest dreams /bɪˈjɒnd maɪ ˈwaɪldɪst dri:mz/ Phrase if you describe something as being beyond my wildest dreams you mean that something is better or more enjoyable than you could have imagined or hoped for receiving a scholarship to study abroad is beyond my wildest dreams | being offered my dream job straight out of college is beyond my wildest dreams | having a loving and supportive family is beyond my wildest dreams circumstance /ˈsɜ:kəmstɑ:ns/ Noun circumstances are the conditions or set of factors surrounding or influencing an event, action, or decision she found herself in difficult circumstances after losing her job | success often depends on adapting to changing circumstances | his decision was influenced by his personal circumstances at the time competitive /kəmˈpetɪtɪv/ Adjective if an activity is competitive, everyone doing it is trying hard to do better and be more successful than everyone else an enjoyable and competitive match between Madrid and Italy | advertising is a highly competitive industry | a very competitive market | the cell phone business is very competitive

Noun: competition | Verb: compete

there's a lot of competition for jobs | the company faces competition from abroad | small companies find it hard to compete in the market dream on /dri:m ɒn/ Phrasal verb you say "dream on" to dismiss someone's unrealistic hopes or desires as improbable or unlikely to happen

"I'll become a rock star one day!" "dream on, mate" | "I'm going to win the Nobel Prize for Literature!" "dream on, you haven't even written a book" | "I'll marry a millionaire and live in a mansion!" "dream on, fairy tales don't come true" pipe dream /paɪp dri:m/ Noun a pipe dream is an unrealistic or impractical hope or fantasy; something that is highly unlikely to happen starting a successful business with no experience is often considered a pipe dream | becoming a famous actor overnight is just a pipe dream for most people | winning the lottery and never having to work again is often dismissed as a pipe dream referee /refəˈri:/ Noun a referee is a person who officiates or supervises a sports competition or other event, ensuring that the rules are followed and fair play is maintained the referee blew the whistle to signal the end of the match | the referee awarded a penalty kick for the foul | the basketball referee called a technical foul on the coach for arguing

Verb: referee

the umpire had to referee the tennis match despite protests from the players | she was chosen to referee the debate competition due to her impartiality and experience sphere /sfɪə/ Noun

a sphere is an area or field of activity, interest, or knowledge science fiction is not within my sphere of expertise | politics falls within the sphere of social sciences | education and healthcare are important spheres of government responsibility spirit /ˈspɪrɪt/ Noun

the spirit of an action or statement is the way it is meant to be understood, not necessarily its literal meaning

Collocate: the spirit of something the movie remains true to the spirit of the book | complaints are made in the spirit of improving a service | the display was put on in the spirit of fun | this is certainly against the spirit of the law (even if it is legal, it is not what the law intended to allow) statistical /stəˈtɪstɪkəl/ Adjective something that is statistical relates to statistics, the collection and analysis of numerical data the statistical analysis revealed a correlation between income and education level | the statistical data showed a decrease in crime rates over the past decade

Noun: statistic, statistics | Adverb: statistically

the statistic showed a significant increase in unemployment rates compared to the previous year | she cited a statistic from a recent study to support her argument | the difference between the two results was not statistically significant the American dream /ði əˈmɛrɪkən dri:m/ Phrase the American dream is the ideal that every U.S. citizen should have an equal opportunity to achieve success and prosperity through hard work, determination, and initiative many immigrants come to America in pursuit of the American dream | owning a home and starting a business are often considered aspects of the American dream | the American dream of upward mobility motivates individuals to strive for success work like a dream /wɜ:k laɪk ə dri:m/ Phrase if something worked like a dream, it means that it functioned or performed exceptionally well and smoothly, often exceeding expectations the new software update worked like a dream, improving efficiency and productivity | the recipe for chocolate cake worked like a dream, and everyone loved it wouldn't dream of it /ˈwʊdənt dri:m ɒv ɪt/ Phrase wouldn't dream of it is a phrase that is used to politely decline or reject a suggestion or proposal because it is considered unacceptable, inappropriate, or impossible

"would you like to cheat on the exam with me?" "I wouldn't dream of it; cheating is wrong" | "why don't you quit your job and travel the world?" "I wouldn't dream of it; I have responsibilities" | "let's steal the money and run away!" "I wouldn't dream of it; that's illegal and unethical"

Pages 100–101

go one better /gəʊ wʌn 'betə/ Phrase if you go one better than someone, you succeed in doing something more successfully than they did advertisers try to go one better than their competitors | Jack went one better than his brother and passed his driving test first time | the girls' team went one better than the boys' and won their competition laundry /'lɔ:ndri/ Noun laundry is clothes, towels etc. that need washing or have just been washed. A laundry is the place you send sheets, clothes, etc. to be washed

I have my laundry done once a week | the van collects the laundry every Monday and brings it back on Wednesdays | can you pick up the clothes from the laundry on your way home | we send everything to the laundry at the end of the week

Verb: launder

freshly laundered shirts | launder your work clothes separately from your bedding nosy /'nəʊzi/ Adjective someone who is nosy is always trying to find out about things that are none of their business nosy neighbors | don't be so nosy. It's private | everyone in their family is really nosy overheated /əʊvə'hi:tɪd/ Adjective a place that is overheated is too warm because the heating system is turned up too high overheated hotel rooms | make sure the bathroom isn't overheated | when we went out it was too cold, and when we came back, the room was overheated whisper /'wɪspə/ Verb

if you whisper, you say something very quietly, not using your voice Collocate: whisper something to someone they whispered "I love you" to each other | he leaned toward me and whispered his name | speak up, James. Don't whisper

Noun: whisper

Collocates: in a whisper | a hushed whisper his voice sank to a whisper | she spoke in a whisper, hoping the teacher would not hear | all I heard was a hushed whisper

Pages 102–103

desire /dɪ'zaɪə(r)/ Verb to desire something is to want it everybody desires health and happiness | the medicine didn't have the desired effect Noun: desire

she had a strong desire to become an actor faintest /'feɪntɪst/ Adjective you use faintest to emphasize something negative. For example, if you say "you haven't the faintest idea," or "haven't the faintest," you are emphasizing that you really do not know something. If someone hasn't the faintest hope of succeeding at something, it's almost impossible that they will succeed

I haven't the faintest idea where he went | have you the faintest idea how much that cost me? | she hasn't the faintest hope of getting into college | she hadn't the faintest doubt about what he really wanted justify /'dʒʌstɪfaɪ/ Verb to justify something is to give an explanation or excuse for something or for doing something he made an attempt to justify his actions | you don't need to justify yourself to me inspirational /ˌɪnspɪ'reɪʃənəl/ Adjective someone or something that is inspirational gives you an idea or makes you believe more strongly in yourself an inspirational speech | she was an inspirational teacher | her story was inspirational | she became an inspirational leader

Noun: inspiration | Verb: inspire | Adjective: inspiring

Collocate: an inspiration to someone

I got inspiration from a visit to the old castle | my English teacher inspired me to become a writer | her example inspired lots of girls to start playing soccer | the resident gave an inspiring speech | the movie was really inspiring materialism /mə'tɪəriəlɪzəm/ Noun materialism is the attitude of someone who attaches a lot of importance to money and wants to possess a lot of material things the rise of materialism in society has led to increased consumerism | some people find fulfillment in experiences and relationships rather than materialism

Adjective: materialistic he had a materialistic outlook on life, valuing possessions and wealth above all else no object /nəʊ 'ɒbdʒɪkt/ Phrase if you say that money or expense is no object, you mean that you are willing to pay as much as is needed for something, even if it is a large amount of money choose whichever necklace you want—money is no object | if expense is no object, there are plenty of hotels to choose from retch /retʃ/ Verb

if you retch, you cough uncomfortably as if you are about to be sick the smell made me retch | he retched, then ran to open the window | I could hear him coughing and retching in the bathroom | she felt her stomach heave as she retched again vocational guidance /vəʊ'keɪʃənəl gaɪdnɪs/ Noun vocational guidance is where someone is given help or advice from someone who is older or more experienced about a type of work or way of life the helpline was set up for people in need of vocational guidance vomit /'vɒmɪt/ Verb

if you vomit, food that you have eaten come backs from your stomach and out through your mouth

I thought I was about to vomit and ran to the bathroom | he began vomiting almost as soon as he got outside | she vomited several times during the night

Page 104

socket /'sɒkɪt/ Noun

a socket is a place with holes in a wall or machine where you can connect electrical equipment there's a socket behind you on the wall | make sure you plug the keyboard into the correct socket waterproof /'wɔ:təpru:f/ Adjective clothing that is waterproof is specially made to stop rain getting through, so that you will stay dry when you are wearing it on a rainy day a pair of waterproof pants | is your jacket waterproof? | don't forget to take waterproof clothes if you go to Scotland | I need some waterproof boots good waterproofs are essential in the winter months | did you bring your waterproofs?

Noun: waterproofs

windproof /wɪnd pru:f/ Adjective clothing that is windproof is specially made to stop the wind getting through so that you do not get too cold when you are wearing it on a windy day you need windproof clothing if you're going up the mountain | my jacket isn't windproof | a windproof cycling jacket | a strong, windproof fabric

UNIT 9: THE NEWS

Page 105

memorial /mə'mɔ:riəl/ Noun a memorial is a structure built in order to remind people of a famous person or event the town built a memorial in the park to honor fallen soldiers | every year, we gather at the memorial to pay tribute to those who lost their lives in the war | the memorial service was held to remember and celebrate the life of the beloved community leader representative /ˌreprɪ'zentətɪv/ Noun a representative is a person who has been chosen to act or make decisions on behalf of another person or a group of people the student council representatives meet regularly to discuss school issues and plan events | elected representatives in government make decisions and laws that affect the lives of citizens

Verb: represent

he represented the best of the company through his hard work and dedication to the job

Pages 106–107

accuse /ə'kju:z/ Verb

if you accuse someone of doing something, you tell them that you believe they have done something bad or illegal

Collocate: accuse someone of (doing) something

he's been accused of a number of crimes | the two men were accused of murder | opposition leaders regularly accuse the government of failure

Noun: accusation, accuser, the accused

Collocates: make an accusation | a serious accusation | a wild accusation

she made a serious accusation against her boss | officials denied all accusations that they were responsible | he plans to pursue legal action against his accusers | you need to face your accusers | the accused had spent three months awaiting trial beg /beg/ Verb

when you beg, you ask someone very strongly to give or do something Collocates: beg someone to do | beg for we begged her to forgive him after they argued | the child begged for forgiveness for lying about the broken chair | I begged them to stay a bit longer

claim /kleɪm/ Verb

when you claim something, you say that something is true, often without providing proof

Collocate: claim responsibility

the company claimed its new product was totally safe | the group claimed responsibility for their actions | the player claimed he was the best player on the team

Noun: claim

the journalist claimed the celebrity had stolen his microphone congratulate /kən'grætʃəleɪt/ Verb when you congratulate someone, you tell someone that you are happy for them because something good has happened

Collocate: congratulate (someone) on

we want to congratulate you on getting the job! | we congratulated them on getting married | don't forget to congratulate your sister on passing her driving test

Noun: congratulations congratulations on passing your test!

criticize /kɪtɪsaɪz/ Verb when you criticize, you point out what someone or something is doing wrong

Collocate: criticize (someone) for the coach criticized the team for not trying hard enough | the movie was criticised for being unrealistic | don't criticize them—they're doing a great job

Noun: criticism | Adjective: critical the criticism of the show made the cast feel terrible | the writer was always critical of his own work deny /dɪ'naɪ/ Verb

if you deny something, you say that it is not true Collocate: deny doing something

I thought he'd taken my laptop, but he denied it | it was you wasn't it? Don't deny it | he denied taking the laptop | the rumours were denied by both police officers

Noun: denial

his denials were ignored by everyone discourage /dɪ'skʌrɪdʒ/ Verb if someone or something discourages you, they cause you to lose your enthusiasm about your actions parents often discourage their children from playing with matches to avoid accidents | negative feedback can discourage employees from sharing their ideas or taking risks handyman /'hændɪmən/ Noun a handyman is someone who does small jobs for people, such as doing small repairs and other practical things we pay our handyman $12 an hour | Dad said we didn't need a handyman, but he still hasn't fixed the bathroom tap | my usual handyman is in the hospital so I had to call out an electrician incentive /ɪn'sentɪv/ Noun an incentive to do something encourages you to do it companies offer financial incentives to employees who meet or exceed performance targets | the government provides tax incentives to promote investment in renewable energy | the promise of a bonus was a strong incentive for the sales team to work harder and achieve higher sales targets marathon /'mæɾəθən/ Noun a marathon is a long-distance running race with an official distance of 26 miles and 385 yards (42.195 kilometers); any extended or arduous task or activity requiring endurance and perseverance

she trained for months to prepare for the marathon and crossed the finish line with a sense of accomplishment | the charity fundraiser aims to run a marathon to raise money for cancer research | writing a novel is a literary marathon that requires discipline and creativity popularity /ˌpɒpjə'lærəti/ Noun popularity is the state or condition of being liked, admired, or supported by many people; the quality of being popular or well-liked the band's new album quickly gained popularity and topped the charts | social media influencers often measure their success by their followers' popularity and engagement

Adjective: popular

the movie became a popular choice among audiences, leading to sold-out screenings | the song quickly rose to the top of the charts and became a popular hit | the restaurant is known for its popular menu items and lively atmosphere praise /preɪz/ Verb

when you praise, you show approval or admiration for someone or something Collocates: high praise | praise (someone) for the teacher praised the students for working hard | the book received high praise from critics | they praised the team's commitment to the project see-saw /'si:sɔ:/ Noun a see-saw is a long board that is balanced on a fixed part in the middle. To play on it, a child sits on each end, and when one end goes up, the other goes down the children played on the see-saw at the playground, taking turns going up and down | the stock market can be like a see-saw, with prices constantly fluctuating up and down | our relationship has been a bit of a see-saw lately, with highs and lows in our communication and feelings

Verb: see-saw

the stock market tends to see-saw between periods of growth and decline | the children took turns see-sawing on the playground during recess | her emotions seesawed between excitement and anxiety as the deadline approached swear /sweə/ Verb

if you swear something, you promise very firmly that it is true or that you will do it

Collocate: swear that

I swear I didn't take your phone | he was here a minute ago, I swear it! | Jan swore that the door was locked when he left the office threaten /'θretən/ Verb

if someone threatens you, they frighten you by telling you they will hurt you or do something bad to you

Collocate: threaten to do something

"I'll call the police," he threatened | the government threatened to close the college | lack of money threatened the survival of the school | the crowd was threatening violence against the resident

Noun: threat | Adjective: threatening they faced threats of violence | global warming is a serious threat to the human race | he was charged with sending a threatening letter to the politician urge /ɜ:dʒ/ Verb

if you urge someone to do something, you encourage them very strongly to do it

Collocates: urge someone to do something | urge that he urged me to think again | shoppers have been urged to change their habits | parents who smoke are strongly urged to quit | we strongly urge you to vote "no" | we urge our best students to consider college | he urged that peace talks should start

Noun: urge

Collocate: feel an urge (to do something)

Annie felt an urge to phone her mother (wanted very much to phone her)

Pages 108–109

astonishing /ə'stɒnɪʃɪŋ/ Adjective something that is astonishing makes you very surprised and impressed it was an astonishing achievement | the island is home to an astonishing variety of birds | the paintings were absolutely astonishing | the results were astonishing

Noun: astonishment | Verb: astonish | Adjective: astonished

Collocate: in astonishment his mouth fell open in astonishment | she made no attempt to hide her astonishment | they both looked astonished when I told them the news | Rosa was too astonished to say anything | Naif did something that astonished us all bravery /'breɪvəri/ Noun bravery is brave behavior or the quality of being brave the firefighter demonstrated bravery by rushing into the burning building to save lives | soldiers showed extraordinary bravery in battle, risking their lives for their country

Adjective: brave

he was incredibly brave in the face of danger by rescuing the injured hiker from the mountain | the firefighter received a medal for his brave actions during the rescue mission brehtaking /'breθ'teɪkɪŋ/ Adjective if you say that something is brehtaking, you are emphasizing that it is extremely beautiful or amazing the view from the mountaintop was breathtaking, with panoramic vistas of valleys and peaks | the ballet performance was breathtaking | the sunset over the ocean was breathtaking, painting the sky in vibrant hues of orange and pink calculate /'kælkjəleɪt/ Verb if you calculate a number or amount, you discover it from information that you already have, by using arithmetic, mathematics, or a special machine

she used a calculator to calculate the total cost of groceries at the supermarket | investors calculate potential returns on investments before making financial decisions

Noun: calculation

the calculation of taxes can be complex and requires attention to detail | she double-checked her calculations to ensure accuracy before submitting the report | the computer program performed millions of calculations per second to solve the mathematical problem correspondent /kərə'spɒndənt/ Noun a correspondent is a newspaper or television journalist, especially one who specializes in a particular type of news

Collocate: news correspondent

the foreign correspondent provided live updates on the situation in the conflict zone | the white house correspondent asked the president tough questions during the press conference | as a sports correspondent, he travels around the country to cover major sporting events cure /kjʊə/ Noun

a cure for an illness is something that stops the illness and makes someone well again

Collocate: a cure for something there's no cure for the common cold | scientists are still searching for a cure | she wants to discover a cure for cancer | this is not a permanent cure (it won't last for ever)

Verb: cure | Adjective: curable || Opposite – Adjective: incurable

Collocate: cure someone of something she's now completely cured of the disease | it's likely to be several weeks before he's fully cured | this disease used to be fatal, but now it can be cured | you can't cure a common cold | a curable illness | he's got an incurable medical condition fabric /'fæbrɪk/ Noun fabric is cloth or material used for making clothes, sheets, covering for furniture, etc.

a light cotton fabric | silk is my favorite fabric for this sort of dress | a shop window displaying several colorful fabrics | a roll of fabric feat /fi:t/ Noun

if you refer to an action, or the result of an action, as a feat, you admire it because it is an impressive and difficult achievement winning the gold medal at the Olympics was a remarkable feat for the young athlete | completing a marathon in under three hours is considered a significant feat for amateur runners gifted /'ɡɪftɪd/ Adjective someone who is gifted has a natural ability to do something well the young pianist is gifted with extraordinary musical talent and performs concerts around the world | the school provides specialized programs for gifted students to nurture their academic abilities | the artist's gifted hands bring life to stunning works of art that captivate viewers imported /ɪm'pɔ:tɪd/ Adjective something that is imported is brought or transported from another country or region; not native or domestically produced the store specializes in imported goods from Italy, including pasta, olive oil, and wine | imported electronics often come with different voltage requirements and may need adapters for use in other countries | the restaurant serves imported cheeses and meats to create international dishes

Noun: import | Verb: import the country has started bringing in cheap imports to meet domestic demand | she decided to import exotic spices from overseas to use in her recipes | the company imports raw materials for manufacturing purposes inspire /ɪn'spaɪə/ Verb

if someone or something inspires you to do something new or unusual, they make you want to do it

Collocate: inspire you to do something the teacher's passion for literature inspired her students to develop a love for reading | the brave acts of the firefighters inspired the community to come together in support | nature has a way of inspiring artists, poets, and musicians with its beauty and wonder

Noun: inspiration | Adjective: inspirational the artist found inspiration for her paintings in nature and everyday life | he credited his parents as the source of his inspiration to pursue his dreams | the book was inspirational to many aspiring writers joyful /'dʒɔɪfəl/ Adjective something that is joyful causes happiness and pleasure the children's laughter filled the room, creating a joyful atmosphere during the party | receiving a heartfelt compliment from a friend can bring a joyful smile to one's face | the joyful anticipation of the holiday season fills the air with excitement and warmth

Noun: joy

the birth of their first child brought immense joy to the young couple | playing with her dog always brought her joy after a long day at work juggling /'dʒʌɡlɪŋ/ Noun juggling is the act or skill of keeping several objects in motion in the air by continuously tossing and catching them; managing multiple tasks, responsibilities, or priorities simultaneously the circus performer amazed the audience with his juggling skills, effortlessly keeping balls, rings, and clubs in the air | balancing work, family, and hobbies can sometimes feel like juggling a dozen balls at once | effective time management is crucial for juggling school assignments, extracurricular activities, and social life

Verb: juggle

she had to juggle multiple responsibilities, including work, school, and family obligations | the magician impressed the audience by juggling balls, rings, and even flaming torches | he struggled to juggle his finances after losing his job thrill /θrɪl/ Noun

a thrill is a feeling of great excitement or fear that you get, for example, when doing something different or dangerous

Collocates: experience/feel a thrill | a thrill of something the thrill of white-water rafting | Harry felt a thrill of excitement when he saw the mountain | experience the thrill of flying your own plane | seeing Niagara Falls was the biggest thrill of the holiday

Verb: thrill | Adjective: thrilling, thrilled

Keith Jarrett thrilled his audience with his hour-long solo | a thrilling tale of adventure in the Canadian wilderness | Wales won 19–16 in a thrilling match | I was thrilled when I realized George Clooney was in the same restaurant | he'll be thrilled when he hears we're going to New York for the weekend uplift /'ʌplɪft/ Verb

if something uplifts people, it gives them a feeling of hope and happiness listening to uplifting music can uplift your mood and energize you for the day ahead | the kind words of encouragement from her friends uplifted her spirits during a difficult time | volunteering to help others can uplift the soul and bring a sense of purpose and fulfillment

Adjective: uplifting

the motivational speaker delivered an uplifting speech that inspired the audience to take action | watching the sunrise over the mountains was an uplifting experience

Pages 110–111

be at a loss for words /bi: lɒst fɔ: wɜ:dz/ Phrase if you are at a loss for words, you are so surprised or shocked by something that you cannot think of what to say she fell silent, at a loss for words | I'm at a loss for words—I just never expected to win the whole tournament | for once, Mr. Trum seemed at a loss for words bribe /braɪb/ Verb

a bribe is money, favors, or other inducements offered or given to someone, typically public officials, in order to influence their actions or decisions dishonestly

Collocate: bribe someone the politician was accused of accepting a bribe in exchange for awarding government contracts | offering a bribe to a police officer is illegal and punishable by law | corruption and bribery undermine the integrity of institutions and erode public trust in government

Verb: bribe

the corrupt official was arrested for attempting to bribe the police officer | she refused to accept a bribe in exchange for compromising her integrity | he was accused of trying to bribe his way into the exclusive club disinformation /ˌdɪsɪnfə'meɪʃən/ Noun disinformation is false or misleading information deliberately spread to deceive or manipulate people, often for political or ideological purposes

Collocate: spread disinformation misinformation and disinformation spread rapidly on social media platforms, leading to confusion and distrust among the public | journalists play a crucial role in removing disinformation by fact-checking and verifying sources before publishing news stories | governments and organizations around the world are implementing strategies to stop disinformation

Verb: misinform

she warned against trusting sources known to misinform the public for political gain | the intention was to misinform the enemy about the troop movements encounter /ɪn'kaʊntə/ Noun if you encounter somebody or something, you meet them or come across it, in an unusual or unexpected way during their hiking trip, they had a thrilling encounter with a bear in the forest | the chance encounter with an old friend at the airport brought back fond memories of their school days | the scientist's expedition to Antarctica led to a remarkable encounter with a previously undiscovered species of penguin

Verb: encounter

she was surprised to encounter an old friend while walking through the park | the explorers encountered unexpected challenges during their journey through the jungle | he hoped to encounter rare wildlife during his safari in Africa fake /feɪk/ Adjective something that is fake is a copy of a real, valuable, or official object, that has been made in order to deceive people he was arrested for trying to enter the country on a fake passport | a fake CV | the paper was accused of publishing fake news | the paintings were fake

Noun: fake | Verb: fake

the painting was a fake | he faked her signature on the check | he entered the country using faked documents give your word /gɪv jɔ: wɜ:d/ Phrase if you give your word, you promise something

Collocate: give someone your word

I give you my word that I'll pay back the money | he gave his word that he would keep the library open | I want you to give me your word that you didn't steal it leak /li:k/ Noun

if a secret document or piece of information leaks or is leaked, someone lets the public know about it the leak of documents was a problem | companies invest in cybersecurity measures to prevent data breaches and leaks of customer information

Verb: leak

the information leaked to the press caused a scandal in the government | she accidentally leaked the news of her promotion before it was officially announced | the water pipe burst, causing gallons of water to leak into the basement life expectancy /laɪf ɪk'spektənsi/ Noun uncount your life expectancy is the number of years you can reasonably expect to be alive life expectancy in the U.K. for women is now over 82 years | life expectancy rose throughout the 20th century but might now drop | the inhabitants of Liechtenstein have the longest life expectancy in Europe | lower than average life expectancy | the life expectancy of a horse is 25 to 30 years manipulation /mə'nɪpjə'leɪʃən/ Noun manipulation is the skillful or artful management or control of something or someone, often for deceptive or exploitative purposes advertisers use psychological manipulation techniques to influence consumer behavior and increase sales | political leaders engage in media manipulation to shape public opinion and gain support for their policies

Verb: manipulate | Adjective: manipulative

the artist manipulated light and shadow to create a sense of depth in her paintings | he learned how to manipulate the controls of the machine to achieve optimal performance | the politician was accused of manipulative behavior mislead /mɪs'li:d/ Verb to mislead someone is to give them the wrong idea or impression and make them believe something that is not true false advertising can mislead consumers into purchasing products that do not live up to their claims | critical thinking skills are essential for discerning reliable information from sources that may attempt to mislead or manipulate

Adjective: misleading

the misleading advertisement led consumers to believe that the product could cure all their ailments | the misleading headline caused confusion among readers phenomenon /fə'nɒmɪnən/ Noun a phenomenon is something that can be seen to exist or be happening. If you refer to a particular sort of phenomenon, you mean it is an excellent or impressive example of what it is. The plural is phenomena

a global publishing phenomenon | the movie became a cultural phenomenon | the most interesting phenomena in nature are mind, life, and the universe itself

Adjective: phenomenal | Adverb: phenomenally

she had a phenomenal memory (a very impressive memory) | Jaws was a phenomenally successful movie proof /pru:f/ Noun proof is a fact, argument, or piece of evidence that shows something is definitely true or definitely exists forensic scientists analyze evidence to provide proof of a suspect's involvement in a crime | the signed contract serves as proof of the agreement between the two parties | researchers conduct experiments to gather proof supporting their idea

Verb: prove

he set out to prove his innocence by gathering evidence to support his alibi | the experiment was designed to prove the hypothesis that plants grow faster with music | she hoped to prove her worth through hard work and dedication rival /'raɪvəl/ Noun

a rival is a person or organization who is competing with you to achieve something that only one of you can have

Collocates: someone's main/nearest/chief/closest/fiercest rival | a bitter/deadly rival his closest rival was injured two weeks before the race | they'd been bitter rivals for twenty years, but now they've found friendship | Radcliffe finished the race nearly two minutes ahead of her nearest rival

Noun: rivalry

Collocates: fierce/bitter rivalry | sibling rivalry | rivalry between peoples

the rivalry between the two cities occasionally erupted into violence | a bitter rivalry that lasted 20 years | sibling rivalry (rivalry between brothers or sisters) take root /teɪk ru:t/ Phrase something that takes root, becomes established or firmly established; to begin to grow or develop roots, especially metaphorically the idea of democracy began to take root in the country after years of authoritarian rule | the seeds of environmental awareness planted by activists are starting to take root in society | cultural traditions can take root and endure for generations, shaping the identity of communities take someone's word for it /teɪk 'sʌmwʌnz wɜ:d fɔ:r ɪt/ Phrase if you take someone's word for it, you believe what they say even though they have given no evidence for it don't take my word for it, go and see for yourself | it sounds unlikely, but I'll take your word for it | we'll just have to take his word for it and hope he's right unintentional /ʌnɪn'tenʃənəl/ Adjective something that is unintentional is not done deliberately, but happens by accident his unintentional remark offended some of his coworkers, even though he didn't mean any harm | apologizing for unintentional mistakes can help maintain trust and goodwill in relationships

Adverb: unintentionally || Opposite – Adjective: intentional

she unintentionally offended her friend with a thoughtless remark | the email was unintentionally sent to the wrong recipient | he unintentionally bumped into the table, causing the glass to fall and shatter || he felt a victim of intentional discrimination word goes round /wɜ:d gəʊz raʊnd/ Phrase if word goes round or gets round, information passes from one person to another so that eventually a lot of people know it word went round that our new neighbors were from Albania | somehow, word got round that my dad had been in prison word of mouth /wɜ:d ɒv maʊθ/ Phrase if information is spread by word of mouth, it gets known by people talking to each other, rather than through advertisements, TV programs, the internet, etc.

the hotel relies on word of mouth for new customers | the best sales technique is still word of mouth | you should always listen to word-of-mouth recommendations

Pages 112–113

exaggeration /ɪɡˌzædʒə'reɪʃən/ Noun an exaggeration is a statement that claims something is bigger, better, or more extreme than it really is

Collocate: a gross/slight exaggeration

OK, I admit, that was a slight exaggeration | to describe it as a failure is an exaggeration | it was a ridiculous exaggeration, and no one believed him | the report was full of exaggeration and lies

Verb: exaggerate

Collocate: greatly/grossly/wildly exaggerate something these newspaper reports are always exaggerating the facts | stop exaggerating—things weren't that bad! | the dangers of eating raw eggs have been wildly exaggerated genuine /'dʒenjuɪn/ Adjective someone who is genuine is really what they appear to be and does not pretend to be different he seems like a genuine guy | she's honest, sincere, and genuine | you've been a genuine friend to me maturity /mə'tʃʊərəti/ Noun maturity is the state of being fully developed or adult Collocate: show maturity with age comes maturity, wisdom, and a deeper understanding of yourself and others | the company looks for employees who demonstrate professionalism and maturity in their behavior | emotional maturity enables individuals to handle difficult situations calmly and rationally quotation /kwəʊ'teɪʃən/ Noun a quotation is a sentence or phrase taken from a book, poem, or play, which is repeated by someone else the teacher asked the students to include at least one quotation from a literary work in their essays | the article began with a quotation from a famous philosopher, setting the tone for the discussion | when using direct quotations in academic writing, it's important to cite the original source properly

Verb: quote

she liked to quote passages from her favorite books to illustrate her points in the argument | he decided to quote a famous philosopher to emphasize his point during the debate | the journalist carefully quoted the interviewee's exact words to ensure accuracy uncommon /ʌn'kɒmən/ Adjective if you describe something as uncommon, you mean that it does not happen often or is not often seen in his small hometown, seeing a double rainbow was an uncommon event that brought excitement to the community | her uncommon talent for playing the ukulele set her apart from other musicians at the talent show

Opposite – Adjective: common

Pages 114–115

comfort zone /'kʌmfət zəʊn/your comfort zone is a place or situation where you feel secure, comfortable, or in control

Collocate: out of your comfort zone stepping out of your comfort zone can lead to personal growth and new opportunities for learning | pushing yourself out of your comfort zone can be uncomfortable at first, but it's necessary for achieving your goals and dreams discrimination /dɪ'skrɪmɪ'neɪʃən/ Noun discrimination is the practice of treating one person or group of people less fairly or less well than other people or groups laws against discrimination aim to ensure that all individuals are treated fairly and equally, regardless of their background or characteristics | gender discrimination in the workplace can take many forms, including pay inequity

Verb: discriminate

it is illegal to discriminate against someone based on their race, gender or religion | she accused the company of discriminating against older employees in its hiring practices | the teacher urged her students not to discriminate against others based on their differences donor /'dɒnə/ Noun

a donor is someone who gives a part of their body or some of their blood to be used by doctors to help a person who is ill

the blood bank relies on regular donors to provide lifesaving blood for medical treatments and emergencies | the college's scholarship program depends on the generosity of donors to support students in need | as a frequent donor to local food banks, she takes pride in helping those less fortunate in her community

Verb: donate

the wealthy philanthropist decided to donate a large sum of money to the charity | she regularly donates clothes and blankets to the homeless shelter | the blood drive aims to encourage people to donate blood to save lives gender-based /'dʒɛndə-beɪst/ Adjective gender-based is related to or influenced by someone's gender, typically in terms of social roles, expectations, stereotypes, or discrimination some cultures have strict gender-based divisions of labor, with certain tasks assigned based on traditional gender roles | gender-based discrimination in the workplace can impact career advancement gender equality /dʒɛndər-i'kwɒləti/ Noun gender equality is the state or condition of having equal rights, opportunities, and treatment regardless of gender. It is fairness between men and women in all aspects of life

many organization are working to promote gender quality in the workplace | gender equality policies aim to promote equal representation and participation of women and men in decision-making processes and leadership roles | education is key to achieving gender equality go to great lengths /gəʊ tu: greɪt lɛŋθs/ Phrase if someone goes to great lengths, they make a considerable effort or undertake extensive measures to achieve something; to go to extraordinary or extreme lengths the detective went to great lengths to unravel the mystery, following numerous leads and interviewing witnesses | she went to great lengths to hide her surprise party plans, even enlisting friends to help keep it a secret motivation /məʊtɪ'veɪʃən/ Noun your motivation for doing something is what causes you to want to do it Collocate: motivation for self-improvement books and motivational speakers often encourage individuals to find their inner motivation and pursue their dreams | setting clear goals and deadlines can help maintain motivation and focus when working on long-term projects

Verb: motivate | Adjective: motivational

the coach used motivational speeches to motivate the team before the big game | she found the support of her friends to be highly motivating during difficult times | the promise of a reward can motivate people to work harder and achieve their goals obstacle /'ɒbstəkl/ Noun an obstacle is an object that makes it difficult for you to go where you want to go, because it is in your way she saw the setbacks as temporary obstacles to overcome rather than insurmountable challenges | lack of funding proved to be a significant obstacle in launching the new business | with determination he managed to overcome every obstacle in his path to success perseverance /pɜ:sə'veɪərəns/ Noun perseverance is the quality of continuing with something even though it is difficult her perseverance in the face of adversity inspired others to keep pushing forward in difficult times | achieving success requires not only talent but also perseverance and resilience in the face of failure | the marathon runner's perseverance paid off as she crossed the finish line after months of rigorous training

Verb: persevere

despite facing numerous obstacles, she persevered and eventually achieved her dream of becoming a doctor | the athlete persevered through rigorous training to qualify for the Olympics | he urged his students to persevere in their studies, even when faced with challenges prior /'praɪə/ Adjective prior means happening or existing before a particular time, event, or occurrence; preceding or in advance of something else

Collocate: prior to something the team held a strategy meeting prior to the start of the project to outline goals and expectations | students must complete the prerequisite course prior to enrolling in the advanced seminar | please submit your application prior to the deadline to ensure consideration for the scholarship province /'prɒvɪns/ Noun a province is a region of a country that is distant from the capital. When people talk about the provinces, they often mean that they think these places are not as advanced culturally as the capital each province has its own government | the province has a large tourism industry | she said she didn't want to live in the provinces | out in the provinces, the shops stay shut on Sundays

Adjective: provincial she was born in a provincial village social mobilizer /'səʊʃəl 'məʊbɪlaɪzə/ Noun a social mobilizer person or organization that works to engage and empower communities, groups, or individuals to take collective action or address social issues; someone who mobilizes people for a common cause or purpose the nonprofit organization employs social mobilizers to talk about environmental conservation | as a social mobilizer, her role is to build networks among community members tolerate /'tɒləreɪt/ Verb if you tolerate a situation or person, you accept them although you do not particularly like them

Collocates: tolerate someone | tolerate something the school does not tolerate any form of bullying | some people have food allergies and cannot tolerate certain ingredients in their diet

Noun: tolerance | Adjective: tolerant the teacher encouraged an atmosphere of open-mindedness and tolerance in the classroom | the multicultural society prides itself on being tolerant of people from diverse backgrounds | she was raised in a tolerant household where differences were embraced and respected violence /'vaɪələns/ Noun violence is behavior that is intended to hurt, injure, or kill people domestic violence is a serious issue that affects millions of individuals and families worldwide | the protest turned violent when clashes erupted between demonstrators and police forces | video games often come under scrutiny for their portrayal of graphic violence and its potential impact on players

Adjective: violent

UNIT 10: USING YOUR TALENTS

Page 117

ban /bæn/ Noun to ban is an official rule that something must not be done, shown, or used the school put a ban on all sugary drinks | there's a ban on single-use plastics in our city to reduce environmental pollution

Verb: ban

she was disappointed when her favorite snack was banned from the school canteen determined /dɪ'tɜːmɪnd/ Adjective if you are determined to do something, you have made a firm decision to do it and will not let anything stop you

she was determined to learn how to play the guitar, so she practiced every day until she mastered it | despite facing setbacks, he remained determined to pursue his dream of becoming a doctor | with a determined mindset, anything is possible

Noun: determination

I was impressed by her determination to finish the race, despite the pain in her legs expertise /ˌɛkspɜː'tiːz/ Noun expertise is special skill or knowledge that is acquired by training, study, or practice astronauts require extensive training and expertise to operate complex spacecraft and conduct experiments in space | seeking advice from someone with expertise can help you make informed decisions and avoid mistakes

Adjective: expert | Adverb: expertly leading industry experts | the chef's expertise in French cuisine was evident in every dish he prepared aircraft /'eəkrɑːft/ Noun an aircraft is a vehicle that can fly, for example, an airplane or a helicopter commercial aircraft allow people to travel long distances in a relatively short amount of time | military aircraft are equipped with advanced technology for reconnaissance | the development of electric-powered aircraft represents a significant step toward reducing carbon emissions in the aviation industry altitude /'æltɪtjuːd/ Noun altitude is the height of something above the ground, often measured as being above the height of the sea passenger planes fly at altitudes of 30,000 or 40,000 feet above sea level | the experimental aircraft reached an altitude of 200,000 feet | at altitude (very high up), the air is much thinner and it's more difficult to breathe apply for /ə'plai fə(r)/ Phrase if you apply for something, you officially request it. For example a job, a place at a college, or a loan from the bank

Pages 118–119

I applied for the promotion | they're applying for money to support their research | students usually apply to more than one university

Noun: application | Noun: applicant

we are writing to inform you that your application for the position has been accepted | she was a successful applicant to the course become (an astronaut) /bɪ'kʌm ən 'æstrənɔːt/ Phrase when you become (an astronaut), you start to be something ever since I was young, I've dreamed of becoming an astronaut | I became an electrician | to become an engineer you need to go to college do (a course) /duː ə kɔːs/ Phrase if you do (a course), you participate in it or complete it

I plan to do a digital marketing course | while on vacation, we did a course in Italian cooking | I'm just finishing an online course in Japanese experimental /ɪkˌspɛrɪ'mentəl/ Adjective something that is experimental is based on new ideas or methods that are used to find out if they work or not

Collocate: experimental methods/data/results

he conducted the first flight of the experimental aircraft | an experimental research project | the experimental nature of the scheme | the experimental results were encouraging

Noun: experiment | Verb: experiment | Adverb: experimentally

Collocates: do/conduct/carry out/perform an experiment | an experiment shows/proves something permission to conduct the experiment was granted | the experiment was a failure | the theory cannot be tested experimentally | this can be demonstrated experimentally under laboratory conditions follow (a career) /fɒləʊ ə kə'rɪə/ Phrase to follow (a career) means to choose and work in a specific type of job after school, I decided to follow a career in law | I followed a career in math before changing to AI | despite the challenges, they followed a career in music and made it a success graduate /'grædʒueɪtɪd/ Verb to graduate is to get a degree from a college or university she graduated from college with honors after years of training, he finally graduated from the police academy and became an officer | many students feel a sense of accomplishment and relief when they graduate from college

Noun: graduate, graduation she's a graduate from Oxford University with a degree in computer science get (a job) /get ə dʒɒb/ Phrase to get a job means to successfully obtain work

Collocate: get a job in

I got a better job with more pay and improved benefits | did you get that job? | we finally got a job in the industry after months of searching leave (a firm) /li:v ə fɜ:m/ Phrase if you leave (a firm), you stop being employed by a company

I decided to leave the firm after five years of service | many employees leave the firm for better-paying positions elsewhere | the manager left the company to pursue an opportunity in a different industry passion /'pæʃən/ Noun

if you have a passion for something, you are very interested in it and want to be very involved with it

Collocate: a passion for something

Ana had a passion for flying | my true passion is learning languages | her passion in life is distance running | his passion has been collecting old books

Adjective: passionate

Collocate: passionate about something she has always been passionate about her job ultimate /'ʌltɪmət/ Adjective you use ultimate to describe the final result or aim of a long series of events winning the championship was the ultimate goal for the soccer team, and they trained tirelessly to achieve it | visiting the Grand Canyon was the ultimate experience for her, a breathtaking natural wonder that left her in awe | the ultimate responsibility of a parent is to ensure the well-being and happiness of their children worldwide /wɜ:ld'waɪd/ Adjective if something exists or happens worldwide, it exists or happens throughout the world the internet has made communication and information sharing worldwide instantaneous and accessible | the COVID-19 pandemic has had a worldwide impact, affecting people's lives and economies across continents | environmental conservation efforts must be coordinated on a worldwide scale to address climate change and protect biodiversity work for /wɜ:k fɔ:/ Phrase when you work for someone, you are employed by a specific company or person

Collocates: work for someone | work for a company

I work for a small tech company | you've worked for the same company for 10 years | I'm excited to work for a company that's passionate about the environment

Pages 120–121

addressed /ə'drest/ Verb

if a letter, envelope, or parcel is addressed to you, your name and address have been written on it the teacher addressed the class's concerns about the exam and provided additional study resources | the mayor addressed the city council to outline her plans for improving public services | it's important to address conflicts and misunderstandings in relationships to maintain open communication and trust

Noun: address

the president delivered a speech to address the nation's concerns about the economy | she wrote a letter to her local politician to address the issue of climate change belong /bɪ'lɒŋ/ Verb

if someone belongs to a particular group, they are a member of that group. If something belongs to a person, they own it every student should feel like they belong in their school community, regardless of their background or interests | the antique vase belongs to my grandmother and has been passed down through generations

Noun: belonging

a sense of belonging is important for mental health and well-being | she finally found a sense of belonging when she joined the local theater group and discovered her passion for acting distinguish /dɪ'stɪŋɡwɪʃ/ Verb if you distinguish between two things or people, you successfully identify each of them by seeing the differences between them

Collocates: distinguish between things/people | distinguish one person/thing from another he can't distinguish between a duck and a goose | he has difficulty distinguishing between blue and green | as children, we have to learn to distinguish good from bad | looking at the shape helps you to distinguish individual words

Noun: distinction

there's an important distinction between income and wealth echo /'ekəʊ/ Verb an echo is a sound that is caused by a noise being reflected off a surface such as a wall her words echoed in the empty auditorium | the valleys echoed with the call of wild animals, creating a beautiful sound | social media platforms often echo the opinions of their users, amplifying both positive and negative voices

Noun: echo

there was an echo of footsteps in the empty hallway echolocation /'ekəʊləʊ'keɪʃn/ Noun echolocation is a system used by some animals to determine the position of an object by measuring how long it takes for an echo to return from the object bats use echolocation to hunt for insects in the dark, emitting ultrasonic calls and listening for returning echoes | dolphins rely on echolocation to locate food and navigate through muddy waters with precision | scientists study echolocation in animals to develop technology for human applications, such as sonar systems eyesight /'aɪsaɪt/ Noun uncount your eyesight is how well you are able to see things Collocates: good/keen eyesight | bad/poor eyesight | failing eyesight as we get old, our eyesight gets worse | my father had poor eyesight from when he was a child | I've never had any problems with my eyesight | they test your eyesight as part of your driving test | failing eyesight meant he could no longer play the piano fence /fens/ Noun

a fence is a wooden or metal barrier that separates two areas of land we used to sit on the fence and watch the cows in the field | the fence blew down during the storm | my dad put up a new fence around the garden | they climbed over the security fence fully sighted /'fʊli-'saɪtɪd/ Adjective someone who is fully sighted has good eyesight and does not have any problems with their eyes her fully sighted colleagues were always willing to help | he wants to train fully sighted firefighters to develop the same skills hard of hearing /hɑ:d ɒv 'hiəriŋ/ Adjective someone who is hard of hearing cannot hear very well

I've become rather hard of hearing over the last few years | anyone who is hard of hearing will have found that film difficult to watch | after years playing loud rock music in a band, he was now quite hard of hearing | being hard of hearing causes more problems than you realize homeless /'həʊmləs/ Adjective homeless people have nowhere to live the nonprofit organization provides support and resources to homeless individuals and families in need | she volunteers at the local homeless shelter, serving meals and offering assistance to those experiencing housing insecurity

Noun: homelessness

the city has seen an increase in homelessness in recent years nickname /'nɪkneɪm/ Noun a nickname is an informal name people use for someone that is not their real name at school, his nickname was Hyde because his surname was Park | they gave me the nickname "Speedy" because I always won the running races | did you have a nickname when you were younger?

Verb: nickname neighbors nicknamed the man "Milko" because he was always drinking milk react /ri'ækt/ Verb

when you react to something that has happened to you, you behave in a particular way because of it he reacted with surprise when he received the unexpected news of his promotion | it's important to think before you react, especially in emotionally charged situations

Noun: reaction

her reaction to the surprise party was one of shock and disbelief | the chemical reaction between the two substances produced a loud explosion | the government's decision sparked strong reactions from both supporters and critics sensitive /'sensɪtɪv/ Adjective sensitive parts of the body notice smells, sights, sounds, etc. very quickly, even if they are very faint she doesn't eat ice cream, saying her teeth are too sensitive to cold | a sensitive sense of smell | his eyes were sensitive to the bright sunlight short-sighted /ʃɔ:t-'saɪtɪd/ Adjective someone who is short-sighted cannot easily see things that are some distance away being short-sighted, I have to wear glasses when I'm driving | he wore thick glasses because he was so short-sighted | I always sat at the front of the class because I was short-sighted

Opposite – Adjective: long-sighted if you're long-sighted, you can probably read the notice on the other side of the road species /'spi:ʃi:z/ Noun a species is a class of plants or animals whose members have the same main characteristics and are able to breed with each other humans are just one of many species that inhabit the Earth, each with its own unique adaptations and behaviors | conservation efforts aim to protect endangered species from extinction and preserve biodiversity unaware /ʌnə'weə/ Adjective if you are unaware of something, you do not know about it or do not know that it exists

Collocates: unaware of something | unaware that I was unaware of that fact | they were unaware of the problems that lay ahead | everyone else was unaware that she was in such pain | we were unaware that the shop was going to close at five o'clock

Noun: unawareness || Opposites – Adjective: aware |

Noun: awareness

Collocates: unawareness of something | be aware of something | aware that | awareness of something there were reasons for his unawareness of the importance of the document | I wasn't aware that she was back in Lisbon | I was made aware of the danger by my doctor | she had a keen awareness of the danger (she understood the danger very well) | we need to raise public awareness of the issue (tell people about it)

Pages 122–123

dedication /ˌdedɪˈkeɪʃən/ Noun uncount someone's dedication is their determination to do a task thoroughly and well his dedication to keeping fit was admirable | finishing medical school took years of dedication | her lifelong dedication to classical music

Verb: dedicate | Adjective: dedicated

he dedicated most of his career to working with the homeless | she is dedicated to providing the best customer service possible embody /ɪmˈbɒdi/ Verb to express or prepresent an idea or quality the statue perfectly embodied the grace and beauty of the ballerina's movements | her actions embodied the values of integrity and compassion that she preached | the character in the novel embodied the spirit of determination in the face of a challenge

Noun: embodiment

she is the embodiment of the young, ambitious millennial emotionally /ɪˈməʊʃənəli/ Adverb if you deal with something emotionally, you deal with it in a manner that relates to or affecting your emotions she reacted emotionally to the heartfelt letter from her long-lost friend | dealing with loss can be emotionally challenging, requiring time and support to heal | the movie's poignant ending left the audience emotionally moved and reflective

Noun: emotion | Adjective: emotional

she felt strong emotions when she read the heartfelt letter from her best friend | the movie's emotional soundtrack enhanced the dramatic scenes | he struggled to control his emotional response during the tense conversation era /ˈɪərə/ Noun

an era is a period of time, usually in history, that has a particular feature or characteristic a new era of relative stability and peace | the internet era took off in the 1990s | the industrial era | the era of social media has just begun eventful /ɪˈvɛntfəl/ Adjective if you describe an event or a period of time as eventful, you mean that a lot of interesting, exciting, or important things have happened during it her trip to Europe was eventful, filled with adventures and unexpected encounters | the year 2020 was particularly eventful, marked by a global pandemic | his career was eventful, with highs and lows that shaped his professional journey

Noun: eventfulness || Opposite – Adverb: uneventfully

the eventfulness of the evening left everyone full of excitement | the event passed uneventfully fearlessness /ˈfiəlsənəs/ Noun fearlessness is the state or quality of being bold, courageous, or without fear; the absence of fear or timidity her fearlessness in the face of danger earned her the admiration of her peers | skydiving requires a certain level of fearlessness, as you must overcome their fear of heights | the firefighter's fearlessness saved lives during the rescue operation in the burning building financially /faɪˈnænjəli/ Adverb financially means in terms of finances; with regard to money, wealth, or financial resources they struggled financially after losing their jobs during the economic downturn | saving money and budgeting can help individuals live more comfortably financially | he was financially independent by the age of 30, thanks to his successful investments.

freelance /ˈfriːlɑːns/ Adjective a freelance journalist, photographer, etc. is someone who works for different organizations, but not as an employee he's working as a freelance photographer | a freelance translator | Marvin quit his job to become a freelance editor

Noun: freelancer | Adverb: freelance

a group of freelancers who meet for lunch once a month | I prefer working freelance glory /ˈɡlɔːri/ Noun glory is the fame and admiration that you gain by doing something impressive she basked in the glory of winning the award for her groundbreaking research | the ancient city's ruins stand as a testament to its former glory and grandeur | achieving one's dreams is a moment of glory, earned through hard work leap /ˈli:p/ Verb to leap is to jump high or a long way the horse leapt a six-foot fence | the flames were leaping, engulfing the forest in a fiery inferno | the company's profits are expected to leap significantly next quarter

Noun: leap

the athlete made a giant leap toward the finish line, securing victory in the race | she took a leap of faith and decided to pursue her passion for music passionate /ˈpæʃənət/ Adjective if you are passionate, you feel very fond of or enthusiastic about something she was very passionate about her work | his manager described him as a passionate and committed employee | the college was looking for passionate students persistence /pəˈsɪstəns/ Noun if you have persistence, you continue to do something even though it is difficult or other people are against it his persistence in pursuing his goals paid off, eventually leading to the realization of his dreams | the scientist's breakthrough discovery was a testament to years of tireless persistence and dedication to his research pursue /pə'sju:/ Verb to pursue something is to try to achieve a goal, aim or objective she was passionately pursuing her dream of becoming a professional musician, practicing for hours each day | the detective was pursuing leads in the investigation, determined to discover the truth behind the mysterious disappearance | many students are pursuing higher education as a means of improving their career prospects and earning potential

Noun: pursuit

his pursuit of knowledge led him to become respected in his field | she abandoned her artistic pursuits to focus on her career in finance rejection /rɪ'dʒekʃn/ Noun a rejection is a decision not to use, sell, publish, etc. something because it isn't of high enough quality he felt disheartened after the rejection of his manuscript by publishers, but he remained determined to keep writing | despite his best efforts, he received rejection letters from every college he applied to | suffering rejection by her peers left her feeling alone, struggling to find her place in the world

Verb: reject

despite her qualifications, she was rejected for the job due to lack of experience resilient /rɪ'zɪliənt/ Adjective something that is resilient is able to withstand or recover quickly from difficult conditions or adversity; possessing toughness or elasticity the community proved to be resilient in the face of natural disasters, coming together to rebuild and support one another | despite facing numerous challenges, she remained resilient, refusing to let setbacks define her self-belief /self-bɪ'li:f/ Noun self-belief is confidence in your own abilities or judgment with self-belief, you can overcome obstacles and achieve your goals, no matter how challenging they may seem | self-belief is essential for maintaining a positive attitude and resilience in the face of adversity self-conscious /self-'kɒnʃəs/ Adjective if you are self-conscious, you worry about what people think of you and often feel embarrassed when you are in public

I was too self-conscious to go up to her | she was very self-conscious about her nose | a rather shy, self-conscious man in his forties | I always feel self-conscious at parties

Noun: self-consciousness | Adverb: self-consciously as they danced, her self-consciousness started to vanish | Charles looked at his watch self-consciously | he waved self-consciously as his aunt got off the train self-control /self-kən'trəʊl/ Noun uncount self-control is the ability to stop yourself from doing something you would like to do, but that you know might not have a good result it took a lot of self-control to give up chocolate | using all his self-control, he followed the diet for another eight weeks | children need to learn self-control before they leave school | you should exercise more self-control self-help book /self 'hɛlp bʊk/ Noun a self-help book is designed to help people solve their problems for themselves without relying on other people

I've read several self-help books | over the weekend, I read a self-help book to be more assertive self-made /self-meɪd/ Adjective a self-made man or woman is someone who has become successful entirely through their own efforts, and hasn't had to have help or borrow a lot of money from other people my father was a self-made man | a self-made millionaire | a rich, self-made industrialist | there's no such thing as a self-made politician setback /'setbæk/ Noun

a setback is a sudden problem that temporarily stops you making progress in what you are trying to achieve

Collocates: suffer a setback | overcome a setback

hopefully this is just a setback rather than an end to his career prospects | I wouldn't say it's a disaster—just a slight setback | her preparations for the World Cup suffered a serious setback when she broke her leg in training | within days she had overcome this setback and astonished doctors with the speed of her recovery

Phrasal verb: set back the project was well on schedule, but then the floods set us back by two weeks | it won't stop progress altogether, but it will set them back slightly tragically /'trædʒɪkəli/ Adverb something that happens tragically happens in a manner marked by deep sorrow, grief, or unfortunate circumstances; in a way that invokes feelings of tragedy or sadness tragically, many lives were lost in the natural disaster, leaving behind grieving families | she passed away tragically at a young age, leaving her loved ones mourning the loss of her vibrant spirit | the consequences of war are tragically felt by innocent civilians caught in the crossfire, their lives forever changed by violence and conflict

Noun: tragedy | Adjective: tragic it was a tragedy that she died so young | his death was a tragic loss to his family and friends, who mourned him deeply

Pages 124–125

cope /'kəʊp/ Verb to cope is to manage or deal with difficult or stressful situations everyone copes with stress differently, whether through exercise, meditation, or seeking support from loved ones | coping with loss requires time, self-reflection, and the support of friends and family to heal and move forward | the community came together to cope with the aftermath of the natural disaster | he struggled to cope with the loss of his beloved pet

Adjective: coping

she developed healthy coping mechanisms to deal with stress and anxiety | learning healthy coping mechanisms can help individuals navigate life's ups and downs with resilience and grace entitled /ɪn'taɪtəld/ Adjective if you are entitled to have something or do something, you have a right to have it or do it

Collocates: entitled to something | entitled to do something the law says you are entitled to keep the car | the bank is entitled to refuse to lend you the money | I'm not entitled to a company car yet | you are entitled to free legal advice

Noun: entitlement | Verb: entitle

Collocates: entitlement to something | entitle someone to something the children's entitlement to free school meals | this will entitle you to free medical care for the next year principle /'prɪnsəpəl/ Noun a principle is a general belief that you have about the way you should behave, which influences your behavior honesty is a guiding principles that govern his actions in both personal and professional life | upholding the principle of equality, the organization aims to ensure justice for all its members specialized /'speʃəlaɪzd/ Adjective someone or something that is specialized is trained or developed for a particular purpose or area of knowledge the hospital has specialized equipment for treating rare medical conditions that require specialized care | specialized training is necessary for professionals working in industries such as aerospace engineering or neurosurgery

Verb: specialize

after completing medical school, she decided to specialize in pediatric cardiology | the restaurant specializes in Italian cuisine, drawing food enthusiasts from far and wide | he chose to specialize in computer engineering due to his passion for technology suited /'su:tɪd/ Adjective if you are suited to something, you have the right qualifications, experience, or personality for it

Collocate: suited to something

I think I'm quite suited to the job | not everyone is suited to working in an office | they were perfectly suited to each other trustworthy /'trʌstwɜ:ði/ Adjective a trustworthy person is reliable, responsible, and can be trusted completely many older employees were regarded as harder working and more trustworthy

Pages 126–127

enhanced /ɪn'hɑ:nst/ Adjective something that is enhanced is improved or increased in quality, value, or effectiveness; made better or more favourable his performance was enhanced by the new technology, allowing him to achieve greater efficiency and accuracy | a balanced diet and regular exercise can lead to enhanced physical health and well-being | the image had been digitally enhanced to show more detail

Noun: enhancement | Verb: enhance the enhancement of skills through continuous learning is key to staying competitive in today's job market | education plays a crucial role in enhancing opportunities and empowering individuals to reach their full potential excommunicate /ˌɛkskə'mju:nɪkeɪt/ Verb to excommunicate is to punish somebody by officially stating that they can no longer be a member of the Christian Church being excommunicated from the community was a severe punishment, often resulting in social isolation and shunning | the religious leader was excommunicated from the church for his controversial teachings perception /pə'sepʃən/ Noun your perception of something is the way that you think about it or the impression you have of it perception plays a significant role in shaping our views and attitudes toward others and the world around us | our perception of reality is influenced by a combination of sensory input, past experiences, and cognitive biases | cultural differences can lead to variations in perception, affecting how individuals interpret and respond to social cues

Verb: perceive

she perceived a subtle change in his demeanor, indicating that something was wrong | the artist's paintings invite viewers to perceive beauty in everyday life | he perceived the situation differently after hearing both sides of the story symphony /'sɪmfəni/ Noun a symphony is a piece of music written to be played by an orchestra. Symphonies are usually made up of four separate sections called movements attending a live symphony performance is a captivating experience, as the orchestra brings the music to life with their skill and passion | Beethoven's Ninth Symphony is celebrated for its stirring choral finale theorem /'θiərəm/ Noun

a theorem is a rule or statement in mathematics or logic that can be proved to be true by reasoning

Euclid's theorem on the Pythagorean theorem demonstrates the relationship between the sides of a right triangle | the parallel axis theorem provides a method for calculating the moment of inertia of an object about an axis parallel to its center of mass

Adjective: theoretical | Adverb: theoretically the theoretical scientist proposed groundbreaking theories that revolutionized our understanding of the universe uncertainty /ʌn'sɜ:nti/ Noun uncertainty is a state of doubt about the future or about what is the right thing to do economic uncertainty can impact consumer confidence and investment decisions | dealing with uncertainty requires adaptability, as well as the ability to make informed decisions

Adjective: uncertain | Adverb: uncertainly

the outcome of the election remains uncertain as ballots continue to be counted | she felt uncertain about her future career path after graduating from college | the weather forecast for the weekend is uncertain, with a chance of rain

UNIT 11: KNOWLEDGE AND LEARNING

Page 129

acquire /ə'kwaɪə/ Verb

if you acquire knowledge or a skill, you get it by learning about it and practicing it children can acquire foreign languages more easily than adults | I'm keen to acquire new skills | his ability to sing was acquired through years of training

Noun: acquisition language acquisition (the process by which people learn to speak a language) concrete outcome /'kɒŋkri:t 'aʊtkʌm/ Noun a concrete outcome is a specific result or consequence that is clearly defined and measurable the negotiation process aims to achieve a concrete outcome that benefits all parties involved | the project manager set clear objectives to ensure a concrete outcome was achieved | setting realistic goals is essential for producing concrete outcomes | the team's efforts resulted in a concrete outcome: a successful product launch motto /'mɒtəʊ/ Noun

a motto is a short sentence or phrase chosen to encapsulate the beliefs or ideals guiding an individual, family, or institution the company's motto, "quality first," emphasizes their commitment to excellence | "work hard, play hard" is his personal motto for achieving balance in life | the school's motto, "learn, lead, inspire," reflects its educational philosophy | her motto, "never give up," motivates her to persevere through challenges | "be kind" is a motto that resonates with many people as a guiding principle in life outcome /'aʊtkʌm/ Noun an outcome is the final result or consequence of a sequence of actions or events; the effect or consequence brought about by something

Collocate: a positive/negative outcome the outcome of the conversation was a mutually beneficial agreement | studying hard is likely to lead to a positive outcome in exams | the outcome of the game depended on the last-minute goal | the outcome of the election will shape the future of the country self-directed /self-daɪ'rektɪd/ Adjective someone who is self-directed has the ability to regulate or control oneself without external direction or guidance

she took a self-directed approach to her learning, setting her own goals and timelines | self-directed learners are often more motivated in their studies | self-directed employees are valued for their initiative and independence | self-directed learning allows individuals to pursue their interests and passions autonomously

Noun: self-direction

self-direction is an important skill that allows individuals to take control of their own learning and development | the program encourages students to take initiative and practice self-direction in their studies specifically /spə'sɪfɪkli/ Adverb you use specifically to emphasize that something is given special attention and considered separately from other things of the same kind she asked specifically for a vegetarian option at the restaurant | the instructions were specifically designed for beginners | the report addresses the issue specifically mentioned in the meeting | he outlined his goals specifically to avoid any confusion | the policy applies specifically to employees working in dangerous environments

Adjective: specific

she had a specific vision for her wedding, down to the smallest details | the doctor ordered specific tests to determine the cause of the patient's symptoms take in /teɪk ɪn/ Phrasal verb if you take in information, you read, see, or hear it and then remember it you'd better take notes, there's a lot to take in | the lecturer spoke so fast I couldn't take it all in | I've read it twice and I still haven't taken it in academic knowledge /ækə'demɪk 'nɒlɪdʒ/ Phrase if you have academic knowledge, you know information that is based on formal education. The information is often theoretical or specialised academic knowledge was crucial for success in the research project | apply your academic knowledge to solve complex problems at work | I'm lacking in academic knowledge of the subject

Pages 130–131

Noun: academy

I attended an academy of the arts accomplishment /ə'kʌmplɪʃmənt/ Noun an accomplishment is something that has been achieved successfully; a completed task, goal, or objective

Collocate: a huge accomplishment finishing the marathon was a significant accomplishment for her | receiving an award for her research was a great accomplishment | learning to play the piano was one of her proudest accomplishments | completing the project ahead of schedule was a remarkable accomplishment | her career is filled with many accomplishments and accolades

Verb: accomplish

she set out to accomplish her goal of running a marathon | the team worked tirelessly to accomplish the project ahead of schedule | he felt a sense of pride and accomplishment after completing his first novel by heart /baɪ hɑ:t/ Phrase if you learn something by heart or know something off by heart, you can remember it and repeat it without having to read any of it we had to learn two poems by heart for homework | I've heard it so often I know it off by heart | she knew the play by heart coaching /'kəʊtʃɪŋ/ Noun coaching is the act of providing guidance, instruction, and support to help individuals or groups improve their performance or achieve their goals she sought coaching to improve her public speaking skills | coaching sessions focused on setting and achieving personal and professional goals | coaching in sports involves both skill development and mental preparation

Verb: coach

the teacher coached the students in how to give effective presentations drop out /drɒp aʊt/ Phrasal verb if you drop out of a course of study, you stop doing it and leave the institution where you were studying. A person who does this is a dropout

Collocate: drop out of something he had to drop out of school and earn money for his family | she went back to college, but dropped out for a second time | my mother was furious when I dropped out of college | about one third of students drop out of the course by the end of the second year

Noun: dropout

it's not easy to find work if you're a dropout | there's a proven link between poverty and college dropout rates emotional awareness /ɪ'məʊʃənəl ə'weənəs/ Noun emotional awareness is the ability to recognize, understand, and manage one's own emotions as well as those of others emotional awareness is a key component of emotional intelligence | practicing mindfulness can enhance emotional awareness | developing emotional awareness can lead to improved interpersonal relationships | emotional awareness allows individuals to navigate stressful situations more effectively | he lacked emotional awareness, often reacting impulsively without considering others' feelings emotional intelligence /ɪ'məʊʃənəl ɪn'telɪdʒəns/ Noun emotional intelligence is the ability to recognize, understand, and manage one's own emotions effectively, as well as to recognize, understand, and influence the emotions of others emotional intelligence plays a crucial role in personal and professional success | developing emotional intelligence can lead to better communication and relationships | schools are increasingly recognizing the importance of teaching emotional intelligence to students | individuals with high emotional intelligence are often better equipped to handle stress and conflict emotion /ɪ'məʊʃən/ Noun an emotion is a feeling, such as joy, anger, fear, or sadness, that arise in response to internal or external stimuli understanding and managing one's emotions is an important aspect of emotional intelligence | expressing emotions can help individuals cope with stress | emotions can influence our thoughts, behaviors, and decision-making processes | some people find it challenging to express their emotions openly

Adjective: emotional

the film's emotional ending left viewers in tears | she couldn't help but feel emotional as she listened to the heartfelt speeches | he struggled to control his emotional response to the stressful situation engagement /ɪn'geɪdʒmənt/ Noun engagement is the act of being actively involved, interested, or invested in something; the degree of attention, commitment, and participation shown toward a particular activity or task student engagement is essential for effective learning and academic success | increasing employee engagement can lead to higher productivity and job satisfaction | the company measures customer engagement through surveys and feedback | the success of the event was due in part to the high level of audience engagement | creating opportunities for community engagement is important for social cohesion and civic participation

Verb: engage

it's important for teachers to engage students actively in the learning process | the company wants to engage with its customers through social media and other channels | he found it challenging to engage with the material because it was too dry harm /hɑ:m/ Verb to harm is to damage or injure the environment has been harmed by pollution and deforestation | it's essential to avoid activities that could harm the environment

Noun: harm | Adjective: harmful

he apologized for any harm his words may have caused | efforts to reduce harm to wildlife are ongoing | exposure to harmful chemicals can have long-term health effects | children should be taught how to recognize and avoid potentially harmful situations improve your (job) prospects /ɪm'pru:v jɔ: dʒɒb 'prɒspekts/ Phrase to improve your (job) prospects means to increase your chances or opportunities for future employment learning another language can help to improve job prospects | networking with professionals in the industry could significantly improve your job prospects learn from experience /lɜ:n frɒm ɪk'spiəriəns/ Phrase if you learn from experience, you gain knowledge or skills from what you have gone through or done in the past we should learn from our past experiences to avoid making the same mistakes | I learnt from my experience and have improved my behavior since then | learning from experience, I became more cautious in her investments mindful /ˈmaɪndfəl/ Adjective to be mindful is to be attentive, aware, and conscious of one's thoughts, feelings, and surroundings

Collocates: be mindful of someone | be mindful of yourself be mindful of your breathing as you practice meditation | it's important to be mindful of the impact of your words on others | being mindful of your diet can lead to healthier eating habits | he tried to be mindful of his spending to save money for a holiday potential /pəˈtɛnʃəl/ Noun uncount if a place or person has potential, there is a big possibility that they can develop and become different or better in the future

Collocate: reach/realize your (full/true) potential the house has got real potential | the area has enormous potential | he's only a young player, but he has potential | she hasn't reached her full potential yet

Adjective: potential | Adverb: potentially he is thought of as a potential prime minister | we exhibited our work for potential employers practical experience /præktɪkəl ɪkˈspɪəriəns/ Phrase practical experience is lessons gained through direct observation or participation in events rather than through studies

Collocates: gain practical experience | have practical experience students can work at the company for two weeks to gain practical experience in the industry | she has a lot of practical experience, which makes her the best person for the job | despite my degree, I lack practical experience promoter /prəˈməʊtə/ Noun a promoter is a person or thing that promotes, encourages, or advocates for something; an advocate or supporter as a promoter of environmental conservation, she organized community clean-up events | the company hired a marketing promoter to increase brand visibility | social media influencers can be powerful promoters of products and brands | the government serves as a promoter of public health initiatives | the event received support from various promoters and sponsors

Verb: promote

the company launched a new advert to promote its latest product | she was promoted to a higher position within the company for her outstanding performance | the organization works to promote gender equality in the workplace theory /ˈθɪəri/ Noun

a theory is a formal set of ideas based on observations, experimentation, and reasoning scientific theories provide frameworks for understanding the natural world | there are various theories about the origins of the universe | psychologists develop theories to explain human behaviors and cognition | economic theories inform policy decisions and market strategies thereafter /ðəəˈrɑːftə/ Adverb thereafter means after the time or event mentioned; following something in chronological order she graduated from college and thereafter pursued a career in finance | the company experienced rapid growth in its early years, but thereafter faced financial challenges | he completed his training and thereafter began working as a chef | the law was enacted in 1990 and thereafter became known as the "ADA" | the team won the championship and thereafter celebrated with a victory parade

Pages 132–133

day off /deɪ ɒf/ Noun

a day off is a working day or a school day when you are allowed not to go to work or school they let me take the day off last Friday | how many days off do you get a year? | I always have a day off on my birthday | enjoy your day off tomorrow!

emotionally exhausting /ɪˈməʊʃənəli ɪɡˈzɔːstɪŋ/ Adjective phrase something that is emotionally exhausting causes or results in extreme fatigue or drain on one's emotions the constant stress of the job became emotionally exhausting over time | going through a breakup can be emotionally exhausting | the movie's subject matter left viewers emotionally exhausted | dealing with conflict in the workplace can lead to emotional exhaustion if not solved flashbacks /flæʃbæks/ Noun flashbacks are sudden memories of past experiences or events. They often happen because something in the past makes you think about that past situation

Collocates: vivid flashbacks | have flashbacks | suffer from flashbacks

I just had a flashback to that awful movie we watched | he may suffer from flashbacks related to his experiences | the smell of baking bread gave her vivid flashbacks of her childhood inaccurate /ɪnˈækjərət/ Adjective something that is inaccurate is not accurate; incorrect or not precise Collocate: inaccurate results the weather forecast turned out to be inaccurate, as it didn't predict the storm | the news report contained inaccurate information about the incident | the data collected was deemed inaccurate due to errors | the survey results were considered inaccurate because of the small sample size

Adverb: inaccurately

the information provided in the report was inaccurately presented, leading to confusion among readers | he felt that his views had been inaccurately represented in the media | the study's findings were inaccurately interpreted by the press oppose /ə'pəʊz/ Verb to oppose is to disagree strongly with a plan, policy, and what to change it many citizens oppose the government's plans to build a new highway through the national park | she decided to oppose the proposal during the town hall meeting

Noun: opposition | Adjective: opposed she was opposed to the new development project in her neighborhood | the two political parties are deeply opposed on key issues | many parents are opposed to the idea of later school start times for teenagers | the students were opposed to the new dress code policy punchline /'pʌntʃlaɪn/ Noun a punchline is the last few words or humorous ending of a joke, story, or speech that delivers the main point or creates the desired effect the comedian delivered the punchline with perfect timing, eliciting laughter from the audience | his joke fell flat because he forgot the punchline | the article had a clever punchline that left readers chuckling | she struggled to come up with a witty punchline for her speech | the punchline of the movie was unexpected and caught viewers by surprise reassure /ri:'ʒʊ:/ Verb

if you reassure someone, you give them comfort or confidence to them; to ease their doubts, fears or worries

she reassured her child that monsters weren't real | the teacher reassured the students that they were well-prepared for the exam | receiving positive feedback can reassure employees about their performance

Noun: reassurance | Adjective: reassuring the doctor provided reassurance that the surgery would be successful | she sought reassurance from her friends before making a difficult decision | it was reassuring to hear the coach say that they could still win the game recall /rɪ'kɔ:l/ Verb

if you can recall something, you are able to remember it. The word recall is rather formal, and the usual word to use is remember

I can't recall the name of the artist | everyone can recall moments like this | if I recall correctly, they cost $12 each | I don't recall exactly, but it must have been three or four years ago

Noun: recall

my powers of recall are not as good as when I was younger retirement /rɪ'taɪəmənt/ Noun retirement is the act of leaving one's job or ceasing to work, typically due to reaching a certain age or meeting specific criteria

Collocate: early retirement

many people look forward to retirement as a time to relax | she decided to take early retirement to spend more time with her family | retirement planning is important for ensuring financial security in later years | he celebrated his retirement with a farewell party thrown by colleagues | retirement communities offer various amenities and activities for seniors

Verb: retire

after decades of hard work, he finally decided to retire and enjoy his golden years | she plans to retire next year and travel the world with her husband | the athlete announced his decision to retire from professional sports at the end of the season set in motion /set ɪn 'məʊʃən/ Phrase if you set something in motion, you initiate or start something; to put a process or series of events into action the new policy set in motion changes that would transform the organization | his speech set in motion a series of discussions about the future of the company | the groundbreaking ceremony set in motion the construction of the new building | their decision to move abroad set in motion a whirlwind of preparations | the invention of the printing press set in motion the spread of knowledge and ideas

Pages 134–135

beak /bi:k/ Noun

a bird's beak is the hard, sometimes pointed part of the front of its face around its mouth it has a black beak and yellow legs | a long slender beak | I drew the bird all right, but got the shape of its beak wrong concept /'kɒnsept/ Noun a concept is an idea

I've read about what they do and I think it's a brilliant concept | the concept behind the plan is very complicated | the original concept of the light bulb was very clever conclude /kən'klu:d/ Verb to conclude is to decide or believe something as a result of what you have heard or seen after much debate, they concluded that further research was needed | what did you conclude from that? | he concluded from her body language that she wanted to leave

Noun: conclusion

we drew several conclusions from the analysis deliberately /dɪ'lɪbəɪtli/ Adverb if something is done deliberately, it has been done intentionally or on purpose; with careful thought or consideration

Collocate: acted deliberately he deliberately chose not to respond to the provocative comment | she deliberately avoided certain topics during the discussion | the decision was made deliberately after considering all the options | he acted deliberately, knowing the consequences of his actions

Adjective: deliberate

his deliberate actions showed careful thought and planning | she spoke in a deliberate manner, choosing her words carefully | the deliberate delay in responding to the crisis caused frustration among the public frustrated /frʌs'treɪtɪd/ Adjective if you are feeling frustrated, you have feelings of dissatisfaction or lack of fulfillment she felt frustrated when her computer crashed right before the deadline | the students were frustrated by the complex math problem | his repeated attempts to fix the leaky tap left him feeling frustrated | the team's failure to score goals left the coach frustrated with their performance

Noun: frustration | Adjective: frustrating

she screamed with frustration when her computer crashed right before the deadline | it was frustrating to have to wait so long for them to respond to my queries hesitation /hɛzɪ'teɪʃən/ Noun a hesitation is a short pause before you say or do something, for example, because you are nervous or worried about what you are going to say or do

Collocate: without hesitation

John asked if she liked him and without hesitation she said "No" | after a long hesitation, he agreed to come and visit me | I said yes without a moment's hesitation

Verb: hesitate | Adjective: hesitant | Adverb: hesitantly ||
Opposites – Adjective: unhesitating | Adverb: unhesitatingly

Collocates: hesitant to do something | hesitant about (doing) something he hesitated a moment before he answered | you can't afford to hesitate, I need an answer straight away | I was a bit hesitant about calling them again | he hesitantly agreed to her suggestion | she smiled hesitantly and shook hands | the answer was immediate and unhesitating | she unhesitatingly accepted the offer instinct /'ɪnstɪŋkt/ Noun instinct is the natural tendency that a person or animal has to behave or react in a particular way

Collocate: natural instinct her instinct told her that something wasn't right, so she decided to leave | he followed his instinct and turned left at the intersection | animals rely on instinct to survive in the wild | trusting your instincts can sometimes lead to better decision-making | his instinctive reaction was to duck when he heard the loud noise

Adjective: instinctive

his instinctive reaction was to jump out of the way when he saw the car approaching | she had an instinctive feeling that something was wrong when she entered the room | he's an instinctive player interpret /ɪn'tɜ:pɪt/ Verb if you interpret something in a particular way, you decide that this is its meaning or significance she carefully interpreted the data to draw meaningful conclusions | the poem can be interpreted in many ways, depending on the reader's perspective

Noun: interpreter, interpretation || Opposite – Verb: misinterpret

she offered her interpretation of the painting, highlighting its deeper meanings | the artist's interpretation of the character brought a fresh perspective to the play | his words were misinterpreted, leading to confusion learn from your mistakes /lɜ:n frəm jɔ: mɪ'steɪks/ Phrase if you learn from your mistakes, you think about something you did wrong or badly and make sure you do not do the same thing again the movie was a disaster, but he learned from his mistakes and the next one he made was a great success | each time she fails, she learns from her mistakes and improves her efforts | the trouble with Barbara was that she never learned from her mistakes learn to walk before you can run /lɜ:n tu: wɔ:k bɪ'fɔ: ju: kæn rʌn/ Phrase if you tell someone that they have to learn to walk before they can run, you mean that they are trying to do something too quickly and need to do it step by step to make sure that they are doing it right all the time you can do that maybe next year, but you need to learn to walk before you can run learn your lesson /lɜ:n jɔ: 'lesən/ Phrase if you learn your lesson, a painful or embarrassing experience has taught you something you did not know and this knowledge will help you avoid making the same mistake

I'm glad you didn't get hurt, and I hope you've learned your lesson | I learned my lesson not to rely on what the weather forecast says | the judge added "You went to prison once before, but you obviously didn't learn your lesson" | he manages his money much better now, and says he's learned his lesson live with it /lɪv wɪð ɪt/ Phrase if you tell someone they have to live with it, you mean that they have to accept a difficult situation and not complain any more because there is nothing that can be done to change it

Collocate: learn to live with it it's too late now. I've taken the job in Dubai and you'll just have to live with it | I don't think Dad will pay for you to go back to college, so you'll have to learn to live with it mispronounce /ˌmɪsprəˈnaʊns/ Verb if you mispronounce a word, you say it incorrectly

Daffydd gets annoyed when people mispronounce his name—it should sound like Davith and rhyme with “with” | it's easy to mispronounce English words because the spelling often doesn't give you any help | my French teacher isn't French and mispronounces words all the time ripe /raɪp/ Adjective ripe fruit or crops have grown enough to be ready to eat make sure you use only ripe tomatoes | ripe bananas will turn black within a few days | wait until the grapes are properly ripe before you pick them

Verb: ripen

leave them on the tree for another week to ripen tricks of the trade /ˈtrɪks ɒv ðə treɪd/ Phrase the tricks of the trade are good ways to do certain things that most people do not know about

Collocate: learn the tricks of the trade he showed me a few tricks of the trade | I spent a week in the factory learning the tricks of the trade | now he's passing on the tricks of the trade to his son | I got a few tricks of the trade off their website walnut /ˈwɔːlnʌt/ Noun a walnut is a nut (the seed of a tree) that you can eat. It has a very hard, brown shell that you have to break to get to the nut inside we have two walnut trees in our garden | does the cake have walnuts in it? | cracking walnuts (breaking the shells) | the bird has a brain the size of a walnut

Pages 136–137

apologetic /əˈpɒləˈdʒetɪk/ Adjective if you are apologetic, you show or say that you are sorry for causing trouble for someone, for hurting them or for disappointing them she sounded genuinely apologetic when she realized her mistake | his apologetic tone indicated that he was sorry for what he had done | he sent an apologetic email to his boss after missing the deadline

Noun: apology | Adverb: apologetically

he issued a heartfelt apology for his mistake and promised to make amends | she accepted his apology and forgave him for his thoughtless words | the company responded apologetically for the defective product enquire /ɪnˈkwaɪə/ Verb if you enquire about something, you ask a question intended to get some information about it. The spelling inquire is also used

Collocate: enquire about something

I'm just calling to enquire about some prices | I'm phoning to inquire whether you have any rooms available | when I originally enquired about the course you told me there were no places left | he politely inquired what I was doing

Noun: enquiry or inquiry

we try to answer written enquiries within 24 hours | a polite enquiry food hygiene /fuːd ˈhaɪdʒiːn/ Noun uncount food hygiene is the practices and procedures aimed at ensuring the safe handling, preparation, and storage of food to prevent contamination and minimize the risk of foodborne illness restaurants must adhere to strict food hygiene standards to protect customers' health | proper food hygiene is essential in reducing the spread of foodborne pathogens | the chef emphasized the importance of food hygiene in culinary training | food handlers receive training on food hygiene practices to maintain sanitation misrepresent /ˌmɪsɪˈreprɪzənt/ Verb if someone misrepresents a person or situation, they give a wrong or inaccurate account of what the person or situation is like the media misrepresented her comments, taking them out of context | the company was accused of misrepresenting the benefits of its products | he felt that the documentary misrepresented his views on the subject | the politician accused his opponent of deliberately misrepresenting his record

Noun: misrepresentation

the article contained several inaccuracies and misrepresentations of the facts | he accused the opposing party of misrepresentation during the debate | the lawyer argued that the witness's testimony was a deliberate misrepresentation of the events misunderstanding /ˌmɪsʌndəˈstændɪŋ/ Noun a misunderstanding is a failure to understand something properly, for example, a situation or a person's remarks

Collocate: a simple misunderstanding the disagreement came from a simple misunderstanding about the schedule | she was clear with the instructions to avoid any misunderstandings | their relationship suffered due to frequent misunderstandings | they laughed about the misunderstanding once they realized what had happened

Verb: misunderstand

he misunderstood her intentions and thought she was angry with him | she didn't want to misunderstand his message, so she asked for clarification offended /ə'fendɪd/ Adjective if you are offended, you are upset or angry Collocate: offended by she felt offended by his thoughtless remark

Noun: offense | Verb: offend cultural differences can lead to unintentional offense when communicating with others | he took offense at the criticism, even though it was meant to be constructive | he apologized immediately upon realizing that his joke had offended her | she didn't mean to offend anyone with her comments on the contrary /ɒn ðə 'kɒntrəri/ Phrase on the contrary is used to introduce a statement or idea that is opposite to what has been stated or suggested she believed he was guilty, but evidence suggested, on the contrary, that he was innocent | he thought the task would be easy, but on the contrary, it turned out to be quite challenging | many people assumed she would fail, but on the contrary, she succeeded against all odds | it may seem like a setback, but on the contrary, it could be an opportunity in disguise | he expected her to be upset, but on the contrary, she took the news quite well publicity /pʌ'blɪsəti/ Noun uncount publicity is information or actions that are intended to attract the public's attention to someone or something the company received a lot of publicity after its product launch event | the scandal generated negative publicity for the politician | she sought publicity for her new book through interviews and social media | the charity event attracted media publicity and celebrity endorsements | the company's public image suffered due to the negative publicity surrounding the lawsuit speak up /spi:k ʌp/ Phrasal verb if you speak up, you say in public what your opinion is about something then another boy spoke up and said the school dinners were disgusting | no one spoke up when they had the chance | she waited a few seconds before speaking up

Pages 138–139

bonus /'bəʊnəs/ Noun

a bonus is something good that you get in addition to something else, and which you would not usually expect employees received a holiday bonus for their hard work throughout the year | winning the championship came with a cash bonus for the team members | the company offered a signing bonus to attract top talent | completing the project ahead of schedule earned him a performance bonus demonstration /dəmə'nstreɪʃən/ Noun a demonstration is a march or gathering that people take part in to show their opposition to something or their support for something the chef gave a cooking demonstration at the food festival | the teacher used a demonstration to explain the scientific concept to her students | the new software was launched with a live demonstration of its features | the experiment was conducted as a demonstration of the scientific principle

Verb: demonstrate

The teacher used a practical demonstration to illustrate the scientific concept. | She demonstrated her commitment to the cause by participating in the protest. | The experiment demonstrated that plants grow better with adequate sunlight.

electromagnetic /ɪˌlekt'rəʊmæg'netɪk/ Adjective electromagnetic is used to describe the electrical and magnetic forces or effects produced by an electric current

Collocate: electromagnetic field electromagnetic radiation includes visible light, radio waves, and X-rays | the device uses electromagnetic fields to detect metal objects | studying electromagnetic phenomena helps scientists understand the universe | electromagnetic waves can travel through a vacuum, such as in space emit /ɪ'mɪt/ Verb

if something emits something, it produces or releases something, such as light, heat, sound, or gases

Collocates: emit pollution | emit gases the factory was found to be emitting pollutants into the air | the star constantly emits energy in the form of light and heat | the loudspeaker was emitting a loud noise, indicating a malfunction | certain chemicals are known to emit strong odors when mixed together | the volcano was emitting clouds of ash and smoke into the atmosphere flux /flʌks/ Noun something that is in a state of flux, is constantly changing Collocate: in a state of flux the organization is in a state of flux due to recent changes | technological advancements have brought about a constant flux in the business landscape | during periods of economic flux, it's important to adapt quickly to changes | the project timeline is subject to flux as new requirements emerge induction /ɪn'dʌkʃən/ Noun an induction is a procedure or ceremony for introducing someone to a new job, organization, or way of life the induction ceremony welcomed new members into the society | the training program includes an induction phase to familiarize employees with company policies | the induction of the new president marked a significant milestone for the organization | the induction of the apprentice into the guild was a solemn affair legacy /'legəsi/ Noun

a legacy is a situation that exists now because of events, actions, etc. that took place in the past the artist left behind a rich legacy of paintings and sculptures | the charity aims to create a positive legacy for future generations | the team hopes to build a legacy of excellence in their field | her philanthropic work is part of her legacy of giving back to the community magnetic /mæg'netɪk/ Adjective something metal that is magnetic, acts like a magnet

Collocate: magnetic field the magnetic field around the magnet attracts iron filings | magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) uses powerful magnets to create detailed images of the body | the fridge door has a magnetic strip to keep it closed | certain metals become magnetic when exposed to a magnetic field | magnetic levitation trains use magnets to float above the tracks phenomenon /fə'nomɪnən/ Noun a phenomenon is something that is observed to happen or exist. The plural is phenomena

Collocate: natural phenomenon the Northern Lights are a natural phenomenon visible in the polar regions | social media trends are modern cultural phenomena that spread rapidly online | paranormal phenomena continue to intrigue and mystify scientists and researchers posture /'pɒstʃə/ Noun your posture is the way you hold your body. If you have good posture you stand or sit very straight good posture is important if you want to create a good impression in the interview | his posture was relaxed and confident | his back pain was the result of bad posture | there are several health risks associated with poor posture slouched /slʌmpt/ Adjective slouched is when you are sitting with your body leaning forward

Collocates: slouched on a chair | slouched in a strange way the student was slouched exhausted at his desk

Noun: slump | Verb: slouch

he sat in the corner of the room in a slouch | the stock market slouched after news of the economic downturn | he slouched in his chair, exhausted after a long day of work | the athlete slouched against the wall after crossing the finish line

UNIT 12: MONEY

Page 141

bargain /'bɑ:ɡɪn/ Noun

a bargain is a purchase or transaction made at a favorable price; a good deal or advantageous agreement

she found a bargain on a designer handbag at the thrift store | buying in bulk can lead to significant bargains and savings | finding a bargain feels satisfying and rewarding | she always hunts for bargains when shopping for groceries

Verb: bargain

she managed to bargain the price of the souvenir down to half of what was originally quoted | he bargained with the seller for a better deal on the antique vase | the customer tried to bargain for a discount at the flea market debt /det/ Noun

a debt is an amount of money owed to someone; the state of owing money

Collocates: pay off your debts | a credit card debt | be in debt many young adults struggle with student loan debt after graduating from college | credit card debt can quickly increase if not managed properly | he's trying to pay off his debts before they accrue too much interest | being in debt can cause stress and financial insecurity | she's determined to get out of debt and achieve financial freedom

Adjective: indebted

he felt deeply indebted to his mentor for guiding him through difficult times | the charity is indebted to its volunteers for their hard work | she was indebted to her friend for lending her money in her time of need economize /ɪ'kɒnəmaɪz/ Verb if you economize, you use resources or money carefully and efficiently; to reduce expenses or avoid waste she's trying to economize by cooking at home instead of eating out | turning off lights when not in use is one way to economize on electricity | using public transportation instead of driving can help economize on travel costs | she economized her resources by shopping for second-hand furniture

Adjective: economical

she adopted a more economical lifestyle to save money for her future | the hotel offers economical room rates for budget-conscious travelers finances /fi'ɒnseɪz/ Noun plural finances are the monetary resources, income, expenses, and management of money by an individual, organization, or government

Collocates: student finances | personal finances

she's taking a course on personal finances to improve her money management skills | the company's finances are stable despite recent economic challenges | he's seeking professional help to sort out his finances | the government is implementing new policies to improve public finances

Adjective: financial | Adverb: financially

she sought financial advice from a professional to help her plan for retirement | the company experienced financial difficulties due to declining sales | he is still financially dependent on his parents income /'ɪŋkʌm/ Noun income is money received, especially on a regular basis, for work, investments, or other sources

Collocate: monthly income

her monthly income comes from her full-time job and freelance gigs | investing in stocks provides passive income through dividends | she's looking for ways to increase her income and save for the future | a steady income is essential for meeting basic needs and expenses | she supplements her income by selling handmade crafts online indicate /'ɪndɪkeɪt/ Verb if you indicate something, you show, suggest, or point it out; to serve as a sign or indication of something

Collocate: indicate that the sudden drop in temperature indicates that winter is approaching | her expression indicated her disappointment with the decision | research findings indicate a correlation between diet and health

Noun: indication

the sudden drop in temperature was an indication that winter was approaching | she saw his raised eyebrow as an indication of his surprise at what she had just said invest /ɪn'vest/ Verb

if you invest in something, you put money or resources into something with the expectation of achieving a profit or benefit in the future

Collocate: invest in

she decided to invest in stocks for long-term growth and financial security | investing in property can provide a steady income stream | he's considering investing in a retirement savings plan | she plans to invest her savings in a high-interest savings account

Noun: investment

investing in the stock market carries a certain level of risk | she made wise investments that had high returns | the government announced plans for infrastructure investment to boost the economy make a purchase /meɪk ə 'pɜ:tʃəs/ Phrase if you make a purchase, you buy something; to acquire goods or services by paying money for them she made a purchase of new furniture for her flat | he always compares prices before making a purchase | she's saving up to make a big purchase of a new car | online shopping has made making a purchase more convenient expenses /əʊt'ɡæʊɪŋz/ Noun plural your expenses are regular spending especially related to bills, payments, or costs she's struggling to make ends meet with her current expenses | his outgoings include rent, utilities, and groceries | calculating her monthly expenses helps her budget more effectively | reducing unnecessary expenses is one way to save money | keeping track of your income and expenses is essential for financial planning take out a loan /teɪk aʊt ə ləʊn/ Phrase if you take out a loan, you borrow money from a financial institution or lender with the agreement to repay it over time, usually with interest

she had to take out a loan to cover the cost of her college fees | taking out a loan for a mortgage is common when buying a house | he's hesitant to take out a loan due to concerns about interest rates | taking out loans can lead to financial strain | understanding the terms before taking out a loan is crucial

Pages 142–143

cost of living /kɒst ɒv 'lɪvɪŋ/ Phrase cost of living is the amount of money needed to sustain a certain standard of living, including expenses for housing, food, travel, healthcare, and other essentials the cost of living in big cities is often higher than in rural areas | increasing wages have failed to keep pace with the rising cost of living | she's adjusting her budget to accommodate the rising cost of living | managing expenses is crucial for coping with the cost of living decent /'di:sənt/ Adjective something that is decent is of a reasonable or acceptable quality she had to move to the city to find a decent job | are there any decent schools near here? | you can get a pretty decent meal there | I think the carpenter did a decent job of those bookshelves disposable income /dɪ'spəʊzəbəl 'ɪnkʌm/ Noun disposable income is the amount of money that a person or household has available to spend or save after taxes and necessary expenses have been deducted she uses her disposable income to indulge in hobbies and entertainment | having a higher disposable income allows for more flexibility in spending | reducing debt can increase disposable income and financial stability | he's saving his disposable income for a vacation | managing expenses effectively can increase disposable income economic spectrum /i:kə'nɒmɪk 'spektrəm/ Noun the economic spectrum is the range of economic conditions or levels of wealth within a society, from poverty to affluence economic mobility is the ability to move up or down the economic spectrum | the economic spectrum affects access to opportunities and resources | understanding the economic spectrum is crucial for addressing social issues income gap /'ɪnkʌm ɡæp/ Noun the income gap is the difference between the amount of money that is earned by well-paid people and the amount earned by low-paid people in Japan, the income gap between rich and poor is very small | the income gap continued to grow between 2009 and 2011 | a 31 percent gender income gap (men earn on average 31% more than women) in near poverty /ɪn nɪə(r) 'pɒvəti/ Phrase in near poverty means someone is living in a condition where they are almost, but not completely, poor many people in the city live in near poverty despite working full-time jobs | policies have been designed to help those living in near poverty improve their living conditions | the family lived in near poverty pension fund /'penʃən fʌnd/ Noun a pension fund is the amount of money that is saved by a government or organization to be able to pay the pensions of people after they retire

Norway has the biggest pension fund in the world | there isn't enough in the company pension fund to pay everyone a decent pension | the director of a pension fund productivity /ˌprɒdʌk'tɪvəti/ Noun productivity is the rate or efficiency at which goods or services are produced, measured by the output per unit of input, such as labor or capital

Collocates: boost productivity | low/high productivity | mindful productivity increasing productivity is essential for economic growth and competitiveness | technology has led to improvements in productivity in many industries | low productivity can hinder overall economic development

Adjective: productive

she had a productive day at work, completing all her tasks ahead of schedule | a positive attitude can lead to a more productive work environment | the team brainstorming session resulted in several productive ideas quality of life /'kwɒləti ɒv laɪf/ Noun uncount your quality of life is how much you are able to enjoy it and stay healthy we have a good quality of life here in Skye | she earned a lot of money, but her quality of life was not good | we moved out of the city to get a better quality of life redefine /rɪ'diːfaɪn/ Verb if you redefine something, you define or understand something in a new or different way; to change the meaning or interpretation of something

Collocates: redefine how we | redefine the idea of | redefine success | redefine your goals the company aims to redefine the concept of customer service in the digital age | social movements seek to redefine societal norms and values | advancements in technology have redefined how we communicate and interact | redefining success beyond material wealth is important for well-being | she's redefining her goals and priorities as she enters a new phase of life spending power /spendɪŋ 'paʊə(r)/ Phrase spending power is the ability of an individual or group to purchase goods and services

Collocates: increase spending power | have spending power | reduce spending power rising salaries significantly increased the spending power of consumers | young professionals often have considerable spending power | economic issues can severely reduce spending power standard of living /ˈstændəd ɒv ˈlɪvɪŋ/ Noun the standard of living is a measure of how much wealth and comfort people have in their lives we moved out of the city to try to improve our standard of living | the standard of living declined substantially during the war | Ottawa has a high standard of living | the standard of living is lower in the north of the country subsidized /ˈsʌbsɪdaɪzd/ Adjective if an activity is subsidized, it gets money from a government or other organization to help pay for something the industry is still heavily subsidized | subsidized childcare | subsidized housing | students here get subsidized internet access

Noun: subsidy | Verb: subsidize an agricultural subsidy | subsidies from the European Union | small producers are given massive subsidies | the government pays huge subsidies to farmers | Ontario has subsidized solar power energy | the department subsidizes higher education through student loan programs work ethic /wɜːk ˈɛθɪk/ Noun uncount someone's work ethic is their belief that it is important and morally right to work hard

I respect his work ethic | we need people with a strong work ethic | the work ethic was particularly strong in my uncle's family work-life balance /wɜːk-laɪf ˈbæləns/ Phrase work-life balance is managing the amount of time and effort somebody dedicates to work, and time given to other aspects of life

Collocates: achieve work-life balance | improve work-life balance

I'm trying to achieve better work-life balance by working from home twice a week | many companies now recognize the importance of helping employees maintain work-life balance | flexible working hours can greatly improve work-life balance

Pages 144–145

alteration /pləˈreɪʃən/ Noun

if you make alterations to a piece of clothing, you make changes to it so that it fits you properly

I need to take my suit in for alteration | I've had some alterations done on the pants | are you sure the collar doesn't need alteration?

Verb: alter

it will be fine once it's been altered babysitting /ˈtʃaɪld-ˈmaɪndɪŋ/ Noun uncount babysitting is the activity of looking after young children while their parents are at work a lot of what I earn goes to pay for babysitting | babysitting services are available five days a week

Noun: babysitter

our babysitter lives in the next street chore /tʃɔːz/ Noun

a chore is a routine task or job, especially one that is repetitive or unpleasant

Collocate: household chore doing household chores is part of daily life for many people | she assigned each family member a chore | mowing the lawn is one of his least favorite chores | delegating chores can help distribute household responsibilities | completing chores before playtime is a rule in their household furniture restoring /fɜːnɪtʃə rɪˈstɔːrɪŋ/ Phrase furniture restoring is the process of repairing furniture, e.g., chairs, tables to bring it back to its original condition or to improve its appearance the furniture restoring project took longer than expected due to the piece's poor condition | they spent the weekend working on furniture restoring in their workshop | the store specializes in furniture restoring—particularly 20th century chairs

Noun: restoration

the business specializes in furniture restoration globally /ˈgləʊbəli/ Adverb globally means relating to or involving the entire world; on a worldwide scale climate change is a globally recognized threat to the environment | the company operates globally, with offices in multiple countries | social media platforms allow for globally interconnected communication | the pandemic has highlighted the need for globally coordinated responses

Adjective: global

the company expanded its operations to establish a global presence | climate change is a global issue that requires cooperation among nations | she dreams of traveling the world and experiencing different cultures on a global scale hair cutting /heə ˈkʌtɪŋ/ Phrase hair cutting is the act of styling hair or making it shorter using tools like scissors or razors. A razor is a tool with a very sharp edge the salon offers hair cutting services at a reasonable price | she's an expert in women's hair cutting house painting /haʊs ˈpeɪntɪŋ/ Phrase house painting is the act of applying a color to the inside or outside surfaces of a home to protect and decorate it they hired a professional for the house painting to ensure a high-quality finish | after finishing the house painting, the old home looked as good as new | we need the front of the house painting install /ɪnˈstɔːl/ Verb to install something means to put it in place and make it work we need someone to install our new kitchen (to put all the cupboards, electrical equipment, sink, etc. in place) | our neighbors have just had a new bathroom installed | we need to install some heating | they've installed security cameras in the car park | she installed three more apps on her phone

Noun: installation

the installation of a new security system laptop / shoe repair /ləptɒp / ʃuː rɪˈpeə/ Phrase laptop / shoe repair is the process of fixing damaged laptops or shoes

I spilled some water on my computer and now need a laptop repair service | do you know where I can find shoe repair around here? | if your screen is broken, you should take it to a laptop repair shop limp /lɪmp/ Adjective something that is limp is lacking strength, vigor, or vitality; weak or feeble the plant's leaves appeared limp due to lack of water | the team's performance was limp compared to their usual standards | she feels a limp handshake conveys a lack of confidence

Noun: limp | Verb: limp

he walked with a limp after injuring his leg | she tried to hide her limp, not wanting to draw attention to her injury | he limped slightly after spraining his ankle during the soccer match | the injured dog limped back home, seeking comfort from its owner nourish /ˈnʌrɪʃ/ Verb

if you nourish something, you provide it with the food or other substances necessary for growth, health, and good condition eating a balanced diet is essential to nourish your body | spending time in nature can nourish the soul and reduce stress | nourishing foods provide essential nutrients for overall well-being | she believes in using natural ingredients to nourish her skin

Noun: nourishment | Adjective: nourishing fruits and vegetables provide essential nourishment for a healthy diet | the mother ensured her newborn received proper nourishment through breastfeeding | the soup felt so nourishing on a cold winter day pamper /ˈpæmpə/ Verb

if you pamper something, you indulge it with attention, comfort, or luxury

Collocate: pamper yourself

she booked a spa day to pamper herself after a busy week | pampering your pet with treats and toys is a way to show love | she enjoys pampering herself with a glass of wine and a good book

Noun: pampering | Adjective: pampered

after a long week of work, he treated himself to a day of pampering at the spa | he felt pampered from all the attention he received from his loved ones party planning /pɑːti ˈplæniŋ/ Phrase party planning is the process of organizing and coordinating all the details of a gathering of people she started her own business that specializes in party planning | good party planning can make the difference between a successful event and a disaster | he has always loved party planning personal trainer /ˈpɜːsənəl ˈtreɪnə/ Noun a personal trainer is someone who advises you individually on what exercise to do to get fit and stay fit

I found a personal trainer on the internet | Jeremy recommends his personal trainer, who used to be an Olympic athlete | he sees a personal trainer three times a week rehab /ˈriːhæb/ Noun rehab is short for rehabilitation; the process of restoring someone to health or normal life through training and therapy after illness, injury, or addiction physical therapy is an important part of rehab after a sports injury | rehab programs aim to help individuals reintegrate into society | he's in rehab to address his addiction

Verb: rehabilitate

the physical therapist worked with the patient to rehabilitate his injured shoulder | the organization aims to rehabilitate former inmates and reintegrate them into society | the injured bird was brought to a wildlife center to rehabilitate before being released back into the wild take things too far /teɪk θɪŋz tuː fɑː/ Phrase if someone takes things too far, they do something much more than is normal or reasonable it was a good idea to buy a second car, but a Jaguar is taking things too far | trust Saif to take things too far—that's the fourth time he's been to see that movie vaccinate /ˈvæksɪneɪt/ Verb if you vaccinate a person or animal, you administer a vaccine to produce immunity against a specific disease children are routinely vaccinated against common childhood diseases | getting vaccinated against the flu can help prevent illness during flu season | doctors recommend vaccinating pets against rabies for public health reasons | she decided to vaccinate her children according to the recommended schedule

Noun: vaccine, vaccination a flu vaccine | vaccination is an effective way to prevent the spread of infectious diseases | parents are encouraged to adhere to the recommended vaccination schedule for their children well-off /wəl-ɒf/ Adjective someone who is well-off has enough money to be able to live comfortably, even though they might not be very rich most of the people round here are reasonably well-off | she's a doctor, and comes from a well-off family | we were well-off enough to have two cars and two foreign vacations a year | you could hardly describe him as well-off

Pages 146–147

buzz /bʌz/ Noun

if there is a buzz around something, people are interested in it and are talking about it on social media and on TV or radio

Collocates: a buzz about/around something | create a buzz there's a fantastic buzz about Cardiff at the moment | it's expensive to live there, but New York has a real buzz | I get a real buzz every time I step onto the stage (start performing in public) | the exhibition has already created a buzz after just two days catchy /ˈkætʃi/ Adjective something that is catchy gets your attention quickly and is easy to remember her latest song has a really catchy opening | a catchy tune | it's an easy tune to remember—so catchy | a great song with a catchy chorus | a catchy slogan exploit /ɪks'plɔɪt/ Verb

if you exploit something, you make full use of and benefit from (a resource, situation, or person) as an opportunity to gain an advantage for yourself

Collocates: exploit an opportunity | exploiting resources some companies are accused of exploiting workers by paying low wages and providing poor working conditions | she felt like her talents were being exploited by her employer | he was accused of exploiting his connections for personal gain

Noun: exploitation

the company was accused of exploitation for underpaying its workers | child labor is a form of exploitation that continues to be a concern worldwide initially /ɪ'nɪʃəli/ Adverb you use initially to describe what happens at the start of a process or series of events, especially when this later changes initially, I didn't enjoy the job | the company was quite successful initially | Williams was initially reluctant but eventually agreed to the proposal

Adjective: initial his initial reaction was positive | after an initial success, the business failed in 2009 loyal /'lɔɪəl/ Adjective someone who is loyal supports someone or something reliably and without changing Collocates: fiercely loyal | loyal support | remain loyal (to someone or something)

luckily, we have a large number of loyal customers | he's very loyal—always there for you when you need him | only a few remained loyal to the prime minister | you can be sure of our loyal support | 25 years' loyal service to the company | she is fiercely loyal to her family and her job

Noun: loyalty | Adverb: loyally || Opposite – Adjective: disloyal

Collocates: fierce/great loyalty | blind loyalty | inspire loyalty | show loyalty | demand/expect loyalty the servants showed great loyalty even when times were difficult | he inspires extraordinary loyalty among his staff | despite the setbacks, they loyally supported him | after 20 years with the company, it felt disloyal to leave and work for a competitor luxurious /lʌg'ʒʊəriəs/ Adjective something that is luxurious is characterized by or providing luxury; extremely comfortable, elegant, or enjoyable

Collocates: luxurious house | luxurious car the hotel offers luxurious accommodation with plush bedding and spa-like bathrooms | she enjoyed a luxurious vacation at a five-star resort | driving a luxury car is a symbol of wealth and status | treating yourself to a luxurious meal can be a special occasion

Noun: luxury | Adverb: luxuriously staying at a five-star resort is a luxury that not everyone can afford | the wealthy businesswoman enjoyed a life of luxury, with private jets and exotic vacations | she indulged in the luxury of fine dining and spa treatments during her vacation modest /'mɒdɪst/ Adjective someone who is modest has or shows a moderate or humble estimate of one's merits, importance, or achievements; not excessively showy or ambitious

Collocate: modest income

despite his success, he remained modest and down-to-earth | they live in a modest house in the suburbs, focusing on practicality | a modest proposal was put forth to address the community's needs | she dressed in a modest manner, avoiding flashy or revealing clothing passing fad /'pɑːsɪŋ 'fæʃən/ Phrase a passing fad is something that becomes very successful and fashionable, but then very quickly goes out of fashion and stops being successful social media is surely not just a passing fad | people thought neckties were a passing fad, but they lasted over 100 years | stores that represent timeless style, not a passing fad personnel /pɜːsən'el/ Noun personnel are the people employed by an organization or engaged in an organized undertaking such as military service

Collocate: a company's personnel the company's personnel department is responsible for hiring and managing employees | military personnel were deployed to assist in the disaster relief effort pick up on /pɪk ʌp ɒn/ Phrasal verb if you pick up on something, you become aware of it and react to it he picked up on the feeling that honesty was important | the audience picked up on what he was trying to say and started laughing | am I the only person to have picked up on what's happening out there?

premises /'premɪsɪz/ Noun plural premises is a house or building, together with its land and outbuildings, occupied by a business or considered in an official context

Collocates: on the premises | large/small premises the company's new premises offer modern facilities | he visited the premises to inspect the building before making a purchase | the premises were secured overnight to prevent unauthorized entry | they decided to relocate their business to larger premises profit margin /'prɒfɪt 'mɑːdʒɪn/ Noun the profit margin is the difference between the cost of producing or providing something and the price it is sold for, typically expressed as a percentage of the selling price the company's profit margin has increased due to cost-cutting measures | she analyzed profit margins to determine the most profitable product lines | competition in the industry has led to shrinking profit margins | improving efficiency can help boost your profit margin and overall profitability revolution /ˌrevəˈluːʃən/ Noun a revolution is a sudden, complete, or marked change in something; a fundamental change in the way of thinking about or visualizing something; a change of government by force or rebellion

Collocates: technological revolution | industrial revolution the industrial revolution transformed societies and economies worldwide | technological revolutions have reshaped various industries over time

Verb: revolutionize | Adjective: revolutionary she's working on a project to revolutionize renewable energy production | the company introduced a revolutionary new product to the market upmarket /ʌp ˈmɑːkɪt/ Adjective upmarket goods or services are very expensive and are made for people who are prepared to spend a lot of money on them an upmarket restaurant in Pimlico | an upmarket sports car brand | there are several upmarket hotels by the harbor | they tried to make their cars more upmarket to appeal to the European market viral /ˈvaɪərəl/ Adjective when something on the internet goes viral, it suddenly becomes very popular and lots of people see it or download it and talk about it

Collocate: go viral

a number of their advertisements have gone viral | his blog went viral and a social media storm began | the video went viral with over a million views | viral videos can earn a lot of money through advertising

Adverb: virally

Collocate: spread virally news about the game spread virally through blogs and X | the ad was shown online and promoted virally budget /ˈbʌdʒɪt/ Noun a budget is an estimate of income and expenditure for a set period of time; a plan for saving, borrowing, or spending money

Pages 148–149

Collocate: monthly budget

she created a monthly budget to track her expenses and savings goals | the government announced its annual budget, outlining spending priorities | sticking to a budget can help achieve financial goals and avoid debt | they're living on a tight budget to save for a deposit on a house

Verb: budget

as a student, she had to budget her expenses carefully to make ends meet | the family decided to budget for a summer vacation by saving a portion of their income each month | it's essential to budget wisely to avoid financial strain in the future negotiate /nɪˈɡəʊʃieɪt/ Verb if you negotiate something, you engage in discussions with others to reach an agreement, especially in business or diplomatic contexts

the union negotiated with the company for better wages and working conditions | when buying a car, it's important to negotiate the price to get the best deal | negotiating salary terms is a common practice during job interviews

Noun: negotiation | Adjective: negotiating the union is currently in negotiations with management over contract terms | successful negotiating skills are essential in business and personal interactions | she's honing her negotiating abilities to secure a better deal on her car purchase relate /rɪˈleɪt/ Verb

if you relate to someone, you have a connection or association with; to understand and share the feelings or experiences of another person

Collocate: relate to the speaker used personal stories to relate the topic to the audience's experiences | empathy allows us to relate to others and offer support in times of need | students often struggle to relate abstract concepts to real-world examples | her experience living abroad helped her relate to people from different cultures skeptical /ˈskeptɪkəl/ Adjective someone who is skeptical has doubts or reservations; showing distrust or disbelief Collocate: skeptical about

she's skeptical about the claims made by the advertisement | scientists are sceptical about the validity of the study's findings | being skeptical can help avoid falling for scams or misinformation

Noun: skepticism | Adverb: skeptically her skepticism about the new diet fad led her to research its effectiveness further | he approached the new proposal with a healthy dose of skepticism | the audience reacted skeptically to the speaker's bold assertions conventional /kən'venʃənəl/ Adjective something that is conventional is based on or in accordance with what is generally done or believed; traditional and typical conventional wisdom suggests that early to bed, early to rise makes a person healthy, wealthy, and wise | conventional medicine is sometimes given with alternative therapies

Pages 150–151

Noun: convention | Adverb: conventionally attending the family reunion has become a tradition and convention for them | although not conventionally good looking, he had a charm and appeal that made him very popular diversify /daɪ'vɜːsɪfaɪ/ Verb if you diversify, you are in the act or process of making or becoming more diverse, varied, or inclusive; expanding the range or variety of something the company is diversifying its product line to appeal to new markets | colleges are actively diversifying their student populations to promote inclusivity | the garden club is diversifying its plant selection to attract a wider range of visitors

Noun: diversity, diversification | Adjective: diverse the company values diversity and actively recruits employees from diverse backgrounds | the city boasts a diverse population, with people from different cultural backgrounds living harmoniously together | the ecosystem in the rainforest is incredibly diverse, with countless species of plants and animals flip side /flɪp saɪd/ Noun the flip side of a good situation is a disadvantage that it has Collocate: on the flip side the hotel was comfortable, but on the flip side, the weather was dreadful | the shop was still open, but on the flip side, they'd run out of bread gourmet /'ɡʊəmeɪ/ Adjective gourmet food is of high quality and often very expensive a gourmet restaurant | a gourmet fish recipe | a range of gourmet meals | turn your salad into a gourmet experience

Noun: gourmet

as well as being an actor, she was well-known for being a gourmet harm /'hɑːm/ Verb

if you harm something, you cause damage, injury, or negative effects to someone or something; injure or impair pollution from factories is harming the environment and endangering wildlife | the use of pesticides is harming bee populations and threatening food security

Noun: harm | Adjective: harmful

the new law aims to protect consumers from potential harm caused by unsafe products | the harmful effects of pollution on the environment are becoming increasingly evident | parents strive to protect their children from harmful influences innovative /'ɪnəvətɪv/ Adjective something that is innovative involves the use of new ideas to create something that is original an innovative approach to traffic management | the new packaging has an innovative design | it was a highly innovative product when it was launched | his ideas did not seem very innovative

Noun: innovation, innovator | Verb: innovate the industry grew rapidly thanks to the latest innovations | technological innovations came rapidly as the 20th century advanced | Ron was an innovator— an “ideas” man | we need to identify the next generation of innovators | all organizations need to constantly innovate and learn | those who do not innovate will simply not survive inventory /'ɪnvəntəri/ Noun a shop's inventory is all the items it has available for sale at one time stores use barcode scanners to keep track of inventory | their inventory includes over 3,000 separate items | inventory control is essential for a successful business massive /'mæsɪv/ Adjective something that is massive is very big and very serious or impressive we suffer massive inventory losses | they live in a massive house in Newport | the factory is absolutely massive | the massive shape of Mount Snowdon appeared through the mist | we faced massive costs for repairing the house negotiator /nɪ'ɡəʊʃɪeɪtəz/ Noun a negotiator is a person who engages in negotiating, especially as a representative of a party or group; someone skilled in reaching agreements or compromises

Collocates: skilled negotiator | successful negotiator the union sent their top negotiator to represent workers in contract talks | a skilled negotiator can turn a potential conflict into a mutually beneficial agreement | successful diplomats are often adept negotiators | she's known as a tough negotiator who always gets the best deal for her clients

Verb: negotiate

the students negotiated with their teacher for an extension on the deadline for their project | the union negotiates with management for better working conditions and benefits | it's essential to negotiate the terms of a contract before signing it to ensure fairness for both parties reliance /rɪˈlaɪəns/ Noun reliance is the state of depending on or trusting in someone or something; the action or fact of relying on someone or something

Collocate: reliance on modern society's reliance on technology has both benefits and drawbacks | children's reliance on smartphones for entertainment is a growing concern | she has a strong reliance on her family for emotional support | self-reliance is an important skill for achieving independence and success | the company's success is built on its reliance on customer feedback and satisfaction

Verb: rely | Adjective: reliable

she relies on public transport to get to work every day since she doesn't own a car | the elderly couple relies on their children for support as they age | in times of crisis, people often rely on their faith to provide comfort and guidance retail area /ˈriːteɪl ˈeəriə/ Noun a retail area is part of a building or place where goods are sold to the public the ground floor is a massive retail area | we plan to expand the retail area at the farm (make it bigger) | this is the main retail area of the town sensibly /ˈsensəbəli/ Adverb if you do or deal with something sensibly, you are acting in a practical, reasonable, or wise manner; with good sense or judgment

Collocates: deal with something sensibly | acted sensibly she sensibly decided to save a portion of her income for emergencies | it's important to spend money sensibly and avoid unnecessary purchases | he acted sensibly by seeking advice from experienced professionals | sensibly investing in education can lead to long-term career opportunities | sensibly managing time can reduce stress and improve productivity

Adjective: sensible

it's sensible to wear sunscreen to protect your skin from the harmful effects of the sun's rays | he made the sensible decision to save his money rather than spend it all at once | taking breaks during long study sessions is sensible to avoid burnout and fatigue shipping container /ˈʃɪpɪŋ kənˈteɪnə/ Noun a shipping container is a very large metal container for transporting goods that can be easily transferred from trucks onto ships and back onto lorries a standard 40-foot long shipping container | the invention of shipping containers completely changed the way goods were transported | the company bought another twelve shipping containers soil /sɔɪl/ Noun uncount soil is the earth in which plants grow fertilizers that will improve the soil | good fertile soil | struggling to grow crops in poor soil | sandy soil | clay soil | well drained soil is essential for these plants | the soil samples were analyzed steadily /ˈstedɪli/ Adverb if you do or deal with something steadily, you are acting in a consistent, continuous, or unchanging manner; gradually and evenly over time

Collocates: steadily increasing/decreasing | steadily improving | steadily becoming worse the company's profits have been steadily increasing over the past year | she steadily improved her grades through hard work and dedication | he steadily climbed the career ladder, advancing to higher positions | the population of the city has been steadily growing due to migration

Adjective: steady

the steady rain continued throughout the night, replenishing the parched earth | with steady determination, he worked toward achieving his goals, never wavering in his commitment | the company's steady growth over the years has made it a leader in its industry

Page 152

human nature /ˈhjuːmən ˈneɪtʃə/ Noun uncount human nature is the usual and general way in which people behave someone will offer to help—that's human nature after all | it's human nature to ask questions | it's human nature to want to keep things the same | making mistakes is human nature obligation /ˌɒblɪˈɡeɪʃən/ Noun an obligation is something that you have to do, especially as a duty

Collocates: be under obligation to do something | feel an obligation your only obligation is to make a room available in your own home | you mustn't feel under any obligation to help out | I felt an obligation to stay and wash up

Adjective: obliged

Collocate: be obliged to do something you're not obliged to wear a tie in the office